§ 32.11 Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this part shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this part have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this part shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(c) Persons subject to this part shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act.

(Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F)

§ 32.12 Communications. All communications concerning this part shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M–14.

§ 32.13 Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this part or any other part or regulation of the National Production Authority or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this part is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

§ 32.14 List A. The use of the forms and products of nickel defined in § 32.3 in the items listed below is prohibited except to the extent permitted by this part, or as specified on this list.

STAINLESS STEEL—NICKEL BEARING

[NPA Order M-32]

PART 37—CHEMICALS

LIMITATION FOR DO RATED ORDERS

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order there has been consultation with industry representatives and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all chemical industries and trade associations affected, in advance of the issuance of this order, has been rendered impracticable due to the necessity of immediate action and the fact that it affects a large number of different industries.

Sec.
- 37.1 What this part does.
- 37.2 Definitions.
- 37.3 Chemicals to which this order applies.
- 37.4 Required shipment dates.
- 37.5 Rejection of rated orders.
- 37.6 Limitation for acceptance of rated orders.
- 37.7 NPA assistance in placing rated orders.
- 37.8 Adjustments and exceptions.
- 37.9 Communications.
- 37.10 Records.
- 37.11 Audit and inspection.
- 37.12 Reports.
- 37.13 Violations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 37.1 to 37.13 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.: sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105.

§ 37.1 What this part does. This part applies particularly to producers of each chemical listed in Schedule A appearing at the end of this part and provides rules for placing, accepting and scheduling rated orders for such chemical. Its purpose is to provide equitable distribution of rated orders among all producers thereof, in order to make possible maximum production and to reduce to a minimum disruption of normal distribution. It supplements Part 11 of this chapter (NPA Regulation 2) but only those provisions of Regulation 2 which are inconsistent with this part are superseded and all other provisions of Regulation 2 continue to apply to the chemical industry.

§ 37.2 Definitions. As used in this part:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons and includes agencies of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Producer" means any person engaged in the business of producing for sale any chemical listed in Schedule A.

(c) "Schedule A" means the list of chemicals marked "Schedule A" appearing at the end of this part.

(d) "NPA" means National Production Authority.

§ 37.3 Chemicals to which this part applies. This part applies only to the chemicals listed in Schedule A, as amended from time to time. It is the intention of NPA that if and when the need arises, additional chemicals will be added to Schedule A.

§ 37.4 Required shipment dates. A rated order for any chemical listed in Schedule A must specify shipment on a particular date or dates or during a particular month, which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. The producer of such chemical must schedule the order for shipment within the requested month as close to the requested shipment date as is practicable, considering the need for maximum production.

§ 37.5 Rejection of rated orders. Unless otherwise specifically directed by NPA, a producer need not accept a rated order for any chemical listed in Schedule A which is received by him less than the number of days (lead time), if any, set forth in Schedule A opposite the name of such chemical, prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is requested. Rated orders for any such chemical as to which no such period of time is specified in Schedule A are not subject to the provisions of this section.

§ 37.6 Limitation for acceptance of rated orders. Unless otherwise specifically directed by NPA, no producer shall be required to accept rated orders for shipment of any chemical listed in Schedule A in any one month in excess of the quantity of such chemical determined as in Schedule A provided.

§ 37.7 NPA assistance in placing rated orders. Any person who is unable to place a rated order for any chemical listed in Schedule A due to the limitation imposed by § 37.6 should apply to NPA, Ref: Order M-32, specifying the producers who refused to accept the order. NPA will arrange to assist him in locating sources of supply.

§ 37.8 Adjustments and exceptions. Any person affected by any provision of this part may file with NPA a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment which claim that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each such request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought and the justification therefor.

§ 37.10 Records. Each person participating in any transaction covered by this part shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction whether the provisions of this part have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

§ 37.11 Audit and inspection. All records required by this part shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

§ 37.12 Reports. Persons subject to this part shall make such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

§ 37.13 Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this part or any other order or regulation of NPA or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this part is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this part have been approved by the Bureau of Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order shall take effect on January 23, 1951.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
[SEAL] W. H. HARRISON,
Administrator.

§ 37.31 What this order does. This order applies particularly to producers and distributors of chlorine and provides rules for placing, accepting and scheduling rated orders for chlorine and orders for chlorine essential to public health. Its purposes are to provide equitable distribution of rated orders among all producers and distributors of chlorine, and to provide for filling public health needs for chlorine, in order to make possible maximum production of chlorine by reducing to a minimum disruption of normal distribution. This order supplements Part 11 of this chapter (NPA Regulation 2) but only those provisions of Part 11 which are inconsistent with this order are superseded, and all other provisions of Part 11 continue to apply to the chlorine industry.

§ 37.32 Definitions. As used in this order.

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons and includes agencies of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Chlorine" means the element chlorine whether in gaseous or liquid form.

(c) "Producer" means any person who produces chlorine for sale.

(d) "Distributor" means any person who buys and receives from a producer chlorine and who resells or holds for resale such chlorine (including a repacker of chlorine).

(e) "Public health chlorine" means chlorine which is essential for purification of water for human consumption and use (exclusive of chlorine used for swimming pools) or for treatment of sewage, in order to protect the public health, welfare and safety.

(f) "Marketable production" means that portion of chlorine which remains for sale in the hands of a producer after deducting the amount of chlorine which he consumes in his other operations, and after deducting the chlorine which he sells and delivers by pipeline.

(g) "NPA" means National Production Authority in the Department of Commerce.

§ 37.33 Required shipment date. A rated order for chlorine must specify shipment on a particular date or during a particular month which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. The producer must schedule the order for shipment within the requested month as close to the shipment date as is practicable considering the need for maximum production. The distributor must schedule the order for shipment within the requested month as close to the shipment date as is practicable.

§ 37.34 Rejection of rated orders. Unless otherwise directed by NPA: A producer need not accept a rated order that is received less than 15 days prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is requested. A distributor need not accept a rated order that is received less than 20 days prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is requested.

§ 37.35 Limitations for acceptance of rated orders. Unless otherwise directed by NPA:

(a) No producer shall be required to accept rated orders for shipment in any month of a total tonnage of chlorine in excess of 10 percent of his scheduled marketable production for such month for the type of container required for shipment.

(b) No producer or distributor shall be required to accept rated orders for an amount which is less than the minimum unit quantity sold by such producer or distributor in accordance with his standard practice.

(c) No distributor shall be required to accept rated orders for shipment in any month of a total tonnage of chlorine in excess of 10 percent of the chlorine available to him during such month for the type of container required for shipment.

§ 37.36 Orders for public health chlorine. (a) In the interests of national defense, it is found necessary to provide for supplies of chlorine to all persons, whether public or private, engaged directly in the business or operation of purifying water for human consumption and use, or of treatment of sewage, where the use of chlorine is essential to public health.

(b) Every producer and distributor must accept and schedule for shipment each month, commencing March 1, 1951, orders for public health chlorine which may be placed with him by consumers thereof who were supplied with chlorine by such producer or distributor during the year 1950: Provided, however, That the total amount of public health chlorine by weight required by this section to be delivered to each such consumer during 1951 need not exceed the total amount of chlorine delivered by the producer or distributor to such consumer during the year 1950. In any event, the amount of public health chlorine so required to be delivered in any month need not exceed 25 percent of such total amount delivered during the year 1950.

(c) Deliveries under orders for public health chlorine are required to be scheduled and made in addition to deliveries required to be made under rated orders pursuant to Part 11 of this chapter (NPA Regulation 2) and to meet other mandatory orders of NPA, but are not to be included among deliveries made under rated orders for the purpose of determining the obligations of producers and distributors under § 37.35.

§ 37.37 Sources of supply of public health chlorine. Consumers of public health chlorine shall place all orders therefor for delivery in 1951 with the producers or distributors from which they received their supplies of chlorine during the year 1950 unless they prefer and are able without the assistance of this order to purchase their chlorine needs elsewhere.

§ 37.38 Certification of orders. Every order for public health chlorine pursuant to this order shall contain a certification thereon or on a separate paper attached thereto, as follows:

Certified under NPA Order M-31.

Every such certificate constitutes a representation to the seller and to NPA that the chlorine called for in such order is required and will be used exclusively for the purification of water for human consumption and use (other than for a swimming pool) or for treatment of sewage. Every such certificate shall be duly signed by the purchaser.

§ 37.39 Use of chlorine obtained upon certified order. All chlorine obtained under purchase orders certified as provided in § 37.38 shall be used by the deliveree exclusively for the purpose or purposes set forth in that section.

§ 37.40 Delivery dates and rejection of orders for public health chlorine. Unless otherwise directed by NPA: An order for public health chlorine must specify shipment on a date or during a particular month which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. A producer need not accept an order for public health chlorine that is received less than 15 days prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is requested. A distributor need not accept an order for public health chlorine that is received less than 20 days prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is requested.

§ 37.41 Supply of public health chlorine to distributors. (a) In all instances where consumers of public health chlorine purchase their supplies of chlorine for 1951 from a distributor as provided in § 37.36, any producer who supplied any such distributor with chlorine during 1950 must accept and schedule for shipment each month during 1951, commencing March 1, 1951, orders of the distributor for chlorine in at least the quantity of public health chlorine which the distributor is required to deliver or has delivered to the consumer (his customer) unless that quantity is less than the smallest practicable delivery unit, in which event the quantity shall be such unit: Provided, however, That the total amount of chlorine required by this section to be delivered to the distributor need not exceed the total amount delivered to him by the producer in 1950. In any event, the amount of chlorine so required to be delivered to the distributor in any month need not exceed 25 percent of such total amount delivered during the year 1950.

(b) Every order of the distributor referred to in this section shall contain a certification thereon or on a separate paper attached thereto as follows:

Certified under NPA Order M-31.

Every such certificate constitutes a representation to the seller and to NPA that the distributor delivered or will deliver the chlorine called for in such order of the distributor, to a consumer whose certificate in accordance with § 37.38 has been or will be, prior to such delivery, received by the distributor. Every such certificate of the distributor shall be duly signed by the distributor.

(c) All orders of distributors pursuant to this section are subject to the requirements of paragraph (c) of § 37.36 and of § 37.40 and for the purpose of said sections shall be deemed to be direct orders for public health chlorine.

§ 37.42 NPA assistance in placing rated orders. Any person who is unable to place a rated order for chlorine due to the limitations imposed by § 37.35 or who is unable to place an order for chlorine as provided in § 37.36 or § 37.41 should apply to NPA, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-31, specifying the producers or distributors who refused to accept the order. NPA will arrange to assist him in locating sources of supply.

§ 37.43 Adjustments and exceptions. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file with NPA a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that his business operation was commenced during or after the base period or that such provision otherwise works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment which claim that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each such request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought and the justification therefor.

§ 37.45 Records, audit, inspection and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction whether the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

§ 37.46 Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order shall take effect on January 23, 1951.

Chapter II—Economic Stabilization Agency

PART 313—CATTLEHIDES, KIPS AND CALFSKINS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.) and Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and in accordance with Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 1 (16 F. R. 100), It is hereby ordered, That price ceilings on the sale of cattlehides, kips and calfskins shall be effective as provided in this ceiling price regulation.

Statement of considerations. Cattlehides, kips and calfskins are the basic raw materials of the shoe and leather industries. Shoes are one of the most important commodities in the Bureau of Labor Statistics consumer price index having a total weight 2.0 percent. In addition, present indications are that the Armed Services shoe procurement programs will absorb an increasing percentage of the total available hides. Cattlehides and skins are a by-product of the slaughter of cattle and calves for meat. Changes in their prices have a negligible effect on the marketing of cattle. And the imposition of the heavy military requirements for shoes on top of the normal civilian demand has not, therefore, changed the supply of domestic hides available to tanners. Not only does the increased military procurement add to the demand through an increase in the number of shoes required but the combat boot, which is the principal item, requires three times as much leather per pair as the ordinary civilian style of men's shoes. The result is a bidding up in the prices of leather which does not influence available supplies. Marked increases in shoe prices would be a serious threat to living costs and increase substantially the cost of the defense effort.

Cattlehides and skin prices were relatively stable during the first six months of 1950. Shortly after the outbreak in Korea they advanced rapidly. Prices of large packer cattlehides increased from 25 percent to 45 percent in the three months of July, August and September. Calfskin and kip skins advanced approximately 21 percent to 26 percent respectively in the same interval. In subsequent months there was some moderation in the rate of advance of these prices. However, during the last weeks of 1950 and the early weeks of 1951 there again occurred sharp and substantial increases in prices in cattlehides and skins caused in part by the announcement on December 21, 1950, of the Department of Defense procurement program of approximately thirteen million pairs of footwear. Some types of packer hides have increased as much as 17 percent in the last 30 days. Increases in prices of small packer and country hides and skins have been much greater. The demand has been such that the customary differentials between different qualities of hides and skins have become distorted. Small packer hides which customarily sell below large packer hides because of their generally poorer quality, are now commanding premiums over large packer hides. These advances have occurred notwithstanding appeals by the Economic Stabilization Agency for voluntary compliance to pricing standards which, had they been followed, would have avoided many of the ensuing price increases. They have had a serious disturbing effect on leather and shoe prices. It, therefore, becomes apparent that the public interest requires that maximum prices be established for hides and skins covered in the existing regulation.

This regulation establishes as the maximum price for producers and hide dealers the highest price at which they sold or delivered each kind, type, quality, weight, grade and trim of hide or skin during the period November 1 to November 30, 1950. Where they did not sell or deliver hides or skins, the same as those they sold or delivered in November 1950, sellers are directed to apply an "in-lining" technique. This period, November 1 to November 30, 1950, was chosen because it is believed that the customary price differentials between different types, qualities, and weights of hides and between different classes of sellers were in effect at this time. Distortion arose during the month of December 1950 and became accentuated during the early weeks of January 1951. The maximum prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable to sellers and buyers. Before establishing these prices the level of prices prevailing in the industry during the period May 24 to June 24, 1950, was considered. Although the prices of cattlehides, kips and calfskins rose rapidly following the Korean invasion, similar movements occurred in the prices of other commodities and processed agricultural products. With a leveling out in the rate of advances during the latter part of September, October and November distortions that arose during the preceding up-swing were largely eliminated. The cattlehide and calf leather tanners in general were able to adjust selling prices to the new level of hide prices. The time interval between slaughter of the cattle to the sale of the hide in the form of a finished shoe covers a number of months. To roll back hide prices to the May 24–June 24 level with corresponding adjustments at the tannery, shoe manufacturing and shoe retailing levels would be impracticable because of the full pipe-line of higher priced hides and leather. Such is not the case, however, in respect to the recent advances.

Upon the basis of these facts and circumstances and other economic data, the Director of Price Stabilization finds that: (1) Prices for cattlehides, kips and calfskins have risen and threaten to rise unreasonably above the prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950; (2) such price increases will materially affect the cost of living and the national defense; (3) the imposition of the ceiling prices established by this regulation is necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950; (4) it is practicable and feasible to establish ceiling prices for sales of cattlehides, kips and calfskins; (5) such ceilings will be generally fair and equitable to sellers and buyers of cattlehides, kips and calfskins and to buyers and sellers of related and competitive materials and services; and (6) the issuance of this regulation will help to effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

In formulating this regulation the Director has consulted with representatives of the industry to the extent practicable under the circumstances, and has given consideration to their recommendations. The regulation, however, has been designed only for temporary use pending development of controls more exactly adapted to the industry.

For reasons set forth in a statement of considerations accompanying an order of the Economic Stabilization Administrator, being issued separately, no regulation has been promulgated to stabilize wages, salaries or other compensation of employees engaged in producing or selling the products covered by this regulation.

In the opinion of the Director, the accompanying regulations satisfy the requirements of the provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950 relating to ceilings for agricultural commodities.

The provisions of this regulation and their effect upon business practices, cost practices, or methods, or means or aids to distribution in the industry have been carefully considered. It is believed that no changes in such practices or methods have been effected. To the extent, however, that the provisions of this regulation may operate to compel changes in such practices or methods, such provisions are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the regulation and to effectuate the policies of the act.

313.1 What this part does.
313.2 Ceiling prices.
313.3 Evasion.
313.4 Enforcement.
313.5 Records.
313.6 Petition for amendment.
313.7 Where this part applies.
313.8 Definitions.

AUTHORITY: §§ 313.1 to 313.8 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105.

§ 313.1 What this part does—(a) What is covered. This part fixes ceiling prices and maximum brokerage commissions for all sales of untanned domestic cattlehides, kips and calfskins.

(b) Who is covered. If you are a person who sells or buys cattlehides, kips or calfskins or acts as a broker in connection with their sale or purchase, this part applies to you.

(c) On or after January 29, 1951, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment or obligation, you shall not sell or deliver or offer to sell or deliver cattlehides, kips and calfskins, whether for immediate or future delivery, and you shall not buy for immediate or future delivery or accept delivery of any cattlehides, kips or calfskins at a price exceeding the ceiling prices permitted by this part.

§ 313.2 Ceiling prices. This part fixes ceiling prices and maximum commissions with reference to prices and commissions during the period November 1, 1950, to November 30, 1950, inclusive (hereafter called the "base period").

(a) Same cattlehide, kip or calfskin. Your ceiling price for the sale of any cattlehide, kip or calfskin is the highest price at which you sold or delivered the same cattlehide, kip or calfskin during the base period. One cattlehide, kip or calfskin is the same as another when it is of the same kind, type, quality, weight, grade and trim.

(b) Cattlehide, kip or calfskin which is not the same. If the cattlehide, kip or calfskin you are pricing is not the same as any which you sold or delivered during the base period your selling price is a price in line with the selling price of the most closely related cattlehide, kip or calfskin which you sold or delivered during the base period. You determine your in-line selling price by taking your selling price for the most closely related cattlehide, kip or calfskin which you sold or delivered in the base period and by adjusting that price to reflect your customary differentials in the base period for the differences between it and the cattlehide, kip or calfskin you are pricing. If you had no such differentials you shall make your adjustments on the basis of the differentials customary in the industry during the base period.

(c) Customary practices. You must continue to grant all discounts, price differentials, or other allowances, including tare or grub allowances, granted by you in the base period. If you had no such differentials you must use the customary differentials in the industry in the base period. No seller shall require any purchaser and no purchaser shall be permitted to pay a larger proportion of the charges for transportation, handling, or other charges than the seller required a purchaser of the same class to pay during the base period for the same cattlehides, kips or calfskins.

(d) Brokers' commissions. A broker may not charge a commission in excess of that customarily charged by him in the base period. If a broker is employed to sell or buy cattlehides, kips or calfskins, such brokerage commission may be added to the applicable ceiling price otherwise established under this part.

(e) Application for ceiling price or maximum commissions. If no other provision of this section affords you a means of fixing your ceiling price or maximum commission you shall file an application in writing with the Economic Stabilization Agency, Washington 25, D. C., for approval of a proposed ceiling price or maximum commission. Your application shall state your name and your business address. If it relates to the pricing of a cattlehide, kip or calfskin it shall contain a complete description of that cattlehide, kip or calfskin, the ceiling which you propose, the class of purchaser to whom you will sell, the terms of sale and the price charged by your closest competitors on such sales. In the case of an application for a maximum commission your application shall propose a commission rate and give information showing why it is in line with the commission rates established under this part. A cattlehide, kip or calfskin for which a ceiling price is proposed under this section may not be sold until the price has been approved by the Director of Price Stabilization but the proposed price shall be deemed to be approved twenty (20) days after the mailing of the application (or all additional information which may have been requested) unless, within that time the Director notifies you that your proposed price has been disapproved.

(f) The Director may at any time approve, disapprove or revise ceiling prices proposed or established under this part.

§ 313.3 Evasion. You shall not evade or circumvent the provisions of this part by direct or indirect methods in connection with the sale, purchase, delivery, or transfer of cattlehides, kips and calfskins, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation charge, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by upgrading, tying-agreement, trade understanding, or otherwise.

§ 313.4 Enforcement. If you violate any provision of this part you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for damage provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

§ 313.5 Records. If you sell cattlehides, kips or calfskins for which ceiling prices are established by this part you must have the following records:

(a) Base period records. (1) You must preserve for examination by the Office of Price Stabilization all existing records relating to the prices at which you sold or delivered cattlehides, kips and calfskins in November 1950, and (2) you must prepare on or before February 19, 1951, on the basis of all information and records available to you and thereafter hold for examination by the Office of Price Stabilization, a statement showing:

(i) The highest price which you charged for each kind, type, quality, grade, weight, and trim of cattlehide, kip and calfskin sold or delivered by you in the base period, together with an appropriate description or identification of each such cattlehide, kip or calfskin;

(ii) All your customary allowances, discounts, and other price differentials during the base period.

(b) Current records. You must keep and make available for examination by the Office of Price Stabilization records of the same kind as you customarily have maintained relating to the prices which you charge for cattlehides, kips and calfskins sold or delivered after the effective date of this regulation, and, in addition, (1) records, showing as precisely as possible, the basis upon which you determined your ceiling prices for those cattlehides, kips and calfskins, and (2) a copy of each invoice or similar document delivered in connection with a purchase or sale of cattlehides, kips and calfskins.

§ 313.6 Petitions for amendment. If you wish to have this part amended you may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Part 300 of this chapter (Price Procedural Regulation 1, 15 F. R. 9055).

§ 313.7 Where this part applies. This part applies in the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia.

§ 313.8 Definitions. As used in this part (a) "person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(b) "Cattlehides, kips or calfskins" means hides and skins of domestic cattle of the bovine species.

(c) "Domestic" means originating from the continental United States.

(d) "Broker" means any person who acts on behalf of a principal in connection with the collection, sale, purchase, receipt or shipment of cattlehides, kips or calfskins.

(e) All other trade terms used in this part shall have the meanings generally accepted in the trade.

(f) "Sell" includes sell, supply, dispose, barter, exchange, lease, transfer, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The terms "sale," "selling," "sold," "seller," "buy," "purchase," and "purchaser," shall be construed accordingly. Nothing in this part shall be construed to prohibit the making of a contract to sell cattlehides, kips or calfskins at a price not to exceed the maximum price at the time of delivery.

(g) "Delivered:" A cattlehide, kip or calfskin shall be deemed to have been delivered during November 1950 if, during such month, it was received by the purchaser or by any carrier, including a carrier owned or controlled by the seller, for shipment to the purchaser.

Effective date. This part shall become effective on the 29th day of January 1951.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this part have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

MICHAEL V. DI SALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[P. & S. Docket No. 456]

MARKET AGENCIES AT UNION STOCK YARDS OGDEN, UTAH

NOTICE OF PETITION FOR MODIFICATION OF RATES

Pursuant to the provisions of the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U. S. C. 181 et seq.), an order was issued on July 13, 1949 (8 A. D. 788), authorizing certain temporary rates and charges for sales of livestock by auction.

By a petition filed on January 15, 1951, J. E. Manning, owner of the Ogden Livestock Auction Co., one of the respondents, has requested an authorization to file a Supplement to Tariff No. 1 amending Section No. 1 of said Tariff No. 1, to read as follows:

Section No. 1

Cattle

	Per head
Calves:
Weighing 450 pounds or under	$0.75
Cattle:
Weighing 451 pounds or more	1.25

If authorized, the proposed charges will produce additional revenue for the respondents and increase the cost of marketing by auction. It appears, therefore, that this notice of the filing of the petition should be given to the public.

All interested parties who desire to be heard in the matter shall notify the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 15 days following the publication of this notice.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 22d day of January 1951.

[Docket No. AO 170-A 5]

HANDLING OF MILK IN SOUTH BEND-LA PORTE, IND., MARKETING AREA

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE TENTATIVELY APPROVED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO THE ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held at the YMCA, 236 South Main Street, South Bend, Indiana, beginning at 9:30 a. m., c. s. t., on February 15, 1951.

The hearing is for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to economic and marketing conditions which relate to the handling of milk for the South Bend-La Porte, Indiana, marketing area and to the proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area set forth herein below, or modifications thereof. The amendments proposed have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The following amendments have been proposed by the Pure Milk Association:

Proposal No. 1. Delete the words "and butterfat" from § 967.41 (a) (2).

Proposal No. 2. Amend § 967.41 (b) to read as follows:

(b) Class II milk shall be (1) all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as fluid cream (sweet or sour), any fluid cream product containing not less than six percent (6%) butterfat, butter cream, filled cream, eggnog, yogurt and cottage cheese, and (2) shrinkage on receipts of producer butterfat computed pursuant to § 967.42 which is in excess of two percent (2%) of such receipts and all butterfat not specifically accounted for as any item under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph on Class I, Class III or Class IV butterfat.

Proposal No. 3. Amend § 967.46 (b) to read as follows:

(b) From the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat subtract in series beginning with Class IV, then from Class III, next from Class II, and finally from Class I, to the extent available, the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in other source milk, excluding that subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

Proposal No. 4. Amend § 967.50 (d) and (e) to read as follows:

(d) From the highest of the prices resulting from paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section, for the next preceding delivery period deduct the value of 96.5 pounds of Class IV skim milk for the current delivery period, as computed under § 967.53 (b). Divide the result by 3.5 and the result shall be known as the basic formula price per pound of butterfat.

(e) The basic formula price per hundredweight of skim milk shall be the same as that computed under § 967.53 for Class IV skim milk.

Proposal No. 5. Amend § 967.51 to read as follows:

§ 967.51 Class I and Class II milk prices. The minimum prices to be paid by each handler for skim milk and butterfat in producer milk classified as Class I milk and Class II milk, shall be determined by adding the following amounts to the respective basic formula prices for skim milk and butterfat for the delivery period.

Delivery period	Class I skim milk (per hundredweight)	Class II butterfat (per pound)
April	$0.7279	$0.1143
May and June	.5813	.0857
July through December	1.3415	.2000
All other months	.9264	.1429

Proposal No. 6. Amend § 967.52 (b) and (c) to read as follows:

(b) The per hundredweight skim milk value of Class III milk shall be the same as that determined for the Class IV price under § 967.50 (e). The price per pound of butterfat in Class III milk shall be determined as follows:

(c) From the price determined under paragraph (a) of this section deduct the value of 96.5 pounds of Class III skim milk. Divide the remainder by 3.5 and the result shall be known as the price per pound of butterfat in Class III milk.

Proposal No. 7. Delete § 967.52 (d) and (e).

Proposal No. 8. Amend § 967.53 to read as follows:

§ 967.53 Class IV milk prices. The minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for skim milk and butterfat in producer milk received and classified as Class IV milk, shall be determined as follows:

(a) Multiply the average of the daily wholesale prices per pound of 92-score butter at Chicago, Illinois, during the delivery period as reported by the Department by 1.2, which amount shall be known as the Class IV price per pound of butterfat.

(b) Multiply the Class IV price per pound of butterfat by 3.5. Deduct the amount arrived at from the price resulting from the formula under § 967.50 (c). Divide this result by 0.965, which amount shall be known as the Class IV price per hundredweight of skim milk.

Proposal No. 9. Amend § 967.60 to read as follows:

§ 967.60 Exempt milk. Skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I and Class II milk on a route in the marketing area shall not be subject to the provisions of this order, if

(a) Such milk is priced under another marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act; and

(b) The person making such disposition of milk in the marketing area is subject to regulation under this or such other marketing agreement or order: Provided, That the handler making such disposition of milk in the marketing area shall, at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require, make reports to the market administrator which shall be subject to verification by the market administrator.

The following amendments have been proposed by the La Porte County Milk Producers Association, Inc.:

Proposal No. 10. Amend § 967.80 (a) to read:

(a) Not less than 50% of amount due to each producer for milk delivered to handler by producer during the previous delivery period on or before the 4th day of the month following the delivery period and the balance on or before the 18th day after the end of each delivery period, to each producer, except producers for whom payments are made to a cooperative association pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, at not less than the uniform price for such delivery period pursuant to § 967.71 adjusted by the producer butterfat differential pursuant to § 967.81, for all milk received from such producer during such delivery period: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such delivery period pursuant to § 967.84, he may reduce such payments uniformly per hundredweight for all producers by an amount not in excess of the per hundredweight reduction in payment from the market administrator: And provided further, That such handler shall make such balance of payment to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator.

Proposal No. 11. Amend § 967.7 to read as follows:

§ 967.7 South Bend-La Porte Marketing Area. "South Bend-La Porte Marketing Area," hereinafter called "marketing area" means all of the territory within the geographical limits of St. Joseph County, Indiana, excepting the Townships of Olive, Liberty and Lincoln, and all of the territory in Bertrand and Niles Townships, Berrien County, Michigan, and Milton and Ontwa Townships, Case County, Michigan, excepting that part of said townships within the corporate limits of the City of Niles, Michigan, and all the territory within the corporate limits of La Porte and Michigan City, Indiana.

Proposal No. 12. Amend § 967.8 to read as follows:

§ 967.8 Plant. "Plant" means any plant which disposes of milk in the marketing area.

Proposal No. 13. Amend § 967.9 to read as follows:

§ 967.9 Producer. "Producer" means any person who produces milk which is received at a plant.

Proposal No. 14. Amend § 967.41 (a) to read as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat: (1) Disposed of in fluid form as milk, flavored milk, having a butterfat content of not less than 3.25 percent (2) shrinkage on receipts of producer milk which is in excess of 3 percent of such receipts.

Proposal No. 15. Amend § 967.46 (b) to read as follows:

(b) Subtract pro rata from the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in other source milk: Provided however, That if such milk is priced under another marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act, then such milk shall be classified in the class in which it is used.

Proposal No. 16. Amend § 967.60 to read as follows:

§ 967.60 Exempt milk. There shall be no exempt milk and all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I or Class II milk on any route in the marketing area shall be subject to the provisions of this part.

The following amendments have been proposed by the Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration:

Proposal No. 17. Amend § 967.41 (a) (1) to read as follows:

(1) Disposed of in fluid form as milk, skim milk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, fluid cream (sweet or sour), any mixture of cream and milk (or skim milk), containing not less than 6 percent butterfat, eggnog, and buttermilk (except as provided in paragraphs (b) (1) and (c) (2) of this section); and

Proposal No. 18. Redesignate Class III milk as Class II milk and redesignate Class IV milk as Class III milk; redesignate paragraphs (c) and (d) of § 967.41 as paragraphs (b) and (c) of such section, respectively.

Proposal No. 19. Make such other changes as may be required to make the entire marketing agreement and order conform with any amendments thereto that may result from this hearing.

Copies of this notice of hearing and of the order, as amended, now in effect, may be procured from the Market Administrator, 116 South William Street, South Bend, Indiana, or from the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 1353, South Building, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

Dated: January 22, 1951.

MILK AND CREAM; DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY

NOTICE OF HEARING TO AMEND DEFINITION AND STANDARD OF IDENTITY OF EVAPORATED MILK

In the matter of amending the definition and standard of identity for evaporated milk:

Notice is hereby given that the Federal Security Administrator, upon his own initiative in accordance with sections 401 and 701 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 341, 371), will hold a public hearing commencing at 10:00 o'clock in the morning of March 5, 1951, in room 5439, Federal Security Building, Independence Avenue and Fourth Street SW., Washington, D. C., for the purpose of receiving evidence upon proposals to amend the regulations fixing and establishing definitions and standards of identity for evaporated milk (21 CFR 18.520).

At the hearing, evidence will be restricted to testimony and exhibits relevant and material to such proposals. The hearing will be conducted in accordance with the rules of practice provided therefor. Mr. Bernard D. Levinson is hereby designated as presiding officer to conduct the hearing in place of the Administrator, with full authority to administer oaths and affirmations and to do all other things appropriate to the conduct of the hearing. The presiding officer is required to certify the entire record of the proceeding to the Administrator for initial decision.

The proposed amendments set forth below for consideration at the hearing are subject to adoption, rejection, or modification by the Federal Security Administrator, in whole or in part, as the evidence adduced at the hearing may require.

It is proposed that § 18.520 Evaporated milk; identity; label statement of optional ingredients, be amended in the following respects:

1. By changing subparagraph (2) of paragraph (a), so that as changed it reads as follows:

(2) Vitamin D in such quantity as to increase the total vitamin D content to not less than 25 U. S. P. units per fluid ounce of the finished evaporated milk.

2. By changing subparagraph (5) of paragraph (c), so that as changed it reads as follows:

(5) The quantity of vitamin D is determined by the method prescribed in "Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists," 7th edition, page 788 et seq., under the heading "Vitamin D in Milk—Official."

Dated: January 19, 1951.

[SEAL] OSCAR R. EWING,
Administrator.

DEFENSE PRODUCTION ADMINISTRATION

[Delegation No. 1]

DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY TO CERTAIN OFFICERS AND AGENCIES

Pursuant to Executive Order No. 10200, issued January 3, 1950, certain of the functions conferred upon the Defense Production Administration by said order are further delegated as follows:

1. The functions conferred upon the President by Title I of the Defense Production Act of 1950 are hereby delegated to the same officers and agencies to whom the said functions were delegated by section 101 of Executive Order No. 10161 issued on September 9, 1950 (F. R. Doc. 50-8018), except as modified in the next succeeding paragraph of this delegation.

2. Those functions under Title I of the Defense Production Act of 1950 which were previously delegated to the Secretary of Interior by the Secretary of Commerce in National Production Authority Delegation No. 5 issued on December 18, 1950 (15 F. R. 9195) are hereby delegated to the Secretary of the Interior.

3. Each officer and agency to whom functions are delegated by this Delegation No. 1 shall, with respect to the materials and facilities within his particular jurisdiction as defined in the preceding paragraphs of this Delegation No. 1, continue to perform the claimant functions assigned to him by sections 102 and 103 of Executive Order 10161.

4. Each officer and agency to whom functions are delegated by this Delegation No. 1 shall, with respect to the materials and facilities within his particular jurisdiction as defined in the preceding paragraphs of this Delegation No. 1, make recommendations to the Defense Production Administrator for the issuance of certificates by the Administrator for action under Sections 302 and 303 of the Defense Production Act of 1950 (loans, purchases, commitments, etc.) as specified in paragraph 2b of section 2 of Executive Order 10200, and in sections 303 and 304 of Executive Order 10161, as amended. Such officers and agencies shall perform such additional functions with respect to the issuance of such certificates as may be prescribed by any regulations or procedures which may hereafter be issued. This paragraph shall not be construed to limit or affect the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture under section 303 of Executive Order 10161, as amended by Executive Order 10200.

5. Each officer and agency to whom functions under Title I of the Defense Production Act of 1950 are delegated shall, with respect to the materials and facilities within his particular jurisdiction, make recommendations to the Defense Production Administrator for the issuance of certificates under subsection (c) of section 124A of the Internal Revenue Code, as added by section 216 of the Revenue Act of 1950, approved September 23, 1950, subject to any regulations and procedures which may hereafter be issued.

6. Each officer and agency to whom functions under Title I of the Defense Production Act of 1950 are delegated may, with respect to the materials and facilities within his jurisdiction, carry out the consultations referred to in subsection 708 (a) of that act, and make recommendations to the Defense Production Administrator for the approval of voluntary agreements and programs as provided in section 708 of that act.

7. Nothing in this Delegation No. 1 shall be construed to limit the right of redelegation and authorization of successive redelegation of any of the foregoing functions, pursuant to paragraph (b) of section 902 of Executive Order 10161.

8. The functions delegated by the preceding paragraphs of this Delegation No. 1 shall be exercised subject to the direction and control of the Defense Production Administrator.

This delegation shall take effect immediately (January 24, 1951).

W. H. HARRISON,
Defense Production Administrator.

ECONOMIC STABILIZATION AGENCY

[Gen. Order 2]

FUNCTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PRICE STABILIZATION TO BE PERFORMED BY THE DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

By virtue of the authority vested in me as the Economic Stabilization Administrator by Executive Order No. 10161 of September 9, 1950 (15 F. R. 6105), and in order to further define the internal organization of the Economic Stabilization Agency, it is hereby determined and ordered:

SECTION 1. (a) There is hereby created within the Economic Stabilization Agency an Office of Price Stabilization which shall be headed by the Director of Price Stabilization.

(b) The functions delegated to the Economic Stabilization Administrator by the provisions of Part IV of Executive Order No. 10161 of September 9, 1950, with respect to price stabilization are hereby redelegated to the Director of Price Stabilization and shall be performed by him subject to the supervision and direction of the Administrator.

(c) The Director of Price Stabilization shall make such recommendations to the Administrator regarding stabilization policies as he deems appropriate.

(d) There are hereby redelegated to the Director of Price Stabilization so much of the functions of the Administrator pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 and provided for in sections 902 and 903 of Executive Order No. 10161 of September 9, 1950, as is necessary for the performance of the functions with respect to price stabilization hereinabove redelegated to the Director of Price Stabilization and, except as redelegation may be prohibited therein, so much of the functions of the Administrator pursuant to Executive Order No. 10182 of November 21, 1950, as amended by Executive Order No. 10205 of January 3, 1951, as is necessary for the performance of the functions with respect to price stabilization so redelegated hereinabove to the Director of Price Stabilization.

SEC. 2. Without prejudice to anything heretofore done thereunder, General Order No. 1, promulgated by the Economic Stabilization Administrator January 2, 1951, is hereby revoked. All other orders and directives of the said Administrator, including Administrator's Management Order No. 1 of October 20, 1950, are hereby superseded to the extent that they are inconsistent herewith.

SEC. 3. This order shall become effective as of the commencement of business on Wednesday, January 24, 1951.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. G-1587]

DELAWARE POWER & LIGHT CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JANUARY 22, 1951.

Take notice that on January 11, 1951, Delaware Power & Light Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Wilmington, Delaware, filed an application pursuant to section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act to abandon the transportation of natural gas in interstate commerce to the Chester County Light and Power Company, and to abandon such facilities used in connection therewith to the extent that they are now used in such transportation.

Delaware Power & Light Company recites in its application that it desires to discontinue the transportation of gas to Chester County Light and Power Company in order that it may convert its full pipeline capacity of all of its facilities, now partially used for such transportation, to supply gas to its customers, and that such utilization would result in better service to its customers.

The application points out that Philadelphia Electric Company is filing an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for authority to construct and operate certain proposed natural gas facilities described for the purpose of transporting and delivering direct to the pipeline facilities of Chester the natural gas sold in interstate commerce by Philadelphia Electric Company to Chester for resale,[1] which natural gas is now being transported by Applicant.

The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection. Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) before the 12th day of February 1951.

[Docket No. G-1588]

PHILADELPHIA ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JANUARY 22, 1951.

Take notice that on January 12, 1951, Philadelphia Electric Company (Applicant), a Pennsylvania corporation with its principal place of business in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural-gas transmission pipeline facilities hereinafter described.

Applicant proposes to construct a 6-inch pipe line which will commence at a point of connection with an existing line consisting of 1.1 miles of 16-inch pipe and 6.9 miles of 12-inch pipe originating from Applicant's Tilghman Street gas production plant in the City of Chester, Pennsylvania, to the Pennsylvania-Delaware State line near Booth Corner, Pennsylvania. The proposed 6-inch main will connect with Applicant's existing pipe line in the vicinity of Chester, near the intersection of Wilmington-Kennett Pike and Baltimore Pike, in Kennett Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia Electric Company supplies the entire gas requirements of the [1] Philadelphia Electric Company filed said application January 12, 1951, in Docket No. G-1588.

Chester County Light and Power Company (Chester), which company supplies a portion of Chester County.

All gas sold by Applicant to Chester for resale is transported and delivered to the Delaware Power & Light Company (Delaware) and by the latter transported and delivered to Chester at a point at the boundary line between Chester County, Pennsylvania and New Castle County, Delaware. Applicant, by means of its project, proposes through said 6-inch main to transport and deliver natural gas direct to Chester.

The estimated cost of construction of said main and associated facilities is $311,000. The cost will be financed out of Applicant's general funds. The time required for the construction is estimated at four months.

The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection. Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) before the 12th day of February 1951.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[Docket No. 9889]

AMERICAN TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH CO. AND THE ASSOCIATED COMPANIES OF THE BELL SYSTEM

ORDER INSTITUTING INVESTIGATION

In the matter of rates and charges for interstate and foreign communication services furnished by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Associated Companies of the Bell System.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 19th day of January 1951;

The Commission, having under consideration the level of earnings of the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Associated Companies of the Bell System, listed in Attachment A hereof, from interstate and foreign communication services; and the specific rates and rate relationships in the existing message toll telephone rate schedules;

It appearing, that according to information contained in reports received by the Commission from the above-mentioned companies, as summarized in Attachment B hereof, said companies are earning upon the reported book cost of their telephone plant devoted to interstate and foreign communication services, less depreciation and amortization reserves, at a rate of more than 7.0 percent after all taxes;

It further appearing, that the most recent reports of the earnings of said companies indicate an upward trend in their level of earnings from interstate and foreign communication services;

It further appearing, that in view of such high level of earnings, and the aforementioned trend thereof, and with due regard to the higher Federal income tax rates applicable in 1951, the rates and charges for interstate and foreign communication services furnished by the above-named companies may be so high as to be unjust and unreasonable and unduly burdensome upon the public;

It further appearing, that consideration should be given to the need and desirability for adjustments in specific rates and rate relationships in the existing interstate message toll telephone rate schedules;

It is ordered, That pursuant to sections 201, 205 and 403 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, an investigation is hereby instituted into the justness and reasonableness of the rates and charges for interstate and foreign communication services which are furnished by the above-named companies, and into the need and desirability for adjustments in specific rates and rate relationships in the existing interstate message toll telephone rate schedules;

It is further ordered, That each of the above-named companies is hereby made a party respondent to this proceeding, and shall appear and show cause why, on the basis of the data summarized in Attachment B hereof, (1) the Commission should not find that the existing rates and charges for and in connection with interstate and foreign communication services furnished by said respondents are or will be unjust and unreasonable; and (2) an interim reduction in earnings through appropriate adjustments in rates and charges should not be ordered to be made, pending conclusion of the proceedings of investigation;

It is further ordered, That respondents shall file with this Commission on or before the 23d day of March 1951, their answer or answers to this order, verified by the person or persons having personal knowledge of the facts alleged therein;

It is further ordered, That hearings be held in this proceeding at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., beginning at 10:00 a. m. on the 16th day of April 1951; and that the Commission's telephone committee or any member or members thereof shall preside at said hearings and, at the conclusion of the show cause aspect thereof, shall issue an initial decision;

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order shall be served upon each of the above-named respondents; upon the Governors of the States of Iowa and Texas; upon the commission, board, or official of each of the other States and of the District of Columbia which has regulatory jurisdiction with respect to rates and charges for communication services; upon the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners; and upon the United States Independent Telephone Association.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Earnings and plant book cost data related to interstate communications services under the Division of Revenues Contracts, calendar year 1949 and January 1–October 31, 1950.

	Calendar year 1949	Jan. 1–Oct. 31, 1950
Book cost of telephone plant (account 100.1, 3, 4)	$1,714,510,272	$1,860,970,109
Depreciation and amortization reserves [1]	568,017,253	616,542,309
Net book cost of telephone plant	1,146,493,019	1,244,436,770
Operating revenues	502,906,651	522,618,811
Operating revenue deductions [2]	460,975,217	401,566,976
Federal income taxes [3]	32,209,776	45,143,070
Net amount available for return	69,721,658	75,878,776
Ratio of net amount available for return to net book cost of telephone plant	Percent 6.08	Percent [4] 7.92

[1] Estimated on basis of applying to book cost the ratio of these reserves to book cost used by American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in a statement supplied informally to the Commission relating to the 12 months ended Apr. 30, 1950.

[2] Includes service pension accruals accounted for by charge to account 223 and also includes operating taxes except Federal income taxes.

[3] Federal income taxes are computed at a 38 percent tax rate for 1949 and a 42 percent tax rate for the 1950 period. Taxable income is computed by allocation to interstate operations the same proportion of total interest expense of the Bell System (including Southern New England Telephone Co. and Cincinnati & Suburban Bell Telephone Co.) as book cost of telephone plant allocated to interstate operations is of total telephone plant of the Bell System (including SNET and C&S). It is assumed that 87 percent of the earnings of the associated companies which are available for dividends is paid out as dividends, and that 95.36 percent of those dividends accrues to A. T. & T. Co. For purposes of this statement, allowance is made in taxable income for the 15 percent of such dividends which will be taxable income to A. T. & T. Co.

[4] Annual basis; at a 47 percent Federal income tax rate, this ratio would be 6.31 percent.

HOUSING AND HOME FINANCE AGENCY

Office of the Administrator

COMMISSIONER OF COMMUNITY FACILITIES

DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY WITH RESPECT TO HOUSING FOR EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

Statutory responsibility of the Housing and Home Finance Administrator with respect to Housing for Educational Institutions. The Housing and Home Finance Administrator is responsible for the administration of the program authorized under Title IV of the Housing Act of 1950 (64 Stat. 77, 12 U. S. C. 1749–1749c, inclusive), designed to assist educational institutions in providing housing for their students and faculties. There is available under this program, for loans to serve the most acute needs of such institutions arising from defense or defense-related activities, an amount not to exceed $40,000,000 to be obtained through borrowings by the Administrator from the Secretary of the Treasury.

Delegation of authority. The Commissioner of Community Facilities, head of the Community Facilities Service, an organizational unit in the Office of the Administrator, is hereby authorized to administer the program authorized under Title IV of the Housing Act of 1950, in accordance with applicable law and under the supervision of the Housing and Home Finance Administrator: Provided, however, That with respect to loans under such program no officer or employee of the Housing and Home Finance Agency other than the Housing and Home Finance Administrator (or the Acting Administrator) shall authorize loans, make loan or other contractual commitments, execute loan or other agreements or amendments thereto, make determinations with respect to a breach of contract, or issue notes or other obligations for purchase by the Secretary of the Treasury.

To the Commissioner of Community Facilities. In carrying out the functions under Title IV of the Housing Act of 1950, the Commissioner of Community Facilities is hereby authorized, specifically:

(a) To approve requisitions and vouchers for funds to be disbursed within amounts established in contracts executed by the Administrator.

(b) To redelegate the authority herein delegated to such officers and employees of the Community Facilities Service as he may select.

(Reorg. Plan No. 3 of 1947, 61 Stat. 954 (1947); 62 Stat. 1283–85 (1948), 12 U. S. C. 1701c (Supp. 1949), as amended by Pub. Law 475, 81st Cong., 2d Sess., sec. 503 (April 20, 1950); 64 Stat. 77–80, 12 U. S. C. 1749–1749c (Supp. 1949))

Effective this 23d day of January 1951.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

WAYNE D. RUSE

ORDER FOR PROCEEDINGS AND NOTICE OF HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of January 1951.

In the matter of Wayne D. Ruse, 406 Chickasha Street, Chickasha, Oklahoma.

I. The Commission's public official files disclose that Wayne D. Ruse, hereinafter referred to as registrant, is registered as a broker-dealer pursuant to section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

II. The Records Officer of the Commission has filed with the Commission a statement, a copy of which is attached hereto and made a part hereof,[1] stating that registrant did not file with the Commission reports of his financial condition during the calendar years 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948 or 1949 as required by section 17 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-17A-5 adopted thereunder.

III. The information reported to the Commission by its Records Officer as set forth in paragraph II hereof tends, if true, to show that registrant violated section 17 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-17A-5 adopted under said section.

IV. The Commission, having considered the aforesaid information, deems it necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors that proceedings be instituted to determine:

(a) Whether the statements set forth in paragraph II hereof are true;

(b) Whether registrant has wilfully violated section 17 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-17A-5 adopted under said section;

(c) Whether, pursuant to section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, it is in the public interest to revoke registration of registrant; and

(d) Whether, pursuant to section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, pending final determination, it is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors to suspend the registration of registrant.

V. It is ordered, That registrant be given an opportunity for hearing as set forth in paragraph IV hereof on the 26th day of February 1951 at the main office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, located at 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C., before a Hearing Examiner to be designated by the Commission. On such date the Hearing Room Clerk in Room 101, North Building, will advise the parties and the Hearing Examiner as to the room in which such hearing will be held. The Commission will consider any motion with respect to a change of place of said hearing if said motion is filed with the Secretary of the Commission on or before February 19, 1951. Upon completion of any such hearing in this matter the Hearing Examiner shall prepare a recommended decision pursuant to Rule IX of the rules of practice unless such decision is waived.

It is further ordered, That in the event registrant does not appear personally or through a representative at the time and place herein set or as otherwise ordered, the Hearing Room Clerk shall file with the Records Officer of the Commission a written statement to that effect and thereupon the Commission will take the record under advisement for decision.

This order and notice shall be served on registrant personally or by registered mail forthwith, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER not later than fifteen (15) days prior to February 26, 1951.

In the absence of an appropriate waiver, no officer or employee of the Commission engaged in the performance of investigative or prosecuting functions in this or any factually related proceeding will be permitted to participate or advise in the decision upon the matter except as witness or counsel in proceedings held pursuant to notice. Since this proceeding is not "rule making" within the meaning of section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act, it is not deemed to be subject to the provisions of the section delaying the effective date of any final Commission action.

By the Commission.

MRS. JACK H. HIX

ORDER FOR PROCEEDINGS AND NOTICE OF HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of January 1951.

In the matter of Mrs. Jack H. Hix, 4433 Edmondson, Dallas, Texas, and 565 First National Bank Bldg., Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

I. The Commission's public official files disclose that Mrs. Jack H. Hix, hereinafter referred to as registrant, is registered as a broker-dealer pursuant to section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

II. The Records Officer of the Commission has filed with the Commission a statement, a copy of which is attached hereto and made a part hereof,[1] stating that registrant did not file with the Commission reports of her financial condition during the calendar years 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948 or 1949 as required by section 17 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-17A-5 adopted thereunder.

III. The information reported to the Commission by its Records Officer as set forth in paragraph II hereof tends, if true, to show that registrant violated section 17 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-17A-5 adopted under said section.

IV. The Commission, having considered the aforesaid information, deems it necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors that proceedings be instituted to determine:

(a) Whether the statements set forth in paragraph II hereof are true;

(b) Whether registrant has wilfully violated section 17 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-17A-5 adopted under said section;

(c) Whether, pursuant to section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, it is in the public interest to revoke registration of registrant; and

(d) Whether, pursuant to section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, pending final determination, it is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors to suspend the registration of registrant.

V. It is ordered, That registrant be given an opportunity for hearing as set forth in paragraph IV hereof on the 26th day of February 1951 at the main office of the Securities and Exchange Commission located at 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C., before a Hearing Examiner to be designated by the Commission. On such date the Hearing Room Clerk in Room 101, North Building, will advise the parties and the Hearing Examiner as to the room in which such hearing will be held. The Commission will consider any motion with respect to a change of place of said hearing if said motion is filed with the Secretary of the Commission on or before February 19, 1951. Upon completion of any such hearing in this matter the Hearing Examiner shall prepare a recommended decision pursuant to Rule IX of the rules of practice unless such decision is waived.

It is further ordered, That in the event registrant does not appear personally or through a representative at the time and place herein set or as otherwise ordered, the Hearing Room Clerk shall file with the Records Officer of the Commission a written statement to that effect and thereupon the Commission will take the record under advisement for decision.

This order and notice shall be served on registrant personally or by registered mail forthwith, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER not later than fifteen (15) days prior to February 26, 1951.

In the absence of an appropriate waiver, no officer or employee of the Commission engaged in the performance of Investigative or prosecuting functions in this or any factually related proceeding will be permitted to participate or advise in the decision upon the matter except as witness or counsel in proceedings held pursuant to notice. Since this proceeding is not "rule making" within the meaning of section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act, it is not deemed to be subject to the provisions of the section delaying the effective date of any final Commission action.

ARTHUR L. FAUBLE

ORDER FOR PROCEEDINGS AND NOTICE OF HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of January 1951.

In the matter of Arthur L. Fauble, 620 North Louisa Street, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

I. The Commission's public official files disclose that Arthur L. Fauble, hereinafter referred to as registrant, is registered as a broker-dealer pursuant to section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

II. The Records Officer of the Commission has filed with the Commission a statement, a copy of which is attached hereto and made a part hereof,[1] stating that registrant did not file with the Commission reports of his financial condition during the calendar years 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948 or 1949 as required by section 17 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-17A-5 adopted thereunder.

III. The information reported to the Commission by its Records Officer as set forth in paragraph II hereof tends, if true, to show that registrant violated section 17 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-17A-5 adopted under said section.

IV. The Commission, having considered the aforesaid information, deems it necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors that proceedings be instituted to determine:

(a) Whether the statements set forth in paragraph II hereof are true;

(b) Whether registrant has wilfully violated section 17 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-17A-5 adopted under said section;

(c) Whether, pursuant to section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, it is in the public interest to revoke registration of registrant; and

(d) Whether, pursuant to section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, pending final determination, it is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors to suspend the registration of registrant.

V. It is ordered, That registrant be given an opportunity for hearing as set forth in paragraph IV hereof on the 26th day of February 1951 at the main office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, located at 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C., before a Hearing Examiner to be designated by the Commission. On such date the Hearing Room Clerk in Room 101, North Building, will advise the parties and the Hearing Examiner as to the room in which such hearing will be held. The Commission will consider any motion with respect to a change of place of said hearing if said motion is filed with the Secretary of the Commission on or before February 19, 1951. Upon completion of any such hearing in this matter the Hearing Examiner shall prepare a recommended decision pursuant to Rule IX of the rules of practice unless such decision is waived.

It is further ordered, That in the event registrant does not appear personally or through a representative at the time and place herein set or as otherwise ordered, the Hearing Room Clerk shall file with the Records Officer of the Commission a written statement to that effect and thereupon the Commission will take the record under advisement for decision.

This order and notice shall be served on registrant personally or by registered mail forthwith, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER not later than fifteen (15) days prior to February 26, 1951.

In the absence of an appropriate waiver, no officer or employee of the Commission engaged in the performance of investigative or prosecuting functions in this or any factually related proceeding will be permitted to participate or advise in the decision upon the matter except as witness or counsel in proceedings held pursuant to notice. Since this proceeding is not "rule making" within the meaning of section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act, it is not deemed to be subject to the provisions of the section delaying the effective date of any final Commission action.

By the Commission.

Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in the proceedings shall file with the Secretary of the Commission, on or before February 12, 1951, a request or application relative thereto as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That James G. Ewell, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for the purpose, shall preside at the hearing on such matters. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby empowered to exercise all such powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's Rules of Practice.

The Division of Public Utilities of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of said applications and that, upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration by the Commission, without prejudice to its specifying additional matters and questions upon further examination:

1. Whether the services and disbursements for which remuneration is sought are compensable, and whether it is lawful or appropriate to grant any allowances for fees and expenses to the persons making such claims.

2. Whether the amounts claimed are fair and reasonable and, if not, what amounts should be fixed by the Commission.

It is further ordered, That particular attention be directed at said hearing to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this notice shall be mailed by registered mail to Iowa Public Service Company and the applicants herein, that notice shall be given to all other persons by general release of this Commission, which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases under the act, and that further notice shall be given to all persons by publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

FEDERAL REGISTER

OF THE UNITED STATES 1934

VOLUME 16 NUMBER 19

Washington, Saturday, January 27, 1951

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Orange Reg. 192]

PART 933—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, AND TANGERINES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 933.508 Orange Regulation 192—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 33, as amended (7 CFR Part 933), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines grown in the State of Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than January 29, 1951. Shipments of oranges, grown in the State of Florida, have been subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order, since September 11, 1950, and will so continue until January 29, 1951; the recommendation and supporting information for continued regulation subsequent to January 28 was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Growers Administrative Committee on January 23; such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including the effective time hereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of oranges; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., January 29, 1951, and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., February 12, 1951, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in Regulation Area I which grade U. S. No. 2 Bright, U. S. No. 2, U. S. No. 2 Russet, U. S. No. 3, or lower than U. S. No. 3 grade;

(ii) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in Regulation Area II which grade U. S. No. 2 Russet, U. S. No. 3, or lower than U. S. No. 3 grade;

(iii) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in Regulation Area II which grade U. S. No. 2 or U. S. No. 2 Bright unless such oranges (a) are in the same container with oranges which grade at least U. S. No. 1 Russet and (b) are not in excess of 50 percent, by count, of the number of all oranges in such container;

(iv) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in Regulation Area I or Regulation Area II which are of a size smaller than 2$\frac{2}{16}$ inches in diameter, measured midway at a right angle to a straight line running from the stem to the blossom end of the fruit, except that a tolerance of 10 percent, by count, of oranges smaller than such minimum size

PART 933—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, AND TANGERINES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 933.509 Tangerine Regulation 106—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 33, as amended (7 CFR Part 933), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines grown in the State of Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of tangerines, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than January 29, 1951. Shipments of tangerines, grown in the State of Florida, have been subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order, since October 23, 1950, and will so continue until January 29, 1951; the recommendation and supporting information for continued regulation subsequent to January 28 was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Growers Administrative Committee on January 23; such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including the effective time thereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such tangerines; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of tangerines; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., January 29, 1951, and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., February 5, 1951, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any tangerines, grown in the State of Florida, that do not grade at least U. S. No. 1 Bronze; or

(ii) Any tangerines, grown in the State of Florida, that are of a size smaller than a size that will pack a 210 pack of tangerines, packed in accordance with the requirements of a standard pack, in a half-standard box (inside dimensions 9½ x 9½ x 19⅛ inches; capacity 1,726 cubic inches) except that the minimum size of such tangerines shall be 2$^{5}/_{16}$ inches with a total tolerance for variations incident to proper sizing of 20 percent, by count, of tangerines that are smaller than 2$^{5}/_{16}$ inches in diameter of which not more than one-half, or a total of 10 percent by count of the tangerines, are smaller than 2$^{4}/_{16}$ inches in diameter.

(2) As used in this section, "handler," "ship," and "Growers Administrative Committee" shall have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order; and "U. S. No. 1 Bronze," "diameter," "210 pack," and "standard pack" shall have the same meaning as when used in the United States Standards for Tangerines (7 CFR 51.416).

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup., 608c)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of January 1951.

[Lemon Reg. 367]

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 953.474 Lemon Regulation 367—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953; 14 F.R. 3612), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of lemons, grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, are currently subject to regulation pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified in this section was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Lemon Administrative Committee on January 24, 1951, such meeting was held, after giving due notice thereof to consider recommendations for regulation, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., January 28, 1951, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., February 4, 1951, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: 20 carloads;

(ii) District 2: 230 carloads;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said amended marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached hereto and made a part hereof by this reference.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "carloads," "prorate base," "District 1," "District 2" and "District 3," shall have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of January 1951.

[Orange Reg. 355, Amdt. 1]

PART 966—ORANGES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA OR IN ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. 1. Pursuant to the provisions of Order No. 66 (7 CFR Part 966; 14 F. R. 3614) regulating the handling of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such oranges which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

2. It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient; and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) (ii) (a) of § 966.501 (Orange Regulation 355, 16 F. R. 533) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(ii) Oranges other than Valencia oranges * * *

(a) Prorate District No. 1: 600 carloads.

PART 966—ORANGES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA OR IN ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 966.502 Orange Regulation 356—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the provisions of Order No. 66, as amended (7 CFR Part 966; 14 F. R. 3614), regulating the handling of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such oranges which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of oranges, grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, are currently subject to regulation pursuant to said amended order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified in this section was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Orange Administrative Committee on January 25, 1951, such meeting was held, after giving due notice thereof to consider recommendations for regulation, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., January 28, 1951, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., February 4, 1951, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) Valencia oranges. (a) Prorate District No. 1: No movement;

(b) Prorate District No. 2: No movement;

(c) Prorate District No. 3: No movement;

(d) Prorate District No. 4: No movement.

(ii) Oranges other than Valencia oranges. (a) Prorate District No. 1: 450 carloads;

(b) Prorate District No. 2: 600 carloads;

(c) Prorate District No. 3: Unlimited movement;

(d) Prorate District No. 4: Unlimited movement.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said amended order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached hereto and made a part hereof by this reference.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "varieties," "carloads," and "prorate base" shall have the same meaning as when used in the said amended order; and the terms "Prorate District No. 1," "Prorate District No. 2," "Prorate District No. 3," and "Prorate District No. 4" shall each have the same meaning as given to the respective terms in § 966.107, as amended (15 F. R. 8712), of the current rules and regulations (7 CFR 966.103 et seq.), as amended (15 F. R. 8712).

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

TITLE 24—HOUSING AND HOUSING CREDIT

Chapter VIII—Office of Housing Expediter

[Controlled Housing Rent Reg., Amdt. 345]

[Controlled Rooms in Rooming Houses and Other Establishments, Rent Reg., Amdt. 341]

PART 825—RENT REGULATIONS UNDER THE HOUSING AND RENT ACT OF 1947, AS AMENDED

CALIFORNIA, IOWA, MICHIGAN, MONTANA AND NEW HAMPSHIRE

Amendment 345 to the Controlled Housing Rent Regulation (§§ 825.1 to 825.12) and Amendment 341 to the Rent Regulation for Controlled Rooms in Rooming Houses and Other Establishments (§§ 825.81 to 825.92). Said regulations are amended in the following respects:

1. Schedule A, Item 34, is amended to describe the Counties in the Defense-Rental Area as follows:

Contra Costa County, except the Cities of Brentwood, Martinez and Walnut Creek; and Solano County.

This decontrols the City of Martinez in Contra Costa County, California, a portion of the Richmond-Vallejo, California, Defense-Rental Area.

2. Schedule A, Item 38, is amended to describe the counties in the Defense-Rental Area as follows:

San Francisco County; San Mateo County, except the Cities of Belmont, Burlingame, Menlo Park, Millbrae, Redwood City, San Bruno and South San Francisco, and the Town of Atherton; and Sonoma County, except (i) the Cities of Healdsburg and Santa Rosa, (ii) the Judicial Townships of Redwood and Sonoma (including the City of Sonoma) and (iii) that portion of Analy Judicial Township lying west of the Monte Rio-Valley Ford Highway and lying between Redwood Judicial Township on the north and the northern line of Marin County on the south.

This decontrols the City of Belmont in San Mateo County, California, a portion of the San Francisco Bay, California, Defense-Rental Area.

3. Schedule A, Item 39c, is amended to describe the counties in the Defense-Rental Area as follows:

Santa Clara County, except the Cities of Palo Alto, San Jose and Santa Clara, and the Town of Los Gatos.

This decontrols the Town of Los Gatos in Santa Clara County, California, a portion of the San Jose, California, Defense-Rental Area.

4. Schedule A, Item 114d, is amended to describe the counties in the Defense-Rental Area as follows:

In Black Hawk County, the City of Cedar Falls.

This decontrols (1) the City of Waterloo in Black Hawk County, Iowa, a portion of the Waterloo, Iowa, Defense-Rental Area, and all unincorporated localities in said Area, said City of Waterloo being the major portion of said Defense-Rental Area, based on a resolution submitted in accordance with section 204 (j) (3) of the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, as amended, and (2) the remainder of said Defense-Rental Area, except the City of Cedar Falls, on the Housing Expediter's own initiative under section 204 (c) of said act.

5. Schedule A, Item 153, is amended to read as follows:

(153) [Revoked and decontrolled.]

This decontrols (1) the City of East Lansing, in Ingham County, Michigan, in the Lansing, Michigan, Defense-Rental Area, based on a resolution submitted in accordance with section 204 (j) (3) of the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, as amended, and (2) the remainder of said Defense-Rental Area on the Housing Expediter's own initiative in accordance with section 204 (c) of said act.

6. Schedule A, Item 175a, is amended to read as follows:

(175a) [Revoked and decontrolled.]

This decontrols (1) the City of Billings, and the unincorporated localities in Yellowstone County in the Billings, Montana, Defense-Rental Area, based on a resolution submitted in accordance with section 204 (j) (3) of the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, as amended, and (2) the remainder of said Defense-Rental Area on the Housing Expediter's own initiative in accordance with section 204 (c) of said act.

7. Schedule A, Item 187, is amended to read as follows:

(187) [Revoked and decontrolled.]

This decontrols the entire Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Defense-Rental Area.

All decontrols effected by this amendment, except Items 4, 5 and 6 thereof, are based on resolutions submitted in accordance with section 204 (j) (3) of the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, as amended.

(Sec. 204, 61 Stat. 197, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup., 1894)

This amendment shall become effective January 25, 1951.

Issued this 24th day of January 1951.

TIGHE E. WOODS,
Housing Expediter.

TITLE 31—MONEY AND FINANCE: TREASURY

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of the Treasury

PART 1—CENTRAL OFFICE PROCEDURES

ACCESS TO FINAL OPINIONS OR ORDERS, TO RULES AND TO OFFICIAL RECORDS

The purpose of this amendment is to except the Division of Foreign Assets Control in the Office of International Finance from the list of offices, bureaus and divisions which do not issue any final opinions or orders in the adjudication of cases or rules (other than those relating solely to the internal management of the Treasury Department).

Section 1.2 (a) is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 1.2 Rules governing access to final opinions or orders, to rules and to official records—(a) Availability of final opinions or orders and rules. Except as hereinafter stated, all final opinions or orders in the adjudication of cases and all rules (other than those relating solely to the internal management of the Treasury Department) issued by the Office of the Secretary of the Treasury (including the Offices of the Under Secretary, the Assistant Secretaries, the Fiscal Assistant Secretary, the Assistants and Special Assistants to the Secretary, and the Administrative Assistant Secretary) are made available to public inspection at the Treasury Department, Washington 25, D. C. This provision shall not apply, however, to final opinions or orders which are not cited as precedents and which contain information held confidential for one or more of the good causes set forth in paragraph (e) of this section. In view of the nature of their functions, the Office of the General Counsel, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the Office of International Finance (except the Division of Foreign Assets Control) the Division of Personnel, the Office of the Technical Staff, the Division of Tax Research, the Office of Administrative Services, the United States Savings Bonds Division, the Office of the Tax Legislative Counsel, and the Office of the Chief Coordinator, Treasury Enforcement Agencies, do not issue any final opinions or orders in the adjudication of cases, nor do they issue any rules (other than those relating solely to the internal management of the Treasury Department.)

(R. S. 161; 5 U. S. C. 22)

[SEAL] WM. MCC. MARTIN, JR.,
Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

Chapter V—Foreign Assets Control, Department of the Treasury

PART 500—FOREIGN ASSETS CONTROL REGULATIONS

TRANSACTIONS INCIDENT TO IMPORTATIONS FROM DESIGNATED NATIONALS

31 CFR 500.534 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 500.534 Transactions incident to importations from designated nationals. (a) All transactions ordinarily incident to the importation of goods, wares and merchandise into the United States from any designated national are hereby authorized, provided the following terms and conditions are complied with:

(1) Payment for any goods, wares or merchandise shall be made only by deposit of the dollar amount thereof with a domestic bank for credit to a blocked account in the name of such national or in a blocked account in the name of a banking institution in the designated foreign country from which the goods, wares or merchandise were exported; and

(2) Any other payments in which a designated national has any interest shall be made only by deposit of the dollar amount thereof with a domestic bank for credit to a blocked account in the name of such national.

(b) This section does not authorize the debiting of any blocked account.

PART 500—FOREIGN ASSETS CONTROL REGULATIONS

EXCHANGE OF CERTAIN SECURITIES

The Foreign Assets Control regulations, 31 CFR 500.101–500.807, 15 F. R. 9040, are hereby amended by the addition of the following section:

§ 500.535 Exchange of certain securities. (a) Subject to the limitations and conditions of paragraph (b) of this section and notwithstanding § 500.202 of this chapter, any banking institution within the United States is authorized to engage in the following transactions with respect to securities listed on a national securities exchange, including the withdrawal of such securities from blocked accounts:

(1) Exchange of certificates necessitated by reason of changes in corporate name, par value or capitalization,

(2) Exchanges of temporary for permanent certificates,

(3) Exchanges or deposits under plans of reorganization,

(4) Exchanges under refunding plans, or

(5) Exchanges pursuant to conversion privileges accruing to securities held.

(b) This section does not authorize the following transactions:

(1) Any exchange of securities unless the new securities and other proceeds, if any, received are deposited in the blocked account in which the original securities were held immediately prior to the exchange.

(2) Any exchange of securities registered in the name of any designated national, unless the new securities received are registered in the same name in which the securities exchanged were registered prior to the exchange.

(3) Any exchange of securities issued by a person engaged in the business of offering, buying, selling, or otherwise dealing, or trading in securities, or evidences thereof, issued by another person.

(4) Any transaction with respect to any security by an issuer or other obligor who is a designated national.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter V—Department of the Army

Subchapter F—Personnel

PART 581—PERSONNEL REVIEW BOARDS

ARMY BOARD ON CORRECTION OF MILITARY RECORDS

Section 581.3 is revised to read as follows:

§ 581.3 Army Board on Correction of Military Records—(a) General—(1) Legislative mandate. Section 131 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of August 2, 1946 (60 Stat. 831) provides that no private bill or resolution, and no amendment to any bill or resolution, authorizing or directing the correction of a military record shall be received or considered in either the Senate or the House of Representatives. Section 207 of the same act (60 Stat. 837; 5 U. S. C. 191a) provides that the Secretary of the Army, acting through a board of civilian officers or employees, is authorized to correct any military record where in his judgment such action is necessary to correct an error or to remove an injustice. This legislative mandate gives to the Secretary of the Army the same jurisdiction as heretofore possessed by Congress in this respect.

(2) Application for relief—(i) General. The applicant for relief will submit a written request to the Secretary of the Army, Attention: Army Board on Correction of Military Records. The request should be made on DD Form 149 (Application for Correction of Military or Naval Records), which may be obtained from The Adjutant General, Washington 25, D. C., Attention: AGPI.

(ii) Content. The application will include:

(a) The full name, Army service number, grade, and organization or assignment of the person whose military record is involved.

(b) A description of the military record sought to be corrected.

(c) A particular description of the alleged error or injustice sought to be corrected or removed.

(d) The reasons in support of the relief requested.

(e) The full name and address of counsel if the applicant desires to be so represented.

(f) A request for a hearing before the Board in Washington, D. C., if the applicant so desires.

(g) The full name and address of any witness or witnesses whose testimony the applicant may desire the Board to consider at the hearing. The nature of each witness's testimony, or the principal facts concerning which he will testify, should be included.

(h) Any statements or affidavits from persons other than the applicant in support of the request for relief.

(i) Signature of the applicant.

(iii) Execution. The application will be executed under oath or will contain a provision that the statements submitted in the application, as part of the claim, are made with full knowledge of the penalty provided for making a false statement.

(iv) Undue delay. The Board may refuse an application on the ground that there has been undue delay in filing the application.

(3) Scope of inquiry—(i) General. Unless directed by the Secretary of the Army, the Board shall not review any case involving the sentence of a general court-martial, or any case wherein final action has been taken by the President of the United States, the Secretary of the Army, the Under Secretary of the Army, or an Assistant Secretary of the Army. No application will be considered until the applicant has exhausted all remedies afforded him by existing law or regulations.

(ii) Inability to grant relief or insufficient basis. It shall be adequate ground for denial of any application that effective relief cannot be granted or that a sufficient basis for review has not been established.

(iii) Stay of proceedings. The right to apply to the Board for relief shall not operate as a stay of any proceedings taken against the person involved.

(4) Furnishing of records. Upon request of the Board, The Adjutant General will assemble the originals or certified copies of all available Department of the Army records pertinent to the relief requested. Such records together with the application and all supporting documents will be transmitted to the Chairman of the Board.

(b) Constitution, purpose, and jurisdiction—(1) General. (i) Pursuant to the provisions of section 207 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 837; 5 U. S. C. 191a) the Army Board on Correction of Military Records, referred to in this section as the Board, is established in the Office of the Secretary of the Army.

(ii) The Board is authorized to call upon the Office of the Secretary of the Army, and the Department of the Army General and Special Staffs for investigative and advisory services and upon any other Department of the Army agency for assistance within the specialized jurisdiction of that agency.

(iii) The proceedings of the Board in open session and the testimony taken before it will be reported verbatim.

(2) Functions. (i) The functions of the Board will be to:

(a) Recommend to the Secretary of the Army the action he should take to correct any military record when such action is necessary to correct an error or to remove an injustice.

(b) Consider all applications presently on file and subsequently received which seek such relief as is provided for in section 207 of the act cited in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(ii) In event of doubt by the Board either as to its jurisdiction or as to its power to act in any given case, the Board may request the opinion of The Judge Advocate General.

(iii) The Board may initiate recommendation for such changes in procedure as established herein as may be deemed necessary for the proper functioning of the Board. Such changes will be subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Army.

(3) Convening. (i) The Board will be convened at the call of the Chairman and will recess or adjourn at his order.

(ii) The Board will assemble in open or closed session for the consideration and determination of cases presented to it. Cases in which no request for hearing is made by the applicant will be considered in closed session on the basis of all documentary evidence presented to it, and any briefs submitted by or on behalf of applicant.

(c) Hearings—(1) General. (i) An applicant for the correction of a military record, upon request, shall be entitled to appear before the Board in open session, either in person or by counsel of his own selection. At the discretion of the Board, the applicant may present witnesses to testify in support of his claim. As used in this section the term "counsel" will be construed to include members of the Federal bar in good standing, the bar of any State in good standing, accredited representatives of veterans' organizations recognized by the Veterans' Administration under section 200 of the act of June 29, 1936 (49 Stat. 2031; 38 U. S. C. 101) and such other persons who, in the opinion of the Board, are considered to be competent to present equitably and comprehensively the claim of the applicant for review. In no case will the expenses of the applicant or expenses or compensation of witnesses or counsel for the applicant be paid by the Government.

(ii) In each case in which hearing is requested the Board will transmit to the applicant and to designated counsel for the applicant, if any, a written notice stating the time and place of hearing. Such notice will be mailed at least 15 days prior to the date of hearing to the applicant and his counsel, if any. It will be the responsibility of the applicant to notify his witnesses, if any. The applicant may waive such time limit and an earlier date may be set by the Board. The record will contain evidence that written notice was given the applicant and his counsel, if any, and the time and manner thereof.

(iii) An applicant who requests a hearing and who, after being duly notified of the time and place of hearing, fails without cause to appear at the appointed time, either in person or by counsel, shall be deemed to have waived his right to be present, and the Board will have authority to proceed with the consideration and determination of the case.

(2) Conduct. (i) The hearing will be conducted so as to insure a full and fair inquiry. Neither the applicant nor his counsel will have access to any classified papers or reports of investigation or papers related thereto or any document received from the Federal Bureau of Investigation. When it is necessary to acquaint the applicant with the substance of a document, such as above described, the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–2, Department of the Army, or other appropriate official, on the request of the Board, will prepare a summary of, or extract from, the document deleting all references to sources of information and other matter the disclosure of which, in his opinion, would be detrimental to the public interest. Such summary then may be made available without classification to the applicant or his counsel.

(ii) The Board will not be limited by the restrictions of common law rules of evidence.

(iii) In order to justify correction of a military record, it is incumbent on the petitioner to show to the satisfaction of the Board, or it must otherwise satisfactorily appear, that the alleged entry or omission in the record was in error or unjust under directives, standards, administration, and practice either existing at the time, or subsequently changed in the petitioner's favor, effective retroactively. The directives, standards, administration, and practice herein contemplated are those stated in statutes, regulations, manuals, directives of the Department of the Army, and other appropriate authority, together with interpretations thereof by the courts, the Attorney General, the Comptroller General, and of The Judge Advocate General.

(3) Witnesses. The testimony of witnesses will be under oath administered by the presiding officer or by affidavit. If a witness testifies in person he will be subject to examination by members of the Board.

(4) Continuances. The Board may continue a hearing on its own motion. A request for continuance by or on behalf of the applicant may be granted by the Board if a continuance appears necessary to insure a full and fair hearing.

(5) Withdrawal. The Board may, at its discretion and for good cause shown, permit an applicant to withdraw his application without prejudice at any time before the Board makes its final recommendation.

(d) Findings, conclusions, and recommendations—(1) Findings. The Board will make findings in writing in each case. The findings and conclusions of a majority of the Board will constitute the findings and conclusions of the Board.

(2) Minority report. In case of a disagreement between members of the Board a minority report may be submitted, either as to the findings, or to the recommendations, or to both. The reasons for the minority report will be clearly stated.

(3) Recommendations for corrective action. The Chairman of the Board will, in the name of the Board, recommend to the Secretary of the Army such action as may be necessary to carry into effect the determinations of the Board.

(4) Record of proceedings. (i) When the Board has concluded its proceedings in any case, the Board will prepare a complete record thereof. Such record will include the application for relief; a transcript of the hearing, if any; affidavits, papers, and documents considered by the Board; all briefs and written arguments filed in the case; the report of the examiner, if any; the findings and conclusions of the Board and its recommendation for corrective action; any minority report prepared by a dissenting member of the Board; and all other papers and documents necessary to reflect a true and complete history of the proceedings. The record so prepared will be signed by the Chairman as being true and complete.

(ii) All records of proceedings of the Board in closed session will be confidential.

(5) Transmittal of records and action by The Adjutant General. Upon the approval of the Secretary of the Army, the record of proceedings and recommendation in each case will be transmitted to The Adjutant General or other proper authority for appropriate Department of the Army action. The Adjutant General will perform such administrative acts as may be necessary, and thereafter will notify the applicant and his counsel, if any, of the action taken. Written notice specifying the action taken and the date thereof will be transmitted by The Adjutant General to the Chairman of the Board.

TITLE 45—PUBLIC WELFARE

Chapter I—Office of Education, Federal Security Agency

PART 104—CONSTRUCTION OF SCHOOL FACILITIES IN AREAS AFFECTED BY FEDERAL ACTIVITIES

DEAD LINE FOR APPLICATIONS FOR PAYMENTS AND ORDER OF CERTIFICATIONS FROM FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR FISCAL YEAR 1951

Sec.
104.1 Procedure if funds are inadequate to make all payments.
104.2 Determination made for fiscal year 1951 of insufficiency of available funds.
104.3 Deadline for applications for payments from funds available for fiscal year 1951.
104.4 Order of making certifications from available funds.
104.5 Priorities to applications requesting minimum school facilities funds; certifications restricted to cost of such facilities.
104.6 Priority and certification conditioned on readiness to proceed with construction.
104.7 Preceding provisions not exhaustive of jurisdiction of Commissioner of Education.

AUTHORITY: §§ 104.1 to 104.7 issued under sec. 208, Pub. Law 815, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 206, Pub. Law 815, 81st Cong.

§ 104.1 Procedure if funds are inadequate to make all payments. Section 206 (d), Public Law 815, 81st Congress reads as follows:

> If the Commissioner of Education determines for any fiscal year that the funds which will be available therefor may not be sufficient to pay in full the amounts which all local educational agencies would otherwise be entitled to receive under applications approved under this title before the end of such year, he shall by regulations prescribe (1) a date or dates before which all applications for payments out of such funds shall be filed, and (2) the order in which the certifications required by subsections (a) and (b) of this section will be made. The order so prescribed shall be based on relative urgency of need and shall give applications under section 205 (b) priority over applications under section 205 (c).

§ 104.2 Determination made for fiscal year 1951 of insufficiency of available funds. The Commissioner of Education has determined that for the fiscal year 1951 available funds may not be sufficient to pay in full the amounts which all local educational agencies would otherwise be entitled to receive as provided in section 206 (d), Public Law 815, 81st Congress.

§ 104.3 Dead line for applications for payments from funds available for fiscal year 1951. By reason of the foregoing February 28, 1951, is hereby fixed as the date before which all applications for payments out of funds available for the fiscal year 1951 shall be filed.

§ 104.4 Order of making certifications from available funds. Subject to the condition of readiness hereinafter stated, the order in which certifications required by subsections (a) and (b) of section 206, Public Law 815, 81st Congress from funds appropriated and available therefor on February 28, 1951, will be made is as follows:

(a) Preference to projects for school facilities where none are presently available. Projects designed to provide school facilities for those for whom no facilities are presently available, as indicated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph will be preferred.

(1) When children deemed to be without school facilities. For the purposes of this section, children will be deemed to be without school facilities who (i) are in excess of the normal one-session-per-day capacity of available school facilities above the kindergarten level or (ii) are presently dependent upon a building or space which is unsafe, or the use of which for school purposes in view of its character, inaccessibility, or other equally cogent reason seriously prejudices or would seriously prejudice the educational objective. Mere obsolescence in terms of existing State standards or the use of temporary but otherwise adequate facilities will not in themselves constitute preference factors.

(2) Determination of order of priority for payments. The order of priority hereunder will be determined by adding (i) the percentage of the average daily attendance with respect to which the local agency is eligible and the application is made, to (ii) the percentage of the school membership within the same jurisdictional area who are without school facilities under the definition in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, those projects with the highest combined percentages being first certified for payment:

Provided, however, (a) That where the jurisdictional area of the applicant with respect to which the application is made comprises an extensive territory and the Federal activity is localized within the area served by one or more attendance centers, and the other attendance centers within the District are substantially unavailable to meet the needs of such attendance centers affected by Federal activities, then, in such case, the percentages described in subdivision (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph will be determined with respect to the Federally affected attendance areas, and not with respect to the entire school district or jurisdiction: And provided, (b) That where Federal or other housing projects, undertaken primarily to house those with respect to whose children the applicant may claim Federal funds, have been provided for and scheduled for completion or substantial completion by the beginning of the ensuing school year, then the school membership anticipated from such construction shall be included in computing the percentage in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph.

(3) Responsibility of applicant and Regional Representative in priority determinations. The applicant must submit as a part of its application all facts and circumstances in each case which are pertinent to an accurate determination of priority status as above, and the Regional Representative will assume primary responsibility for designating and determining differentiated attendance centers under (a) of the proviso to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph and determining the school membership anticipated under (b) of the proviso to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(b) Certification of remaining funds and priority of construction applications over reimbursement applications. Federal funds not certified under paragraph (a) of this section may be drawn upon to replace or improve obsolescent, substandard, or temporary facilities, or for projects requiring amounts of Federal funds in excess of those necessary to provide minimum facilities as described in § 104.5. All applications under section 205 (b), Public Law 815, 81st Congress, will have as set forth in the statute priority over applications under section 205 (c), Public Law 815, 81st Congress.

§ 104.5 Priorities to applications requesting minimum school facilities funds; certifications restricted to cost of such facilities. Certification of funds for priority projects will be restricted in amount to the cost of providing minimum school facilities including square footage per pupil necessary to operate a school program on a one-session-per-day basis above the kindergarten level with necessary auxiliary facilities exclusive of single-purpose auditoria or gymnasia with large built-in spectator space, and priority will be established in the first instance only for those applications in which the Federal funds requested do not exceed such cost as shown in the application. However, nothing contained in the regulations of this part shall be deemed to bar the State, or the applicant with the approval of the State educational agency, from using, in addition to the Federal grant, moneys otherwise obtained, to provide a higher type or larger or better implemented facility, as the State or local authorities may deem reasonable under the existing circumstances. The applicant will be required to show in such cases that the added cost is being thus independently met.

§ 104.6 Priority and certification conditioned on readiness to proceed with construction. Certification and transfer of funds with respect to any project described in this part will be subject to postponement in the event the applicant is not ready to proceed with construction before June 30, 1951, and may be subordinated by reason thereof to other projects of lower rank or forfeit its priority in the discretion of the program director.

§ 104.7 Preceeding provisions not exhaustive of jurisdiction of Commissioner of Education. The provisions of §§ 104.1 to 104.6, inclusive, shall not be deemed exhaustive of the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education under section 206 (d), Public Law 815, 81st Congress. Such provisions may be modified or further regulations may be issued hereafter as circumstances may require.

Dated: January 23, 1951.

[SEAL] EARL J. McGRATH,
U. S. Commissioner of Education.

Chapter V—War Claims Commission

Subchapter A—Rules of Practice

PART 502—SUBPOENAS, DEPOSITIONS AND OATHS

Sec.
502.1 Extent of authority.
502.2 Subpoenas.
502.3 Service.
502.4 Witnesses.
502.5 Depositions.
502.6 Documentary evidence.

AUTHORITY: §§ 502.1 to 502.7 issued under sec. 2, 62 Stat. 1240, as amended; 50 U. S. C., App. Sup. 2001.

§ 502.1 Extent of authority—(a) Subpoenas, oaths and affirmations. The Commission or any member thereof may issue subpoenas, administer oaths and affirmations, take affidavits, conduct investigations, and examine witnesses in connection with any hearing, examination, or investigation within its jurisdiction.

(b) Certification. The Commission or any member thereof may, for the purpose of any such hearing, examination, or investigation, certify the correctness of any papers, documents, and other matters pertaining to the administration of any laws relating to the functions of the Commission.

§ 502.2 Subpoenas—(a) Issuance. A member of the Commission or a designated employee may, on his own volition or upon written application by any party and upon a showing of general relevance and reasonable scope of the evidence sought, issue subpoenas requiring persons to appear and testify or to appear and produce documents. Applications for the issuance of subpoenas duces tecum shall specify the books, records, correspondence, or other documents sought. The subpeona shall show on its face the name and address of the party at whose request the subpoena was issued.

(b) Deposit for costs. The Commission or designated employee, before issuing any subpoena in response to any application by an interested party, may require a deposit in an amount adequate to cover the fees and mileage involved.

(c) Motion to quash. If any person subpoenaed does not intend to comply with the subpoena, he shall, within 15 days after the date of service of the subpoena upon him, petition in writing to quash the subpoena. The basis for the motion must be stated in detail. Any party desiring to file an answer to a motion to quash must file such answer not later than 15 days after the filing of the motion. The Commission shall rule on the motion to quash, duly recognizing any answer thereto filed. The motion, answer, and any ruling thereon shall become part of the official record.

(d) Appeal from interlocutory order. An appeal may be taken to the Commission by the interested parties from the denial of a motion to quash or from the refusal to issue a subpoena for the production of documentary evidence.

(e) Order of court upon failure to comply. Upon the failure or refusal of any person to comply with a subpoena, the Commission may invoke the aid of the United States District Court within the jurisdiction of which the hearing, examination, or investigation is being conducted, or wherein such person resides or transacts business. Such court, pursuant to the provisions of Public Law 696, 81st Congress, approved August 16, 1950, 50 U. S. C. App. Sup., 2001 (d), may issue an order requiring such person to appear at the designated place of hearing, examination, or investigation, then and there to give or produce testimony or documentary evidence concerning the matter in question. Any failure to obey such an order may be punished by the court as a contempt thereof. All processes in any such case may be served in the judicial district wherein such person resides or transacts business or wherever such person may be found.

§ 502.3 Service—(a) Service by registered mail. Subpoenas, orders, rulings, and other processes of the Commission, may be served by delivering in person or by registered mail addressed to the person, partnership, or corporation to be served at his or its residence, principal office or place of business, except when service by another method shall be specifically ordered by the Commission.

(b) Personal service. Service by delivering in person may be accomplished by:

(1) Delivering a copy of the document to the person to be served, to a member of the partnership to be served, to an executive officer, or a director of the corporation to be served, or to a person competent to accept service; or

(2) By leaving a copy thereof at the residence, principal office or place of business of such person, partnership, or corporation.

(c) Proof of service. The return post office registered receipt for said order, other process or supporting papers, or the verification by the person serving, setting forth the manner of said service, shall be proof of the service of the document.

(d) Service upon attorney or agent. When any party has appeared by an authorized attorney or agent, service upon such attorney or agent shall be deemed service upon the party.

(e) Date of service. The date of service shall be the day upon which the document is deposited in the United States mail or delivered in person, as the case may be.

§ 502.4 Witnesses—(a) Examination of witnesses. Witnesses shall appear in person and be examined orally under oath, except that for good cause shown, testimony may be taken by deposition.

(b) Witness fees and mileage. Witnesses summoned by the Commission on its own behalf or on behalf of a claimant or interested party shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are allowed and paid witnesses in the District Courts of the United States. Witness fees and mileage shall be paid by the Commission or by the party at whose request the witness appears.

(c) Transcript of testimony. Every person required to attend and testify or to submit documents or other evidence shall be entitled to retain or, on payment of prescribed costs, procure a copy or transcript of his testimony or the documents produced.

§ 502.5 Depositions—(a) Application to take. An application to take a deposition shall be in writing setting forth the reason why such deposition should be taken, the name and address of the witness, the matters concerning which it is expected the witness will testify, and the time and place proposed for the taking of the deposition, together with the name and address of the person before whom it is desired that the deposition be taken. If such deposition is being offered in connection with a hearing or examination, the application for deposition shall be made to the Commission at least 15 days prior to the proposed date of such hearing or examination.

Application to take a deposition may be made during a hearing or examination, or, subsequent to a hearing or examination only where it is shown for good cause that such testimony is essential and that the facts as set forth in the application to take the deposition were not within the knowledge of the person signing the application prior to the time of the hearing or examination.

The Commission or its representative shall, upon receipt of the application and a showing of good cause, make and cause to be served upon the parties an order which will specify the name of the witness whose deposition is to be taken, the time, the place, and where practicable the designation of the officer before whom the witness is to testify. Such officer may or may not be the one specified in the application. The order shall be served upon all parties at least 10 days prior to the date of the taking of the deposition.

(b) Who may take. Such deposition may be taken before the designated officer or, if none is designated, before any officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the United States. If the examination is held in a foreign country, it may be taken before a secretary of an embassy or legation, consul general, consul, vice consul, or consular agent of the United States.

(c) Examination and certification of testimony. At the time and place specified in said order the officer taking such deposition shall permit the witness to be examined and cross-examined under oath by all parties appearing, and his testimony shall be reduced to writing by, or under the direction of, the presiding officer. All objections to questions or evidence shall be deemed waived unless made in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section. The officer shall not have power to rule upon any objections but he shall note them upon the deposition. The testimony shall be subscribed by the witness in the presence of the officer who shall attach his certificate stating that the witness was duly sworn by him, that the deposition is a true record of the testimony and exhibits given by the witness, and that said officer is not counsel or attorney to any of the interested parties. The officer shall immediately seal and deliver an original and two copies of said transcript, together with his certificate, by registered mail to the War Claims Commission, Washington 25, D. C., or the field office designated.

(d) Admissibility in evidence. The deposition shall be admissible in evidence, subject to such objections to the questions and answers as were noted at the time of taking the deposition, or within ten (10) days after the return thereof, and would be valid were the witness personally present at the hearing.

(e) Errors and irregularities. All errors or irregularities occurring shall be deemed waived unless a motion to suppress the deposition or some part thereof is made with reasonable promptness after such defect is, or with due diligence might have been, ascertained.

(f) Scope of use. The deposition of a witness, if relevant, may be used if the Commission finds: (1) That the witness has died since the deposition was taken; or (2) that the witness is beyond a distance greater than 100 mile radius of Washington, D. C., the designated field office or the designated place of the hearing; or (3) that the witness is unable to attend because of other good cause shown.

(g) Interrogatories and cross-interrogatories. Depositions may also be taken and submitted on written interrogatories in substantially the same manner as depositions taken by oral examinations. When a deposition is taken upon interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, none of the parties shall be present or represented, and no person, other than the witness, and his representative or attorney, a stenographic reporter and the presiding officer, shall be present at the examination of the witness, which fact shall be certified by such officer, who shall propound the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories to the witness in their order and reduce the testimony to writing in the witness' own words.

(h) Fees. A witness whose deposition is taken pursuant to the regulations in this part and the officer taking the deposition, shall be entitled to the same fees and mileage allowed and paid for like service in the United States District Court for the district in which the deposition is taken. Such fees shall be paid by the Commission or by the party at whose request the deposition is being taken.

§ 502.6 Documentary evidence. Documentary evidence may consist of books, records, correspondence or other documents pertinent to any hearing, examination, or investigation within the jurisdiction of the Commission. The application for the issuance of subpoenas duces tecum shall specify the books, records, correspondence or other documents sought. The production of documentary evidence shall not be required at any place other than the witness' place of business. The production of such documents shall not be required at any place if, prior to the return date specified in the subpoena, such person either has furnished the issuer of the subpoena with a properly certified copy of such documents or has entered into a stipulation as to the information contained in such documents.

§ 502.7 Time—(a) Computation. In computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by the regulations in this part, by order of the Commission, or by any applicable statute, the day of the act, event, or default after which the designated period of time begins to run is not to be included. The last day of the period so computed is to be included, unless it is a Sunday or a legal holiday, in which event the period runs until the end of the next day which is neither a Sunday nor a holiday. When the period of time prescribed or allowed is less than 7 days, Sundays and holidays shall be excluded in the computation. A half holiday shall be considered as other days and not as a holiday.

(b) Enlargement. When by the regulations in this part or by a notice given thereunder or by order of the Commission an act is required or allowed to be done at or within a specified time, the Commission for cause shown may, at any time in its discretion (1) with or without motion or notice, previous order or (2) upon motion permit the act to be done after the expiration of the specified period where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect.

DANIEL F. CLEARY,
Chairman,
War Claims Commission.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR, Part 68]

UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR ROUGH RICE, BROWN RICE AND MILLED RICE

NOTICE OF HEARINGS ON PROPOSED REVISIONS

Notice is hereby given, in accordance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) that pursuant to the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.) and the items for Market Inspection of Farm Products and Marketing Farm Products recurring in the annual appropriation acts for the Department of Agriculture and currently found in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1951 (Ch. VI, Pub. Law 759, 81st Congress; 7 U. S. C. Supp. 414) the United States Department of Agriculture is considering the complete revision, essentially as herein proposed, of the United States standards for rough rice, brown rice, and milled rice. The present rough rice standards have been in effect since May 15, 1942, the present brown rice standards since May 15, 1942, and the present milled rice standards since September 4, 1946 (7 CFR 60.75 et seq.).

The proposed standards for rough rice have been developed to provide an indication of the grade of milled rice that may be made from a lot of rough rice offered for inspection, and also to provide an estimate of the percentages of whole kernels and of broken kernels that may reasonably be expected in the commercial milling of such rice. The proposed brown rice standards have been developed to provide a better measure of the quality of such brown rice as may be prepared for consumer use and also to provide a better quality measurement of such brown rice as may be intended for further milling by providing an estimate of the percentages of whole kernels and of broken kernels that may be produced from a lot of brown rice offered for inspection.

The proposed milled rice standards have been developed to more nearly meet present-day marketing requirements and have been simplified to provide one set of grade requirements for all classes of milled rice other than second head milled rice, screenings milled rice and brewers' milled rice. The standards would be set forth in Part 68 of Subtitle B in Title 7 of the Code of Federal Regulations, to read essentially as follows with such changes as may be suggested by interested parties and considered desirable by the Department:

UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR ROUGH RICE[1]

§ 68.201 Terms defined. The following definitions shall apply for the purposes of the United States Standards for rough rice:

(a) Rough rice. Rough rice shall be rice which consists of 50 percent or more of kernels of rice from which the hulls have not been removed.

(b) Classes.[2] (1) Rough rice shall be divided into the following classes:

Rexoro rough rice, including the variety known as Rexark.
Blue Bonnet rough rice.
Patna rough rice.
Nira rough rice.
Fortuna rough rice.
Blue Rose rough rice, including the varieties known as Improved Blue Rose, Greater Blue Rose, Kamrose, Arkrose, and Calrose.
Zenith rough rice.
Magnolia rough rice.
Early prolific rough rice.
Pearl rough rice.
Mixed rough rice.

(2) Except with respect to the class Mixed rough rice, each class shall contain more than 25.0 percent of whole kernels of rough rice of the designated class, and may contain not more than 10.0 percent of rice of contrasting classes, and the percentage of whole and broken kernels of a designated class in any lot of rice of such class shall exceed the percentage therein of kernels of any other class.

(3) Mixed rough rice shall be any mixture of rough rice which does not meet the requirements for any of the classes specifically named.

(4) Rough rice that is not otherwise provided for in these standards shall be classified according to the commonly accepted commercial name of such rough rice.

[1] The specifications of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

[2] The use of a variety name in the designation of a class of rough rice does not imply any guarantee of varietal purity.

(c) Grades. Grades shall be the numerical grades, sample grade, and special grades provided for in § 68.203.

(d) Contrasting classes. Rough rice of contrasting classes shall be rough rice of other classes than the class designated, in which the size, length, or shape of the kernels differ distinctly from these characteristics of the kernels of the class designated.

(e) Chalky kernels. Chalky kernels shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of rice of which one half or more of each is chalky.

(f) Red rice. Red rice shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of rice which are distinctly red in color or which have any appreciable amount of red bran thereon.

(g) Damaged kernels. Damaged kernels shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of rough rice which are distinctly damaged by water, insects, heat, or any other means.

(h) Heat-damaged kernels. Heat-damaged kernels shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of rough rice which are materially discolored and damaged by heat.

(i) Seeds. Seeds shall be unhulled kernels of rice; and grains, kernels, or seeds, either whole or broken, of any plant other than rice.

(j) Objectionable seeds. Objectionable seeds shall be all seeds other than unhulled rice and seeds of the varieties of Echinochloa crusgalli commonly known as barnyard grass, watergrass, and Japanese millet.

(k) Milling quality (yield). Milling quality of rough rice shall be the quality of the rough rice with respect to resistance to breakage in terms of the quantity of whole and broken kernels of milled rice that can be produced from a unit of rough rice.

(l) Removable foreign material (dockage). Removable foreign material (dockage) shall be all matter other than rough rice which can be removed readily from the rough rice by the use of appropriate sieves and cleaning devices, and underdeveloped, shriveled, and small pieces of kernels of rough rice removed in properly separating the foreign material, and which cannot be recovered by properly rescreening or recleaning.

(m) Test weight per bushel. Test weight per bushel shall be the weight per Winchester bushel, as determined by the testing apparatus and the method of use thereof described in Bulletin No. 1065, dated May 18, 1922, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, or as determined by any device and method which give equivalent results.

§ 68.202 Principles governing application of standards. The following principles shall apply in the determination of the classes and grades of rough rice:

(a) Basis of determinations. Each determination of seeds, objectionable seeds, damaged kernels, heat-damaged kernels, red rice, chalky kernels, rice of contrasting classes, and color and general appearance, shall be on the basis of the rice after milling. All other determinations shall be on the basis of the rough rice as a whole.

(b) Percentages. Percentages shall be determined upon the basis of weight.

(c) Percentage of moisture. Percentage of moisture shall be that ascertained by the air-oven method described in Service and Regulatory Announcements No. 147 (revised August 1941) of the Agricultural Marketing Service (now Production and Marketing Administration) of the United States Department of Agriculture, or ascertained by any method which gives equivalent results.

(d) Determination of milling quality (yield). The determination of milling quality of rough rice shall be made with equipment and methods prescribed by the United States Department of Agriculture. The milling quality shall be expressed in terms of whole percent and any fraction of a percent shall be disregarded.

§ 68.203 Grades, grade requirements, and grade designations. The following grades, grade requirements, and grade designations are applicable under the rough rice standards:

(a) Grades and grade requirements for all classes of rough rice. (See also paragraph (c) of this section.)

Grade[1]	Maximum limits of—
	Seeds and heat-damaged kernels
	Total (singly or combined)	Heat-damaged kernels and objectionable seeds (singly or combined)	Red rice and damaged kernels (singly or combined)	Chalky kernels	Rice of contrasting classes[2]
	Number in 500 grams	Number in 500 grams	Pct.	Pct.	Pct.
U. S. No. 1	2	1	0.5	1.0	1.0
U. S. No. 2	4	2	1.0	2.0	2.0
U. S. No. 3	7	5	2.0	4.0	3.0
U. S. No. 4	15	10	3.0	6.0	7.0
U. S. No. 5	30	20	6.0	10.0	10.0
U. S. No. 6	75	75	[3] 15.0	15.0	10.0
U. S. Sample grade	U. S. Sample grade shall be rough rice which does not meet the requirements for any of the grades from U. S. No. 1 to U. S. No. 6, inclusive; or which contains more than 14.0 percent of moisture; or which is musty, or sour, or heating; or which has any commercially objectionable foreign odor; or which heats or has damaged or extremely rotted kernels; or which is otherwise of distinctly low quality.

[1] Color and general appearance: U. S. No. 1 shall be white or creamy; U. S. No. 2 may be slightly gray; U. S. No. 3 may be light gray; U. S. No. 4 may be gray or slightly rosy; U. S. No. 5 may be dark gray or rosy; U. S. No. 6 may be dark gray or rosy.

[2] These limits do not apply to the class mixed rough rice.

[3] The rice in grade U. S. No. 6 may contain not more than 6 percent of damaged kernels other than heat-damaged kernels.

(b) Grade designations—(1) Rough rice except Mixed rough rice. The grade designation for all classes of rough rice, except Mixed rough rice, shall include, in the order named, the letters "U. S.;" the number of the grade or the words "Sample grade," as the case may be; the name of the class; and the name of each applicable special grade; and there shall be added thereto a statement of the milling quality (yield).

(2) Mixed rough rice. The grade designation for Mixed rough rice shall include, in the order named, the letters "U. S.;" the number of the grade or the words "Sample grade," as the case may be; the words "Mixed rough rice," followed by the name and approximate percentage of the predominant class of rough rice and of each contrasting class of rough rice in the mixture; and the name of each applicable special grade; and there shall be added thereto a statement of the milling quality (yield).

(c) Special grades, special grade requirements, and special grade designations for rough rice.—(1) Damp rough rice.—(i) Requirements. Damp rough rice shall be rough rice which contains more than 14.0 percent but not more than 16.0 percent of moisture.

(ii) Grade designation. Damp rough rice shall be graded and designated according to the grade requirements of the standards otherwise applicable to such rough rice, and there shall be added to and made a part of the grade designation the word "Damp."

(2) Weevily rough rice.—(i) Requirements. Weevily rough rice shall be rough rice which is infested with live weevils or other live insects injurious to stored rice.

(ii) Grade designation. Weevily rough rice shall be graded and designated according to the grade requirements of the standards otherwise applicable to such rough rice and there shall be added to and made a part of the grade designation the word "Weevily."

UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR BROWN RICE[1]

§ 68.251 Terms defined. The following definitions shall apply for the purposes of the United States standards for brown rice:

(a) Brown rice. Brown rice shall be rice which consists of more than 50 percent of kernels of rice from which the hulls only have been removed.

(b) Classes.[2] (1) Brown rice shall be divided into the following classes:

Rexoro brown rice, including the variety known as Rexark.
Blue Bonnet brown rice.
Patna brown rice.
Nira brown rice.
Fortuna brown rice.
Blue Rose brown rice, including the varieties known as Improved Blue Rose, Greater Blue Rose, Kamrose, Arkrose, and Calrose.
Zenith brown rice.
Magnolia brown rice.
Early Prolific brown rice.
Pearl brown rice.
Mixed brown rice.

(2) Except with respect to the class Mixed brown rice, each class shall contain more than 25.0 percent of whole kernels of brown rice of the designated class, and may contain not more than 10.0 percent of rice of contrasting classes, and the percentage of whole and broken kernels of a designated class in any lot of rice of such class shall exceed the percentage therein of kernels of any other class.

[1] The specifications of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

[2] The use of a variety name in the designation of a class of brown rice does not imply any guarantee of varietal purity.

(3) Mixed brown rice shall be any mixture of brown rice which does not meet the requirements for any of the classes specifically named.

(4) Brown rice that is not otherwise provided for in these standards shall be classified according to the commonly accepted commercial name of such brown rice.

(c) Grades. Grades shall be the numerical grades and sample grade provided for in § 68.253.

(d) Contrasting classes. Brown rice of contrasting classes shall be brown rice of other classes than the one designated, in which the size, length, or shape of the kernels differ distinctly from these characteristics of the kernels of the class designated.

(e) Chalky kernels. Chalky kernels shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of rice of which one-half or more of each is chalky.

(f) Broken kernels. Broken kernels shall be pieces of kernels of brown rice which are less than three-fourths of the length of whole kernels, and split kernels of brown rice.

(g) Red rice. Red rice shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of rice which are distinctly red in color or which have any appreciable amount of red bran thereon.

(h) Damaged kernels. Damaged kernels shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of brown rice which are distinctly damaged by water, insects, heat, or any other means.

(i) Heat-damaged kernels. Heat-damaged kernels shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of brown rice which are materially discolored and damaged by heat.

(j) Seeds. Seeds shall be unhulled kernels of rice; and grains, kernels, or seeds, either whole or broken, of any plant other than rice.

(k) Objectionable seeds. Objectionable seeds shall be all seeds other than unhulled rice and seeds of the varieties of Echinochloa crusgalli commonly known as barnyard grass, watergrass, and Japanese millet.

(l) Foreign material. Foreign material shall be all matter other than rice and seeds.

(m) 6½/64 sieve. A metal sieve 0.032 inch thick perforated with round holes 6½/64 inch in diameter.

(n) Milling quality (yield). Milling quality of brown rice shall be the quality of the brown rice with respect to resistance to breakage in terms of the quantity of whole and broken kernels of milled rice that can be produced from a unit of brown rice.

§ 68.252 Principles governing application of standards. The following principles shall apply in the determination of the classes and grades of brown rice:

(a) Basis of determinations. All determinations shall be upon the basis of the brown rice as a whole.

(b) Percentages. Percentages shall be determined upon the basis of weight.

(c) Percentage of moisture. Percentage of moisture shall be that ascertained by the air-oven method described in Service and Regulatory Announcements No. 147 (revised August 1941) of the Agricultural Marketing Service (now Production and Marketing Administration) of the United States Department of Agriculture, or ascertained by any method which gives equivalent results.

(d) Determination of milling quality (yield). The determination of milling quality of brown rice shall be made with equipment and methods prescribed by the United States Department of Agriculture. The milling quality shall be expressed in terms of whole percent and any fraction of a percent shall be disregarded.

§ 68.253. Grades, grade requirements, and grade designations. The following grades, grade requirements, and grade designations are applicable under the brown rice standards:

(a) Grades and grade requirements for all classes of brown rice.

Grade[1]	Maximum limits of—
	Seeds and heat-damaged kernels			Red rice and damaged kernels (singly or combined)	Chalky kernels	Broken kernels
	Total (singly or combined)	Heat-damaged kernels	Objectionable seeds			Total	Through 6½/64 sieve	Rice of contrasting classes[2]

U. S. No. 4	100	8	35	8.0	8.0	25.0	4.0	10.0
U. S. Sample grade	U. S. Sample grade shall be brown rice which does not meet the requirements for any of the grades from U. S. No. 1 to U. S. No. 4, inclusive; or which contains more than 14.0 percent of moisture; or which is musty, or sour, or heating; or which has any commercially objectionable foreign odor; or which contains more than 0.1 percent of foreign material or which contains live or dead weevils or other insects, insect webbing, or insect refuse; or which is otherwise of distinctly low quality.

[1] The brown rice in grade U. S. No. 1 may contain not more than 1.0 percent, in grade U. S. No. 2 not more than 3.0 percent, and in grades U. S. No. 3 and U. S. No. 4 not more than 10.0 percent of milled rice.

[2] These limits do not apply to the class Mixed brown rice.

(b) Grade designations—(1) Brown rice except Mixed brown rice. The grade designation for all classes of brown rice, except Mixed brown rice, shall include, in the order named, the letters "U. S.;" the number of the grade or the words "sample grade," as the case may be; and the name of the class; and there may be added thereto a statement of the milling quality (yield).

(2) Mixed brown rice. The grade designation for Mixed brown rice shall include, in the order named, the letters "U. S.;" the number of the grade or the words "sample grade," as the case may be; the words "Mixed brown rice," followed by the name and approximate percentage of the predominant class of brown rice and of each contrasting class of brown rice in the mixture; and there may be added thereto a statement of the milling quality (yield).

UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR MILLED RICE[1]

§ 68.301 Terms defined. The following definitions shall apply for the purposes of the United States standards for milled rice:

(a) Milled rice. Milled rice shall be whole or broken kernels of rice from which, (1) in the case of milled rice other than milled rice of the special grade unpolished milled rice, the hulls and practically all of the germs and bran layers have been removed; or (2) in the case of milled rice of the special grade unpolished milled rice, the hulls, a part of the germs, and the outer bran layers, but not the inner bran layers, have been removed; and which contains not more than 10.0 percent of seeds or foreign material, either singly or combined.

(b) Classes.[2] (1) Milled rice shall be divided into the following classes:

Rexoro milled rice, including the variety known as Rexark.
Blue Bonnet milled rice.
Patna milled rice.
Nira milled rice.
Fortuna milled rice.
Blue Rose milled rice, including the varieties known as Improved Blue Rose, Greater Blue Rose, Kamrose, Arkrose, and Calrose.
Zenith milled rice.
Magnolia milled rice.
Early prolific milled rice.
Pearl milled rice.
Mixed milled rice.
Second head milled rice.
Screenings milled rice.
Brewers' milled rice.

(2) Except with respect to the classes Mixed milled rice, Second Head milled rice, Screenings milled rice, and Brewers' milled rice, each class shall contain more than 25.0 percent of whole kernels of milled rice of the designated class, and may contain not more than 10.0 percent of milled rice of contrasting classes, and the percentage of whole and broken kernels of a designated class in any lot of rice of such class shall exceed the percentage therein of kernels of any other class.

(3) Mixed milled rice shall be any mixture of milled rice which contains more than 25.0 percent of whole kernels of milled rice and which does not meet the requirements for any of the classes specifically named.

(4) Second Head milled rice shall be any milled rice which contains not more than 25.0 percent of whole kernels, not more than 50.0 percent of broken kernels that will pass readily through a 6½/64 sieve, and not more than 10.0 percent of broken kernels that will pass readily through a 6/64 sieve.

(5) Screenings milled rice shall be any milled rice which contains not more than 25.0 percent of whole kernels, which does not meet the kernel-size requirements for the class Second Head milled rice, and which contains not more than 15.0 percent of broken kernels that will pass readily through a 5½/64 sieve; and

(6) Brewers milled rice shall be any milled rice which contains not more than 25.0 percent of whole kernels and which contains more than 15.0 percent of broken kernels that will pass readily through a 5½/64 sieve.

(7) Milled rice that is not otherwise provided for in these standards shall be classified according to the commonly accepted commercial name of such milled rice.

(c) Grades. Grades shall be the numerical grades, Sample grades, and special grades provided for in § 68.303.

(d) Contrasting classes. Milled rice of contrasting classes shall be milled rice of other classes than the one designated, in which the size, length, or shape of the kernels differ distinctly from these characteristics of the kernels of the class designated.

(e) Chalky kernels. Chalky kernels shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of milled rice of which one-half or more of each is chalky.

(f) Broken kernels. Broken kernels shall be pieces of kernels of milled rice which are less than three-fourths of the length of whole kernels, and split kernels of milled rice.

(g) Red rice. Red rice shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of milled rice which are distinctly red in color or which have any appreciable amount of red bran thereon.

(h) Damaged kernels. Damaged kernels shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of milled rice which are distinctly damaged by water, insects, heat, or any other means.

(i) Heat-damaged kernels. Heat-damaged kernels shall be kernels and pieces of kernels of milled rice which are materially discolored and damaged by heat.

(j) Seeds. Seeds shall be unhulled kernels of rice; and grains, kernels, or seeds, either whole or broken, of any plant other than rice.

(k) Objectionable seeds. Objectionable seeds shall be all seeds other than unhulled rice and seeds of the varieties of Echinochloa crusgalli commonly known as barnyard grass, watergrass, and Japanese millet.

(l) Foreign material. Foreign material shall be all matter other than rice and seeds.

(m) 5½/64 sieve. A metal sieve 0.032 inch thick perforated with round holes 5½/64 inch in diameter.

(n) 6/64 sieve. A metal sieve 0.032 inch thick perforated with round holes 6/64 inch in diameter.

(o) 6½/64 sieve. A metal sieve 0.032 inch thick perforated with round holes 6½/64 inch in diameter.

§ 68.302 Principles governing application of standards. The following principles shall apply in the determination of the classes and grades of milled rice:

(a) Basis of determinations. All determinations shall be upon the basis of the milled rice as a whole.

(b) Percentages. Percentages shall be determined upon the basis of weight.

(c) Percentage of moisture. Percentage of moisture shall be that ascertained by the air-oven method described in Service and Regulatory Announcements No. 147 (revised August 1941) of the Agricultural Marketing Service (now Production and Marketing Administration) of the United States Department of Agriculture, or ascertained by any method which gives equivalent results.

§ 68.303 Grades, grade requirements, and grade designations. The following grades, grade requirements, and grade designations are applicable under the milled rice standards:

(a) Grades and grade requirements for all classes of milled rice, except Second Head milled rice, Screenings milled rice, and Brewers milled rice. (See also paragraph (f) of this section).

U. S. Sample grade.	U. S. Sample grade shall be milled rice of any of these classes which does not meet the requirements for any of the grades from U. S. No. 1 to U. S. No. 6, inclusive; or which contains more than 15.0 percent of moisture; or which is musty, or sour, or heating; or which has any commercially objectionable foreign odor; or which has a badly damaged or extremely red appearance; or which contains more than 0.1 percent of foreign material; or which contains live or dead weevils or other insects, insect webbing, or insect refuse; or which is otherwise of distinctly low quality.

[1] Color and general appearance:
U. S. No. 1 Shall be white or creamy, and shall be well milled.
U. S. No. 2 May be slightly gray, and shall be well milled.
U. S. No. 3 May be light gray, and shall be reasonably well milled.
U. S. No. 4 May be gray or slightly rosy, and shall be reasonably well milled.
U. S. No. 5 May be dark gray or rosy, and shall be reasonably well milled.
U. S. No. 6 May be dark gray or rosy, and shall be reasonably well milled.

[2] These limits do not apply to the class Mixed milled rice.
[3] The milled rice in grade U. S. No. 6 may contain more than 6.0 percent of damaged kernels other than heat-damaged kernels.

[1] The specifications of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

[2] The use of a variety name in the designation of a class of milled rice does not imply any guarantee of varietal purity.

(b) Grades and grade requirements for the class Second Head milled rice. (See also paragraph (f) of this section).

No. 5, inclusive; or which contains more than 15.0 percent of moisture; or which is musty, or sour, or heating; or which has any commercially objectionable foreign odor; or which has a badly damaged or extremely red appearance; or which contains more than 0.1 percent of foreign material; or which contains live or dead weevils or other insects, insect webbing, or insect refuse; or which is otherwise of distinctly low quality.

(e) Grade designations—(1) Milled rice except Mixed milled rice. The grade designation for all classes of milled rice, except Mixed milled rice, shall include, in the order named, the letters "U. S.;" the number of the grade or the words "Sample grade," as the case may be; the name of the class; and the name of each applicable special grade.

(2) Mixed milled rice. The grade designation for the class Mixed milled rice shall include, in the order named, the letters "U. S.;" the number of the grade or the words "Sample grade," as the case may be; the words "Mixed milled rice," followed by the name and approximate percentage of the predominant class of milled rice and of each contrasting class of milled rice in the mixture; and the name of each applicable special grade.

(f) Special grades, special grade requirements, and special grade designations for milled rice—(1) Unpolished milled rice—(i) Requirements. Unpolished milled rice (sometimes referred to as undermilled rice) shall be rice from which the hulls, a part of the germs, and the outer bran layers, but not the inner bran layers, have been removed. Unpolished milled rice in grades U. S. No. 1 and U. S. No. 2 may contain not more than 5.0 percent, in grades U. S. No. 3 and U. S. No. 4 not more than 10.0 percent, and in grades U. S. No. 5 and U. S. No. 6 not more than 20.0 percent, of milled rice other than unpolished milled rice, and the factor "color and general appearance" shall be disregarded.

(ii) Grade designation. Unpolished milled rice shall be graded and designated according to the grade requirements of the standards otherwise applicable to such milled rice, and there shall be added to and made a part of the grade designation the word "Unpolished."

(2) Parboiled milled rice—(i) Requirements. Parboiled milled rice shall be milled rice which, before being milled, was processed by soaking, steaming, and drying. Parboiled milled rice in grades U. S. Nos. 1 to 6, inclusive, may contain not more than 10.0 percent of kernels of parboiled milled rice that have ungelatinized areas; and Parboiled milled rice in grades U. S. No. 1 and U. S. No. 2 may contain not more than 0.1 percent, in grades U. S. No. 3 and U. S. No. 4 not more than 0.5 percent, and in grades U. S. No. 5 and U. S. No. 6 not more than 1.0 percent of nonparboiled milled rice.

(ii) Grade designation. Parboiled milled rice shall be graded and designated according to the grade requirements of the standards otherwise applicable to such milled rice, except that the factor "chalky kernels" shall be disregarded, and there shall be added to and made a part of the grade designation the words "Parboiled Light" if the milled rice is not colored or is slightly colored, the word "Parboiled" if the milled rice is distinctly but not materially colored, and the words "Parboiled Dark" if the milled rice is materially colored from the parboiling treatment.

(3) Coated milled rice—(i) Requirements. Coated milled rice shall be milled rice which, in whole or in part, is coated with glucose and talc.

(ii) Grade designation. Coated milled rice shall be graded and designated according to the grade requirements of the standards otherwise applicable to such milled rice, and there shall be added to and made a part of the grade designation the word "coated."

Informal hearings will be held in Crowley, Louisiana, and San Francisco, California, at which interested persons may submit their views and opinions orally or in writing with respect to the desirability of promulgating the proposed revisions, and related matters. The times and places of such hearings will be as follows:

March 1, 1951, 10 a. m. City Auditorium, Crowley, Louisiana.

March 8, 1951, 10 a. m., Room 1152 New Appraisers Bldg., 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Interested persons may also submit written data, views or arguments to the Director, Grain Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., to be received by him not later than March 20, 1951.

Consideration will be given to all information obtained at the hearings, to written data, views, and arguments, received not later than March 20, 1951, and to all other information available in the United States Department of Agriculture before a decision is made as to what revisions, if any, to the official United States Standards for Rough Rice, Brown Rice and Milled Rice shall be promulgated.

E. J. Murphy, Grain Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, is hereby designated to conduct the hearings held pursuant to this notice; and B. W. Whitlock and W. B. Smith, Grain Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, are hereby designated to serve as his alternates.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 24th day of January 1951.

[SEAL] JOHN I. THOMPSON,
Assistant Administrator.

NOTICES

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

AMENDMENT OF STATEMENTS OF ORGANIZATION

Section 9 of the statements with respect to the organization of the Office of the Secretary and Bureaus, Divisions, and Offices performing chiefly staff and service functions is revised by the deletion of paragraph (b) (3) and the addition of paragraph (c) to read as follows:

SEC. 9. Office of International Finance. (a) The Office of International Finance is headed by a Director, who is under the supervision of an Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. The Director is assisted in discharging his responsibilities and duties by a Deputy Director and by such Assistant Directors as may be appointed by the Assistant Secretary. The Deputy Director acts as Secretary of the National Advisory Council on International Monetary and Financial Problems. The Deputy Director serves as Acting Director, Office of International Finance, in the absence of the Director or in case of a vacancy in the office.

(b) The Director, Office of International Finance, is responsible for advising and assisting the Secretary of the Treasury in the formulation and execution of policies and programs relating to the responsibilities of the Treasury Department in the international financial and monetary field, including the policies and programs arising in connection with the following:

(1) The National Advisory Council on International Monetary and Financial Problems, the International Monetary Fund, the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, and all other matters related to foreign lending, financial, monetary, or exchange activities;

(2) The Anglo-American Financial Agreement and other international loans and financial assistance programs of this Government, including the Foreign Assistance Act of 1948;

(3) Administration and operation of the United States Exchange Stabilization Fund;

(4) Statutes and regulations relating to gold, silver, exchange rates, exchange stabilization operations and agreements, acquisition and disposition of foreign currencies, international capital movements, monetary policy, the position of the dollar in relation to foreign currencies, and international trade and commercial policy, including trade agreements, anti-dumping measures, and countervailing duties;

(5) The financial aspects of international treaties, agreements, organizations, or operations in which the United States Government participates;

(6) Financial and monetary problems arising in foreign areas controlled or administered by the United States Government;

(7) Obtaining current information concerning the financial position and exchange and other controls of foreign countries and developments in their financial and economic life having a bearing upon United States financial or monetary policy, and preparing analyses and recommendations based thereon;

(8) Participating in negotiations with foreign governments with respect to the foregoing responsibilities; and

(9) Maintaining such Treasury representatives abroad as may be required to assist in discharging the foregoing responsibilities, and directing and coordinating their activities.

(c) The Division of Foreign Assets Control, established in the Office of International Finance under Treasury Department Order No. 128 of December 14, 1950, is headed by a Director, who is under the supervision of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of the Office of International Finance.

(1) The Division administers controls over the assets in the United States of, and financial transactions by, China (except Formosa), North Korea and their nationals for the purpose of preventing transactions which would be inimical to the interests of the United States. The controls are administered through a system of licenses, rulings and other documents (see 31 CFR Chapter V) pursuant to powers of the President under section 5 (b) of the Trading With the Enemy Act, as amended, and any proclamations, orders, regulations or rulings that have been or may be issued thereunder. The Division of Foreign Assets Control is represented in the field by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

(2) Regulations, rulings, general licenses and other public documents except public interpretations are issued by the Secretary of the Treasury. The Director of the Division of Foreign Assets Control has been delegated general authority to take final action with respect to all other Foreign Assets Control matters.

Authority to take final licensing action on certain applications for specific licenses authorizing certain types of transactions prohibited by the regulations is delegated to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, subject to policies and procedures prescribed by the Division of Foreign Assets Control.

(3) The public may in general secure any information or make submittals, requests or petitions with respect to any Foreign Assets Control matters by communicating through correspondence or telephone or by coming in person or sending a representative, either to the central office in Washington or to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Correspondence with the central office should be directed to "Foreign Assets Control, United States Treasury Department, Washington 25, D. C." Personal inquiries to the central office should be made to the Main Treasury Building, Washington, D. C. All correspondence or inquiries to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York should be addressed as follows: Foreign Assets Control Department, Federal Reserve Bank of New York, 33 Liberty Street, New York 7, New York.

CONVICT, FORCED OR INDENTURED LABOR GOODS

CANNED CRAB MEAT FROM THE UNION OF SOVIET SOCIALIST REPUBLICS

Upon the basis of the evidence obtained from various sources, I have ascertained and hereby find, pursuant to the provisions of § 12.42, Customs Regulations of 1943, promulgated in accordance with the authority contained in section 307, Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U. S. C. 1307), that convict labor, forced labor, and indentured labor under penal sanctions are used in whole or in part in the manufacture and production of canned crab meat in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and on vessels which are of "U. S. S. R." registry or under the exclusive dominion and control of the "U. S. S. R.", and that canned crab meat is manufactured or produced in the United States in sufficient quantities to meet the consumptive demands of the United States.

Accordingly, on and after the date of the publication of this finding in the FEDERAL REGISTER, collectors of customs shall prohibit, under the provisions of section 307, Tariff Act of 1930, the importation of canned crab meat manufactured or produced wholly or in part in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics or manufactured or produced wholly or in part on vessels of "U. S. S. R." registry or on vessels under the exclusive dominion and control of the "U. S. S. R.", unless the importer establishes by satisfactory evidence, as provided for in §§ 12.42-12.46, inclusive, Customs Regulations of 1943, that the merchandise was not manufactured or produced wholly or in part by any one of the classes of labor mentioned above.

(Sec. 307, 46 Stat. 689; 19 U. S. C. 1307)

[SEAL] FRANK DOW,
Commissioner of Customs.

Approved: January 25, 1951.

TENNESSEE GAS TRANSMISSION CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JANUARY 23, 1951.

Take notice that Tennessee Gas Transmission Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation having its principal office at Commerce Building, Houston, Texas, filed on January 8, 1951, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural gas transmission facilities as hereinafter described and as more fully described in the application.

Applicant proposes to construct approximately 413 miles of 24-inch O. D. and approximately 25 miles of 26-inch O. D. transmission pipeline along its Buffalo and New England extensions and new compressor units aggregating approximately 44,000 horsepower together with appurtenant facilities to be installed in existing or authorized compressor stations, and approximately 14,000 horsepower in a new compressor station. Such facilities are designed to increase the Applicant's transmission capacity by approximately 40,000 Mcf per day. Applicant proposes to develop and operate a storage pool in the New York-Pennsylvania Area to enable it to deliver an additional 200,000 Mcf of gas per day during periods of maximum customer demand.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 12th day of February 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

[File No. 70–1711]

CONSUMERS GAS CO.

ORDER GRANTING REQUEST FOR EXTENSION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of January A. D. 1951.

Consumers Gas Company, a subsidiary of The United Gas Improvement Company, a registered holding company, having requested a one year extension to January 27, 1952, of the time fixed by our order of January 27, 1948 (Holding Company Act Release No. 7986), as extended by our orders of January 6, 1949, and January 27, 1950 (Holding Company Act Release Nos. 8778 and 9634), within which Consumers Gas Company may purchase a maximum of 400 shares of capital stock of Reading Gas Company from non-affiliated interests as shares become available for purchase; and

Consumers Gas Company having stated that to date no shares of the capital stock of Reading Gas Company have been purchased under the permission granted by the above orders, and that an additional one year extension is desired in order to consummate the said purchase program; and

It appearing to the Commission that the requested extension of time is not unreasonable or detrimental to the public interest or the interests of investors or consumers:

It is ordered, That Consumers Gas Company be, and hereby is, granted an additional period of one year from January 27, 1951, within which to consummate the proposed purchase program covered by our order of January 27, 1948, subject, however, to the same conditions and reservations of jurisdiction as are imposed by said order.

By the Commission.

INTERSTATE POWER CO.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER RELEASING JURISDICTION OVER CERTAIN FEES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of January A. D. 1951.

The Commission, by order dated May 23, 1950, having granted and permitted to become effective an application-declaration, as amended, filed by Interstate Power Company ("Interstate"), regarding the issuance and sale by Interstate of $3,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds due 1980 and 275,000 shares of $3.50 par value common stock pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50; the issuance and sale by Interstate of 100,000 shares of $50 par value preferred stock in a negotiated transaction; and the negotiation by Interstate with the sole holder of its outstanding $5,000,000 principal amount of 4¾ percent Debentures due 1968 for a reduction in the interest rate thereof to 3¾ percent; and

Said order of May 23, 1950 having reserved jurisdiction over the proposed payment of fees and expenses to counsel for Interstate and over the payment of fees of counsel for the successful underwriters; and

The Commission having by order dated August 3, 1950 released jurisdiction with respect to said fees and expenses of counsel for Interstate, and having continued the reservation of jurisdiction with respect to fees of Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam & Roberts, counsel for the successful underwriters, in the amount of $12,000, because the record at the date of such order was incomplete with respect thereto; and

The record having been subsequently completed with respect to such fees; and

The Commission having examined the record as so completed, and it appearing that the fees requested by Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam & Roberts are not unreasonable, and the Commission deeming it appropriate to release jurisdiction with respect to said fees of Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam & Roberts:

It is ordered, That the jurisdiction heretofore reserved with respect to the fees of Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam & Roberts in this matter be, and it hereby is, released.

By the Commission.

NEW ENGLAND GAS AND ELECTRIC ASSN. AND NEW HAMPSHIRE ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE OF FILING OF AMENDMENT TO APPLICATION-DECLARATION AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of January A. D. 1951.

Notice is hereby given that an amendment to a joint application-declaration has been filed with this Commission, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, by New England Gas and Electric Association ("Negea"), a registered holding company, and its utility subsidiary, New Hampshire Electric Company ("New Hampshire").

It has heretofore been proposed, and public notice thereof has been given and hearings have been held with respect thereto, that New Hampshire issue 15,000 shares of $4.50 Preferred Stock of a par value of $100 per share and 140,000 shares of Common Stock, no par value, with an aggregate stated valuc of $2,100,000, and to exchange the same for all of its presently outstanding common stock which is held by Negea, consisting of 150,000 shares of common stock of no par value having an aggregate stated value of $3,595,000. The stated purpose of such proposed transactions was to facilitate disposition by Negea of its interests in New Hampshire.

The proposed issuances and exchange of securities have been approved by the Public Service Commission of New Hampshire.

All interested persons are referred to said amendment to said joint application-declaration which is on file in the office of the Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which may be summarized as follows:

It is proposed by said amendment that Negea will donate to New Hampshire all of the capital stock of Kittery Electric Light Company ("Kittery"), consisting of 4,200 shares of a par value of $50 a share. Kittery is an electric utility company operating in and about the city of Kittery, Maine which is adjacent to the area of operations of New Hampshire, and Kittery is dependent upon New Hampshire for its supply of electric energy.

It is also proposed that, upon consummation of all the transactions set forth above, Negea (i) will sell at competitive bidding, pursuant to Rule U-50, the 15,000 shares of the $4.50 Preferred Stock of New Hampshire to be acquired as aforesaid; and (ii) will offer 132,683 shares of the 140,000 shares of common stock of New Hampshire, to be acquired as aforesaid, to its common stockholders on the basis of one share of New Hampshire common stock for each 12 shares of Negea common stock owned. Negea states that it is its present intention to invite bids for the underwriting of the public sale of any of the unsubscribed shares of New Hampshire stock offered to its stockholders as well as the balance of 7,317 shares of such stock not being so offered.

Negea proposes to apply sufficient of the proceeds from the sale of the New Hampshire securities to call and retire $2,425,000 principal amount of its Series A Bonds due 1967 and any balance will be used to call and retire part of its outstanding 4½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock.

New Hampshire proposes to write out of its property accounts the amount of $335,399.12 representing certain intangibles, by charging an amount of $115,667.26 against its retirement reserve and the balance of $219,731.86 against its capital surplus account. Negea proposes to write down its investment in the common stock of New Hampshire in the amount of $219,731.86 by charging the same to a Special Reserve to the extent available, (i. e., $170,893.94 at November 30, 1950) and the balance to its capital surplus account. To the extent that the proceeds realized from the sale of the New Hampshire preferred and common stocks are less than Negea's carrying value of its investment in the New Hampshire and Kittery common stocks, adjusted as above, such deficiency will be charged to Negea's capital surplus account.

New Hampshire has also requested that if the Commission permits it to acquire the common stock of Kittery, the Commission enter an order pursuant to section 3 (a) (2) of the act exempting it as a holding company from the provisions of the act.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to the proposed transactions and that said amended joint application-declaration should not be permitted to become effective except pursuant to the further order of this Commission:

It is ordered, Pursuant to the applicable provisions of the act and rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, that a hearing with respect to said amended joint application-declaration be held on February 12, 1951, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., at the offices of this Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 101 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held. Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise participate in this proceeding shall file with the Secretary of the Commission, on or before February 9, 1951, a written request therefor as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That Harold B. Teegarden or any other officer or officers of this Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Division of Public Utilities of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the amended application-declaration and that, upon the basis thereof and without prejudice to additional matters or questions being specified upon further examination, the following matters or questions are presented for consideration:

(1) Whether the issuance and exchange of preferred stock are solely for the purpose of financing the business of New Hampshire.

(2) Whether the preferred stock meets the standards of section 7 (c) of the act.

(3) Whether the preferred stock is reasonably adapted to the security structure and earning power of New Hampshire.

(4) Whether the issuance and exchange of preferred stock are necessary and appropriate to the economical and efficient operation of New Hampshire's business.

(5) Whether the fees, commissions, or other remunerations to be paid by Negea in conection with the sale or distribution of the common stock of New Hampshire are reasonable.

(6) Whether the terms and conditions of the sale by Negea of the common stock of New Hampshire are detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers.

(7) Whether the proposed accounting entries to be recorded on the books of New Hampshire and Negea are consistent with sound accounting principles and conform to the standards of the act.

(8) What terms and conditions, if any, with respect to the proposed transactions should be prescribed in the public interest or for the protection of investors and consumers.

(9) Generally whether the proposed transactions comply with the applicable provisions of the act, rules and regulations and orders promulgated thereunder.

It is further ordered, That at said hearing evidence shall be adduced with respect to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing a copy of this notice of filing and order for hearing to Negea and New Hampshire and to the Public Service Commission of New Hampshire, and to the Public Utilities Commission of Maine, and that notice of said hearing shall be given to all other persons by general release of this Commission which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935; and that further notice shall be given to all persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

UNITED STATES TARIFF COMMISSION

ADDITIONAL SUPPLEMENTAL QUOTA FOR IMPORTS OF EXTRA-LONG-STAPLE COTTON

TERMINATION OF INVESTIGATION

JANUARY 24, 1951.

The Tariff Commission announced today the termination of the supplemental investigation regarding extra-long-staple cotton ordered November 29, 1950. The Commission is not recommending to the President that a second additional quota for imports of such cotton be permitted during the current quota year which ends January 31, 1951.

The regular annual quota on imports of extra-long-staple cotton for the current quota year was exhausted very early in the quota year and a supplemental quota of 7,500,000 pounds of extra-long-staple cotton was proclaimed by the President on October 12, 1950, upon the recommendation of the Tariff Commission. In accordance with the Proclamation, the Commission issued licenses authorizing importation on behalf of individual cotton manufacturing concerns in quantities determined to be essential for their needs. Under this procedure the entry of the full amount of the supplemental quota was licensed by November 22, 1950.

The supplemental investigation ordered on November 29, 1950, was undertaken as a result of reports that domestic producers of certain products were experiencing difficulties due to inadequate supplies of extra-long staple cotton. A public hearing in connection with the investigation was held on December 11, 1950. The information obtained by the Commission in the public hearing and from other sources indicates that a second supplemental quota for extra-long-staple cotton during the present quota year is not warranted.

Under the authority of the Trading With the Enemy Act, as amended, Executive Order 9193, as amended, and Executive Order 9788, and pursuant to law, after investigation, it is hereby found:

1. That Takao Nakayama and Iwao Nakayama, whose last known address is Japan, are residents of Japan and nationals of a designated enemy country (Japan);

2. That the net proceeds due or to become due under a contract of insurance evidenced by Policy No. 448313 issued by the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company, Toronto, Canada, to Takao Nakayama, and any and all other benefits and rights of any kind or character whatsoever under or arising out of said contract of insurance except those of the aforesaid the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company, together with the right to demand, enforce, receive and collect the same (including without limitation the right to proceed for collection against branch offices and legal reserves maintained in the United States), is property within the United States owned or controlled by, payable or deliverable to, held on behalf of or on account of, or owing to, or which is evidence of ownership or control by Takao Nakayama or Iwao Nakayama, the aforesaid nationals of a designated enemy country (Japan); and it is hereby determined:

3. That to the extent that the persons named in subparagraph 1 hereof are not within a designated enemy country, the national interest of the United States requires that such persons be treated as nationals of a designated enemy country (Japan).

All determinations and all action required by law, including appropriate consultation and certification, having been made and taken, and, it being deemed necessary in the national interest,

There is hereby vested in the Attorney General of the United States the property described above, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest of and for the benefit of the United States.

The terms "national" and "designated enemy country" as used herein shall have the meanings prescribed in section 10 of Executive Order 9193, as amended.

Executed at Washington, D. C., on January 16, 1951.

For the Attorney General.

FEDERAL REGISTER

VOLUME 16 NUMBER 20

Washington, Tuesday, January 30, 1951

TITLE 3—THE PRESIDENT

LETTER OF JANUARY 26, 1951

[Cooperation With Economic Stabilization Agency]

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, January 26, 1951.

To the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies:

It is imperative that the economic stabilization orders issued today receive the fullest possible support by business and industry and by the people of the nation. The initial success of these orders in accomplishing their purposes for the good of all will require sacrifice and a high degree of self-restraint. The Federal Government must be prepared to do everything in its power to insure equitable and just administration of these orders and to obtain full compliance with them.

Until such time as the Economic Stabilization Agency can recruit and train the staff it will need, all departments and agencies should make whatever contribution they can to assure the success of our efforts to stabilize prices and wages. It is understood that essential work now programmed may have to be postponed temporarily. Therefore, as President of the United States and pursuant to the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes, including section 403 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, I call upon each agency to make its resources in staff, and knowledge and experience available to the Economic Stabilization Agency, including the Office of Price Stabilization and the Wage Stabilization Board, to the extent requested by the Director of Defense Mobilization.

Specifically, each agency shall provide such cooperation and assistance, consonant with law, as it can, to meet the following types:

1. Assignment of personnel in Washington, D. C., and in regional and field offices on a reimbursable loan basis for temporary periods as agreed upon in individual cases, including

(a) Personnel qualified in investigation, intelligence and enforcement duties and functions, and the supervision and administration thereof, except that, in view of the responsibility of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in the field of internal security, no agents shall be assigned without the consent of the Attorney General.

(b) Personnel qualified in the study and analysis of costs, prices, wages, working conditions, and other economic and social data relating thereto.

2. Furnishing any available reports, information, or other data concerning costs of production, distribution and transportation, prices and price trends, profits, and wages and wage trends.

3. Providing such other services, information, and facilities as may be appropriate.

In many cases rapid implementation of this program will require early notification of field offices and establishments, by you, of arrangements whereby these offices and establishments can be most effective in providing assistance.

ments on Kobe Lespedeza seed will be accepted through February 28, 1951. Dealer purchase agreements will be available to dealers from time of harvest through January 31, 1951, except that dealer purchase agreements on Kobe Lespedeza seed will be accepted through March 31, 1951. Disbursements under the loan program will be made not later than January 15, 1951, except Kobe Lespedeza for which disbursements under the loan program will be made not later than March 15, 1951, unless specially approved by CCC in each instance.

§ 601.428 Warehouse and other charges. CCC will not pay or assume cleaning, drying, bagging, sampling, testing and analysis reports, tagging, or other handling or processing charges which are necessary to prepare the seed to meet eligibility requirements for price support, or storage charges which accrue prior to February 1, 1951 (April 1, 1951, in the case of Kobe Lespedeza) or the date of the warehouse receipt, whichever is later.

§ 601.429 Maturity of loans. Loans mature on demand but not later than January 31, 1951, except that loans on Kobe Lespedeza will mature on demand but not later than March 31, 1951.

§ 601.430 Schedule of basic specifications and rates. The rates at which purchases will be made from producers and dealers and the loan and settlement rates shall be computed in accordance with the specifications and rates shown in the "Schedule of Basic Rates and Specifications Applicable for 1950-Crop Winter Cover Crop Seeds and Kobe Lespedeza Seed," except the applicable county rates for the county of production shown in § 601.431 shall be used for hairy vetch, and provided further, where seed is delivered to CCC in approved used bags, a bag discount at the rate of 25 cents per 100 pounds capacity shall be applicable.

(d) Seed delivered to CCC under a loan or producers purchase agreement, or under a Dealer Purchase Agreement, must be packaged in evenweight, net capacity, new bags of approved quality as described below; or if new bags are not available, No. 1 used bags as heavy as, or heavier than, those described below, thoroughly cleaned before being filled, free of holes, patches, or other defects may be used:

(1) Austrian winter peas, blue lupine, hairy vetch, Willamette vetch, common vetch, Kobe Lespedeza, and rough peas:

No advance is authorized for tobacco graded W (unsafe keeping order), U (unsound), or N (nondescript).

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 974—MILK IN THE COLUMBUS, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Columbus, Ohio, on October 10–11, 1950, upon a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Columbus, Ohio, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order, as amended, effective not later than February 1, 1951. Any delay beyond February 1, 1951, in the effective date of this order amending the order, as amended, will seriously disrupt the orderly marketing of milk for the Columbus, Ohio, marketing area. The changes effected by this order amending the order, as amended, do not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found that good cause exists for making this order effective February 1, 1951 (sec. 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping milk covered by this order, as amended, and as hereby further amended) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign such proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (October 1950), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Columbus, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 974.51 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Add to the basic formula price the following amount for the month indicated: April, May, June, and July, $0.75; and all others $1.10: Provided, That there shall be added to the price of Class I milk so computed 10 cents for any month if the percentage of the total receipts of milk from producers by all handlers during the most recent 4 months for which such information is available which was classified in Classes I and II was greater than the percentage of the total receipts of milk from producers by all handlers during the same 4 months of the period May 1949 through April 1950 which was classified in Classes I and II (Classes I, II, and III in months prior to January 1950): And provided further, That the price of Class I milk for any of the months of October through December, inclusive, shall not be lower than the arithmetical average of the prices computed for such class pursuant to this paragraph (prior to this proviso) for the 2 months immediately preceding and the price of Class I milk for any of the months of April through June, inclusive, shall not be higher than the arithmetical average of the prices computed for such class pursuant to this paragraph (prior to this proviso) for the 2 months immediately preceding.

2. Delete § 974.52 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Add to the basic formula price the following amount for the month indicated: April, May, June, and July, $0.35; and all others $0.70: Provided, That there shall be added to the price of Class II milk so computed 10 cents for any month if the percentage of the total receipts of milk from producers by handlers during the most recent 4 months for which such information is available was classified in Classes I and II was greater than the percentage of the total receipts of milk from producers by all handlers during the same 4 months of the period May 1949 through April 1950 which was classified in Classes I and II (Classes I, II, and III in months prior to January 1950).

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of January 1951, to be effective on and after the 1st day of February 1951.

Secretary of Agriculture.

TITLE 15—COMMERCE AND FOREIGN TRADE

Chapter III—Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce

Subchapter C—Office of International Trade

[5th Gen. Rev. of Export Regs., Amdt. 40]

PART 381—ENFORCEMENT PROVISIONS

PART 384—GENERAL ORDERS

DESTINATION CONTROL AND ORDER REVOKING CERTAIN GENERAL LICENSES TO MAINLAND OF CHINA (INCLUDING MANCHURIA), HONG KONG AND MACAO

1. Section 381.4 Destination control is amended in the following particulars:

a. Paragraph (c) Statement regarding ultimate destination on declaration, bill of lading and commercial invoice, subparagraph (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) No licensee, shipper, consignor, exporter, or agent thereof, or any other person shall prepare or issue any commercial invoice with respect to any shipment of commodities subject to the provisions of this section, unless such invoice or invoices, and all copies thereof, shall contain on the face thereof the statement set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

b. Paragraph (d) Notice and prohibition against diversion, subparagraph (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever a commercial invoice shall be issued containing the statement prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section, the shipper or other person issuing such invoice shall promptly send copies thereof to (i) the ultimate consignee and the purchaser named in the authenticated shipper's export declaration, (ii) the intermediate consignee and (iii) any other persons named in the invoice who are located in a foreign country. Nothing contained in this paragraph shall be construed to limit the persons or classes of persons to whom such invoices and bills of lading are usually and customarily sent in the course of export trade. The shipper or other person issuing the commercial invoice may either omit all reference to price or sales commission from the copy of the invoice sent to any of the above-named persons, provided such invoice otherwise adequately identifies the shipment; or in lieu of a copy of the commercial invoice, may send a copy of the bill of lading containing the statement prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of January 22, 1951.

2. Section 384.5 Order revoking certain general licenses to mainland of China (including Manchuria), Hong Kong and Macao is amended in the following particulars:

The last paragraph is amended to read as follows:

Shipments of perishable food products, not including frozen food products, ultimately destined to Hong Kong and Macao may continue to be made under General License GRO up to 12:01 a. m., eastern standard time, January 2, 1951, except that such general license shipments of fresh fruits and vegetables may be made through March 31, 1951.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of January 25, 1951.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Bureau of Internal Revenue, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter D—Employment Taxes

[T. D. 5828; Regs. 116]

PART 405—COLLECTION OF INCOME TAX AT SOURCE ON WAGES

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

In order to conform Regulations 116 (26 CFR Part 405) to the Social Security Act Amendments of 1950, approved August 28, 1950, and to the Revenue Act of 1950, approved September 23, 1950, such regulations are hereby amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately after section 1621 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code as set forth preceding § 405.101 the following:

SEC. 202. INCOME TAX EXEMPTIONS FOR MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES SERVING IN COMBAT AREAS [Revenue Act of 1950, approved September 23, 1950].

* * * * * *

(b) Withholding of income tax on wages. Effective with respect to wages paid after October 31, 1950, section 1621 (a) (relating to definition of wages for income tax withholding purposes) is hereby amended by inserting before paragraph (2) thereof the following:

"(1) for active service as a member of the armed forces of the United States performed prior to January 1, 1952, in a month during any part of which such member performed service in a combat zone as determined under section 22 (b) (13), or".

* * * * * *

SEC. 221. RESIDENTS OF PUERTO RICO [Revenue Act of 1950, approved September 23, 1950].

* * * * * *

(f) Withholding of tax on wages. (1) Section 1621 (a) (6) (relating to collection of income tax at source on wages) is hereby amended to read as follows:

"(6) for services performed by a nonresident alien individual, other than (A) a resident of a contiguous country who enters and leaves the United States at frequent intervals, or (B) a resident of Puerto Rico if such services are performed as an employee of the United States or any agency thereof, or".

(2) Section 1621 (a) (8) (relating to collection of income tax at source on wages) is hereby amended by striking out subparagraph (B) thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"(B) for services for an employer (other than the United States or any agency thereof) performed by a citizen of the United States within a possession of the United States (other than Puerto Rico), if it is reasonable to believe that at least 80 per centum of the remuneration to be paid to the employee by such employer during the calendar year will be for such services, or

"(C) for services for an employer (other than the United States or any agency thereof) performed by a citizen of the United States within Puerto Rico, if it is reasonable to believe that during the entire calendar year the employee will be a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico, or".

* * * * * *

(k) Effective date. The amendments made by * * * subsection (f) shall be applicable with respect to wages paid on or after January 1, 1951. * * *.

SEC. 209 (c) OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT AMENDMENTS OF 1950 [Approved August 28, 1950].

(c) (1) Section 1621 (a) (4) of the Internal Revenue Code is amended to read as follows:

"(4) for service not in the course of the employer's trade or business performed in any calendar quarter by an employee, unless the cash remuneration paid for such service is $50 or more and such service is performed by an individual who is regularly employed by such employer to perform such service. For the purposes of this paragraph, an individual shall be deemed to be regularly employed by an employer during a calendar quarter only if (A) on each of some twenty-four days during such quarter such individual performs for such employer for some portion of the day service not in the course of the employer's trade or business, or (B) such individual was regularly employed (as determined under clause (A)) by such employer in the performance of such service during the preceding calendar quarter, or".

(2) Section 1621 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code is amended by striking out paragraph (9) thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"(9) for services performed by a duly ordained, commissioned, or licensed minister of a church in the exercise of his ministry or by a member of a religious order in the exercise of duties required by such order, or

"(10) (A) for services performed by an individual under the age of eighteen in the delivery or distribution of newspapers or shopping news, not including delivery or distribution to any point for subsequent delivery or distribution, or

"(B) for services performed by an individual in, and at the time of, the sale of newspapers or magazines to ultimate consumers, under an arrangement under which the newspapers or magazines are to be sold by him at a fixed price, his compensation being based on the retention of the excess of such price over the amount at which the newspapers or magazines are charged to him, whether or not he is guaranteed a minimum amount of compensation for such service, or is entitled to be credited with the unsold newspapers or magazines turned back, or

"(11) for services not in the course of the employer's trade or business, to the extent paid in any medium other than cash, or

"(12) to, or on behalf of, an employee or his beneficiary (A) from or to a trust exempt from tax under section 165 (a) at the time of such payment unless such payment is made to an employee of the trust as remuneration for services rendered as such employee and not as a beneficiary of the trust, or (B) under or to an annuity plan which, at the time of such payment, meets the requirements of section 165 (a) (3), (4), (5), and (6)."

(3) The amendments made by paragraphs (1) and (2) shall be applicable only with respect to remuneration paid after 1950.

PAR. 2. There is inserted immediately after section 1426 (h) as set forth preceding § 405.101 the following:

SEC. 204 (d) AND (g) OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT AMENDMENTS OF 1950 [Approved August 28, 1950].

(d) Section 1426 (h) of the Internal Revenue Code is amended to read as follows:

"(h) Agricultural labor. The term 'agricultural labor' includes all service performed—

"(1) On a farm, in the employ of any person, in connection with cultivating the soil, or in connection with raising or harvesting any agricultural or horticultural commodity, including the raising, shearing, feeding, caring for, training, and management of livestock, bees, poultry, and fur-bearing animals and wildlife.

"(2) In the employ of the owner or tenant or other operator of a farm, in connection with the operation, management, conservation, improvement, or maintenance of such farm and its tools and equipment, or in salvaging timber or clearing land of brush and other debris left by a hurricane, if the major part of such service is performed on a farm.

"(3) In connection with the production or harvesting of any commodity defined as an agricultural commodity in section 15 (g) of the Agricultural Marketing Act, as amended, or in connection with the ginning of cotton, or in connection with the operation or maintenance of ditches, canals, reservoirs, or waterways, not owned or operated for profit, used exclusively for supplying and storing water for farming purposes.

"(4) (A) In the employ of the operator of a farm in handling, planting, drying, packing, packaging, processing, freezing, grading, storing, or delivering to storage or to market or to a carrier for transportation to market, in its unmanufactured state, any agricultural or horticultural commodity; but only if such operator produced more than one-half of the commodity with respect to which such service is performed.

"(B) In the employ of a group of operators of farms (other than a cooperative organization) in the performance of services described in subparagraph (A), but only if such operators produced all of the commodity with respect to which such service is performed. For the purposes of this subparagraph, any unincorporated group of operators shall be deemed a cooperative organization if the number of operators comprising such group is more than twenty at any time during the calendar quarter in which such service is performed.

"(C) The provisions of subparagraphs (A) and (B) shall not be deemed to be applicable with respect to service performed in connection with commercial canning or commercial freezing or in connection with any agricultural or horticultural comodity after its delivery to a terminal market for distribution for consumption.

"(5) On a farm operated for profit if such service is not in the course of the employer's trade or business or is domestic service in a private home of the employer.

"As used in this section, the term 'farm' includes stock, dairy, poultry, fruit, fur-bearing animal, and truck farms, plantations, ranches, nurseries, ranges, greenhouses or other similar structures used primarily for the raising of agricultural or horticultural commodities, and orchards."

• • • • •

(g) The amendments made by subsections (c), (d), (e), and (f) of this section shall be applicable only with respect to services performed after 1950.

PAR. 3. Section 405.101 is amended as follows:

(A) By inserting in the first sentence of the second paragraph of § 405.101 (b), immediately after the words "No withholding is required", the following: "prior to January 1, 1951,".

(B) By adding at the end of the second paragraph of § 405.101 (b) the following: "As to withholding in respect of these payments on and after January 1, 1951, see § 405.102 (m)."

(C) By striking out the first and second sentences of the third paragraph of § 405.101 (b) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Retirement pay for service in the military or naval forces of the United States is subject to withholding unless such pay is excluded from gross income under section 22 (b) (5). Where such retirement pay (not excluded from gross income under section 22 (b) (5)) is paid to a nonresident alien individual, withholding is required only in the case of such amounts paid on or after January 1, 1951, to a nonresident alien individual who is a resident of Puerto Rico. • • •

(D) By revising the last sentence of § 405.101 (f) to read as follows: "It is immaterial that the Internal Revenue Code, or any Act of Congress, or the law of any State or of Puerto Rico, requires or permits such deductions and the payment of the amounts thereof to the United States, a State, a Territory, Puerto Rico, or the District of Columbia, or any political subdivision of any one or more of the foregoing."

(E) By inserting in the second sentence of § 405.101 (h), immediately after the words "United States", the following: "(including Puerto Rico as if a part of the United States)".

(F) By inserting at the end of § 405.101 (h) the following new sentence: "See § 405.102 (h) (3) for the treatment of wages paid for services performed by a citizen of the United States in Puerto Rico."

PAR. 4. Section 405.102, as amended by Treasury Decision 5759, approved November 10, 1949, is further amended as follows:

(A) By changing § 405.102 (b) to read as follows:

(b) Compensation of members of the armed forces of the United States. (1) Remuneration paid before January 1, 1949, for services performed as a member of the armed forces of the United States is excepted from the definition of the term "wages". Remuneration paid on or after November 1, 1950, for active service, as a member of the armed forces of the United States, performed in a month during any part of which such member served in a combat zone (as determined under section 22 (b) (13)) is excepted from the definition of the term "wages" and is, therefore, not subject to withholding. For the purposes of the exceptions, the armed forces of the United States include the regular and reserve components thereof. Pensions and retirement pay, if includible in gross income under chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code, are not within the exceptions from the definition of the term "wages" and hence constitute wages subject to withholding.

(2) All other remuneration paid on or after January 1, 1949, for services performed as a member of the armed forces of the United States constitutes wages subject to withholding.

(B) By striking out § 405.102 (c), and by inserting in lieu thereof the following paragraph:

(c) Remuneration paid for agricultural labor—(1) In general. (i) The term "wages" does not include remuneration for services which constitute agricultural labor as defined in section 1426 (h). The term "agricultural labor" as so defined includes services performed before January 1, 1951, of a character described in subparagraphs (2), (3), (4), and (5) of this paragraph, and includes services performed on or after January 1, 1951, of a character described in subparagraphs (2), (3), (4), (5), and (6) of this paragraph. In general, however, the term agricultural labor does not include services performed in connection with forestry, lumbering, or landscaping.

(ii) The term "farm" as used in this paragraph includes stock, dairy, poultry, fruit, fur-bearing animal, and truck farms, plantations, ranches, nurseries, ranges, orchards, and such greenhouses and other similar structures as are used primarily for the raising of agricultural or horticultural commodities. Greenhouses and other similar structures used primarily for other purposes (for example, display, storage, and fabrication of wreaths, corsages, and bouquets) do not constitute "farms".

(2) Services described in section 1426 (h) (1). Remuneration paid for services performed on a farm by an employee of any person in connection with any of the following activities is excepted as remuneration for agricultural labor:

(i) The cultivation of the soil;

(ii) The raising, shearing, feeding, caring for, training, or management of livestock, bees, poultry, fur-bearing animals, or wildlife; or

(iii) The raising or harvesting of any other agricultural or horticultural commodity.

Remuneration paid for services performed on or after January 1, 1951, in connection with the production or harvesting of maple sap, or in connection with the raising or harvesting of mushrooms, or in connection with the hatching of poultry is excepted only if such services are performed on a farm. Thus, services performed in connection with the operation of a hatchery, if not operated as part of a poultry or other farm, do not constitute agricultural labor. Services performed in the processing (as distinguished from the gathering) of maple sap into maple sirup or maple sugar do not constitute agricultural labor, even though such services are performed on a farm. See subparagraph (4) of this paragraph for provisions relating to such services performed before January 1, 1951.

(3) Services described in section 1426 (h) (2). The remuneration paid for the following services performed by an employee in the employ of the owner or tenant or other operator of one or more farms is excepted as remuneration for agricultural labor, provided the major part of such services is performed on a farm:

(i) Services performed in connection with the operation, management, conservation, improvement, or maintenance of any of such farms or its tools or equipment; or

(ii) Services performed in salvaging timber, or clearing land of brush and other debris, left by a hurricane.

The services described in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph may include, for example, services performed by carpenters, painters, mechanics, farm supervisors, irrigation engineers, bookkeepers, and other skilled or semiskilled workers, which contribute in any way to the conduct of the farm or farms, as such, operated by the person employing them, as distinguished from any other enterprise in which such person may be engaged. Since the services described in this subparagraph must be performed in the employ of the owner or tenant or other operator of the farm, the exception does not extend to remuneration paid for services performed by employees of a commercial painting concern, for example, which contracts with a farmer to renovate his farm properties.

(4) Services described in section 1426 (h) (3). Remuneration paid for services performed by an employee in the employ of any person in connection with any of the following operations is excepted as remuneration for agricultural labor without regard to the place where such services are performed:

(i) The ginning of cotton;

(ii) The hatching of poultry, if such services are performed before January 1, 1951;

(iii) The raising or harvesting of mushrooms, if such services are performed before January 1, 1951;

(iv) The operation or maintenance of ditches, canals, reservoirs, or waterways used exclusively for supplying or storing water for farming purposes, but, in the case of such services performed on or after January 1, 1951, only if such ditches, canals, reservoirs, or waterways are not owned or operated for profit;

(v) The production or harvesting of maple sap or the processing of maple sap into maple sirup or maple sugar (but not the subsequent blending or other processing of such sirup or sugar with other products), if such services are performed prior to January 1, 1951; or

(vi) The production or harvesting of crude gum (oleoresin) from a living tree or the processing of such crude gum into gum spirits of turpentine and gum rosin, provided such processing is carried on by the original producer of such crude gum.

See subparagraph (2) of this paragraph for provisions relating to services performed on or after January 1, 1951, in connection with the hatching of poultry, the raising or harvesting of mushrooms, or the production or harvesting of maple sap.

(5) Services described in section 1426 (h) (4). (i) Remuneration paid for services performed prior to January 1, 1951, by an employee in the employ of a farmer or a farmers' cooperative organization or group in the handling, planting, drying, packing, packaging, processing, freezing, grading, storing, or delivering to storage or to market or to a carrier for transportation to market, of any agricultural or horticultural commodity, other than fruits and vegetables (see subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph), produced by such farmer or farmer-members of such organization or group of farmers is excepted, provided such services are performed as an incident to ordinary farming operations.

Generally services are performed "as an incident to ordinary farming operations" within the meaning of this paragraph if they are services of the character ordinarily performed by the employees of a farmer or of a farmers' cooperative organization or group as a prerequisite to the marketing, in its unmanufactured state, of any agricultural or horticultural commodity produced by such farmer or by the members of such farmers' organization or group. Services performed by employees of such farmer or farmers' organization or group in the handling, planting, drying, packing, packaging, processing, freezing, grading, storing, or delivering to storage or to market or to a carrier for transportation to market, of commodities produced by persons other than such farmer or members of such farmers' organization or group are not performed "as an incident to ordinary farming operations."

(ii) Remuneration paid for services performed prior to January 1, 1951, by an employee in the employ of any person in the handling, planting, drying, packing, packaging, processing, freezing, grading, storing, or delivering to storage or to market or to a carrier for transportation to market, of fruits and vegetables, whether or not of a perishable nature, is excepted as remuneration for agricultural labor, provided such services are performed as an incident to the preparation of such fruits and vegetables for market. For example, if services in the sorting, grading, or storing of fruits, or in the cleaning of beans, are performed as an incident to their preparation for market, remuneration paid for such services may be excepted whether the services are performed in the employ of a farmer, a farmers' cooperative, or a commercial handler of such commodities.

(iii) Remuneration paid for services performed on or after January 1, 1951, by an employee in the handling, planting, drying, packing, packaging, processing, freezing, grading, storing, or delivering to storage or to market or to a carrier for transportation to market, of any agricultural or horticultural commodity is excepted as remuneration for agricultural labor if—

(a) Such services are performed by the employee in the employ of an operator of a farm or in the employ of a group of operators of farms (other than a cooperative organization);

(b) Such services are performed with respect to the commodity in its unmanufactured state; and

(c) Such operator produced more than one-half of the commodity with respect to which such services are performed during the pay period, or such group of operators produced all of the commodity with respect to which such services are performed during the pay period.

The term "operator of a farm" as used in this subparagraph means an owner, tenant, or other person, in possession of a farm and engaged in the operation of such farm.

The services described in this subparagraph do not constitute agricultural labor if performed in the employ of a cooperative organization. The term "organization" includes corporations, joint-stock companies, and associations which are treated as corporations under the Internal Revenue Code. For the purposes of this subparagraph, any unincorporated group of operators shall be deemed a cooperative organization if the number of operators comprising such group is more than 20 at any time during the calendar quarter in which the services involved are performed.

Processing services which change the commodity from its raw or natural state do not constitute agricultural labor. For example, the extraction of juices from fruits or vegetables is a processing operation which changes the character of the fruits or vegetables from their raw or natural state and, therefore, does not constitute agricultural labor. On the other hand, services rendered in the cutting and drying of fruits or vegetables are processing operations which do not change the character of the fruits or vegetables and, therefore, constitute agricultural labor, if the other requisite conditions are met. Services performed with respect to a commodity after its character has been changed from its raw or natural state by a processing operation do not constitute agricultural labor.

The term "commodity" refers to a single agricultural or horticultural product, for example, all apples are to be treated as a single commodity, while apples and peaches are to be treated as two separate commodities. The services with respect to each such commodity are to be considered separately in determining whether the condition set forth in (c) of this subdivision has been satisfied. The portion of the commodity produced by an operator or group of operators with respect to which the services described in this subparagraph are performed by a particular employee shall be determined on the basis of the pay period in which such services were performed by such employee.

(iv) The services described in subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subparagraph, do not include services performed in connection with commercial canning or commercial freezing, or in connection with any commodity after its delivery to a terminal market for distribution for consumption. Moreover, since the services described in such subdivisions must be rendered in the actual handling, planting, drying, packing, packaging, processing, freezing, grading, storing, or delivering to storage or to market or to a carrier for transportation to market, of the commodity, such services do not, for example, include services performed as stenographers, bookkeepers, clerks, and other office employees, even though such services may be in connection with such activities. However, to the extent that the services of such individuals are performed in the employ of the owner or tenant or other operator of a farm and are rendered in major part on a farm, they may be within the provisions of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(6) Services described in section 1426 (h) (5). Remuneration paid for services not in the course of the employer's trade or business or for domestic services in a private home of the employer is excepted as remuneration for agricultural labor if such services are performed on or after January 1, 1951, on a farm operated for profit. For provisions with respect to remuneration paid for such services performed before January 1, 1951, see paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section. Generally, a farm is not operated for profit if it is occupied by the employer primarily for residential purposes, or is used primarily for the pleasure of the employer or his family such as for the entertainment of guests or as a hobby of the employer or his family.

(C) By redesignating subparagraphs (1) to (5) of § 405.102 (e) as subdivisions (i) to (v), respectively, and by revising the heading of § 405.102 (e) to read as follows:

(e) Remuneration for service not in the course of employer's trade or business—(1) Payments made before 1951 for casual labor. • • •

(D) By inserting immediately after the provisions of § 405.102 (e) as so amended the following:

(2) Payments made after 1950. (i) To the extent the compensation paid after 1950 for services not in the course of the employer's trade or business is paid in any medium other than cash, it is not subject to withholding under section 1622. Cash remuneration paid after 1950 for service not in the course of the employer's trade or business performed in any calendar quarter by an employee is excepted from the term "wages" if—

(a) The cash remuneration paid for such service is less than $50, or

(b) Such service is performed by an individual who is not regularly employed by such employer to perform such service.

(ii) Cash remuneration for service not in the course of the employer's trade or business performed in any calendar quarter by an employee does not come within the exception if both of the following conditions are met:

(a) The cash remuneration paid for such service is $50 or more, and

(b) Such service is performed by an individual who is regularly employed by such employer to perform such service.

(iii) An individual performing service not in the course of the employer's trade or business is deemed to be regularly employed by such employer during the calendar quarter only if:

(a) On each of some 24 days during such quarter such individual performs, for such employer for some portion of the day, service not in the course of the employer's trade or business, or

(b) Such individual was regularly employed (as determined under (a) of this subdivision) by such employer in the performance of such service during the preceding calendar quarter.

(iv) The cash test refers to the cash paid for services performed during a calendar quarter, regardless of when paid. The term "cash remuneration" includes checks and other monetary mediums of exchange.

The term "not in the course of the employer's trade or business" includes service that does not promote or advance the employer's trade or business. Remuneration paid for service performed in the course of the employer's trade or business does not come within the exception from the term "wages".

Remuneration paid for services performed for a corporation does not come within this exception.

For provisions relating to domestic service and to service performed on a farm operated for profit, see paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section.

(E) By inserting in the last sentence of the first paragraph of § 405.102 (f) (1), immediately before the words "even though such corporation", the words "or of Puerto Rico".

(F) By striking out the words "Canada and Mexico" in the first sentence of the first paragraph of § 405.102 (g) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Canada, Mexico, and Puerto Rico,".

(G) By inserting at the end of § 405.102 (g) the following new paragraph:

Withholding is not required in the case of wages paid to a nonresident alien individual for services performed in Puerto Rico for an employer (other than the United States or any agency thereof), even though such alien individual is a resident of Puerto Rico at the time when such services are performed. Wages paid for services performed by a nonresident alien individual who is a resident of Puerto Rico are subject to withholding if such services are performed as an employee of the United States or any agency thereof. The place of performance of such services is immaterial, provided such alien individual is a resident of Puerto Rico at the time of performance. Wages representing retired pay for service in the military or naval forces of the United States are subject to withholding under the limitation specified in § 405.101 (b), in the case of an alien resident of Puerto Rico.

(H) By changing the heading of § 405.102 (h) (2) to read as follows:

(2) Remuneration paid on or after January 1, 1948, to citizens resident in foreign countries. • • •

(I) By striking out of § 405.102 (h) (2) the fifth paragraph, which paragraph begins with the words "Remuneration paid on or after January 1, 1948, for services".

(J) By inserting immediately after the last paragraph of § 405.102 (h) (2) the following:

(3) Remuneration paid on or after January 1, 1948, to citizens in possessions of the United States. (i) Remuneration paid on or after January 1, 1948, and before January 1, 1951, for services for an employer performed within a possession of the United States by a citizen of the United States is not subject to withholding, if it is reasonable to believe that at least 80 percent of the remuneration to be paid to the employee by such employer during the calendar year will be for such services.

(ii) Remuneration paid on or after January 1, 1951, for services for an employer (other than the United States or any agency thereof) performed by a citizen of the United States within a possession of the United States, other than Puerto Rico, is not subject to withholding, if it is reasonable to believe that at least 80 percent of the remuneration to be paid to the employee by such employer during the calendar year will be for such services.

(iii) Withholding is required in the case of remuneration paid on or after January 1, 1951, to a citizen of the United States for services performed as an employee of the United States or any agency thereof in any possession of the United States, including Puerto Rico.

(iv) Remuneration paid on or after January 1, 1951, for services performed within Puerto Rico for an employer (other than the United States or any agency thereof) by a citizen of the United States is not subject to withholding, if it is reasonable to believe that during the entire calendar year the employee will be a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico.

(v) The reasonable belief mentioned in section 1621 (a) (8) (C) with respect to the employee's bona fide residence in Puerto Rico may be based upon any evidence reasonably sufficient to induce such belief, even though such evidence might be insufficient, upon closer examination by the Commissioner or the courts, finally to establish such bona fide residence in Puerto Rico so as to justify the exemption from tax provided for in section 116 (1).

(vi) In addition, the employer may, in the absence of cause for a reasonable belief to the contrary, presume that an employee will be a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during the entire calendar year—

(a) In every case except where the employee is known by the employer to have maintained his abode at a place outside Puerto Rico at some time during the current or the preceding calendar year; or

(b) In every case where the employee files with the employer a statement (containing a declaration under the penalties of perjury that such statement is true to the best of the employee's knowledge and belief) that such employee has at all times during the current calendar year been a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico and that he intends to remain a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during the entire remaining portion of such current calendar year.

The statement shall be retained by the employer and shall be available at all times for inspection by Internal Revenue officers.

(K) By revising the heading of § 405.102 (i) to read as follows:

(i) Compensation paid before 1951 for services performed as a minister of the gospel. • • •

(L) By inserting in the first sentence of § 405.102 (i), immediately after the word "Compensation", the following "paid before 1951".

(M) By inserting immediately after the provisions of § 405.102 (i) the following:

(j) Compensation paid after 1950 for services performed by a minister or by a member of a religious order. Compensation paid after 1950 for services performed by a duly ordained, commissioned, or licensed minister of a church in the exercise of his ministry, or by a member of a religious order in the exercise of duties required by such order, is not subject to withholding under section 1622. The duties of ministers include the ministration of sacerdotal functions and the conduct of religious worship, and the control, conduct, and maintenance of religious organizations (including the religious boards, societies, and other integral agencies of such organizations), under the authority of a religious body constituting a church or church denomination.

(k) Compensation for delivery or distribution of newspapers or shopping news. Compensation paid after 1950 for services performed by an individual under the age of 18 in the delivery or distribution of newspapers or shopping news, not including delivery or distribution (as, for example, by a regional distributor) to any point for subsequent delivery or distribution, is not subject to withholding under section 1622. Thus, the compensation, irrespective of the form thereof, for services performed by an individual under the age of 18 in making house-to-house delivery or sale of newspapers or shopping news, including handbills and other similar types of advertising material, is excepted. The compensation for incidental services by the individual who makes a house-to-house delivery, such as services in assembling newspapers, are considered to be within the exception. The exception continues only during the time the individual is under the age of 18.

(l) Compensation for sale of newspapers or magazines. Compensation paid after 1950 for services performed by an individual in, and at the time of, the sale of newspapers or magazines to ultimate consumers, under an arrangement under which the newspapers or magazines are to be sold by him at a fixed price, his compensation being based on the retention of the excess of such price over the amount at which the newspapers or magazines are to be charged to him, is not subject to withholding under section 1622. This compensation is excepted whether or not the individual is guaranteed a minimum amount of compensation for such services or is entitled to be credited with the unsold newspapers or magazines turned back. Moreover, the compensation is excepted without regard to the age of the individual. Compensation for services performed other than at the time of sale to the ultimate consumer are not within the exception. Thus, the compensation for the services of a regional distributor which are antecedent to but not immediately part of the sale to the ultimate consumer is not within the exception. However, compensation for incidental services by the individual who makes the sale to the ultimate consumer, such as services in assembling newspapers or in taking newspapers or magazines to the place of sale, is considered to be within the exception.

(m) Remuneration from certain trusts or annuities. The remuneration paid after 1950 to or on behalf of an employee or his beneficiary, from a trust exempt from tax under section 165 (a) at the time of such payment, unless such payment is made to an employee of the trust as remuneration for services performed as such employee and not as a beneficiary of the trust, and the remuneration paid after 1950 to or on behalf of an employee or his beneficiary, under an annuity plan which meets the requirements of section 165 (a) (3), (4), (5), and (6) at the time of such payment, is not subject to withholding under section 1622. Remuneration paid after 1950 on behalf of an employee or his beneficiary to a trust exempt from tax under section 165 (a) at the time of such payment (subject to the exception in respect of an employee of the trust) is not subject to withholding at the time of such payment under section 1622. Remuneration paid after 1950 on behalf of an employee or his beneficiary to an annuity plan which meets the requirements of section 165 (a) (3), (4), (5), and (6) at the time of such payment is not subject to withholding at the time of such payment under section 1622.

PAR. 5. Section 405.104 is amended by changing the second sentence of the first paragraph thereof to read as follows: "The term includes officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United States, a State, Territory, Puerto Rico, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing."

PAR. 6. Section 405.105 is amended as follows:

(A) By inserting in the fourth paragraph of § 405.105, immediately after the words "United States", the following: "(including Puerto Rico as if a part of the United States)".

(B) By inserting in the last paragraph of § 405.105, immediately after "the States, Territories,", the following: "Puerto Rico,".

PAR. 7. Section 405.107, as amended by Treasury Decision 5760, approved November 10, 1949, is further amended as follows:

(A) By redesignating (e) of such section as (f).

(B) By inserting immediately after § 405.107 (d) the following:

(e) The term "military or naval forces of the United States" and the term "armed forces of the United States" each includes all regular and reserve components of the uniformed services which are subject to the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of the Army, the Secretary of the Navy, or the Secretary of the Air Force. The terms also include the Coast Guard. The members of such forces include commissioned officers and the personnel below the grade of commissioned officer in such forces.

PAR. 8. There is inserted immediately preceding § 405.201 the following:

SEC. 141. PERCENTAGE METHOD OF WITHHOLDING [Revenue Act of 1950, approved September 23, 1950].

Section 1622 (a) (relating to percentage method of withholding) is hereby amended by striking out "15 per centum" and inserting in lieu thereof "18 per centum".

SEC. 142. WAGE BRACKET WITHHOLDING [Revenue Act of 1950, approved September 23, 1950].

SEC. 1634. PENALTIES [As added by section 206 (a), Social Security Act Amendments of 1950; applicable with respect to wages paid after December 31, 1950].

(a) Penalties for fraudulent statement or failure to furnish statement. In lieu of any other penalty provided by law (except the penalty provided by subsection (b) of this section), any person required under the provisions of section 1633 to furnish a statement who willfully furnishes a false or fraudulent statement, or who willfully fails to furnish a statement in the manner, at the time, and showing the information required under section 1633, or regulations, prescribed thereunder, shall for each such failure, upon conviction thereof, be fined not more than $1,000, or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both.

(b) Additional penalty. In addition to the penalty provided by subsection (a) of this section, any person required under the provisions of section 1633 to furnish a statement who willfully furnishes a false or fraudulent statement, or who willfully fails to furnish a statement in the manner, at the time, and showing the information required under section 1633, or regulations prescribed thereunder, shall for each such failure be subject to a civil penalty of $50. Such penalty shall be assessed and collected in the same manner as the tax imposed by section 1410.

PAR. 14. Section 405.501, as amended by Treasury Decision 5759, approved November 10, 1949, is further amended as follows:

(A) By revising the heading of § 405.501 (a) to read as follows:

(a) Wages paid before January 1, 1951. * * *

(B) By inserting in the second sentence of § 405.501 (a), immediately after "January 1, 1946,", the following: "and before January 1, 1951,".

(C) By redesignating (b), (c), and (d) of § 405.501 as (d), (e), and (f), respectively.

(D) By inserting immediately after § 405.501 (a) the following:

(b) Wages paid after December 31, 1950. With respect to wages paid on or after January 1, 1951, every person required to deduct and withhold from an employee a tax under section 1622, or who would have been required to deduct and withhold a tax under section 1622 if the employee had claimed no more than one withholding exemption, is required to furnish to each such employee, in respect of the remuneration paid by such person to such employee during the calendar year, the original and duplicate of Form W–2 showing the following: (1) The name of such person, (2) the name of the employee (and his social security account number if wages as defined in section 1426 (a) have been paid), (3) the total amount of wages as defined in section 1621 (a), (4) the total amount deducted and withheld as tax under section 1622, (5) the total amount of wages as defined in section 1426 (a), and (6) the total amount deducted and withheld as tax under section 1400.

For example, if the table method is used, a withholding statement must be furnished each employee whose earnings during any payroll period are equal to or in excess of the smallest wage for which tax must be withheld from employees claiming one exemption. If the percentage computation method is used, a withholding statement must be furnished each employee whose wages during any payroll period are in excess of one withholding exemption for such payroll period as shown in the percentage method withholding table contained in section 1622 (b) (1). Statements prepared in substantially like form and size as Form W–2, but in no case larger than 8 by 3¾ inches, will be acceptable if approved by the Commissioner.

The statement on Form W–2 shall be furnished to the employee on or before January 31 of the succeeding calendar year, or, if his employment is terminated before the close of such calendar year, on the day on which the last payment of wages is made.

See the regulations under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act, effective on and after January 1, 1951, for the requirements as to the furnishing of a statement in cases where such statement is required solely by reason of the tax under section 1400 of such act.

(c) Statements for members of the armed forces of the United States. Section 1625 (a) and section 1633 (a) contain certain special provisions which are applicable to calendar years after 1949 in the case of members of the armed forces of the United States in active service after June 24, 1950. In such case, Form W–2 shall be furnished to each such member of the armed forces of the United States if any tax has been withheld during the calendar year from the remuneration of such member or if any of the remuneration paid during the calendar year for such active service is includible under chapter 1 in the gross income of such member. Form W–2, in the case of such member, shall show, as wages paid during the calendar year, the amount of the remuneration paid during the calendar year which is not excludable under chapter 1, from the gross income of such member, whether or not such remuneration constitutes wages as defined in section 1621 (a) and whether or not paid for such active service.

(E) By striking out of the first and second sentences of § 405.501 (d) (as redesignated by (C) of this paragraph) the words "Withholding Receipt" and by inserting in lieu thereof the following word: "statement".

(F) By inserting in the first sentence of such § 405.501 (d), immediately after "required by section 1625 (a)", the following: "or section 1633".

(G) By striking out of § 405.501 (e) (as redesignated by (C) of this paragraph) the words "Withholding Receipts" and by inserting in lieu thereof the following word: "statements".

(H) By revising § 405.501 (f) (as redesignated by (C) of this paragraph) to read as follows:

(f) Penalties for fraudulent statement or failure to furnish statement—(1) Wages paid after December 31, 1950. Section 1634 imposes criminal and civil penalties for the willful failure to furnish a statement in the manner, at the time, and showing the information required under section 1633 or regulations prescribed thereunder or for willfully furnishing a false or fraudulent statement. The criminal penalty is a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, for each such violation. The civil penalty is a fine of $50 for each such violation. The civil penalty shall be assessed and collected in the same manner as the tax imposed by section 1410. These penalties are in lieu of any other penalties provided by law respecting the failure to furnish a statement or the furnishing of a false or fraudulent statement.

(2) Wages paid before January 1, 1951. Section 1626 imposes criminal and civil penalties for the willful failure to furnish a statement in the manner, at the time, and showing the information required under section 1625 or regulations prescribed thereunder or for willfully furnishing a false or fraudulent statement. The criminal penalty is a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, and the civil penalty is a fine of not more than $50 for each such violation. Such penalties are in lieu of any other penalties provided by law respecting the failure to furnish a statement or the furnishing of a false or fraudulent statement.

PAR. 15. Section 405.601, as amended by Treasury Decision 5795, approved July 12, 1950, is further amended by inserting in the seventh paragraph, immediately before the words "or political subdivision", the following: "Puerto Rico,".

PAR. 16. There is inserted immediately after the provisions of § 405.606, as added by Treasury Decision 5760, approved November 10, 1949, the following:

SEC. 1635. PERIOD OF LIMITATION UPON ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION OF CERTAIN EMPLOYMENT TAXES [As added by section 207 (a), Social Security Act Amendments of 1950, approved August 28, 1950].

(a) General rule. The amount of any tax imposed by subchapter A of this chapter or subchapter D of this chapter shall (except as otherwise provided in the following subsections of this section) be assessed within three years after the return was filed, and no proceeding in court without assessment for the collection of such tax shall be begun after the expiration of such period.

(b) False return or no return. In the case of a false or fraudulent return with intent to evade tax or of a failure to file a return, the tax may be assessed, or a proceeding in court for the collection of such tax may be begun without assessment, at any time.

(c) Willful attempt to evade tax. In case of a willful attempt in any manner to defeat or evade tax, the tax may be assessed, or a proceeding in court for the collection of such tax may be begun without assessment, at any time.

(d) Collection after assessment. Where the assessment of any tax imposed by subchapter A of this chapter or subchapter D of this chapter has been made within the period of limitation properly applicable thereto, such tax may be collected by distraint or by a proceeding in court, but only if begun (1) within six years after the assessment of the tax, or (2) prior to the expiration of any period for collection agreed upon in writing by the Commissioner and the taxpayer.

(e) Date of filing of return. For the purposes of this section, if a return for any period ending with or within a calendar year is filed before March 15 of the succeeding calendar year, such return shall be considered filed on March 15 of such succeeding calendar year.

(f) Application of section. The provisions of this section shall apply only to those taxes imposed by subchapter A of this chapter, or subchapter D of this chapter, which are required to be collected and paid by making and filing returns.

(g) Effective date. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any tax imposed with respect to remuneration paid during any calendar year before 1951.

§ 405.607 Period of limitation upon assessment of tax. Section 1635 provides, in general, for a three-year period of limitation on the assessment of the tax required to be withheld during any calendar year after 1950. This period of limitation is measured from the date the return is filed, except that if a return for any period ending with or within a calendar year is filed before March 15 of the succeeding calendar year, such return shall be deemed filed on March 15 of such succeeding calendar year. For example, if quarterly returns are filed for the four quarters of 1951 on April 30, July 31, and October 31, 1951, and on January 31, 1952, the period of limitation for assessment with respect to the tax required to be reported on each such return is measured from March 15, 1952. However, if any of such returns is filed after March 15, 1952, the period of limitation for assessment of the tax required to be reported on that return is measured from the date it is in fact filed. In the case of a false or fraudulent return with intent to evade tax or of a failure to file a return, and in the case of a willful attempt in any manner to defeat or evade tax, the tax required to be reported on the return may be assessed at any time.

PAR. 17. There is inserted immediately preceding § 405.702 the following:

SEC. 207 (b) (2) OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT AMENDMENTS OF 1950 [Approved August 28, 1950].

(2) Section 3313 of the Internal Revenue Code is amended as follows:

(A) By inserting immediately after the words "and gift taxes,", where those words first appear in the section, the following: "and except as otherwise provided by law in the case of employment taxes under subchapters A and D of chapter 9,"; and

(B) By inserting immediately after the words "and gift taxes", where those words appear in the parenthetical phrase, a comma and the following: "and other than such employment taxes".

SEC. 1636. PERIOD OF LIMITATION UPON REFUNDS AND CREDITS OF CERTAIN EMPLOYMENT TAXES [As added by section 207 (a), Social Security Act Amendments of 1950, approved August 28, 1950].

(a) General rule. In the case of any tax imposed by subchapter A of this chapter or subchapter D of this chapter—

(1) Period of limitation. Unless a claim for credit or refund is filed by the taxpayer within three years from the time the return was filed or within two years from the time the tax was paid, no credit or refund shall be allowed or made after the expiration of whichever of such periods expires the later. If no return is filed, then no credit or refund shall be allowed or made after two years from the time the tax was paid, unless before the expiration of such period a claim therefor is filed by the taxpayer.

(2) Limit on amount of credit or refund. The amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid—

(A) If a return was filed, and the claim was filed within three years from the time the return was filed, during the three years immediately preceding the filing of the claim.

(B) If a claim was filed, and (i) no return was filed, or (ii) if the claim was not filed within three years from the time the return was filed, during the two years immediately preceding the filing of the claim.

(C) If no claim was filed and the allowance of credit or refund is made within three years from the time the return was filed, during the three years immediately preceding the allowance of the credit or refund.

(D) If no claim was filed, and (i) no return was filed or (ii) the allowance of the credit or refund is not made within three years from the time the return was filed, during the two years immediately preceding the allowance of the credit or refund.

(b) Penalties, etc. The provisions of subsection (a) of this section shall apply to any penalty or sum assessed or collected with respect to the tax imposed by subchapter A of this chapter or subchapter D of this chapter.

(c) Date of filing return and date of payment of tax. For the purposes of this section—

(1) If a return for any period ending with or within a calendar year is filed before March 15 of the succeeding calendar year, such return shall be considered filed on March 15 of such succeeding calendar year; and

(2) If a tax with respect to remuneration paid during any period ending with or within a calendar year is paid before March 15 of the succeeding calendar year, such tax shall be considered paid on March 15 of such succeeding calendar year.

(d) Application of section. The provisions of this section shall apply only to those taxes imposed by subchapter A of this chapter, or subchapter D of this chapter, which are required to be collected and paid by making and filing returns.

(e) Effective date. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any tax paid or collected with respect to remuneration paid during any calendar year before 1951 or to any penalty or sum paid or collected with respect to such tax.

PAR. 18. There is inserted immediately after the provisions of § 405.702 the following:

§ 405.703 Limitations upon credits and refunds—(a) In general. Unless a claim for credit or refund of an overpayment is filed within three years from the time the return was filed, or within two years from the time the tax was paid, the Commissioner is prohibited, after both periods have expired, from allowing or making a credit or refund of such overpayment. If no return is filed, the Comriods have expired, from allowing or making a credit or refund of the overpayment after two years from the time the tax was paid unless before the expiration of such two-year period a claim therefor is filed.

(b) Limitation on amount of credit or refund. The limitations on the amount of credit or refund shall be determined in accordance with section 1636 (a) (2).

(c) Penalties. The provisions of this section as to the tax required to be deducted and withheld are also applicable to any penalty or other sum assessed or collected with respect to such tax.

(d) Date of filing return and payment of tax. For the purposes of this section, if a return for any period ending with or within a calendar year is filed before March 15 of the succeeding calendar year, it shall be deemed filed on March 15 of such succeeding calendar year. Likewise, if any tax required to be deducted and withheld during any period ending with or within a calendar year is paid before March 15 of the succeeding calendar year, such tax shall be deemed paid on March 15 of such succeeding calendar year.

(e) Applicability of section. The provisions of this section shall apply only to taxes required to be withheld on or after January 1, 1951.

PAR. 19. There is inserted immediately preceding § 405.805 the following:

SEC. 1631. FAILURE OF EMPLOYER TO FILE RETURN [As amended by section 209 (d), Social Security Act Amendments of 1950; applicable to returns filed after December 31, 1950].

In case of a failure to make and file any return required under this chapter within the time prescribed by law or prescribed by the Commissioner in pursuance of law, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect, the addition to the tax or taxes required to be shown on such return shall not be less than $5.

PAR. 20. Section 405.805, as amended by Treasury Decision 5794, approved July 6, 1950, is further amended as follows:

(A) By redesignating (a) and (b) of such section as (b) and (c), respectively.

(B) By inserting immediately after the heading of the section the following:

(a) If an employer fails to file a return within the time prescribed in § 405.601 or § 405.602, unless it is shown that the failure is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect, the addition to the tax or taxes required to be shown on such return shall not be less than $5. The addition to the tax or taxes shall be computed as provided by section 3612 (d) and if less than $5 shall be increased to $5. The provisions of this paragraph shall be applicable only with respect to returns filed after December 31, 1950.

(C) By adding at the end of § 405.805 (b) (as redesignated by (A) of this paragraph) the following: "The provisions of this paragraph shall be applicable only with respect to returns filed before January 1, 1951, and to the tax required to be shown on such returns."

(D) By striking out of § 405.805 (c) (as redesignated by (A) of this paragraph) the letter "a" within the parentheses and by inserting in lieu of such "a" the letter "b".

(E) By adding at the end of such § 405.805 (c) the following new sentence: "The provisions of this paragraph shall be applicable only with respect to returns filed before January 1, 1951, and to the tax required to be shown on such returns."

Because the amendments made by this Treasury decision are necessary to conform Regulations 116, relating to withholding of income tax at source on wages, to the changes in law made by the Social Security Act Amendments of 1950 and by the Revenue Act of 1950, which changes are applicable in part to wage payments made on and after October 1, 1950, in part to wage payments made on and after November 1, 1950, and in part to wage payments made on and after January 1, 1951, it is found that it is impracticable to issue this Treasury decision with notice and public procedure thereon under section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, or subject to the effective date limitation of section 4 (c) of that act.

PROVIDING FOR EFFECTIVE USE OF PRIORITIES AND ALLOCATIONS IN ACHIEVING ECONOMIC STABILIZATION

By virtue of the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 10193 and in order to provide for coordinated use of priorities and allocations authority in achieving economic stabilization, It is hereby ordered:

1. The Defense Production Administration and the agencies exercising priority and allocations functions delegated pursuant to Executive Orders Nos. 10161 and 10200 under the Defense Production Act of 1950, shall cooperate and consult with the Economic Stabilization Agency and the Office of Price Stabilization in order to assist in the effectuation of economic stabilization.

2. The Defense Production Administration and the agencies indicated above shall plan and develop programs, and issue appropriate regulations in pursuance thereof, having the purpose and objectives of:

(a) Allocating scarce materials and commodities in such manner as to preserve distribution for most essential purposes; minimize excess of effective civilian demand over available supply; avoid diversion of available supply to persons or channels acquiring the materials for uses or upon terms and conditions in conflict with applicable law and regulations.

(b) Assuring that the production and distribution of materials and commodities in short supply shall, after satisfaction of priority demands and needs of the armed services and essential industrial uses, result in maxium production of consumer goods effectuating the objectives of economic stabilization and avoiding increases in the real cost of living resulting from changes and diversions to high-price models and lines; maintenance of balanced production, including continuance of lower-priced and medium-priced lines and models in due proportion to total production.

(c) Encouraging savings of scarce and critical materials; substitution of less scarce and critical materials; and limiting changes in models and lines of products using scarce and critical materials to those necessary and appropriate to the achievement of such savings and substitutions.

3. This order shall take effect on January 26, 1951.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE MOBILIZATION,
C. E. WILSON,
Director.

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738) this General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS FOR THE GENERAL PRICE CEILING REGULATION

THE URGENT NEED FOR SWEEPING ACTION

Since June 1950, the country has been in the throes of a mounting inflation. What is most alarming is the violence and rapidity with which prices are rising throughout the economy. Since the outbreak in Korea, basic commodity prices have risen almost 50 percent, farm prices about 16 percent, wholesale food prices 12 percent, and industrial prices about 14 percent. Wholesale textile prices have advanced over 30 percent, chemicals over 25 percent, building materials and metals and metal products about 10 percent.

The cost of living is now at an all-time high and is rising sharply.

These increases in prices have added billions to the cost of the defense program and many more billions to the cost of living of the general public. Every 2 percent increase in the price level means that the cost of the present security program goes up 1 billion dollars per annum. Every 1 percent rise in the cost of living means that consumers are called upon to spend an additional 2 billion dollars annually for the same goods and services.

The cause of these inflationary pressures is evident. When Korea was invaded our economy was operating very close to capacity. Our national output was at an all-time peak. Unemployment was low. Great as is the normal resilience of our industrial structure, it is impossible under these conditions to undertake a greatly expanded security program without curtailing civilian supplies of many kinds of goods.

Long before real shortages could even begin to appear, however, prices started to jump as a result of efforts on the part of consumers and businessmen to anticipate the shortages which they foresaw. With spendable incomes at the highest levels in our history, and with huge liquid assets in the hands of the public, the demand for goods of all kinds was great. Scare buying and profiteering were major factors in the sharp price advances which occurred in the last half of 1950. Similar conditions in foreign markets caused the prices of many of the essential articles which we import to advance sharply. Each price advance increased costs, and thereby augmented the pressure for further and broader price increases.

It is clear that these inflationary pressures will intensify as the expanded security program goes into high gear. We are now spending at an annual rate of almost 20 billions of dollars to build up our own strength and to help our allies to build up theirs so that the security of the free world can be assured. By the end of this year we will be spending at an annual rate of between 45 and 55 billions for these purposes. We are now devoting less than 7 percent of our total output to security; within 12 months we shall be devoting about 18 percent. This means that we shall have to divert resources from the civilian sector of the economy and that the output of many consumer goods will have to be curtailed, some drastically.

At the same time we shall need to expand our labor force by additional millions of people and this will further increase spendable income. Thus, there will be a growing gap between the demand for consumer goods and the supply of such goods resulting in even greater inflationary pressures. We are nowhere near the contemplated rate of expenditures for security purposes, hence the inflationary forces already at work in the economy are only a foretaste of those that will be created as our defense program expands. This situation calls for vigorous counter action. Over a period of time it may well be hoped that we can increase our total level of industrial production to the point where we can support our security programs and meet civilian demand in full. But this is a slow process which may take several years to accomplish. Meanwhile, the danger confronting us is immediate.

PRIOR EFFORTS TO STABILIZE PRICES

Up to now, the basic reliance in seeking to stabilize prices has been on general measures to reduce demand and on voluntary action. The Government has increased taxes, imposed selective credit restrictions, and established many controls over the flow of scarce and essential materials. Moreover, the President, prior to the passage of the Defense Production Act and since, has repeatedly urged business, labor, farmers and consumers to exercise restraint in their buying and selling.

In December, as price increases began once more to accelerate following the Chinese interventions, several actions were taken to curb price advances. Ceiling Price Regulation No. 1 was issued controlling manufacturers' prices of new automobiles. A set of Voluntary Pricing Standards was announced on December 19, 1950, as a guide to aid sellers who wished to cooperate in a program of voluntary price stabilization. Several hundred large firms were requested to give prior notice of intended price increases. Meetings were held with producers of a number of basic industrial commodities to explore ways of stabilizing prices in these fields.

Unfortunately, although some sellers sought conscientiously to comply with the objectives of stabilization, price increases continued at an alarming rate. For example, one company, attempting to observe the Voluntary Pricing Standards, reported that, among 500 of its suppliers, 468 had increased prices between 1 and 32 percent since December 1, 1950. A retailer furnished to the agency 52 notices of price increases received since December 1, covering hundreds of items. Within the last month alone, prices of basic commodities have advanced almost 7 percent, compared with a monthly average rate of advance of 6 percent during the last half of 1950; industrial prices have risen 2.2 percent, compared with an average of less than 2 percent; and retail food prices since mid-December jumped 2.6 percent, compared with an average monthly rise of about 1 percent. At this rate, we would see price increases of 30 or 40 or even 50 percent a year. This path leads only to disaster and collapse.

THE DESTRUCTIVE CHARACTER OF INFLATION

This situation requires bold and drastic action. We cannot permit this ever-widening spiral of price increases, reinforced by wage increases, to continue. Inflation, if unchecked, feeds upon itself and grows constantly more acute and more dangerous.

Rapidly rising prices strike hardest at those living on pensions and others whose incomes are relatively fixed. While their impact on this group is most obvious and immediate, a continued uncontrolled increase in prices presents a broader threat to every American citizen. Inflation impairs the smooth functioning of our economy at a time when we must exert every effort to strengthen the United States and the free world against the growing danger of aggression. It destroys the value of savings and, therefore, the motive to save. It makes it impossible for the businessman to plan ahead, thus disrupting production and the orderly flow of goods. It creates a panic flight from liquid assets to goods. It creates intolerable tensions in our social fabric leading to sharp social conflict and mutual recriminations as to who is to blame. Those nations which have failed to check inflation have invariably paid the price in social and economic chaos. This disaster we are resolved to avoid.

THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT OF 1950

In this emergency, we cannot be content with partial measures. The problem which confronts us today is not the result of price increases for a few commodities or groups of commodities; prices have been going up all along the line. We must therefore take broad-gauged, sweeping action to halt the spiral in prices. Because of the comprehensive character of this action and the need for speed, it has not been practicable to establish committees of representatives of the persons substantially affected by this general ceiling price regulation and to consult with them.

It is recognized that the issuance of one regulation covering millions of prices and sellers and thousands of industries, differing in structure, market organization and degree of complexity, cannot be expected to cover adequately the multitude of problems that arise in day-to-day pricing. It is, therefore, the intention of the Director of Price Stabilization to issue, as soon as practicable and after appropriate consultation, additional price ceiling regulations, some general in scope, and some tailored to meet the separate problems of individual industries.

This regulation, freezing prices at the highest levels charged in the period December 19, 1950–January 25, 1951, is generally fair and equitable.

According to the latest data available, corporate profits before taxes in the second half of 1950 were at an all-time high, running at an estimated annual rate of 47 billion dollars. Prior to 1950, the previous peak was reached in the third quarter of 1948, when corporate profits before taxes were at an annual rate of about 35 billion dollars. The average annual rate of profits in the period 1946–49 was slightly under 29 billion. Thus, the current rate is more than a third above the peak level of 1948, and more than 60 percent above the annual average of the period, 1946–1949. Data available for individual industries, and for businesses of all size classifications, present an almost uniform picture of high profitability.

First things come first. The dire need of the moment is to stop the on-rushing price advance in its tracks. The fact that prices are now frozen at current levels does not mean that there will be no downward adjustments in the future. The choice of the base period specified in the present regulation was dictated by considerations of administrative practicability. In the future the price-cost structures in the various industries will be examined to determine where changes in present prices are appropriate.

The base period selected is uniform for all sellers covered by this regulation. Normally, there is a lag between a change in prices at one level and a corresponding change in prices at the next level of production and distribution. The degree of the lag usually depends on the rapidity with which merchandise is turned over and on the state of the markets. But these are certainly not normal times. The speed with which prices have been rising over the whole economy indicates that most sellers have been keeping pace with, and in many cases anticipating, the rise in costs.

In addition to the basic requirement that the regulation "be generally fair and equitable," the Defense Production Act of 1950 provides: "So far as practicable * * * The President shall ascertain and give due consideration to comparable prices * * * which he finds to be representative of those prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950 * * * shall also give due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of this act * * *

[and] shall give due consideration to such relevant factors as he may deem to be of general applicability * * * including the following: Speculative fluctuations, general increases or decreases in cost of production, distribution, and transportation, and general increases or decreases in profits earned by sellers of the material or by persons performing the service, subsequent to June 24, 1950."

The Director of Price Stabilization has for obvious reasons found it impracticable to ascertain separately for each of the thousands of commodities covered by this regulation the price prevailing from May 24 to June 24, 1950, and to give separate consideration for each of these commodities to the factors listed above. With respect to commodities generally, it is clear: (a) that the prices established by this regulation exceed those of the May 24–June 24 period; (b) that the ceiling prices established hereby will not interfere with the effort to achieve maximum production—rather, failure to halt the spiral of price increases would threaten this effort; (c) that changes which have occurred in costs or profits since the period, May 24–June 24, do not make the level of prices established by this regulation unfair, inequitable, or unreasonable to sellers. The unresolved question is whether and to what extent the purposes and provisions of the Act require, at least for some commodities, a lower level of prices than the level established by this regulation. The further consideration which the Agency will proceed to give to the prices of commodities will determine the extent, if any, to which ceiling prices may need to be reduced in order "to effectuate the purposes of this Act."

THE PLACE OF PRICE CONTROL IN STABILIZATION

The fact that prices have been frozen by this regulation should not be interpreted as ending the danger of inflation. This would be to confuse controlling the symptoms of a disease with its cure. The effect of price control is not to eliminate inflation, but to "suppress" it. Inflation comes about as a result of a gap between the available supply of goods and the amounts which consumers, business firms, and governments would like to buy and can pay for. Price control does not eliminate this gap although it will remove a major factor causing the gap to widen by halting the price-wage spiral. It is the job of other measures to narrow this gap and thus to reduce the degree of inflationary pressure. Major reliance must be placed upon vigorous taxation and strong credit policy. To the extent that we succeed in reducing the inflationary pressure by these means, we make the task of price control that much easier, and reduce the dislocations that even a "suppressed" inflation inevitably engenders.

Price control not only must be backed by strong fiscal and credit measures but it is equally important that it be integrated with a vigorous use of production and distribution controls. It must be clearly understood that, even if price control does a perfect job in holding the prices of individual commodities, it is powerless to ensure that the essential commodities will be produced in the right quantities. With the imposition of price controls to halt the inflationary spiral, we shall be freezing a price structure geared to relatively normal patterns of output. Such a price structure cannot be expected to bring about the pattern of output appropriate to an advanced defense economy. Nor can price controls alone be generally administered to achieve these necessary changes in output. When we refuse to allow goods to be distributed among buyers through the wild scramble of competitive bidding in inflationary markets, we must substitute orderly means to determine whose wants shall be met and in what amount.

We have a growing system of production and distribution controls designed to assure that defense needs shall be met. We have already begun to extend these controls to assure the production of essential civilian goods and, where necessary, their fair distribution. The experience of World War II is eloquent testimony to the need for expanding such controls. In a market where goods are scarce, sellers have every inducement to drop lower priced, more essential items and to shift to higher priced, more profitable items. Such shifts in output must be prevented if living costs are to be stabilized. It will probably also be necessary to control the frequent changes in models so normal under ordinary conditions but so wasteful in terms of essential materials and so unnecessary now when demand is great and goods are short. If we are to have successful stabilization, therefore, production and distribution controls must be effectively meshed with price controls.

WHAT THIS REGULATION DOES

The purpose of the accompanying general regulation is to hold prices on a broad front. Accordingly, it covers the widest possible range of commodities and sellers. Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers together with suppliers of services come within its terms. The intention has been to include within its scope all sellers of all commodities and services except to the extent that legal or strong practical reasons require that particular sellers or types of commodities be exempt.

Some exemptions are found provided in the Act itself. Thus, real estate is exempted by section 402 (e). That section of the Act also exempts professional services, materials furnished for publication by press associations or feature services, books, magazines, motion pictures, periodicals, newspapers, radio-broadcasting and television stations, outdoor advertising facilities, insurance, common carriers, public utilities, and margin requirements on commodity exchanges.

A number of commodities are excluded from the regulation for reasons of administrative impracticability. These include: stamps and coins; precious stones; paintings; antiques; used personal or household effects sold by the owner; and damaged, abandoned or confiscated property.

The regulation also excludes a number of agricultural and related commodities. Raw and unprocessed agricultural commodities when sold by the producer have been exempted, first, because the freeze technique is at present administratively impracticable when applied to sales by individual farmers, and, second, because the current prices of most such commodities are below the minimum price levels at which ceilings may be established under the Act. The further exemption of sales by farmers of farm-processed commodities in minor amounts is also dictated by administrative considerations.

Fresh fruits and vegetables and fresh fish and seafood, because of unusual marketing factors and seasonal and perishable characteristics, are subject to sharp and unforeseeable price fluctuations. Consequently, the imposition of a general freeze on these commodities would lead to capricious and inequitable price results. However, as soon as practicable, the Director of Price Stabilization will issue regulations for such commodities specifically adapted to these unusual factors.

Although the prices of live animals are generally above the minimum standards of the Act, it is the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization that control can be more adequately effected at this time at the processing level. Tailored livestock ceilings will be issued as soon as practicable.

In some instances exemptions for certain agricultural commodities were based upon considerations of essential supply. For example, a ceiling price at the base period level would, in the judgment of the Department of Agriculture, preclude the importation of certain oil-bearing materials and oils and would deter necessary increases in production of pine gum and American-Egyptian cotton essential to the defense effort. They have therefore been exempted at this time.

The regulation employs the freeze technique. The highest prices charged by a particular seller for each commodity during the period from December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951, become his ceiling prices for all subsequent sales of the same commodities. Methods are provided for establishing ceiling prices for new commodities or services not sold during this base period. These methods are designed to set ceiling prices for the new commodities which are directly in line with the ceiling prices established through sales in the base period. These new commodity pricing methods have been made as automatic as possible. However, where sellers are permitted, because they start handling a new category or a new business, to price their wares with reference to the ceiling prices of most closely competitive sellers of the same class, they are required to submit reports which will enable the Office of Price Stabilization to guard against abuses of this pricing formula. There is a special problem in the case of some new wholesalers since previous experience under price control has demonstrated that intermediaries speculating in scarce goods inject themselves into the channels of distribution, multiplying the number of hands through which the goods must pass, and the number of markups added to basic costs. Such new intermediaries can be the source of a substantial amount of price inflation.

No general provision for the adjustment of individual hardship cases is included in the regulation. This is because it is virtually impossible to predict the specific types of hardship situations which an order of this scope may create and which can be relieved consistently with the effectuation of the fundamental stabilization objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950. However, the Office of Price Stabilization will at a future date issue such provisions and standards for adjustment as may be necessary and proper under the statute.

There are two specific instances in which provision for relief is made. These situations involve, first, agricultural commodities or commodities processed or manufactured in whole or substantial part from agricultural commodities whose prices are at present below the standards set for them in the Defense Production Act of 1950, and second, certain sales of imported commodities.

The regulation makes special provision for certain importers, permitting them to pass on price increases for imported goods which they receive after January 26, 1951, pursuant to contracts entered into on or before that date. The purpose of this provision is to avoid interruptions in the flow of essential imported commodities, and the consequent reduction of supplies available for the defense program, as well as to avoid the damage to our relations with friendly nations that would result if importers canceled bona fide contracts. Once deliveries on existing contracts have been disposed of, the importer's ceiling price reverts to the base level.

Opportunity will be afforded, through arrangements to be made by the Department of State, for consideration by the Director of Price Stabilization of the views of foreign governments regarding adjustments of ceiling prices of commodities which are of special concern to them.

HIGHEST PRICE LINE LIMITATIONS

Manufacturers of certain apparel and consumers' durable goods are required to maintain ceiling prices which do not exceed their highest price line in the base period. The purpose of this provision is to prevent unnecessary increases in the cost of living. The Act permits the issuance of such a requirement at the manufacturer's level. This provision will become effective in a short time, with the issuance of the list of particular categories subject to this requirement.

PARITY ADJUSTMENT PROVISION

This special provision of the regulation is made necessary by section 402 (d) (3) of the Defense Production Act of 1950 relating to minimum standards for agricultural commodities, which provides in part as follows:

"No ceiling shall be established or maintained for any agricultural commodity below the highest of the following prices: (1) The parity price for such commodity, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture in accordance with the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and adjusted by the Secretary of Agriculture for grade, location, and seasonal differentials, or (ii) the highest price received by producers during the period from May 24, 1950 to June 24, 1950, inclusive, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture and adjusted by the Secretary of Agriculture for grade, location, and seasonal differentials, * * *. No ceilings shall be established or maintained hereunder for any commodity processed or manufactured in whole or substantial part from any agricultural commodity below a price which will reflect to producers of such agricultural commodity a price for such agricultural commodity equal to the highest price therefor specified in this subsection * * *."

Both under the Defense Production Act and this regulation, a commodity is an "agricultural commodity" only if parity prices are determined for it by the Secretary of Agriculture. He determines parity prices for approximately 170 different agricultural commodities. Parity prices for the most important of these commodities are published on the 30th day of each month in Agricultural Prices, an official publication of the Department of Agriculture. Parity prices for other agricultural commodities are similarly published in Agricultural Prices at less frequent intervals.

Those agricultural commodities which are under the legal minima have been exempted at the producer level. The prices at distributor levels have been frozen under the regulation, subject however to the provision that any increase in the price paid to the producer may be passed on, in exact dollars and cents amounts, through all subsequent stages of distribution.

As for commodities processed from such agricultural commodities, any increase in the price of the agricultural commodity may be passed on by the processor in the exact dollars and cents amount of his corresponding cost increase. This adjustment formula is made applicable to subsequent processors, and to distributors of the processed commodities.

The provisions represent the most effective controls available, in the context of a general freeze ceiling regulation, to achieve maximum stability in the cost of living consistent with a general compliance with the special provisions quoted above. There may be areas where margins of distributors of agricultural commodities, and of processors and distributors of their products, are ample to permit a requirement of absorption of the basic cost increases. Such requirements will be imposed where the situation warrants. At the time of the issuance of this general freeze regulation it has not been possible to consider the separate special situations involved.

The formulas used in the parity adjustment provision in effect maintain a dollars and cents mark-up, and therefore do not permit compounding of basic cost increases.

Finally, attention should be drawn to the provision bringing these adjustments to a halt when the parity determinations of the Secretary of Agriculture disclose that the legal minima have been satisfied.

This automatic parity adjustment provision is not applicable to commodities which are currently above legal minima, and therefore any increase in their costs may not be passed through from one level of production or distribution to another. The most important of these commodities above legal minima are beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, sheep, hogs, wool, mohair, cotton, cottonseed, flue-cured tobacco, rice, and prunes. Any other approach to the price control of commodities which exceed their "legal minima" would be wholly inconsistent with stabilization.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the prices of commodities and services generally have risen and are threatening further to rise to an extent inconsistent with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the objectives of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950 cannot be attained by voluntary action by business, agriculture, labor and consumers or by taking action with respect to individual commodities and service.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the ceiling prices established by this Regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950 to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In the formulation of this Regulation special circumstances have rendered impracticable consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives. However, prior to the formulation of this Regulation the Director of Price Stabilization has advised with a large number of persons representing a substantial segment of trade and industry concerning methods of checking inflationary trends.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 22 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. The purpose of this regulation is to establish ceiling prices for all commodities and services (except those specifically exempt) upon the basis of prices in effect during the period from December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951, inclusive. This period is referred to as the "base period."

SEC. 2. Applicability, effective date and prohibitions.—(a) Applicability. The provisions of this regulation are applicable to the United States, its Territories and possessions and the District of Columbia.

(b) Effective date. This regulation is effective immediately.

(c) Prohibitions. After the date of this order, regardless of any contract or other obligation, you shall not sell, and you shall not buy in the regular course of business or trade, any commodity or service at a price exceeding the ceiling price established by this regulation.

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices for all sellers for commodities or services sold in base period. Your ceiling price for sale of a commodity or service is the highest price at which you delivered it during the base period to a purchaser of the same class. If you did not deliver the commodity or service during the base period, your ceiling price is the highest price at which you offered it for base period delivery to a purchaser of the same class. The offer must have been made in writing, but in the case of a retailer may have been made by display.

SEC. 4. Manufacturers' ceiling prices for new commodities falling within categories dealt in during the base period. (a) If you are a manufacturer of a commodity which you did not deliver or offer for delivery during the base period but which falls within a "category" in which you dealt during the base period, determine your ceiling price by applying to your current unit direct cost the percentage markup you are currently receiving on a "comparison commodity."

Your current unit direct cost for the commodity being priced and for the comparison commodity shall consist of the total unit direct labor and direct material cost for each. The comparison commodity must be in the same category as the commodity being priced; must be a commodity for which your ceiling price was determined under section 3; and must be of the commodities in that category with lower current unit direct costs, the one most nearly like the commodity being priced. If there is no commodity in the category having a lower current unit direct cost, your comparison commodity is the one with the same or higher current unit direct cost which is most nearly like the commodity being priced. If you are no longer manufacturing any commodities which meet the above standards for a comparison commodity, the commodity which you dealt in during the base period, in the same category, which is most nearly like the commodity being priced, is your comparison commodity, but the current unit direct cost of the base period commodity must be computed by using current material prices and wage rates.

(b) To determine your ceiling price you ascertain the percentage markup for the comparison commodity by comparing its current unit direct cost with its ceiling price. You determine your ceiling price on the new commodity by applying this markup to your current unit direct cost for the new commodity. The ceiling price so determined remains your ceiling price on all subsequent sales.

(c) Category means a group of commodities which are normally classed together in your industry for purposes of production, accounting, or sales. You are required by section 16 of this regulation to prepare a list of your categories and in applying the pricing provisions of this section, you should refer to this list. You might, for example, have a category such as one of the following: glass containers; fractional horsepower motors; brass mill products; millwork; print cloth yarn fabrics; screw machine products; ball bearings; textile machinery; women's and misses' blouses; house and barn paints; motor oils.

SEC. 5. Wholesalers' and retailers' ceiling prices for new commodities falling within categories dealt in during base period. (a) If you are a wholesaler or retailer and wish to determine a ceiling price for a commodity which you did not deliver or offer for delivery during the base period, but which falls within a "category" in which you dealt during the base period, you determine your ceiling price by applying to your net invoice cost the percentage markup you are currently receiving on a "comparison commodity."

The comparison commodity must be in the same category as the commodity being priced; must be a commodity for which your ceiling price was determined under section 3; and must be, of the commodities in that category with lower costs, the one most nearly like the commodity being priced. (If you have no commodity in the category with a cost below that of the commodity being priced, your comparison commodity is the one with the same or higher cost which is most nearly like the commodity being priced.) The percentage markup of the comparison commodity must be determined with reference to your most recent net invoice cost for that commodity. The ceiling price so determined remains your ceiling price for all subsequent sales of that commodity.

(b) Category means a line of merchandise, a merchandise department, or a group of commodities which are normally classed together in your trade for selling, buying, merchandising or accounting. You are required by section 16 of this regulation to prepare a list of your categories and in applying the pricing provisions of this section you should refer to this list. You might, for example, have a category such as one of the following: men's clothing; men's furnishings; infants' wear; canned fruits; cosmetics and toiletries; frozen foods, notions; musical instruments; women's coats and suits; cotton piece goods; major household appliances; women's house dresses; office furniture; hand tools.

SEC. 6. Ceiling prices for commodities in new categories; for new services; and for new sellers. (a) If you are pricing a commodity which is in a different category from any dealt in by you during the base period or if you are selling a service which cannot be priced under section 3, your ceiling price is the same as the ceiling price of your most closely competitive seller of the same class selling the same commodity or service to the same class of purchaser.

Once you have determined your ceiling prices under this section you may not redetermine them. Before selling any commodity or service for which you have determined a ceiling price under this section you must file the report required by paragraph (b) with the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., and in addition you must observe the following requirements:

(1) If you are a manufacturer, you may not sell the commodity until ten days after mailing your report; thereafter you may sell the commodity at your proposed ceiling price unless and until notified by the Director of Price Stabilization that your proposed ceiling price has been disapproved or that more information is required.

(2) If you are a wholesaler, you may not sell the commodity until thirty days after mailing the report; thereafter you may sell the commodity at your proposed ceiling prices unless and until you are notified by the Director of Price Stabilization that your proposed ceiling price has been disapproved or that more information is required.

(3) If you are a retailer or are selling a service, you must prepare and maintain for the commodities or services being priced under this section the records required of you under section 16. You may begin sales of the new commodities and services as soon as you have prepared these records and mailed the required report to the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., and may continue to sell them unless and until notified by the Director of Price Stabilization that your ceiling prices have been disapproved or that more information is required. If, as a retailer, you feel that because of the large number of new commodities which you propose to sell, an item by item price comparison would be too burdensome, you may apply to the Director of Price Stabilization for an alternative method of establishing ceiling prices. Your application should contain the information required in paragraph (b) together with a complete statement of the formula proposed and your reasons demonstrating that it will result, on the average, in ceiling prices no higher than those of your most closely competitive sellers. In such a case you may not begin sales of any commodity with reference to which the application has been made until the Director of Price Stabilization has fixed a method for establishing your ceiling prices.

(b) Required report if you are pricing under this section. Your report should state the name and address of your company; the new categories in which the commodities fall and the most comparable categories dealt in by you during the base period; the name, address and type of business of your most closely competitive seller of the same class; your reasons for selecting him as your most closely competitive seller; a statement of your customary price differentials; and, if you are starting a new business, a statement whether you or the principal owner of your business are now or during the past twelve months have been engaged in any capacity in the same or a similar business at any other establishment, and if so, the trade name and address of each such establishment. Your report should also include the following:

(1) If you are a manufacturer: Your proposed ceiling price and the specifications of the commodity you are pricing; the manufacturing processes involved; your unit direct costs; and the types of customers to whom you will be selling.

(2) If you are a wholesaler: Your proposed ceiling price and your net invoice cost of the commodity being priced; the names and addresses of your sources of supply, the function performed by them (e. g., manufacturing, distributing, etc.), and the types of purchasers to whom they customarily sell; the types of customers to whom you plan to sell; and a statement showing that your proposed ceiling price will not exceed the ceiling price your customers paid to their customary sources of supply.

(3) If you are selling a service: Your proposed ceiling price and a description of the most comparable service delivered by you during the base period showing your present direct labor and materials costs and ceiling price for it.

SEC. 7. Sellers who cannot price under other sections. If you claim that you are unable to determine your ceiling price for a commodity or service under any of the foregoing provisions of this regulation (which, in the opinion of the Director of Price Stabilization, provides adequate pricing instructions for virtually all transactions), you may apply in writing to the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., for the establishment of a ceiling price. This application shall contain an explanation of why you are unable to determine your ceiling price under any other provision of this regulation; all pertinent information describing the commodity or service, and the nature of your business; your proposed ceiling price and the method used by you to determine it; and the reason you believe the proposed price is in line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation. You may not sell the commodity or service until the Director of Price Stabilization, in writing, notifies you of your ceiling price.

SEC. 8. Modification of proposed ceiling prices by Director of Price Stabilization. The Director of Price Stabilization may at any time disapprove or revise ceiling prices reported or proposed under this regulation so as to bring them into line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation.

SEC. 9. Customary price differentials. Your ceiling prices, when determined, shall reflect your customary price differentials, including discounts, allowances, premiums and extras, based upon differences in classes or location of purchasers, or in terms and conditions of sale or delivery.

SEC. 10. Exporters and importers.—(a) Exporters. Sales by persons exporting commodities from the United States (or its territories and possessions) are subject to the provisions of this regulation. If the ceiling price is determined by the seller for domestic purchasers, it may be adjusted pursuant to section 9 to take account of the seller's customary differentials for export sales.

(b) Importers. Sales made within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States, its territories and possessions, of commodities imported by the sellers from other countries are subject to the provisions of this regulation.

(c) Special provision for importers with existing purchase commitments. (1) If you resell a commodity which you import in substantially the same form (except for services normally performed by importers such as sorting or packaging), or sell that commodity after simple processing operations by you, such as wool scouring or coffee roasting, you may adjust a ceiling price determined under section 3 for any such commodity which is delivered to you pursuant to a contract dated on or before January 26, 1951, to offset an increase in landed cost since the base period. The amount of the permitted increase is the dollar and cents amount by which your current landed cost per unit exceeds your highest base period landed cost for the commodity.

(2) If you are adjusting your ceiling prices under this section for any of the commodities listed below, you must within ten days after your first sale at the new price, file with the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a report showing your base period price, current foreign invoice price and total landed costs of commodities repriced. This paragraph applies to importers of the following kinds of commodities: Non-ferrous metals; ferro-alloys; minerals; raw agricultural products; textile fibres and fabrics; chemicals; metal scrap, crude and semi-finished steel; lumber and pulp.

(3) The landed cost means the foreign invoice price plus the following expenses actually incurred: (i) transportation costs; (ii) customs duties or import taxes; (iii) other commodity taxes; (iv) dock charges; (v) clearance; (vi) insurance; (vii) letter of credit expenses; and (viii) any customary buying commission to a purchasing agent outside the continental United States.

SEC. 11. "Parity" adjustments in ceiling prices.—(a) Commodities covered by this section. This section applies to the following listed agricultural commodities and to commodities processed in substantial part from them.[1] Based on the most recent publication by the Secretary of Agriculture prior to the effective date of this regulation, the listed commodities are selling below the minimum prices required to be reflected to producers by section 402 (d) (3) of the Defense Production Act of 1950. This section shall cease to apply, however, to any such commodity as soon as the Secretary has announced by publication that the price of the listed commodity has reached the highest of the "legal minima," the two most important being (1) the parity price, and (2) the highest price received by producers of the commodity during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive, both as determined and adjusted by him. Any ceiling price previously determined under this section and in effect at the time this section ceases to apply shall remain as the ceiling price.

Listed agricultural commodities

Field crops:
- Barley
- Beans, dry edible
- Buckwheat
- Corn
- Flaxseed
- Hay
- Oats
- Peanuts
- Peas, dry field
- Popcorn
- Rye
- Sorghums for grain
- Soybeans
- Wheat

Livestock products:
- Butterfat
- Chickens
- Eggs
- Milk
- Turkeys

Sugar crops:
- Maple sirup
- Maple sugar
- Sugar beets
- Sugarcane sirup
- Sugarcane

Fruits:
- Grapefruit
- Lemons
- Limes
- Oranges and tangerines
- Apples
- Apricots

Tobacco:
- Burley—type 31
- Cigar filler and binder types 42–44, 46, 51–55
- Cigar wrapper, type 61
- Cigar wrapper, type 62
- Dark air-cured, types 35–36
- Fire cured, types 21–24
- Maryland type, 32
- Pa. seedleaf type 41
- Sun cured, type 37

Fruits—Continued
- Avocados
- Cherries, sweet
- Cherries, sour
- Cranberries
- Dates
- Peaches
- Pears
- Pineapples

Tree nuts:
- Almonds
- Filberts
- Pecans
- Walnuts

Vegetables:
- Beans, lima
- Beans, snap
- Beets
- Cabbage
- Sweet corn
- Peas, green
- Pimentos
- Spinach
- Tomatoes
- Cantaloupe
- Carrots
- Cauliflower
- Celery
- Garlic
- Kale
- Lettuce
- Onions
- Potatoes
- Shallots
- Sweetpotatoes

Miscellaneous:
- Hops
- Peppermint oil
- Spearmint oil
- Tungnuts

[1] Certain of the above commodities, namely, fruits, tree nuts and vegetables are exempt from this regulation under section 14. Therefore, with respect to such commodities this "Parity" Adjustment Provision applies only to commodities processed from them.

(b) Processors and manufacturers. This section applies to you only if:

(1) you sell a commodity which you process at least in substantial part from one or more of the listed agricultural commodities, the prices of which are below the "legal minima," or from a commodity processed from them, and

(2) the cost to you of a current purchase of the listed agricultural commodity (or the commodity processed therefrom) exceeds the highest price you paid during the base period. In such case you may increase your ceiling price (as otherwise determined in this regulation) for the commodity by the dollars and cents difference per unit between the highest price paid by you for a customary purchase during the base period and the cost to you of the most recent customary purchase.

If you have previously increased your ceiling price for the commodity, you may increase your present ceiling price for the commodity by the dollars and cents difference per unit between the price upon which your last previous increase was based and the cost to you of the most recent customary purchase.

Example: You are a processor of evaporated milk, a commodity processed in substantial part from a listed agricultural commodity.

The highest price paid by you for a customary purchase of manufacturing milk in the base period was $3.80 per cwt. The cost to you of the most recent purchase is $4.00 per cwt.—a difference of 20 cents or $\frac{2}{10}$ cent per lb.

If you use 94 lbs. of milk to produce a case of evaporated milk, you may increase your maximum price per case by 18.8 cents per case ($94 \times \frac{2}{10}$ cent).

If, subsequent to this adjustment, the price you pay for a customary purchase of manufacturing milk should increase to $4.10—a further increase of $0.10 per cwt. or $\frac{1}{10}$ cent per lb.—you may add an additional 9.4¢ to your maximum price per case ($94 \times \frac{1}{10}$ cent).

(c) Distributors. This section applies to you only if:

(1) you resell in substantially the same form one or more of the listed agricultural commodities, the prices of which are below the "legal minima", or a commodity processed from them, and

(2) the cost to you of a current purchase of that commodity exceeds the highest price you paid for it during the base period. In such case you may increase your ceiling price (as otherwise determined in this regulation) for the commodity by the dollars and cents difference per unit between the highest price paid by you for a customary purchase during the base period and the cost to you of the most recent customary purchase.

If you have previously increased your ceiling price for the commodity, you may increase your present ceiling price for that commodity by the dollars and cents difference per unit between the price upon which your last previous increase was based and the cost to you of the most recent customary purchase.

(d) Method for computing "parity" adjustments where no customary purchase was made during the base period. If you cannot figure your increase under paragraphs (b) and (c) because you made no customary purchase during the base period, then you shall use the highest price you paid during the most recent five-week period prior to the base period in which you conducted your customary purchasing activities.

(e) Method for computing "parity" adjustments where prices have been based customarily on commodity exchange quotations. In case any of the above listed commodities or commodities processed from them are traded regularly upon a commodity exchange operating under the jurisdiction of the Commodity Exchange Authority or the Sugar Exchanges, and if it has been both your own practice and the general practice of your industry to figure selling prices on the basis of commodity exchange quotations, the increase per unit you are entitled to add under paragraphs (b) and (c) shall be the difference in dollars and cents between (1) the quotation upon which you based your ceiling price under this regulation, and (2) the comparable current quotation.

(f) Notice of "parity" adjustment increases. If you are a person buying a commodity from its producer, or you are the processor of the commodity, you may not increase your ceiling price for such commodity until you first notify the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., by registered mail giving the following information:

(1) Your existing ceiling price and the description of the commodity;

(2) The highest price you paid for a customary purchase (or, if applicable, the commodity exchange quotation) of the pertinent commodity during the base period, or if you have previously increased your price, then the price upon which you based your existing ceiling price;

(3) The new costs or commodity exchange quotations, whichever are applicable;

(4) The increased ceiling price.

In the case of increased cost of ingredients, furnish the figures substantiating the conversion of your increase in cost to the increase in the ceiling price of the commodity.

(g) Effect of notification of "parity" adjustment. Upon mailing the notification required in paragraph (f) above, you may charge the new ceiling price. If, in the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the increase is deemed unreasonable, excessive or otherwise improper, he may disapprove the price and restore the old ceiling price or establish a new ceiling price and may apply it retroactively.

SEC. 12. Group of retail sellers under common control. A group of retail sellers under common ownership or control which had an established practice of centrally determining uniform prices during the base period for some or all of their categories of commodities or services, may treat the entire group of retail sellers as one seller for the purpose of (a) computing ceiling prices for the commodities or services for which this practice existed and (b) complying with the record-keeping, reporting and filing provisions of this regulation.

The ceiling prices shall be the uniform centrally determined prices. Records shall be centrally kept, listing the names and addresses of all retail sellers of this group. If a group of retail sellers determines ceiling prices under this section, each retail outlet which is a member of the group must continue to abide by the ceiling prices under this section. The permission granted by this section may be withdrawn by the Director of Price Stabilization from any group of retail sellers upon consideration of the price records maintained by such group and such reports as he may require.

SEC. 13. Highest price line limitation for manufacturers of wearing apparel and consumer durable goods.—(a) Manufacturers with base period sales. If you manufacture certain wearing apparel or consumer durable goods falling within a list of categories which will be issued shortly you may not, after the effective date prescribed in the supplementary order, sell a commodity in any such category at a price higher than your ceiling price determined under section 3 for a commodity in that category.

Example: Your base period ceiling prices for women's rayon dresses were $5.75, $6.75 and $8.75. You will not be permitted to sell any women's dresses at a price in excess of $8.75.

(b) Manufacturers without base period sales. If you did not deliver during the base period, or offer in writing for delivery during the base period, any commodity in a particular category listed, you must apply to the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., for a highest price line limitation for the category which you wish to sell.

SEC. 14. Exemptions and exceptions. This regulation does not apply to the following:

(a) Prices or rentals for real property;

(b) Rates or fees charged for professional services;

(c) Prices or rentals for:

(1) Materials furnished for publication by any press association or feature service;

(2) Books, magazines, motion pictures, periodicals, or newspapers, other than as waste or scrap;

(l) Indian and Eskimo handicraft objects which are produced by the manual skill of American Indians, Alaskan Indians or Eskimos.

(m) Sales and deliveries of damaged commodities by insurance companies, transportation companies, or agents of the United States Government or by any other person engaged in reconditioning and selling damaged commodities received, in direct connection with the adjustment of losses, from insurance companies, transportation companies, or agents of the United States Government: provided that such person is engaged principally and primarily in such business and is not engaged in selling new or second-hand commodities for his own account.

(n) Sales or deliveries of commodities made or produced by the seller at his home, solely for his own account, without the assistance of hired employees, if the total of such sales or deliveries does not exceed $200 in any one calendar month.

(o) Services the rates of which are regulated by the Department of Agriculture under the Stockyards and Packers Act.

(p) Sales of abandoned or confiscated property by Government agencies or pursuant to a court decree.

(q) Sales of commodities or services the ceiling prices of which are now or subsequently established by other regulations or orders of the Director of Price Stabilization or by voluntary agreements approved in accordance with the provisions of Section 708 of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

(r) Sales of military and strategic commodities but only to the extent specified by supplementary regulations or orders which will be issued defining the scope of this exemption.

(s) The following agricultural commodities:

(1) Any raw and unprocessed agricultural commodity when sold by the producer of that commodity.

(2) Any commodity grown and processed on the farm when sold by the farmer if the total of such sales and deliveries does not exceed $200 in any one calendar month.

(3) Raw wool when sold by the producer of that commodity.

(4) Cotton when sold by the producer of that commodity.

(5) American-Egyptian cotton.

(6) All live animals.

(7) All fresh fruits and vegetables and tree nuts.

(8) Fresh fish and seafood and game.

(9) Seeds including hay, pasture, legume and covercrop seeds and other seeds.

(10) Crude pine gum.

(11) The following oilseeds or nuts, their oils and fatty acids or combinations of these oils so long as in normal trade practice they retain their identity:

Babassu kernels	Palm oil
Babassu oil	Palm kernels
Cacao butter	Palm kernel oil
Castor beans	Poppyseed
Castor oil	Poppyseed oil
Cohune kernels	Rapeseed, rapeseed oil
Cohune oil	Rubberseed
Coquito kernels	Rubberseed oil
Coquito oil	Sesame seed
Copra	Sesame oil
Cocoanut oil	Sunflower seed
Hemp seed	Sunflower seed oil
Hemp seed oil	Tucum kernels
Kapok seed	Tucum oil
Kapok seed oil	Uricury kernels
Perilla seeds	Uricury oil
Perilla seed oil	Cashew nut shell liquid
Oiticica oil	Shark oil
Muru-muru kernels	Whale oil
Muru-muru oil	Sperm oil
Olive oil, edible, sulphur and other inedible	Cod oil

SEC. 15. Amendments, protests and interpretations. The Director of Price Stabilization may issue supplementary regulations modifying or implementing this regulation as he deems appropriate. Price Procedural Regulation No. 1 sets forth the circumstances and the manner in which you may obtain an official interpretation of this regulation; file a protest; or petition for an amendment. If the Director of Price Stabilization determines that adjustments are necessary to prevent or correct hardships or inequities and can be put into effect consistently with the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, he will issue appropriate amendments or supplementary regulations providing for such adjustments.

SEC. 16. Records. This section tells you what records you must preserve and what additional records you must prepare.

(a) Base period records. (1) You must preserve and keep available for examination by the Director of Price Stabilization those records in your possession showing the prices charged by you for the commodities or services which you delivered or offered to deliver during the base period, and also sufficient records to establish the latest net cost incurred by you prior to the end of the base period in purchasing the commodities (if you are a wholesaler or retailer).

(2) In addition, on or before March 1, 1951, you must prepare and preserve a statement showing the categories of commodities in which you made deliveries and offers for delivery during the base period; or if you sold services you must prepare and preserve a statement listing the services which you delivered or offered to deliver during the base period.

(3) On or before March 1, 1951, you must also prepare and preserve a ceiling price list, showing the commodities in each category (listing each model, type, style, and kind), or the services, delivered or offered for delivery by you during the base period together with a description or identification of each such commodity or service and a statement of the ceiling price. Your ceiling price list may refer to an attached price list or catalogue. If you are a retailer you may satisfy the requirement of this paragraph (3) by recording on your purchase invoices, covering the commodities (including every model, type, style, and kind) delivered or offered for delivery by you during the base period, the price at which you sold, or offered the commodities for delivery, during the base period.

(4) You must also prepare and preserve a statement of your customary price differentials for terms and conditions of sale and classes of purchasers, which you had in effect during the base period.

(5) If you operate a restaurant, you are required to preserve all menus used by you during the last ten days of the base period and all menus hereafter used by you.

(b) Current records. If you sell commodities or services covered by this regulation you must prepare and keep available for examination by the Director of Price Stabilization for a period of two years, records of the kind which you customarily keep showing the prices which you charge for the commodities or services. In addition, you must prepare and preserve records indicating clearly the basis upon which you have determined the ceiling price for any commodities or services not delivered by you or offered for delivery during the base period. If you are a retailer you are required to preserve your purchase invoices and to record thereon both your initial selling price and the section of this regulation under which you have determined your ceiling price.

(c) In certain situations, other sections of this regulation require additional records to be prepared or submitted.

SEC. 17. Sales slips and receipts. Any seller who has customarily given a purchaser a sales slip, receipt, or similar evidence of purchase shall continue to do so. Upon request from a purchaser any seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, the name and address of the seller, the name of each commodity or service sold, and the price received for it.

SEC. 18. Evasion. Any practice which results in obtaining indirectly a higher price than is permitted by this regulation is a violation of this regulation. Such practices include, but are not limited to, devices making use of commissions, services, cross sales, transportation arrangements, premiums, discounts, special privileges, tie in agreements and trade understandings.

SEC. 19. Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets or stock in trade of any business are sold or otherwise transferred after January 26, 1951, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of commodities or services, in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the maximum prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the record provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 20. Separate statement of taxes. In addition to your ceiling price, you may collect the amount of any excise, sales or similar taxes paid by you as such only if, during the base period, you stated and collected such taxes separately from your selling price. In the case of such a tax imposed by law which is not effective until after January 26, 1951, you may collect the amount of the tax actually paid as such by you, in addition to your ceiling price, if not prohibited by the tax law. You must in all such cases state separately the amount of the tax.

SEC. 21. Penalties. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 22. Definitions and explanations. This General Ceiling Price Regulation and the terms which appear in it shall be construed in the following manner, unless otherwise clearly required by the context:

Business establishment. This term refers to the physical location of the store, shop or other place of business in which commodities are manufactured or sold or at or from which commodities or services are supplied.

Class of purchaser or purchaser of same class. This term refers to the practice adopted by a seller in setting different prices for sales to different purchasers or kinds of purchasers (for example, manufacturer, wholesaler, shopper, retailer, Government agency, public institutions or individual consumer) or for purchasers located in different areas or for purchasers of different quantities or grades or under different terms or conditions of sale or delivery.

Commodity. This term includes commodities, materials, articles, products, supplies, components, processes and contracts to buy, sell or deliver any of the foregoing.

Delivered. A commodity shall be deemed to have been delivered during a specified period if during that period it was received by the purchaser or by any carrier, including a carrier owned or controlled by the seller, for shipment to the purchaser. A service shall be deemed to have been delivered or supplied during the specified period if during the period it was completed or in process.

Director of Price Stabilization. This term extends to any official (including officials of regional or local offices) to whom the Director of Price Stabilization by order delegates the function, power or authority referred to in this regulation.

Exporter. This term means any person selling a commodity priced under this regulation either directly or through an agent and delivering or shipping to a place outside the United States, its territories and possessions.

Importer. This term means the person by whom a commodity is imported and who first sells it after importation.

Imported. A commodity is imported which is transported from a place outside to a place inside the United States, its territories or possessions, for sale within such area.

Manufacturer. This term refers to any person who is engaged in business other than as a wholesaler or retailer.

Most closely competitive seller of the same class. Your most closely competitive seller of the same class is the seller with whom you are in most direct competition even though he may perform a different function with respect to the commodity or service (e. g., if you are a wholesaler of a commodity, your most closely competitive seller may be a manufacturer; or, if you are a retail supplier of a service, your most closely competitive seller may be a wholesaler). You are in direct competition with another seller who sells the same types of commodities or services to the same classes of purchaser in similar quantities, on similar terms and, if you are selling a commodity, you supply approximately the same amount of service.

Net invoice cost. This term refers to your invoice cost less any discount or allowance you took or could have taken. It does not include separately stated charges such as freight, taxes, etc.

Offering price. The price at which a commodity or service was offered means the price quoted in the seller's price list, or if he had no price list, the price which he regularly quoted in any other manner. This regulation requires that an offer for sale other than at retail must have been in writing. For sales of commodities at retail the offer must have been made at the immediate point of sale (e. g., the shelves or counters). The term offering price does not include a price intended to withhold a commodity or service from the market or a price offered as a bargaining price by a seller who usually sells at a price lower than his asking price.

Person. This term includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons, or legal successors or representatives of the foregoing, and the United States or any other government or their political subdivisions or agencies.

Records. This term means books of account, sales lists, sales slips, orders, vouchers, contracts, receipts, invoices, bills of lading, and other papers and documents.

Restaurant. This term refers to any establishment in which meals, food items, or beverages are sold and served primarily for consumption on or about the premises (hotels, soda fountains, boarding houses, lunch wagons, etc., are included).

Sale at retail and retailer. Sale at retail means a sale to an ultimate consumer other than an industrial or commercial user. A seller who in the regular course of business makes sales at retail is a retailer.

Sale at wholesale and wholesaler. Sale at wholesale means a sale by a person who buys a commodity and re sells it, without substantially changing its form, or who supplies a service, to an industrial or commercial user, or to any person other than the ultimate consumer. A seller who in the regular course of business makes sales at wholesale is a wholesaler.

Sell. This term includes sell, supply (with respect to either commodities or services), dispose, barter, exchange, lease, transfer, deliver, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The terms buy and purchase shall be construed accordingly.

Seller. This term includes the seller of any commodity or service. Where a seller at retail makes sales or supplies services through more than one selling unit (other than salesmen making sales at uniform price) each such separate place of business shall be deemed to be a separate seller.

Service. This term includes any service rendered or supplied, otherwise than as an employee, and contracts to sell or supply such service.

Unit direct cost. This term means labor and material costs which enter directly into the product. It does not include factory overhead, or indirect manufacturing expenses, administrative, general or selling expenses.

You. The pronoun you as used in this regulation indicates the person subject to the regulation.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

Chapter IV—Wage Stabilization Board, Economic Stabilization Agency

GENERAL WAGE STABILIZATION REGULATION 1

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.) and Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), It is hereby ordered, That rates of wages, salaries and other compensation are stabilized as hereinafter provided.

Statement of considerations. A regulation establishing ceilings on prices of materials and services generally was issued by the Economic Stabilization Agency on the 26th day of January 1951. The provisions of Section 402 (b) of the Defense Production Act of 1950 require that upon the issuance of such an order wages, salaries and other compensation generally shall be stabilized.

For the purpose of preparing itself for the discharge of its responsibilities the Wage Stabilization Board heretofore distributed to representative labor and industry groups a series of questions, the answers to which would provide the Board with essential information for the development of wage stabilization policies.

Following the distribution of the series of questions, the Wage Stabilization Board conducted conferences which were attended by representative groups of labor and industry which presented their views respecting the development of wage stabilization policies.

The Administrator has this day issued General Ceiling Price Regulation 1 and is required by the Defense Production Act of 1950 to stabilize at the same time wages, salaries and other compensation. This regulation will be modified and implemented, from time to time, as the Wage Stabilization Board develops its wage stabilization policy. The Board will issue regulations governing the procedure for applying for modifications and adjustments.

Sec.
1 General stabilization of wages, salaries and other compensation.
2 Other existing regulations and orders superseded.
3 No rates below May 24–June 24, 1950, period.
4 Definitions.
5 Petitions for approval of increases.
6 Modifications and amendments.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1 to 6 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105.

SECTION 1. General stabilization of wages, salaries and other compensation. No employer shall pay any employee and no employee shall receive "wages, salaries and other compensation" at a rate in excess of the rate at which such employee was compensated on January 25, 1951, without the prior approval or authorization of the Wage Stabilization Board. New employees shall not be compensated at rates higher than those in effect on January 25, 1951, for the jobs for which they are hired.

SEC. 2. Other existing regulations and orders superseded. The provisions of this regulation shall supersede the provisions of existing wage regulations and orders of the Economic Stabilization Agency. Wage Procedural Regulation No. 1 is hereby revoked.

SEC. 3. No rates below May 24–June 24, 1950, period. Nothing in this regulation shall be construed to require the stabilization of wages, salaries and other compensation for any job at a rate less than that paid during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive.

SEC. 4. Definitions. The term "wages, salaries and other compensation" shall have the meaning defined in Section 702 (e) of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 5. Petitions for approval of increases. Petitions for the approval of any increase in "wages, salaries and other compensation" affected by this regulation shall be filed with the Wage Stabilization Board.

SEC. 6. Modifications and amendments. This regulation may be modified, amended or superseded by orders or regulations hereafter issued by the Wage Stabilization Board.

All other orders and directives of the Economic Stabilization Administrator, including General Order No. 3 of January 24, 1951, are hereby superseded to the extent that they are inconsistent herewith.

Issued: January 26, 1951.

ERIC JOHNSTON,
Economic Stabilization Administrator.

TITLE 33—NAVIGATION AND NAVIGABLE WATERS

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of the Treasury

[CGFR 51-4]

EMPLOYMENT OF PERSONNEL ON MERCHANT VESSELS; AND EDITORIAL CORRECTION

Pursuant to the proviso in 33 CFR 6.10–1 to Executive Order 10173 (15 F. R. 7007), the Commandant may designate categories of merchant vessels of the United States to which the requirements of 33 CFR 6.10–1 regarding the employment of personnel on merchant vessels do not apply. The purpose of the following new regulation designated 33 CFR 121.02 is to indicate the categories of merchant vessels of the United States to which the provisions of 33 CFR 6.10–1 do apply. The editorial amendment to 33 CFR 125.27 is to delete the reference to any "Temporary Identification" issued by the Coast Guard as a substitute for the Coast Guard Port Security Card since this reference was left in the original regulations through oversight and there is no so-called "Temporary Identification" provided in the regulations. Because of the national emergency declared by the President it is found that compliance with the notice of proposed rule making, public rule making procedure thereon, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by Executive Order No. 10173, the following regulations are prescribed which shall become effective upon date of publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER:

Subchapter K—Security of Vessels

PART 121—SECURITY CHECK AND CLEARANCE OF MERCHANT MARINE PERSONNEL

Part 121 is amended by adding a new § 121.02, reading as follows:

§ 121.02 Employment of personnel on merchant vessels. The employment of merchant marine personnel on merchant vessels of the United States is subject to § 6.10–1 of Subchapter A of this chapter and the proviso at the end thereof authorizes the Commandant to exempt certain categories of merchant vessels. All categories of merchant vessels of the United States shall be exempt from the requirements of § 6.10–1 of Subchapter A of this chapter except the following:

(a) All merchant vessels of the United States of 100 gross tons and upward engaged in the foreign trade.

(b) All merchant vessels of the United States of 100 gross tons and upward engaged in trade to the Dominion of Canada, the West Indies, or Mexico.

(c) All merchant vessels of the United States of 100 gross tons and upward engaged in the intercoastal trade.

(d) All merchant vessels of the United States of 100 gross tons and upward engaged in the coastwise trade, including those vessels engaged in trade to Alaska or the Hawaiian Islands.

(e) All merchant vessels of the United States of 100 gross tons and upward engaged in trade on the Great Lakes.

(E. O. 10173, Oct. 18, 1950, 15 F. R. 7005. Interprets or applies 40 Stat. 220, as amended; 50 U. S. C. 191)

Subchapter L—Security of Waterfront Facilities

PART 125—IDENTIFICATION CREDENTIALS FOR PERSONS REQUIRING ACCESS TO WATERFRONT FACILITIES OR VESSELS

Section 125.27 is amended by deleting the phrase "Temporary Identification or" from the last sentence so that the section will read as follows:

§ 125.27 Notification of denial or revocation of Coast Guard Port Security Card. When it is determined by the Commandant that a person who has applied for a Coast Guard Port Security Card or a person to whom a Coast Guard Port Security Card has been issued is not eligible therefor within the meaning of §§ 125.29 or 125.31, such person shall be so notified in writing, and in the latter event he shall immediately surrender to the Coast Guard any Coast Guard Port Security Card held by him.

(E. O. 10173, Oct. 18, 1950, 15 F. R. 7005. Interprets or applies 40 Stat. 220, as amended; 50 U. S. C. 191)

Dated: January 24, 1951.

[SEAL] MERLIN O'NEILL,
Vice Admiral, U. S. Coast Guard, Commandant.

Chapter II—Corps of Engineers, Department of the Army

PART 204—DANGER ZONE REGULATIONS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the provisions of section 7 of the River and Harbor Act of August 8, 1917 (40 Stat. 266; 33 U. S. C. 1), and chapter XIX of the Army Appropriation Act of July 9, 1918 (40 Stat. 892; 33 U. S. C. 3), § 204.38 is hereby revoked, § 204.81 governing the use of an aerial gunnery and bombing range in the Atlantic Ocean off the Georgia Coast is hereby amended, and § 204.197 is hereby prescribed to govern the use of practice firing ranges for United States Army Reserve, National Guard, and Coast Guard units in the Pacific Ocean in the vicinity of San Pedro, California, as follows:

§ 204.38 Atlantic Ocean and Sinepuxent and Chincoteague Bays, Md.; target areas. U. S. Navy. [Revoked.]

§ 204.81 Atlantic Ocean off Georgia Coast; air-to-air and air-to-water gunnery and bombing ranges for fighter and bombardment aircraft, United States Air Force—(a) The danger zones—(1) For fighter aircraft. An area approximately 30 miles off shore between Wassaw Sound and Brunswick, Georgia, described as follows: Beginning at latitude 31°55'30", longitude 80°24'00"; thence 90° true to longitude 80°16'00"; thence southwesterly to latitude 31°10'00", longitude 80°43'00"; thence 270° true to longitude 81°51'00"; and then northeasterly to the point of beginning.

(2) For bombardment aircraft. An area approximately 70 miles off shore between Savannah Beach and Brunswick, Georgia, described as follows: Beginning at latitude 32°00'00", longitude 79°43'00"; thence 90° true to longitude 79°07'00"; thence southwesterly to latitude 31°10'00", longitude 79°24'00"; thence 270° true to longitude 80°00'00"; and thence northeasterly to the point of beginning.

(b) The regulations. (1) The danger zones shall be open to navigation except when aerial gunnery or bombing practice is being conducted.

(2) Prior to conducting each practice the entire area will be patrolled by aircraft to warn any watercraft found in the vicinity that such practice is about to take place. The warnings will be by "buzzing," i. e., by flying low over the watercraft. Any watercraft shall, upon being so warned, immediately leave the area designated and shall remain outside the area until practice has ceased.

(3) The regulations in this section shall be enforced by the Commanding Officer, 2d Bombardment Wing, Hunter Air Force Base, Savannah, Georgia, and such agencies as he may designate.

§ 204.197 Pacific Ocean in vicinity of San Pedro, Calif.; practice firing ranges for United States Army Reserve, National Guard, and Coast Guard units—(a) The danger zones—(1) Zone A. An area extending south and west from Point Fermin, described as follows: Beginning at Point Fermin Light, latitude 33°42'18", longitude 118°17'36"; thence 180° true to latitude 33°41'12"; thence northwesterly to latitude 33°41'54", longitude 118°19'24"; thence northeasterly to the shore at Whites Point, latitude 33°42'48", longitude 118°19'00"; and thence southeasterly along the shore to the point of beginning.

(2) Zone B. An area extending south and west from Whites Point, described as follows: Beginning at the shore at Whites Point, latitude 33°42'48", longitude 118°19'00"; thence southwesterly to latitude 33°41'54", longitude 118°19'24"; thence northwesterly to latitude 33°42'42", longitude 118°21'24"; thence northeasterly to latitude 33°43'12", longitude 118°21'06"; thence 90° true to a point on the shore at longitude 118°19'36"; and thence southeasterly along the shore to the point of beginning.

(3) Zone C. An area extending southwest and northwest from Point Vicente, described as follows: Beginning at Point Vicente Light, latitude 33°44'30", longitude 118°24'36"; thence southwesterly to latitude 33°43'42", longitude 118°25'24"; thence northwesterly to latitude 33°46'30", longitude 118°27'06"; thence southeasterly to the shore, latitude 33°44'54", longitude 118°24'42"; and thence southerly along the shore to the point of beginning.

(b) The regulations. (1) Intermittent firing will take place in Zone A and Zone C between 12:30 and 5:30 p. m. on Saturdays and between 8:00 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. on Sundays, and in Zone B between 12:30 and 5:30 p. m. on Saturdays and between 8:00 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. on Sundays.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, the danger zones will be open to fishing and general navigation. When firing is not scheduled the danger zones may be occupied without restriction. When firing is in progress safety observers will be maintained to warn all vessels . Notice to vacate the area, or to stop at the boundaries, will be given by siren, patrol vessel, or other effective means, and such notice shall be promptly obeyed. All vessels permitted to enter a danger zone during a firing period, other than those owned by and operated by or under the direction of the United States Government, shall proceed across the area by the most direct route and clear the area with the greatest possible dispatch. No vessel, fishing boat, or recreational craft shall anchor in any danger zone during an actual firing period.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed as relieving the owner or person in charge of a vessel from any penalties for obstructing navigation, or for obstructing or interfering with range lights, or for not complying with the navigation laws in regard to lights and fog signals, or for otherwise violating any law or regulations.

(4) The regulations in this section shall be enforced by the Commander, Southern Subarea, Sixth Army, Fort MacArthur, California, and such agencies as he may designate.

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

[Rev. S. O. 856, Amdt. 2]

PART 95—CAR SERVICE

SATURDAYS AND SUNDAYS TO BE INCLUDED IN COMPUTING DEMURRAGE ON ALL FREIGHT CARS

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 24th day of January A. D. 1951.

Upon further consideration of Service Order No. 856 (15 F. R. 5050, 8994), and good cause appearing therefor: It is ordered, that: Section 95.856 Saturdays and Sundays to be included in computing demurrage on all freight cars, of Service Order No. 856 be, and it is hereby further amended by substituting the following paragraph (e) for paragraph (e) thereof:

(e) Expiration date. This section shall expire at 7 a. m., May 1, 1951, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended, or annulled by order of this Commission.

Effective date: This amendment shall become effective at 7 a. m., February 1, 1951.

It is further ordered, that a copy of this amendment and direction be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement; and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

(Sec. 12, 24 Stat. 383, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 12. Interprets or applies sec. 1, 24 Stat. 379, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 1)

By the Commission, Division 3.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

RECAPITULATION OF REGULATIONS

Because of the number of outstanding amendments to Part 3 since it was last recapitulated in the FEDERAL REGISTER (December 8, 1948) there follows a recapitulation of Part 3 as revised to and including the Commission's action of December 13, 1950 (15 F. R. 9189).

The Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations (appendix to Subpart A of this part), the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations (appendix to Subpart B of this part), and the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations (appendix to Subpart E of this part), are not included in this recapitulation.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

SUBPART A—RULES GOVERNING STANDARD BROADCAST STATIONS

DEFINITIONS

Sec.
3.1 Standard broadcast station.
3.2 Standard broadcast band.
3.3 Standard broadcast channel.
3.4 Dominant station.
3.5 Secondary station.
3.6 Daytime.
3.7 Nighttime.
3.8 Sunrise and sunset.
3.9 Broadcast day.
3.10 Experimental period.
3.11 Service areas.
3.12 Portable transmitter.
3.13 Auxiliary transmitter.
3.14 Technical definitions.

ALLOCATION OF FACILITIES

3.21 Three classes of standard broadcast channels.
3.22 Classes and power of standard broadcast stations.
3.23 Time of operation of the several classes of stations.
3.24 Broadcast facilities; showing required.

FREQUENCY ALLOCATIONS BY CLASSES OF STATIONS

3.25 Clear channels; Classes I and II stations.
3.26 Regional channels; Classes III–A and III–B stations.
3.27 Local channels; Class IV stations.
3.28 Assignment of stations to channels.
3.29 Assignment of Class IV stations to regional channels.
3.30 Station location and program origination.
3.31 Authority to move main studio.
3.32 Special experimental authorizations.
3.33 Directional antenna; showing required.
3.34 Normal license period.
3.35 Multiple ownership.

EQUIPMENT

3.41 Maximum rated carrier power; tolerances.
3.42 Maximum rated carrier power; how determined.
3.43 Changes in equipment; authority for.
3.44 Other changes in equipment.
3.45 Radiating system.
3.46 Transmitter.

TECHNICAL OPERATION

3.51 Operating power; how determined.
3.52 Operating power; indirect measurement.
3.53 Application of efficiency factors.
3.54 Operating power; direct measurement.
3.55 Modulation.
3.56 Modulation; data required.
3.57 Operating power; maintenance of.
3.58 Indicating instruments.
3.59 Frequency tolerance.
3.60 Frequency monitor.
3.61 New equipment; restrictions.
3.62 Automatic frequency control equipment; authorization required.
3.63 Auxiliary transmitter.
3.64 Alternate main transmitters.
3.65 Inspection of tower lights and associated control equipment.

OPERATION

3.71 Minimum operating schedule.
3.72 Operation during experimental period.
3.73 Specified hours.
3.74 Sharing time.
3.75 Sharing time; equivalence of day and night hours.
3.76 Sharing time; experimental period.
3.77 Sharing time; departure from regular schedule.
3.78 Sharing time stations; notification to Commission.
3.79 License to specify sunrise and sunset hours.
3.80 Secondary station; filing of operating schedule.
3.81 Secondary station; failure to reach agreement.
3.82 Departure from schedule; material violation.
3.83 Local standard time.
3.84 Daylight saving time.
3.85 Changes in time; agreement between licensees.
3.86 Local standard time; license provisions.
3.87 Program transmissions prior to local sunrise.

RULES APPLICABLE TO STATIONS ENGAGED IN CHAIN BROADCASTING

3.101 Exclusive affiliation of station.
3.102 Territorial exclusivity.
3.103 Term of affiliation.
3.104 Option time.
3.105 Right to reject programs.
3.106 Network ownership of stations.
3.107 Dual network operation.
3.108 Control by networks of station rates.
3.109 Special rules relating to contracts providing for reservation of time upon sale of a station.

GENERAL RULES APPLICABLE TO STANDARD BROADCAST STATIONS

3.163 Discontinuance of operation.
3.164 Station license; posting of.
3.165 Operator requirements.
3.166 Period of construction.
3.167 Equipment tests.
3.168 Program tests.
3.169 Station inspection.
3.181 Logs.
3.182 Logs; retention of.
3.183 Logs; by whom kept.
3.184 Log form.
3.185 Correction of logs.
3.186 Rough logs.
3.187 Station identification.
3.188 Mechanical records.
3.189 Sponsored programs; announcement of.
3.190 Broadcasts by candidates for public office.
3.191 Rebroadcast.
3.192 Lotteries and give-away programs.

SUBPART B—RULES GOVERNING FM BROADCAST STATIONS

CLASSIFICATION OF FM BROADCAST STATIONS AND ALLOCATION OF FREQUENCIES

Sec.
3.201 Numerical designation of FM broadcast channels.
3.202 Areas of the United States.
3.203 Class A stations.
3.204 Class B stations.
3.205 Station location and program origination.

RULES GOVERNING ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE

3.211 Application for FM broadcast stations.
3.212 Full disclosures.
3.213 Installation of apparatus.
3.214 Period of construction.
3.215 Forfeiture of construction permits: Extension of time.
3.216 Equipment tests.
3.217 Program tests.
3.218 Normal license period.
3.219 License, simultaneous modification and renewal.
3.220 Renewal of license.
3.221 Temporary extension of station licenses.
3.222 Repetitious applications.
3.223 Assignment or transfer of control.

RULES RELATING TO LICENSING POLICIES

3.231 Exclusive affiliation of station.
3.232 Territorial exclusivity.
3.233 Terms of affiliation.
3.234 Option time.
3.235 Right to reject programs.
3.236 Network ownership of stations.
3.237 Dual network operation.
3.238 Control by networks of station rates.
3.239 Use of common antenna site.
3.240 Multiple ownership.
3.241 Special rules relating to contracts providing for reservation of time upon sale of a station.

RULES RELATING TO EQUIPMENT

3.251 Transmitter power.
3.252 Frequency monitor.
3.253 Modulation monitor.
3.254 Required transmitter performance.
3.255 Auxiliary transmitter.
3.256 Alternate main transmitters.
3.257 Changes in equipment and antenna system.

RULES RELATING TO TECHNICAL OPERATION

3.261 Time of operation.
3.262 Experimental operation.
3.263 Station inspection.
3.264 Station license, posting of.
3.265 Operator requirements.
3.266 Facsimile broadcasting and multiplex transmission.
3.267 Operating power; how determined.
3.268 Modulation.
3.269 Frequency tolerance.
3.270 Inspection of tower lights and associated control equipment.
3.271 Discontinuance of operation.
3.272 Field intensity measurements.
3.273 Emergency antenna.

OTHER RULES RELATING TO OPERATION

3.281 Logs.
3.282 Logs, retention of.
3.283 Logs, by whom kept.
3.284 Log form.
3.285 Correction of logs.
3.286 Rough logs.

3.288 Mechanical records.
3.289 Sponsored programs, announcement of.
3.290 Broadcasts by candidates for public office.
3.291 Rebroadcast.
3.292 Lotteries and give-away programs.

SUBPART C—RULES GOVERNING NONCOMMERCIAL EDUCATIONAL FM BROADCAST STATIONS

CLASSIFICATION OF STATIONS AND ALLOCATION OF FREQUENCIES

Sec.
3.501 Channels available for assignment.
3.502 State-wide plans.
3.503 Licensing requirements and service.
3.504 Frequency, power and service area.
3.505 Standards of good engineering practice.

RULES GOVERNING ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE

3.511 Application for noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations.
3.512 Full disclosures.
3.513 Installation of apparatus.

AUTHORITY: §§ 3.1 to 3.791 issued under sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154.

SUBPART A—RULES GOVERNING STANDARD BROADCAST STATIONS

DEFINITIONS [1]

§ 3.1 Standard broadcast station. The term "standard broadcast station" means a station licensed for the transmission of radiotelephone emissions primarily intended to be received by the general public and operated on a channel in the band 550–1600 kilocycles, inclusive.

§ 3.2 Standard broadcast band. The term "standard broadcast band" means the band of frequencies extending from 550–1600 kilocycles, inclusive, both 550 kilocycles and 1600 kilocycles being the carrier frequencies of broadcast channels.

§ 3.3 Standard broadcast channel. The term "standard broadcast channel" means the band of frequencies occupied by the carrier and two side bands of a broadcast signal with the carrier frequency at the center. Channels shall be designated by their assigned carrier frequencies. Carrier frequencies assigned to standard broadcast stations shall begin at 550 kilocycles and be in successive steps of 10 kilocycles.

[1] Other definitions which may pertain to standard broadcast stations are included in the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and in §§ 2.1 and 2.102 of this chapter.

§ 3.4 Dominant station. The term "dominant station" means a Class I station, as hereinafter defined, operating on a clear channel.

§ 3.5 Secondary station. The term "secondary station" means any station except a Class I station operating on a clear channel.

§ 3.6 Daytime. The term "daytime" means that period of time between local sunrise and local sunset.

§ 3.7 Nighttime. The term "nighttime" means that period of time between local sunset and 12 midnight local standard time.

§ 3.8 Sunrise and sunset. The terms "sunrise and sunset" mean, for each particular location and during any particular month, the average time of sunrise and sunset as specified in the license of a broadcast station. (For tabulation of average sunrise and sunset times for each month at various points in the United States, see "Average Sunrise and Sunset Times.")

§ 3.9 Broadcast day. The term "broadcast day" means that period of time between local sunrise and 12 midnight local standard time.

§ 3.10 Experimental period. The term "experimental period" means that time between 12 midnight and local sunrise. This period may be used for experimental purposes in testing and maintaining apparatus by the licensee of any standard broadcast station on its assigned frequency and with its authorized power, provided no interference is caused to other stations maintaining a regular operating schedule within such period. No station licensed for "daytime" or "specified hours" of operation may broadcast any regular or scheduled program during this period.

§ 3.11 Service areas. (a) The term "primary service area" of a broadcast station means the area in which the groundwave is not subject to objectionable interference or objectionable fading.

(b) The term "secondary service area" of a broadcast station means the area served by the skywave and not subject to objectionable interference. The signal is subject to intermittent variations in intensity.

(c) The term "intermittent service area" of a broadcast station means the area receiving service from the groundwave but beyond the primary service area and subject to some interference and fading.

§ 3.12 Portable transmitter. The term "portable transmitter" means a transmitter so constructed that it may be moved about conveniently from place to place, and is in fact so moved about from time to time, but not ordinarily used while in motion. In the standard broadcast band, such a transmitter is used in making field intensity measurements for locating a transmitter site for a standard broadcast station. A portable broadcast station will not be licensed in the standard broadcast band for regular transmission of programs intended to be received by the public.

§ 3.13 Auxiliary transmitter. The term "auxiliary transmitter" means a transmitter maintained only for transmitting the regular programs of a station in case of failure of the main transmitter.

§ 3.14 Technical definitions—(a) Combined audio harmonics. The term "combined audio harmonics" means the arithmetical sum of the amplitudes of all the separate harmonic components. Root sum square harmonic readings may be accepted under conditions prescribed by the Commission.

(b) Effective field. The term "effective field" or "effective field intensity" is the root-mean-square (RMS) value of the inverse distance fields at a distance of 1 mile from the antenna in all directions in the horizontal plane.

(c) Operating power. "Operating power" is the power that is actually supplied to the radio station antenna.

(d) Maximum rated carrier power. "Maximum rated carrier power" is the maximum power at which the transmitter can be operated satisfactorily and is determined by the design of the transmitter and the type and number of vacuum tubes used in the last radio stage.

(e) Plate input power. "Plate input power" means the product of the direct plate voltage applied to the tubes in the last radio stage and the total direct current flowing to the plates of these tubes, measured without modulation.

(f) Antenna power. "Antenna input power" or "antenna power" means the product of the square of the antenna current and the antenna resistance at the point where the current is measured.

(g) Antenna current. "Antenna current" means the radio-frequency current in the antenna with no modulation.

(h) Antenna resistance. "Antenna resistance" means the total resistance of the transmitting antenna system at the operating frequency and at the point at which the antenna current is measured.

(i) Modulator stage. "Modulator stage" means the last amplifier stage of the modulating wave which modulates a radio-frequency stage.

(j) Modulated stage. "Modulated stage" means the radio-frequency stage to which the modulator is coupled and in which the continuous wave (carrier wave) is modulated in accordance with the system of modulation and the characteristics of the modulating wave.

(k) Last radio stage. "Last radio stage" means the oscillator or radio-frequency-power amplifier stage which supplies power to the antenna.

(l) Percentage modulation (amplitude). "Percentage modulation" with respect to an amplitude modulated wave means the ratio of half the difference between the maximum and minimum amplitudes of the amplitude modulated wave to the average amplitude expressed in percentage.

(m) Maximum percentage modulation. "Maximum percentage of modulation" means the greatest percentage of modulation that may be obtained by a transmitter without producing in its output harmonics of the modulating frequency in excess of those permitted by these regulations.

(n) High level modulation. "High level modulation" is modulation produced in the plate circuit of the last radio stage of the system.

(o) Low level modulation. "Low level modulation" is modulation produced in an earlier stage than the final.

(p) Plate modulation. "Plate modulation" is modulation produced by introduction of the modulating wave into the plate circuit of any tube in which the carrier frequency wave is present.

(q) Grid modulation. "Grid modulation" is modulation produced by introduction of the modulating wave into any of the grid circuits of any tube in which the carrier frequency wave is present.

ALLOCATION OF FACILITIES

§ 3.21 Three classes of standard broadcast channels—(a) Clear channel. A clear channel is one on which the dominant station or stations render service over wide areas and which are cleared of objectionable interference within their primary service areas and over all or a substantial portion of their secondary service areas.

(b) Regional channel. A regional channel is one on which several stations may operate with powers not in excess of 5 kilowatts. The primary service area of a station operating on any such channel may be limited as a consequence of interference to a given field intensity contour.

(c) Local channel. A local channel is one on which several stations may operate with powers not in excess of 250 watts. The primary service area of a station operating on any such channel may be limited as a consequence of interference to a given field intensity contour.

§ 3.22 Classes and power of standard broadcast stations—(a) Class I station. A Class I station is a dominant station operating on a clear channel and designed to render primary and secondary service over an extended area and at relatively long distances. Its primary service area is free from objectionable interference from other stations on the same and adjacent channels, and its secondary service area free from interference except from stations on the adjacent channel, and from stations on the same channel in accordance with the channel designation in § 3.25 or in accordance with the Engineering Standards of Allocation. The operating power shall be not less than 10 kilowatts nor more than 50 kilowatts. (Also see § 3.25 (a) for further power limitation.)

(b) Class II station. A Class II station is a secondary station which operates on a clear channel (see § 3.25) and is designed to render service over a primary service area which is limited by and subject to such interference as may be received from Class I stations. A station of this class shall operate with power not less than 0.25 kilowatts nor more than 50 kilowatts. Whenever necessary a Class II station shall use a directional antenna or other means to avoid interference with Class I stations and with other Class II stations, in accordance with the Engineering Standards of Allocation.

(c) Class III station. A Class III station is a station which operates on a regional channel and is designed to render service primarily to a metropolitan district[1] and the rural area contiguous thereto. Class III stations are subdivided into two classes.

(1) Class III–A station. A Class III–A station is a Class III station which operates with power not less than 1 kilowatt nor more than 5 kilowatts and the service area of which is subject to interference in accordance with the Engineering Standards of Allocation.

(2) Class III–B station. A Class III–B station is a Class III station which operates with a power not less than 0.5 kilowatt nor more than 1 kilowatt night and 5 kilowatts daytime and the service area of which is subject to interference in accordance with the Engineering Standards of Allocation.

(d) Class IV station. A Class IV station is a station operating on a local channel and designed to render service primarily to a city or town and the suburban and rural areas contiguous thereto. The power of a station of this class shall not be less than 0.1 kilowatt nor more than 0.25 kilowatt, and its service area is subject to interference in accordance with the Engineering Standards of Allocation.

§ 3.23 Time of operation of the several classes of stations. The several classes of standard broadcast stations may be licensed to operate in accordance with the following:

(a) Unlimited time permits operation without a maximum limit as to time.

(b) Limited time is applicable to Class II (secondary stations) operating on a clear channel only. It permits operation of the secondary station during daytime, and until local sunset if located west of the dominant station on the channel, or if located east thereof, until sunset at the dominant station, and in addition during night hours, if any, not used by the dominant station or stations on the channel.

(c) Daytime permits operation during the hours between average monthly local sunrise and average monthly local sunset. (For exact time of sunset at any location see Average Sunrise and Sunset Times.) Daytime stations operating on local channels may, upon notification to the Commission and the engineer in charge of the district in which they are located, operate at hours beyond those specified in their license.

(d) Sharing time permits operation during hours which are so restricted by the station license as to require a division of time with one or more other stations using the same channel.

(e) Specified hours means that the exact operating hours are specified in the license. (The minimum hours that any station shall operate are specified in § 3.71.) Specified hours stations operating on local channels except those sharing time with other stations may, upon notification to the Commission and the engineer in charge of the district in which they are located, operate at hours beyond those specified in their license.

§ 3.24 Broadcast facilities; showing required. An authorization for a new standard broadcast station or increase in facilities of an existing station[2] will be issued only after a satisfactory showing has been made in regard to the following, among others:

(a) That the proposed assignment will tend to affect a fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of radio service among the several states and communities.

(b) That objectionable interference will not be caused to existing stations or that if interference will be caused the need for the proposed service outweighs the need for the service which will be lost by reason of such interference. That the proposed station will not suffer interference to such an extent that its service would be reduced to an unsatisfactory degree. (For determining objectionable interference, see Engineering Standards of Allocation and Field Intensity Measurements in Allocation.)

(c) That the applicant is financially qualified to construct and operate the proposed station.[3]

(d) That the applicant is legally qualified. That the applicant (or the person or persons in control of an applicant corporation or other organization) is of good character and possesses other qualifications sufficient to provide a satisfactory public service.

(e) That the technical equipment proposed, the location of the transmitter, and other technical phases of operation comply with the regulations governing the same, and the requirements of good engineering practice. (See technical regulations herein and Locations of Transmitters of Standard Broadcast Stations.)

(f) That the facilities sought are subject to assignment as requested under existing international agreements and the rules and regulations of the Commission.

(g) That the public interest, convenience, and necessity will be served through the operation under the proposed assignment.

FREQUENCY ALLOCATIONS BY CLASSES OF STATIONS

§ 3.25 Clear channels: Class I and II stations. The frequencies in the following tabulations are designated as clear channels and assigned for use by the classes of stations given:

(a) To each of the channels below there will be assigned one Class I station and there may be assigned one or more Class II stations operating limited time or daytime only: 640, 650, 660, 670, 700, 720, 750, 760, 770, 780, 820, 830, 840, 870, 880, 890, 1020, 1040, 1100, 1120, 1160, 1180, 1200, and 1210 kilocycles. The power of the Class I stations on these channels shall not be less than 50 kilowatts.

(b) To each of the channels below there may be assigned Class I and Class II stations: 680, 710, 810, 850, 940, 1000 1030, 1060, 1070, 1080, 1090, 1110, 1130, 1140, 1170, 1190, 1500, 1510, 1520, 1530, 1550, and 1560 kilocycles.

(c) For Class II stations which will not deliver over 5 microvolts per meter groundwave or 25 microvolts per meter 10 percent time skywave at any point on said border and provided that such stations operating nighttime (i. e., sunset to sunrise at the location of the Class II station) are located not less than 650 miles from the nearest Canadian border, 690, 740, 860, 990, 1010[4] and 1580 kilocycles.

(d) For Class II stations which operate daytime only with power not in excess of 1 kilowatt and which will not deliver over 5 microvolts per meter groundwave at any point on the nearest Mexican border, 730, 800, 900, 1050,[5] 1220,[6] and 1570 kilocycles.

(e) For Class II stations which will deliver not over 5 microvolts per meter groundwave or 25 microvolts per meter 10 percent time skywave at any point of land in the Bahama Islands, and provided that such stations operating nighttime (i. e., sunset to sunrise at the location of the Class II station) are located not less than 650 miles from the nearest point of land in the Bahama Islands, 1540 kilocycles.

§ 3.26 Regional channels; Classes III–A and III–B stations. The following frequencies are designated as regional channels and are assigned for use by Class III–A and III–B stations:[7] 550, 560,[8] 570,[9] 580, 590,[9] 600, 610, 620, 630,[9] 790, 910, 920, 930, 950, 960, 970, 980, 1150, 1250, 1260, 1270,[9] 1280, 1290, 1300, 1310, 1320, 1330; 1350, 1360, 1370, 1380, 1390, 1410, 1420, 1430, 1440, 1460, 1470, 1480, 1590, and 1600 kilocycles.

§ 3.27 Local channels: Class IV stations. The following frequencies are designated as local channels and are assigned for use by Class IV stations: 1230, 1240, 1340, 1400, 1450, and 1490 kilocycles.

§ 3.28 Assignment of stations to channels. (a) The individual assignments of stations to channels which may cause interference to other United States stations only shall be made in accordance with the standards of good engineering practice prescribed and published from time to time by the Commission for the respective classes of stations involved. (For determining objectionable interference see Engineering Standards of Allocation and Field Intensity Measurements in Allocation, sec. C.)

---

[1] The term "metropolitan district" as used in this paragraph is not limited in accordance with the definition given by the Bureau of the Census but includes any principal center of population in any area.

[2] Formal applications required. See Standards of Good Engineering Practice for form number.

[3] See Money Required to Construct and Complete Electrical Tests of Stations of Different Classes and Powers.

[4] A station on 1010 kilocycles shall also protect a Class I–B station at Havana, Cuba.

[5] See North American Regional Broadcasting Agreements for use of this channel by a station in New York (appendix I, table IV).

[6] See agreement with Mexico for further use of this channel.

[7] See § 3.29 in regard to assigning Class IV station to regional channels.

[8] See North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement for special provisions concerning the assigning of Class II stations in other countries of North America to these regional channels. Such stations shall be protected from interference in accordance with appendix II, table I, of said agreement.

(b) In all cases where an individual station assignment may cause interference with or may involve a channel assigned for priority of use by a station in another North American country, the classifications, allocation requirements and engineering standards set forth in the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement shall be observed.

§ 3.29 Assignment of Class IV stations to regional channels. On condition that interference will not be caused to any Class III station, and that the channel is used fully for Class III stations and subject to interference as may be received from Class III stations, Class IV stations may be assigned to regional channels.

§ 3.30 Station location and program organization. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, each standard broadcast station will be licensed to serve primarily a particular city, town, or other political subdivision which will be specified in the station license and the station will be considered to be located in such place. Unless licensed as a synchronous amplifier transmitter, each station shall maintain a studio, which will be known as the main studio, in the place where the station is located provided that the main studio may be located at the transmitter site whether or not the transmitter site is in the place where the station is located. A majority (computed on the basis of duration and not number) of a station's programs or in the case of a station affiliated with a network ⅔ of such station's non-network programs, whichever is smaller, shall originate from the main studio or from other studios or remote points situated in the place where the station is located.

(b) Stations will be licensed to serve more than one city, town, or other political subdivision only where a satisfactory showing is made that each such place meets all the requirements of the rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice with respect to the location of main studios; that the station can and will originate a substantial number of local live programs from each such place; and that the requirements as to origination of programs contained in paragraph (a) of this section would place an unreasonable burden on the station if it were licensed to serve only one city, town, or other political sub-division. A station licensed to serve more than one place shall be considered to be located in and shall maintain main studios in each such place. With respect to such station the requirements as to origination of programs contained in paragraph (a) of this section shall be satisfied by the origination of programs from any or all of the main studios or from other studios and remote points situated in any or all of the places in which the main studios are located.

(c) The transmitter of each standard broadcast station shall be so located that primary service is delivered to the borough or city in which the main studio is located in accordance with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice, prescribed by the Commission.

§ 3.31 Authority to move main studio. The licensee of a standard broadcast station shall not move its main studio outside the borders of the borough or city, state, district, territory, or possession in which it is located, unless such move is to the location of the station's transmitter, without first making written application [10] to the Commission for authority to so move, and securing written permission for such removal. The licensee shall promptly notify the Commission of any other change in location of the main studio.

§ 3.32 Special experimental authorizations. (a) Special experimental authorizations [11] may be issued to the licensee of a standard broadcast station in addition to the regular license upon proper application therefor [10] and satisfactory showing in regard to the following, among others:

(1) That the applicant has a program of research and experimentation which indicates reasonable promise of contribution to the development and practical application of broadcasting, and will be in addition to and advancement of the work that can be accomplished under its regular license.

(2) That the experimental operation and experimentation will be under the direct supervision of a qualified engineer with an adequate staff of engineers qualified to carry on the program of research and experimentation.

(3) That the public interest, convenience, and necessity will be served by granting the authorization requested.

(b) In case a special experimental authorization permits additional hours of operation, no licensee shall transmit any commercial or sponsored program or make any commercial announcement during such time of operation. In case of other additional facilities, no additional charge shall be made by reason of transmission with such facilities.

(c) A special experimental authorization will not be extended after the actual experimentation is concluded.

(d) The program of research and experimentation as outlined in the application for a special experimental authorization shall be adhered to in the main unless the licensee is authorized to do otherwise by the Commission.

(e) The Commission may require from time to time a broadcast station holding such experimental authorization to conduct experiments that are deemed desirable and reasonable.

(f) A supplemental report shall be filed with and made a part of each application for an extension of a special experimental authorization and shall include statements of the following:

(1) Comprehensive summary of all research and experimentation conducted.

(2) Conclusions and outline of proposed program for further research and development.

(3) Comprehensive summary and conclusions as to the social and economic effects of its use.

[10] Formal application required. See Standards of Good Engineering Practice for form number.

[11] Special authorizations which do not involve experimental operation may be granted pursuant to § 1.324 of this chapter.

§ 3.33 Directional antenna; showing required. (a) No application for authority to install a directional antenna [10] will be accepted unless a definite site and full details of the design of the directional antenna are given with the application. (See Data Required With Applications Involving Directional Antenna Systems.)

(b) No application for an authorization to operate a directional antenna during the broadcast day will be accepted unless proof of performance of the directional antenna taken during equipment test period is submitted with the application. (See Field Intensity Measurements in Allocation, sec. B.)

§ 3.34 Normal license period. (a) All standard broadcast station licenses will be issued for a normal license period of 3 years. Licenses will be issued to expire at the hour of 3 a. m., eastern standard time, in accordance with the following schedule, and at 3-year intervals thereafter:

(1) For stations operating on the frequencies 640, 650, 660, 670, 680, 690, 700, 710, 720, 730, 740, 750, 760, 770, 780, 800, 810, 820, 830, 840, 850, 860, 870, 880, 890, 900, 940 kilocycles, November 1, 1946.

(2) For stations operating on the frequencies 990, 1000, 1010, 1020, 1030, 1040, 1050, 1060, 1070, 1080, 1090, 1100, 1110, 1120, 1130, 1140, 1160, 1170, 1180, 1190, 1200, 1210, 1220, 1500, 1510, 1520, 1530, 1540, 1550, 1560, 1570, 1580 kilocycles, May 1, 1945.

(3) For stations operating on the frequencies 550, 560, 570, 580, 590, 600, 610, 620, 630, 790 kilocycles, May 1, 1946.

(4) For stations operating on the frequencies 910, 920, 930, 950, 960, 970, 980, 1150, 1250 kilocycles, May 1, 1947.

(5) For stations operating on the frequencies 1260, 1270, 1280, 1290, 1300, 1310, 1320, 1330, 1350, 1360 kilocycles, November 1, 1945.

(6) For stations operating on the frequencies 1370, 1380, 1390, 1410, 1420, 1430, 1440, 1460, 1470, 1480, 1590, 1600 kilocycles, November 1, 1947.

(7) For stations operating on the frequency 1230 kilocycles, February 1, 1946.

(8) For stations operating on the frequency 1240 kilocycles, August 1, 1946.

(9) For stations operating on the frequency 1340 kilocycles, February 1, 1947.

(10) For stations operating on the frequency 1400 kilocycles, August 1, 1947.

(11) For stations operating on the frequency 1450 kilocycles, February 1, 1948.

(12) For stations operating on the frequency 1490 kilocycles, August 1, 1948.

(b) Unless otherwise ordered, when an application for a new station license is granted within three months of the expiration date for licenses of the particular class of station involved, the license shall be issued for the unexpired period of the current license term and for the full succeeding term. If granted more than three months from the normal expiration date, the license will be issued for the unexpired period of the current license term only.

(c) When an application is granted by the Commission necessitating the issuance of a modified license less than 60 days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be modified, and an application for renewal of said license is granted subsequent or prior thereto (but within 30 days of expiration of the present license) the modified license as well as the renewal license shall be issued to conform to the combined action of the Commission.

§ 3.35 Multiple ownership. No license shall be granted for a standard broadcast station, directly or indirectly owned, operated or controlled [12] by any person [13] where such station renders or will render primary service to a substantial portion of the primary service area of another standard broadcast station, directly or indirectly owned, operated or controlled by such person, except upon a showing that public interest, convenience, and necessity will be served through such multiple ownership situation.

EQUIPMENT

§ 3.41 Maximum rated carrier power; tolerances. The maximum rated carrier power of a standard broadcast transmitter shall not be less than the authorized power nor shall it be greater than the value specified in the following table:

Class of station	Maximum power authorized to station	Maximum rated carrier power permitted to be installed [1]
		Watts
Class IV	100 or 250 watts	250
Class III	500 or 1,000 watts	1,000
	5,000 watts	5,000
Class II	250, 500, or 1,000 watts	1,000
	5,000 or 10,000 watts	10,000
	25,000 or 50,000 watts	50,000
Class I	10,000 watts	10,000
	25,000 or 50,000 watts	50,000

[1] The maximum rated carrier power must be distinguished from the operating power. (See §3.15 (c) and (d).)

§ 3.42 Maximum rated carrier power; how determined. The maximum rated carrier power of a standard broadcast transmitter shall be determined as the sum of the applicable power ratings of the vacuum tubes employed in the last radio stage.

(a) The power rating of vacuum tubes shall apply to transmitters employing the different classes of operation or systems of modulation as specified in Power Rating of Vacuum Tubes prescribed by the Commission.

(b) If the maximum rated carrier power of any broadcast transmitter, as determined by paragraph (a) of this section, does not give an exact rating as recognized in the Commission's plan of allocation, the nearest rating thereto shall apply to such transmitter.

(c) Authority will not be granted to employ, in the last radio stage of a standard broadcast transmitter, vacuum tubes from a manufacturer or of a type number not listed until the manufacturer's rating for the class of operation or system of modulation is submitted to and approved by the Commission. These data must be supplied by the manufacturer in accordance with Requirements for the Approval of the Power Rating of Vacuum Tubes, prescribed by the Commission.

§ 3.43 Changes in equipment; authority for. No licensee shall change, in the last radio stage, the number of vacuum tubes to vacuum tubes of different power rating or class of operation, nor shall it change system of modulation without the authority of the Commission.[14]

§ 3.44 Other changes in equipment. Other changes except as provided for in this subpart or Standards of Good Engineering Practice, appendix to this subpart, prescribed by the Commission, which do not affect the maximum power rating or operating power of the transmitter or the operation or precision of the frequency control equipment may be made at any time without authority of the Commission, but in the next succeeding application for renewal of license such changes which affect the information already on file shall be shown in full.

§ 3.45 Radiating system. (a) All applicants for new, additional, or different broadcast facilities and all licensees requesting authority to move the transmitter of an existing station shall specify a radiating system the efficiency of which complies with the requirements of good engineering practice for the class and power of the station. (Also see Use of Common Antenna by Standard Broadcast Stations or Another Radio Station.)

(b) The Commission will publish from time to time specifications deemed necessary to meet the requirements of good engineering practice. (See Minimum Antenna Heights or Field Intensity Requirements and Field Intensity Measurements in Allocation, sec. A.)

(c) No broadcast station licensee shall change the physical height of the transmitting antenna, or supporting structures, or make any changes in the radiating system which will measurably alter the radiation patterns, except upon written application to and authority from the Commission.[14]

(d) The antenna and/or supporting structure shall be painted and illuminated in accordance with the specifications supplied by the Commission pursuant to section 303 (q) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. (See Standard Lamps and Paints.)

(e) The simultaneous use of a common antenna or antenna structure by more than one standard broadcast station, or by one or more standard broadcast stations and one or more stations of any other class or service may be authorized provided complete responsibility for maintaining the installation and for painting and illuminating the structure in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section and for compliance with the pertinent provisions of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice is assumed by one of the licensees. (See Use of Common Antenna by Standard Broadcast Stations or Another Radio Station.)

§ 3.46 Transmitter. (a) The transmitter proper and associated transmitting equipment of each broadcast station shall be designed, constructed, and operated in accordance with the standards of good engineering practice in all phases not otherwise specifically included in the regulations in this part.

(b) The transmitter shall be wired and shielded in accordance with good engineering practice and shall be provided with safety features in accordance with the specifications of article 810 of the current National Electrical Code as approved by the American Standards Association.

(c) The station equipment shall be so operated, tuned, and adjusted that emissions are not radiated outside the authorized band [15] which cause or which, in accordance with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice, are considered as being capable of causing interference to the communications of other stations. The spurious emissions, including radio frequency harmonics and audio frequency harmonics, shall be maintained at as low level as required by good engineering practice. The audio distortion, audio frequency range, carrier hum, noise level, and other essential phases of the operation which control the external effects shall at all times conform to the requirements of good engineering practice.

(d) Whenever, in this section, the term "good engineering practice" is used, the specifications deemed necessary to meet the requirements thereof will be published from time to time. (See Construction, General Operation and Safety of Life Requirements.)

(e) The licensee of each standard [16] broadcast station shall make the following equipment performance measurements at yearly intervals. One such set shall be made during the four-month period preceding the date of filing application for renewal of station license:[17] (1) Data and curves showing over-all audio frequency response from 30 to 7500 CPS for approximately 25, 50, 85 and 100 (if obtainable) percent modulation. Family of curves should be plotted (one for each percentage above) with DB above and below a reference frequency of 1000 CPS as ordinate and audio frequency as abscissa. (2) Data and curves showing audio frequency harmonic content for 25, 50, 85 and 100 percent modulation for fundamental frequencies of 50, 100, 400, 1000, 5000 and 7500 CPS (either

[12] The word "control," as used herein, is not limited to majority stock ownership but includes actual working control in whatever manner exercised.

[13] The word "person," as used herein, includes all persons under common control.

[14] Formal application required. See Standards of Good Engineering Practice for form number.

[15] Informal application may be made, except in controversial cases or in cases involving directional antenna, then formal application shall be made.

[16] See Construction, General Operation and Safety of Life Requirements.

[17] In view of the fact that it is doubtful whether equipment necessary for certain of the measurements prescribed by this paragraph can be timely obtained, the effective date of this paragraph is extended from August 1, 1948 to August 1, 1949.

[18] Applications for renewal of licenses expiring prior to February 1, 1950 are not required to indicate that these measurements have been made; applications for renewal of licenses expiring on or after February 1, 1950 shall indicate that the measurements have been made.

arithmetical or root sum square values up to the tenth harmonic or 16000 CPS). Plot family of curves (one for each percentage above) with percent distortion as ordinate and audio frequency as abscissa. (3) Data showing percentage carrier shift for 25, 50, 85 and 100 percent modulation with 400 CPS tone. (4) Carrier hum and extraneous noise generated within the equipment and measured as the level below 100 percent modulation throughout the audio spectrum or by bands. (5) Measurements or evidence showing that spurious radiations including radio frequency harmonics are suppressed or are not present to a degree capable of causing objectionable interference to other radio services. Field intensity measurements are preferred but observations made with a communications type receiver may be accepted. However, in particular cases involving interference or controversy, the Commission may require actual measurements. Measurements shall be made with the equipment adjusted for normal program operation and shall include all circuits between main studio amplier input and antenna output including equalizer or correction circuits normally employed, but without compression if such amplifier is employed. The above data together with a description of instruments and procedure signed by the engineer making the measurements, shall be kept on file at the transmitter and shall be made available upon request to any duly authorized representative of the Federal Communications Commission.

TECHNICAL OPERATION

§ 3.51 Operating power; how determined. The operating power of each standard broadcast station shall be determined by:

(a) Direct measurement of the antenna power in accordance with § 3.54.[19]

(1) Each new standard broadcast station.

(2) Each existing standard broadcast station after June 1, 1941.

(b) Indirect measurement by means of the plate input power to the last radio stage on a temporary basis in accordance with §§ 3.52 and 3.53.

(1) In the case of existing standard broadcast stations and pending compliance with paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

(2) In case of an emergency where the licensed antenna has been damaged or destroyed by storm or other cause beyond the control of the licensee or pending completion of authorized changes.[20] in the antenna system.

(c) Upon making any change [20] in the antenna system, or in the antenna current measuring instruments, or any other change which may change the characteristics of the antenna, the licensee shall immediately make a new determination of the antenna resistance (see § 3.54) and shall submit application for authority to determine power by the direct method on the basis of the new measurements.

§ 3.52 Operating power; indirect measurement. The operating power determined by indirect measurement from the plate input power of the last radio stage is the product of the plate voltage (E_p), the total plate current of the last radio stage (I_p), and the proper factor (F) given in the following tables: that is Operating power $E_p \times I_p \times F$

A. Factor to be used for stations employing plate modulation in the last radio stage [1]

	Factor (F) to be used in determining the operating power from the plate input power
Maximum rated carrier power of transmitter: [2]
100–1,000 watts	0.70
5,000 and over watts	.80

B. Factor to be used for stations of all powers using low level modulation [1]

	Factor (F) to be used in determining the operating power from the plate input power
Class of power amplifier in the last radio stage:
Class B	0.35
Class BC [3]	.65

C. Factors to be used for stations of all powers employing grid modulation in the last radio stage [1]

	Factor (F) to be used in determining the operating power from the plate input power
Type of tube in the last radio stage:
Table C [1]	0.25
Table D [1]	.35

[1] See Power Rating of Vacuum Tubes.

[2] The maximum rated carrier power must be distinguished from the operating power. (See § 3.15 (c) and § 3.15 (d).)

[3] All linear amplifier operation where efficiency approaches that of class C operation.

§ 3.53 Application of efficiency factors. In computing operating power by indirect measurement the above factors shall apply in all cases, and no distinction will be recognized due to the operating power being less than the maximum rated carrier power. (See Plate Efficiency of Last Radio Stage.)

§ 3.54 Operating power; direct measurement. The antenna input power determined by direct measurement is the square of the antenna current times the antenna resistance at the point where the current is measured and at the operating frequency. Direct measurement of the antenna input power will be accepted as the operating power of the station, provided the data on the antenna resistance measurements are submitted under oath giving detailed description of the method used and the data taken. The antenna current shall be measured by an ammeter of accepted accuracy.[21] These data must be submitted to and approved by the Commission before any licensee will be authorized to operate by this method of power determination.[22] The antenna ammeter shall not be changed to one of different type, maximum reading, or accuracy without the authority of the Commission. If any change is made in the antenna system or any change made which may affect the antenna system, the method of determining operating power shall be changed immediately to the indirect method. (See Further Requirements for Direct Measurements of Power.)

§ 3.55 Modulation. (a) A licensee of a broadcast station will not be authorized to operate a transmitter unless it is capable of delivering satisfactorily the authorized power with a modulation of at least 85 percent. When the transmitter is operated with 85 percent modulation, not over 10 percent combined audio frequency harmonics shall be generated by the transmitter.

(b) All broadcast stations shall have in operation a modulation monitor approved by the Commission.

(c) The operating percentage of modulation of all stations shall be maintained as high as possible consistent with good quality of transmission and good broadcast practice and in no case less than 85 percent on peaks of frequent recurrence during any selection which normally is transmitted at the highest level of the program under consideration.

(d) The Commission will, from time to time, publish the specifications, requirements for approval, and a list of approved modulation monitors. (See Approved Modulation Monitors and also Requirements for Approval of Modulation Monitors.)

§ 3.56 Modulation; data required. A licensee of a broadcast station claiming a greater percentage of modulation than the fundamental design indicates can be procured shall submit full data showing the antenna input power by direct measurement and complete information, either oscillograms or other acceptable data, to show that a modulation of 85 percent or more, with not over 10 percent combined audio harmonics, can be obtained with the transmitter operated at the maximum authorized power.

§ 3.57 Operating power; maintenance of. The licensee of a broadcast station shall maintain the operating power of the station within the prescribed limits of the licensed power at all times except that in an emergency when, due to causes beyond the control of the licensee, it becomes impossible to operate with the full licensed power, the station may be operated at reduced power for a period of not to exceed 10 days, provided that the Commission and the engineer in charge,[23] shall be notified in writing immediately after the emergency develops. (See Operating Power Tolerance.)

§ 3.58 Indicating instruments. Each broadcast station shall be equipped with suitable indicating instruments of accepted accuracy to measure the antenna current, direct plate circuit voltage, and the direct plate circuit current of the last radio stage. These indicating instruments shall not be changed or replaced, without authority of the Commission, except by instruments of the same type, maximum scale reading, and accuracy. (See Indicating Instruments Pursuant to § 3.58.)

[19] Program tests on equipment, including a new or different antenna system, will not be authorized unless application for authority to determine power by the direct method has been granted, or is submitted simultaneously with the application for license to cover the construction permit and the application for license will not be granted until such time as the application for direct measurement is approved.

[20] Changes shall not be made except upon making proper request and obtaining approval thereof in accordance with §§ 3.45 and 3.58.

[21] See Indicating Instruments pursuant to § 3.58.

[23] See Field Offices of the Commission.

§ 3.59 Frequency tolerance. The operating frequency of each broadcast station shall be maintained within 50 cycles of the assigned frequency until January 1, 1940, and thereafter the frequency of each new station or each station where a new transmitter is installed shall be maintained within 20 cycles of the assigned frequency, and after January 1, 1942, the frequency of all stations shall be maintained within 20 cycles of the assigned frequency.

§ 3.60 Frequency monitor. The licensee of each standard broadcast station shall have in operation at the transmitter a frequency monitor independent of the frequency control of the transmitter. The frequency monitor shall be approved by the Commission. It shall have a stability and accuracy of at least 5 parts per million. (See Approved Frequency Monitors and also Requirements for Approval of Frequency Monitors.)

§ 3.61 New equipment; restrictions. The Commission will authorize the installation of new transmitting equipment in a broadcast station or changes in the frequency control of an existing transmitter only if such equipment is so designed that there is reasonable assurance that the transmitter is capable of maintaining automatically the assigned frequency within the limits specified in § 3.59.

§ 3.62 Automatic frequency control equipment; authorization required. New automatic frequency control equipment and changes in existing automatic frequency control equipment that may affect the precision of frequency control or the operation of the transmitter shall be installed only upon authorization [24] from the Commission. (See Approved Equipment.)

§ 3.63 Auxiliary transmitter. Upon showing that a need exists for the use of an auxiliary transmitter [25] in addition to the regular transmitter of a broadcast station, a license therefor may be issued: Provided, That:

(a) An auxiliary transmitter may be installed either at the same location as the main transmitter or at another location.

(b) A licensed operator shall be in control whenever an auxiliary transmitter is placed in operation.

(c) The auxiliary transmitter shall be maintained so that it may be put into immediate operation at any time for the following purposes:

(1) The transmission of the regular programs upon the failure of the main transmitter.

(2) The transmission of regular programs during maintenance or modification [26] work on the main transmitter, necessitating discontinuance of its operation for a period not to exceed five days.

(3) Upon request by a duly authorized representative of the Commission.

(d) The auxiliary transmitter shall be tested at least once each week to determine that it is in proper operating condition and that it is adjusted to the proper frequency, except that in case of operation in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section during any week, the test in that week may be omitted provided the operation under paragraph (c) is satisfactory. A record shall be kept of the time and result of each test operating under paragraph (c) of this section. Tests shall be conducted only between midnight and 9 a. m., local standard time.

(e) The auxiliary transmitter shall be equipped with satisfactory control equipment which will enable the maintenance of the frequency emitted by the station within the limits prescribed by the regulations in this part.

(f) An auxiliary transmitter which is licensed at a geographical location different from that of the main transmitter shall be equipped with a frequency control which will automatically hold the frequency within the limits prescribed by the regulations in this part without any manual adjustment during operation or when it is being put into operation.

(g) The operating power of an auxiliary transmitter may be less than the authorized power, but in no event shall it be greater than such power.

§ 3.64 Alternate main transmitters. The licensee of a standard broadcast station may be licensed for alternate main transmitters provided that a technical need [27] for such alternate transmitters is shown and that the following conditions are met:

(a) Both transmitters are located at the same place.

(b) The transmitters have the same power rating except at stations operating with different daytime and nighttime power when it shall be permissible to employ transmitters of power ratings appropriate to either the licensed daytime or nighttime power.

(c) The external effects from both transmitters are substantially the same as to frequency stability, reliability of operation, radio harmonics and other spurious emissions, audio frequency range and audio harmonic generation in the transmitter.

§ 3.65 Inspection of tower lights and associated control equipment. The licensee of each station which has an antenna or antenna supporting structure(s) required to be illuminated pursuant to the provisions of section 303 (q) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, shall:

(a) Make a visual observation of the tower lights at least once each 24 hours to insure that all lights are functioning properly as required.

(b) Report imediately by telephone or telegraph to the nearest airways communication station or office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration any observed failure of a code or rotating beacon light or top light not corrected within 30 minutes, regardless of the cause of such failure. Further notification by telephone or telegraph shall be given immediately upon resumption of the required illumination.

(c) Inspect at intervals of at least once each three months all automatic and mechanical control devices associated with flashing or rotating beacons to insure that such apparatus is functioning properly as required.

OPERATION

§ 3.71 Minimum operating schedule. Except Sundays, the licensee of each standard broadcast station shall maintain a minimum operating schedule of two-thirds of the total hours that it is authorized to operate between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m., local standard time, and two-thirds of the total hours it is authorized to operate between 6 p. m. and midnight, local standard time, except that in an emergency when, due to causes beyond the control of the licensee, it becomes impossible to continue operating, the station may cease operation for a period of not to exceed 10 days, provided that the Commission and the engineer in charge [28] shall be notified in writing immediately after the emergency develops.

§ 3.72 Operation during experimental period. The licensee of each standard broadcast station shall operate or refrain from operating its station during the experimental period as directed by the Commission in order to facilitate frequency measurement or for the determination of interference. (Stations involved in the after-midnight frequency monitoring programs are notified of their operating and silent schedule.)

§ 3.73 Specified hours. If the license of a station specifies the hours of operation, the schedule so specified shall be adhered to except as provided in §§ 3.71 and 3.72.

§ 3.74 Sharing time. If the licenses of stations authorized to share time do not specify hours of operation, the licensees shall endeavor to reach an agreement for a definite schedule of periods of time to be used by each. Such agreement shall be in writing and each licensee shall file the same in triplicate original with each application to the Commission for renewal of license. If and

[24] Formal application required. See Standards of Good Engineering Practice for form number.

[25] All regulations as to safety requirements and spurious emissions applying to broadcast transmitting equipment shall apply also to an auxiliary transmitter. (See Use of Frequency and Modulation Monitors at Auxiliary Transmitter.)

[26] This includes the equipment changes which may be made without authority as set forth elsewhere in the rules and regulations and the Standards of Good Engineering Practice or as authorized by the Commission by letter or by construction permit. Where such operation is required for periods in excess of 5 days, request therefor shall be made in accordance with § 1.324 of this chapter.

[27] Such as licensees maintaining 24-hour schedule and needing alternate operations for maintenance, or where developmental work requires alternate operation.

[28] See Field Offices of the Commission.

when such written agreements are properly filed in conformity with this section the file mark of the Commission will be affixed thereto, one copy will be retained by the Commission, one copy forwarded to the engineer in charge, and one copy returned to the licensee to be posted with the station license and considered as a part thereof. If the license specifies a proportionate time division, the agreement shall maintain this proportion. If no proportionate time division is specified in the license, the licensees shall agree upon a division of time. Such division of time shall not include simultaneous operation of the stations unless specifically authorized by the terms of the license.

§ 3.75 Sharing time; equivalence of day and night hours. For the purpose of determining the proportionate division of time of the broadcast day for sharing time stations 1 night hour shall be considered the equivalent of 2 day hours.

§ 3.76 Sharing time; experimental period. If the license of a station authorized to share time does not specify the hours of operation, the station may be operated for the transmission of regular programs during the experimental period provided an agreement thereto is reached with the other stations with which the broadcast day is shared and further provided such operation is not in conflict with § 3.72. Time-sharing agreements for operation during the experimental period need not be submitted to the Commission.

§ 3.77 Sharing time; departure from regular schedule. A departure from the regular operating schedule set forth in a time-sharing agreement will be permitted only in cases where an agreement to that effect is reduced to writing, is signed by the licensees of the stations affected thereby and filed in triplicate by each licensee with the Commission prior to the time of the proposed change. If time is of the essence, the actual departure in operating schedule may precede the actual filing of written agreement, provided appropriate notice is sent to the Commission and the engineer in charge.[29]

§ 3.78 Sharing time stations; notification to Commission. If the licensees of stations authorized to share time are unable to agree on a division of time, the Commission shall be so notified by statement to that effect filed with the applications for renewals of licenses. Upon receipt of such statement the Commission will designate the applications for a hearing and, pending such hearing, the operating schedule previously adhered to shall remain in full force and effect.

§ 3.79 License to specify sunrise and sunset hours. If the licensee of a broadcast station is required to commence or cease operation of the station at the time of sunrise or sunset, the license will specify the hour of the day during each month of the license period when operation of such station will commence or cease. (See Average Sunrise and Sunset Time.)

[29] See Field Offices of the Commission.

§ 3.80 Secondary station; filing of operating schedule. The licensee of a secondary station authorized to operate limited time and which may resume operation at the time the dominant station (or stations) on the same channel ceases operation shall, with each application for renewal of license, file in triplicate a copy of its regular operating schedule, bearing a signed notation by the licensee of the dominant station of its objection or lack of objection thereto. Upon approval of such operating schedule, the Commission will affix its file mark and return one copy to the licensee authorized to operate limited time, which shall be posted with the station license and considered as a part thereof. Departure from said operating schedule will be permitted only in accordance with the procedure set forth in § 3.77.

§ 3.81 Secondary station; failure to reach agreement. If the licensee of a secondary station authorized to operate limited time and a dominant station on a channel are unable to agree upon a definite time for resumption of operation by the station authorized limited time, the Commission shall be so notified by the licensee of the station authorized limited time. After receipt of such statement the Commission will designate for hearing the applications of both stations for renewal of license, and pending the hearing the schedule previously adhered to shall remain in full force and effect.

§ 3.82 Departure from schedule; material violation. In all cases where a station licensee is required to prepare and file an operating schedule, any deviation or departure from such schedule, except as herein authorized, shall be considered as a violation of a material term of the license.

§ 3.83 Local standard time. All references herein to standard time or local standard time refer to local standard time as determined and fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

§ 3.84 Daylight saving time. If local time is changed from standard time to daylight saving time at the location of all stations sharing time on the same channel, the hours of operation of all such stations on that channel shall be understood to refer to daylight saving time, and not standard time, as long as daylight saving time is observed at such locations. This provision shall govern when the time is changed by provision of law or general observance of daylight saving time by the various communities, and when the time of operation of such stations is specified in the license or is mutually agreed upon by the licensees: Provided, however, That when the license specifies average time of sunrise and sunset, local standard time shall be observed. In no event shall a station licensed for daytime only operate on regular schedule prior to local sunrise, or shall a station licensed for greater daytime power than nighttime power or for a different radiation pattern for daytime operation than for nighttime operation operate with the daytime power or radiation pattern prior to local sunrise.

§ 3.85 Changes in time; agreement between licensees. Where the local time is not changed from standard time to daylight saving time at the location of all stations sharing time on the same channel, the hours of operation of such stations shall be understood to have reference to standard time, and not daylight saving time, unless said licensees mutually agree upon a new schedule which shall be effective only while daylight saving time is observed at the location of some of these stations.

§ 3.86 Local standard time; license provisions. The time of operation of any broadcast station which does not share time with other stations on the same channel shall be understood to have reference to local standard time unless modification of such license with respect to hours of operation is authorized by the Commission.

§ 3.87 Program transmissions prior to local sunrise. (a) The provisions of §§ 3.6, 3.8, 3.9, 3.10, 3.23, 3.79 and 3.84 shall not prevent the transmission of programs between 4 o'clock a. m., local standard time, and local sunrise, of standard broadcast stations with their authorized daytime facilities: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not extend to:

(1) Stations regularly sharing time during daytime hours either under licenses pursuant to which time-sharing agreements have been entered into or licenses specifying hours of operation, unless time-sharing agreements have been reached covering such operation prior to local sunrise. Sections 3.74, 3.77, and 3.78 shall be applicable to such agreements.

(2) Any Class II station causing interference[30] by use of its daytime facilities within the 0.5 mv/m 50 percent skywave contour of any Class I station either of the United States or of any country party to the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement, except (i) where the Class I station is located east of the Class II station in which case operation may begin at local sunrise at the Class I station; (ii) where an agreement has been reached with the Class I station to begin operation prior to local sunrise.

(3) Operation by use of its daytime facilities of any Class II station on any Class I–A channel not assigned to the United States under the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement.

(b) Any station operating during such hours receiving notice from the Commission that undue interference is caused shall refrain from such operation during such hours pending further notice from the Commission.

(c) Nothing contained in outstanding instruments of authorization for such stations shall prohibit such operation except as herein provided.

(d) The period 4 a. m. to 6 a. m., local standard time, shall not be included in determining compliance with § 3.71.

[30] As determined by the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Governing Standard Broadcast Stations and the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement.

RULES APPLICABLE TO STATIONS ENGAGED IN CHAIN BROADCASTING

§ 3.101 Exclusive affiliation of station. No license shall be granted to a standard broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization [31] under which the station is prevented or hindered from, or penalized for, broadcasting the programs of any other network organization.

§ 3.102 Territorial exclusivity. No license shall be granted to a standard broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization which prevents or hinders another station serving substantially the same area from broadcasting the network's programs not taken by the former station, or which prevents or hinders another station serving a substantially different area from broadcasting any program of the network organization. This section shall not be construed to prohibit any contract, arrangement, or understanding between a station and a network organization pursuant to which the station is granted the first call in its primary service area upon the programs of the network organization.

§ 3.103 Term of affiliation. No license shall be granted to a standard broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization which provides, by original term, provisions for renewal, or otherwise for the affiliation of the station with the network orgatization for a period longer than 2 years: Provided, That a contract, arrangement, or understanding for a period up to 2 years, may be entered into within six months prior to the commencement of such period.

§ 3.104 Option time. No license shall be granted to a standard broadcast station which options [32] for network programs any time subject to call on less than 56 days' notice, or more time than a total of 3 hours [33] within each of four segments of the broadcast day, as herein described. The broadcast day is divided into four segments, as follows: 8 a. m. to 1 p. m.; 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.; 6 p. m. to 11 p. m.; 11 p. m. to 8 a. m.[34] Such options may not be exclusive as against other network organizations and may not prevent or hinder the station from optioning or selling any or all of the time covered by the option, or other time, to other network organizations.

§ 3.105 Right to reject programs. No license shall be granted to a standard broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization which (a) with respect to programs offered pursuant to an affiliation contract, prevents or hinders the station from rejecting or refusing network programs which the station reasonably believes to be unsatisfactory or unsuitable; or which (b) with respect to network programs so offered or already contracted for, prevents the station from rejecting or refusing any program which, in its opinion, is contrary to the public interest, or from substituting a program of outstanding local or national importance.

§ 3.106 Network ownership of stations.[35] No license shall be granted to a network organization, or to any person directly or indirectly controlled by or under common control [36] with a network organization, for more than one standard broadcast station where one of the stations covers substantially the service area of the other station, or for any standard broadcast station in any locality where the existing standard broadcast stations are so few or of such unequal desirability (in terms of coverage, power, frequency, or other related matters) that competition would be substantially restrained by such licensing.

§ 3.107 Dual network operation. No license shall be issued to a standard broadcast station affiliated with a network organization which maintains more than one network: Provided, That this section shall not be applicable if such networks are not operated simultaneously, or if there is no substantial overlap in the territory served by the group of stations comprising each such network.

§ 3.108 Control by networks of station rates. No license shall be granted to a standard broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization under which the station is prevented or hindered from, or penalized for, fixing or altering its rates for the sale of broadcast time for other than the network's programs.

§ 3.109 Special rules relating to contracts providing for reservation of time upon sale of a station. (a) No license, renewal of license, assignment of license, or transfer of control of a corporate licensee shall be granted or authorized to a standard broadcast station which has a contract, arrangement or understanding, express or implied, pursuant to which, as consideration or partial consideration for the assignment of license or transfer of control, the assignor of a station license or the transferor of stock, where transfer of a corporate licensee is involved, or the nominee of such assignor or transferor retains any right of reversion of the license or any right to the reassignment of the license in the future, or reserves the right to use the facilities of the station for any period whatsoever.

(b) In the case of assignment of license or transfer of control of a corporate licensee approved by the Commission before the effective date of this section, February 15, 1949, involving a contract, arrangement or understanding of the type covered by paragraph (a) of this section and the existence and terms of which were fully disclosed to the Commission at the time of execution, the Commission will give consideration to the issuance of a license despite the existence of such contract, arrangement or understanding, if the parties thereto modify such contract within 6 months from the effective date of this section.[37] Such modifications will be considered on the facts of each case but no such modification will be approved unless the modified contract contains at least the following provisions:

(1) A maximum limitation of the time subject to reservation so that no more than 12 hours per week shall be subject to reservation, of which no more than 4 hours shall be on any given day.

(2) A clause providing that the licensee reserves the right to reject or refuse programs which he reasonably believes to be unsatisfactory or unsuitable or for which, in his opinion, a program of outstanding local or national importance should be substituted, but provision may be made for the substitution of other radio time for programs so rejected or for the payment at the station card rate for the time made unavailable.

(3) A prohibition against the resale or reassignment of any of the broadcast time reserved by such modified contract.

[31] The term "network organization" as used herein includes national and regional network organizations. See ch. VII, J, of Report on Chain Broadcasting.

[32] As used in this section, an option is any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, between a station and a network organization which prevents or hinders the station from scheduling programs before the network agrees to utilize the time during which such programs are scheduled, or which requires the station to clear time already scheduled when the network organization seeks to utilize the time.

[33] All time options permitted under this section must be for specified clock hours, expressed in terms of any time system set forth in the contract agreed upon by the station and network organization. Shifts from daylight saving to standard time or vice versa may or may not shift the specified hours correspondingly as agreed by the station and network organization.

[34] These segments are to be determined for each station in terms of local time at the location of the station but may remain constant throughout the year regardless of shifts from standard to daylight saving time or vice versa.

[35] Effective date of this section with respect to any station may be extended from time to time in order to permit the orderly disposition of properties; and it shall be suspended indefinitely with respect to regional network organizations.

[36] The word "control" as used herein is not limited to full control but includes such a measure of control as would substantially affect the availability of the station to other networks.

[37] The effective date of this section with respect to any station may be extended, upon request, until November 15, 1949, Provided, That any such station shall file with the Commission, in triplicate, on or before September 15, 1949, a complete statement under oath of the status of its negotiations to modify any contract, arrangement or understanding to insure compliance with the provisions of this section, the extent to which it has been unable to achieve such modification at the time of the report, the reason for such failure to secure the requisite modification, a statement of what further action such licensee intends to take to insure compliance with the provisions of the section, and proof of service of copies of such statement upon all other parties to such contracts, arrangements, or understandings.

(4) An express negation of any right with respect to reversion or reassignment of license.

(5) An express provision setting forth a definite expiration date of the contract, arrangement or understanding. Such expiration date shall not extend beyond February 15, 1964, and shall in no event extend beyond the expiration date originally provided for in any such contract, agreement or understanding, in the event that such expiration date is a date prior to February 15, 1964.

(6) An express provision giving to the licensee the right to terminate the contract, arrangement or understanding for substantial cause, including, but not limited to, the assignment of license or the transfer of control of a corporate licensee, consistent disagreement over programs between the parties, or the acquisition of a network affiliation by the licensee, upon the payment of a lump sum or periodic payments, and providing that the amount initially fixed shall thereafter decrease as the amount of time reserved is decreased by performance of the contract. Any such payment should not be so unduly large as to constitute in practice an effective deterrent to the licensee exercising the right of termination. In determining whether the amount is unduly large, the Commission will consider the amount by which consideration in return for the transfer of the station was decreased by reason of the reservation of time or the present value of the radio time still reserved and unused as of the date of the exercise of the right of termination.

GENERAL RULES APPLICABLE TO STANDARD BROADCAST STATIONS

§ 3.163 Discontinuance of operation. The licensee of each station shall notify the Commission in Washington, D. C., and the Engineer in Charge of the district where such station is located of permanent discontinuance of operation at least two days before operation is discontinued. The licensee, shall, in addition, immediately forward the station license and other instruments of authorization to the Washington, D. C., office of the Commission for cancellation.

§ 3.164 Station license; posting of. The station license and any other instrument of authorization or individual order concerning construction of the equipment or the manner of operation of the station shall be posted in a conspicuous place in the room in which the transmitter is located in such manner that all terms thereof are visible and the license of the station operator shall be posted in the same manner.

§ 3.165 Operator requirements. (a) The licensee of each station shall have a licensed operator or operators of the grade specified by the Commission on duty during all periods of actual operation of the transmitter at the place where the transmitting equipment is located.

(b) The licensed operator on duty and in charge of a standard broadcast transmitter may, at the discretion of the licensee, be employed for other duties or for the operation of another radio station or stations in accordance with the class of operator's license which he holds and by the rules and regulations governing such other stations: Provided, however, That such duties shall in nowise interfere with the proper operation of the standard broadcast transmitter.

§ 3.166 Period of construction. Each construction permit for a radio station in the standard broadcast service will specify a maximum of 60 days from the date of granting thereof as the time within which construction of the station shall begin, and a maximum of six months thereafter as the time within which construction shall be completed and with the station ready for operation, unless otherwise determined by the Commission upon proper showing in any particular case.

§ 3.167 Equipment tests. (a) During the process of construction of a standard broadcast station, the permittee, after notifying the Commission and Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located, may without further authority of the Commission, conduct equipment tests during the experimental period for the purpose of such adjustments and measurements as may be necessary to assure compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, the rules and regulations, and the applicable engineering standards. In addition, the Commission may authorize equipment tests other than during the experimental period if such operation is shown to be desirable to the proper completion of construction and adjustment of the transmitting equipment and antenna system. An informal application for such authority, giving full details regarding the need for such tests, shall be filed with the Commission at least two (2) days (not including Sundays and Saturdays and legal holidays when the offices of the Commission are not open) prior to the date on which it is desired to begin such operation.

(b) The Commission may notify the permittee to conduct no tests or may cancel, suspend, or change the date for the beginning of equipment tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) Equipment tests may be continued so long as the construction permit shall remain valid and shall be conducted only during the experimental period (12 midnight to local sunrise) unless otherwise specifically authorized.

(d) Inspection of a station will ordinarily be required during the equipment test period and before the commencement of program tests. After construction and after adjustments and measurements have been completed to show compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, the rules and regulations and the applicable engineering standards, the permittee should notify the Engineer In Charge of the District in which the station is located that it is ready for inspection.

(e) The authorization for tests embodied in this section shall not be construed as constituting a license to operate but as a necessary part of construction.

§ 3.168 Program tests. (a) Upon completion of construction of a standard broadcast station in accordance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, and the rules and regulations and applicable engineering standards and when an application for station license has been filed showing the station to be in satisfactory operating condition,[35] the permittee may request authority to conduct program tests: Provided, That such request shall be filed with the Commission at least ten (10) days prior to the date on which it is desired to begin such operation and that the Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located is notified.

(b) Program tests shall not commence until specific Commission authority is received. The Commission reserves the right to change the date of the beginning of such tests or to suspend or revoke the authority for program tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) Unless sooner suspended or revoked program test authority continues valid during Commission consideration of the application for license and during this period further extension of the construction permit is not required. Program test authority shall be automatically terminated by final determination upon the application for station license.

(d) All operation on program test authority shall be in strict compliance with the rules governing standard broadcast stations and in strict accordance with representations made in the application for license pursuant to which the tests were authorized.

(e) The granting of program test authority shall not be construed as approval by the Commission of the application for station license.

§ 3.169 Station inspection. The licensee of any radio station shall make the station available for inspection by representatives of the Commission at any reasonable hour.

§ 3.181 Logs. The licensee of each standard broadcast station shall maintain program and operating logs and shall require entries to be made as follows:

(a) In the program log:

(1) An entry of the time each station identification announcement (call letters and location) is made.

(2) An entry briefly describing each program broadcast, such as "music," "drama," "speech," etc., together with the name or title thereof, and the sponsor's name, with the time of the beginning and ending of the complete program. If a mechanical record is used, the entry shall show the exact nature thereof, such as "record," "transcription," etc., and the time it is announced as a mechanical record. If a speech is made by a political candidate, the name and political affiliations of such speaker shall be entered.

(3) An entry showing that each sponsored program broadcast has been announced as sponsored, paid for, or furnished by the sponsor.

(4) An entry showing, for each program of network origin, the name of the network originating the program.

(b) In the operating log:

(1) An entry of the time the station begins to supply power to the antenna, and the time it stops.

(2) An entry of the time the program begins and ends.

(3) An entry of each interruption to the carrier wave, its cause, and duration.

(4) An entry of the following each 30 minutes:

(i) Operating constants of last radio stage (total plate current and plate voltage).

(ii) Antenna current.

(iii) Frequency monitor reading.

(iv) Temperature of crystal control chamber if thermometer is used.

(5) Log of experimental operation during experimental period. (If regular operation is maintained during this period, the above logs shall be kept.)

(i) A log must be kept of all operation during the experimental period. If the entries required above are not applicable thereto, then the entries shall be made so as to fully describe the operation.

(c) Where an antenna and antenna supporting structure(s) is required to be illuminated the licensee shall make entries in the radio log appropriate to the requirements of § 3.65 as follows:

(1) The time the tower lights are turned on and off if manually controlled.

(2) The time the daily visual observation of the tower lights was made.

(3) In the event of any observed failure of a tower light.

(i) Nature of such failure.

(ii) Time the failure was observed.

(iii) Time and nature of the adjustments, repairs, or replacements made.

(iv) Airways Communication Station (CAA) notified of the failure of any code or rotation beacon light or top light not corrected within 30 minutes and the time such notice was given.

(v) Time notice was given to the Airways Communication Station (CAA) that the required illumination was resumed.

(4) Upon completion of the periodic inspection required at least once each 3 months.

(i) The date of the inspection and the condition of all tower lights and associated tower lighting control devices.

(ii) Any adjustments, replacements, or repairs made to insure compliance with the lighting requirements.

§ 3.182 Logs, retention of.[39] Logs of standard broadcast stations shall be retained by the licensee for a period of two years: Provided, however, That logs involving communications incident to a disaster or which include communications incident to or involved in an investigation by the Commission and concerning which the licensee has been notified, shall be retained by the licensee until he is specifically authorized in writing by the Commission to destroy them: Provided, further, That logs incident to or involved in any claim or complaint of which the licensee has notice shall be retained by the licensee until such claim or complaint has been fully satisfied or until the same has been barred by statute limiting the time for the filing of suits upon such claims.

§ 3.183 Logs; by whom kept. Each log shall be kept by the person or persons competent to do so, having actual knowledge of the facts required, who shall sign the log when starting duty and again when going off duty. The logs shall be made available upon request by an authorized representative of the Commission.

§ 3.184 Log form. The log shall be kept in an orderly manner, in suitable form, and in such detail that the data required for the particular class of station concerned are readily available. Key letters or abbreviations may be used if proper meaning or explanation is contained elsewhere in the log.

§ 3.185 Correction of logs. No log or portion thereof shall be erased, obliterated, or willfully destroyed within the period of retention provided by the rules. Any necessary correction may be made only by the person originating the entry who shall strike out the erroneous portion, initial the correction made, and indicate the date of correction.

§ 3.186 Rough logs. Rough logs may be transcribed into condensed form, but in such case the original log or memoranda and all portions thereof shall be preserved and made a part of the complete log.

§ 3.187 Station identification. (a) A licensee of a standard broadcast station shall make station identification announcement (call letters and location) at the beginning and ending of each time of operation and during operation (1) on the hour and (2) either on the half hour or at the quarter hour following the hour and at the quarter hour preceding the next hour: Provided,

(b) Such identification announcement need not be made on the hour when to make such announcement would interrupt a single consecutive speech, play, religious service, symphony concert, or operatic production of longer duration than 30 minutes. In such cases the identification announcement shall be made at the beginning of the program, at the first interruption of the entertainment continuity, and at the conclusion of the program.

(c) Such identification announcement need not be made on the half hour or quarter hours when to make such announcement would interrupt a single consecutive speech, play, religious service, symphony concert, or operatic production. In such cases an identification announcement shall be made at the first interruption of the entertainment continuity and at the conclusion of the program: Provided, That an announcement within 5 minutes of the times specified in paragraph (a) (2) of this section will satisfy the requirements of identification announcements.

(d) In the case of variety show programs, baseball game broadcasts, or similar programs of longer duration than 30 minutes, the identification announcement shall be made within 5 minutes of the hour and of the times specified in paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

(e) In the case of all other programs the identification announcement shall be made within 2 minutes of the hour and of the times specified in paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

(f) In making the identification announcement the call letters shall be given only on the channel of the station identified thereby, except as otherwise provided in § 3.287 of the Commission's rules governing FM broadcast stations.

§ 3.188 Mechanical records.[40] Each program broadcast which consists in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions shall be announced in the manner and to the extent set out below.

(a) Each such program of longer duration than 30 minutes, consisting in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions, shall be identified by appropriate announcement at the beginning of the program, at each 30-minute interval and at the conclusion of the program: Provided, however, That the identifying announcement at each 30-minute interval is not required in case of a mechanical reproduction consisting of a continuous uninterrupted speech, play, religious service, symphony concert, or operatic production of longer than 30 minutes.

(b) Each such program of a longer duration than 5 minutes and not in excess of 30 minutes, consisting in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions, shall be identified by an appropriate announcement at the beginning and end of the program.

(c) Each such program of 5 minutes or less, consisting in whole or in part of mechanical reproductions, shall be identified by appropriate announcement im-

[35] All data necessary to show compliance with the terms and conditions of the construction permit must be filed with the license application. If the station is using a directional antenna, a proof of performance must also be filed as required by § 3.33 (b).

[39] Attention is called to the fact, however, that application forms for licenses and other authorizations require that certain operating program data be supplied. It is suggested that these application forms be kept in mind in connection with maintenance of station program and operating records.

[40] During the annual periods in which daylight saving time will be effective the requirements of this section are waived with respect to network programs, transcribed and rebroadcast one hour later because of the time differential resulting from the adoption of daylight saving time in some areas, this waiver being applicable whether the off-the-line recording is made by the network itself at one of its key stations or by an individual station, but only when the off-the-line recording is for broadcast one hour later by those stations which operate on standard time. Furthermore, each station which broadcasts network programs one hour later in accordance with this waiver shall make an appropriate announcement at least once each day between the hours of 10 a. m. and 10 p. m., stating that some or all of the network programs which are broadcast by that station are delayed broadcasts by means of transcription, and indicating whether the transcriptions have been made by the network or the individual station. A network organization or individual station taking advantage of this waiver should so advise the Commission.

mediately preceding the use thereof: Provided, however, That each such program of one minute or less need not be announced as such.

(d) In case a mechanical reproduction is used for background music, sound effects, station identification, program identification (theme music of short duration) or identification of the sponsorship of the program proper, no announcement of the mechanical reproduction is required.

(e) The exact form of identifying announcement is not prescribed, but the language shall be clear and in terms commonly used and understood. A licensee shall not attempt affirmatively to create the impression that any program being broadcast by mechanical reproduction consists of live talent.

§ 3.189 Sponsored programs, announcement of. (a) In the case of each program for the broadcasting of which money, services, or other valuable consideration is either directly or indirectly paid or promised to, or charged or received by, any radio broadcast station, the station broadcasting such program shall make, or cause to be made, an appropriate announcement that the program is sponsored, paid for, or furnished, either in whole or in part.

(b) In the case of any political program or any program involving the discussion of public controversial issues for which any records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services of any kind are furnished, either directly or indirectly, to a station as an inducement to the broadcasting of such program, an announcement shall be made both at the beginning and conclusion of such program on which such material or services are used that such records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services have been furnished to such station in connection with the broadcasting of such program: Provided, however, That only one such announcement need be made in the case of any such program of 5 minutes' duration or less, which announcement may be made either at the beginning or the conclusion of the program.

(c) The announcement required by this section shall fully and fairly disclose the true identity of the person or persons by whom or in whose behalf such payment is made or promised, or from whom or in whose behalf such services or other valuable consideration is received, or by whom the material or services referred to in paragraph (b) of this section are furnished. Where an agent or other person contracts or otherwise makes arrangements with a station on behalf of another, and such fact is known to the station, the announcement shall disclose the identity of the person or persons in whose behalf such agent is acting instead of the name of such agent.

(d) In the case of any program, other than a program advertising commercial products or services, which is sponsored, paid for or furnished, either in whole or in part, or for which material or services referred to in paragraph (b) of this section are furnished, by a corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group, the announcement required by this section shall disclose the name of such corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group. In each such case the station shall require that a list of the chief executive officers or members of the executive committee or of the board of directors of the corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group shall be made available for public inspection at one of the radio stations carrying the program.

(e) In the case of programs advertising commercial products or services, an announcement stating the sponsor's corporate or trade name or the name of the sponsor's product, shall be deemed sufficient for the purposes of this section and only one such announcement need be made at any time during the course of the program.

§ 3.190 Broadcasts by candidates for public office—(a) Definitions. A "legally qualified candidate" means any person who has publicly announced that he is a candidate for nomination by a convention of a political party or for nomination or election in a primary, special, or general election, municipal, county, State or national, and who meets the qualifications prescribed by the applicable laws to hold the office for which he is a candidate, so that he may be voted for by the electorate directly or by means of delegates or electors, and who:

(1) Has qualified for a place on the ballot or

(2) Is eligible under the applicable law to be voted for by sticker, by writing in his name on the ballot, or other method, and (i) has been duly nominated by a political party which is commonly known and regarded as such, or (ii) makes a substantial showing that he is a bona fide candidate for nomination or office, as the case may be.

(b) General requirements. No station licensee is required to permit the use of its facilities by any legally qualified candidate for public office, but if any licensee shall permit any such candidate to use its facilities, it shall afford equal opportunities to all other such candidates for that office to use such facilities: Provided, That such licensee shall have no power of censorship over the material broadcast by any such candidate.

(c) Rates and practices. The rates, if any, charged all such candidates for the same office shall be uniform and shall not be rebated by any means, directly, or indirectly; no licensee shall make any discrimination in charges, practices, regulations, facilities, or services for or in connection with the service rendered pursuant to this part, or make or give any preference to any candidate for public office or subject any such candidate to any prejudice or disadvantage; nor shall any licensee make any contract or other agreement which shall have the effect of permitting any legally qualified candidate for any public office to broadcast to the exclusion of other legally qualified candidates for the same public office.

(d) Records; inspection. Every licensee shall keep and permit public inspection of a complete record of all requests for broadcast time made by or on behalf of candidates for public office, together with an appropriate notation showing the disposition made by the licensee of such requests, and the charges made, if any, if request is granted.

§ 3.191 Rebroadcast. (a) The term "rebroadcast" means reception by radio of the program [41] of a radio station, and the simultaneous or subsequent retransmission of such program by a broadcast station.[42]

(b) The licensee of a standard broadcast station may, without further authority of the Commission, rebroadcast the program of a United States standard or high frequency broadcast station, provided the Commission is notified of the call letters of each station rebroadcast and the licensee certifies that express authority has been received from the licensee of the station originating the program.[43]

(c) (1) The licensee of the standard broadcast station located within a state or the District of Columbia, may, without further authority of the Commission rebroadcast on a noncommercial basis a noncommercial program of a United States international broadcast station.

(2) The licensee of a standard broadcast station located in any territory or insular possession of the United States may, without further authority of the Commission, rebroadcast any program of a United States international broadcast station.

(3) In the case of any rebroadcast under the provisions of this paragraph, the Commission shall be notified of the call letters of each station whose programs are rebroadcast and the licensee shall certify that express authority has been received from the licensee of the station originating the program.

(d) No licensee of a standard broadcast station shall rebroadcast the program of any other class of United States radio station without written authority having first been obtained from the Commission upon application accompanied by written consent or certification of consent of the licensee of the station originating the program.[44][45][46]

[41] As used in § 3.191, program includes any complete program or part thereof, or any signals if other than A–3 emission.

[42] In case a program is transmitted from its point of origin to a broadcast station entirely by telephone facilities in which a section of such transmission is by radio, the broadcasting of this program is not considered a rebroadcast.

[43] The notice and certification of consent shall be given within 3 days of any single rebroadcast, but in case of the regular practice of rebroadcasting certain programs of a standard broadcast station on several times during a license period, notice and certification of consent shall be given for the ensuing license period with the application for renewal of license, or at the beginning of such rebroadcast practice if begun during a license period.

[44] The broadcasting of a program relayed by a remote pick-up broadcast station (§ 4.401 of this chapter) is not considered a rebroadcast.

[45] Informal application may be employed.

[46] By Order No. 82, dated and effective June 24, 1941, until further order of the Commission, § 3.191 (d) is suspended only insofar as it requires prior written authority of the Commission for the rebroadcasting of programs originated for that express purpose by United States Government radio stations.

(e) In case of a program rebroadcast by several standard broadcast stations, such as a chain rebroadcast, the person legally responsible for distributing the program or the network facilities may obtain the necessary authorization for the entire rebroadcast both from the Commission and from the person or licensee of the station originating the program.

Attention is directed to section 325 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, which reads as follows:

> No person shall be permitted to locate, use, or maintain a radio broadcast studio or other place or apparatus from which or whereby sound waves are converted into electrical energy, or mechanical or physical reproduction of sound waves produced, and caused to be transmitted or delivered to a radio station in a foreign country for the purpose of being broadcast from any radio station there, having a power output of sufficient intensity, and/or being so located geographically that its emissions may be received consistently in the United States, without first obtaining a permit from the Commission upon proper application therefor.[47]

§ 3.192 Lotteries and give-away programs.[48] (a) An application for construction permit, license, renewal of license, or any other authorization for the operation of a broadcast station, will not be granted where the applicant proposes to follow or continue to follow a policy or practice of broadcasting or permitting "the broadcasting of any advertisement of or information concerning any lottery, gift enterprise, or similar scheme, offering prizes dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance, or any list of the prizes drawn or awarded by means of any such lottery, gift enterprise, or scheme, whether said list contains any part or all of such prizes." (See 18 U. S. C. sec. 1304.)

(b) The determination whether a particular program comes within the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section depends on the facts of each case. However, the Commission will in any event consider that a program comes within the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section if in connection with such program a prize consisting of money or thing of value is awarded to any person whose selection is dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance, if as a condition of winning or competing for such prize:

(1) Such winner or winners are required to furnish any money or thing of value or are required to have in their possession any product sold, manufactured, furnished or distributed by a sponsor of a program broadcast on the station in question; or

(2) Such winner or winners are required to be listening to or viewing the program in question on a radio or television receiver; or

(3) Such winner or winners are required to answer correctly a question, the answer to which is given on a program broadcast over the station in question or where aid to answering the question correctly is given on a program broadcast over the station in question. For the purposes of this provision the broadcasting of the question to be answered over the radio station on a previous program will be considered as an aid in answering the question correctly; or

(4) Such winner or winners are required to answer the phone in a prescribed manner or with a prescribed phrase, or are required to write a letter in a prescribed manner or containing a prescribed phrase, if the prescribed manner of answering the phone or writing the letter or the prescribed phrase to be used over the phone or in the letter (or an aid in ascertaining the prescribed phrase or the prescribed manner of answering the phone or writing the letter) is, or has been, broadcast over the station in question.

[48] The Commission on Sept. 21, 1949, adopted an order which reads in part as follows:

> It is ordered, That, effective immediately, the effective date of §§ 3.192, 3.292 and 3.692 of the Commission's rules is hereby postponed until a date to be fixed by further order, which shall be at least thirty days after a final decision by the Supreme Court of the United States, or thirty days after the time within which an apepal to the Supreme Court may be taken has expired without such an appeal being taken, in pending litigation with respect to these rules.

SUBPART B—RULES GOVERNING FM BROADCAST STATIONS

CLASSIFICATION OF FM BROADCAST STATIONS AND ALLOCATION OF FREQUENCIES

§ 3.201 Numerical designation of FM broadcast channels. For convenience, the frequencies available for FM broadcasting (including those assigned to noncommercial educational broadcasting) are given numerical designations which are shown in the table below:

Frequency (Mc):	Channel No.	Frequency (Mc):	Channel No.
88.1	201	95.3	237
88.5	203	95.7	239

§ 3.202 Areas of the United States. For the purpose of allocation the United States is divided into two areas. The first area—area I—includes southern New Hampshire; all of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut; southeastern New York as far north as Albany-Troy-Schenectady; all of New Jersey, Delaware, and the District of Columbia; Maryland as far west as Hagerstown; and eastern Pennsylvania as far west as Harrisburg.[1] The second area—area II—comprehends the remainder of the United States not included in area I.

§ 3.203 Class A stations. (a) A Class A station is a station which operates on a Class A channel and is designed to render service primarily to a community or to a city or town other than the principal city of an area, and the surrounding rural area. The coverage of a Class A station shall be not more than the equivalent [2] of 1 kilowatt effective radiated power and antenna height of 250 feet above average terrain, as determined by the methods prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations. A Class A station will not be licensed with more than 1 kilowatt effective radiated power. The power rating of the transmitter used for a Class A station shall be not less than 250 watts nor more than 1 kilowatt. The signal intensity requirements of section 2 of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations shall determine the minimum coverage of a Class A station. Class A stations will normally be protected to the 1 mv/m contour; however, assignments will be made in a manner to insure, insofar as possible, a maximum of service to all listeners, whether urban or rural, giving consideration to the minimum signal capable of providing service.

[1] In some of the territory contiguous to area I, the demand for frequencies requires that applications be given careful study and consideration to insure an equitable distribution of facilities throughout the region. This region includes the remainder of Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New York (except the northeastern corner) not included in area I; Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, and Indiana; southern Michigan as far north as Saginaw; eastern Illinois as far west as Rockford-Decatur; and southeastern Wisconsin as far north as Sheboygan. Other regions may be added as required.

[2] For the purpose of determining equivalent coverage, the 1 mv/m contour should be used.

(b) The following frequencies are designated as class A channels and are assigned for use by class A stations:

Frequency (Mc):	Channel No.	Frequency (Mc):	Channel No.
92.1	221	100.1	261
92.7	224	100.9	265
93.5	228	101.7	269
94.3	232	102.3	272
95.3	237	103.1	276
95.9	240	103.9	280
96.7	244	104.9	285
97.7	249	105.5	288
98.3	252	106.3	292
99.3	257	107.1	296

These channels are available for assignment (1) in cities which are not the central city or cities of a metropolitan district, and (2) in central cities of metropolitan districts which have fewer than six Class B stations.

(c) The main studio of a Class A station shall be located in the city served and the transmitter shall be located as near the center of the city as practicable.

§ 3.204 Class B stations. (a) A Class B station is a station which operates on a Class B channel and is designed to render service primarily to a metropolitan district or principal city and the surrounding rural area, or to rural areas removed from large centers of population. The service area of a Class B station will not be protected beyond the 1 mv/m contour; however, Class B assignments will be made in a manner to insure, insofar as possible, a maximum of service to all listeners, whether urban or rural, giving consideration to the minimum signal capable of providing service. Standard power ratings of transmitters used for Class B stations shall be 1 kw. or greater. The signal intensity requirements of section 2 of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations shall determine the minimum coverage of a Class B station. In the following subparagraphs antenna height above average terrain and effective radiated power are to be determined by the methods prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

(1) The coverage of a Class B station in Area I shall be not more than the equivalent[3] of 20 kilowatts effective radiated power and antenna height of 500 feet above average terrain.[4] A Class B station in Area I will not be licensed with an effective radiated power greater than 20 kilowatts.

(2) The coverage of a Class B station in Area II shall normally be not more than the equivalent[3] of 20 kilowatts effective radiated power and antenna height of 500 feet above average terrain.[4] The use of greater power and antenna height will be encouraged in those portions of Area II where such use would not result in undue interference to stations already authorized or to probable assignments insofar as can be determined at the time of the grant. In such case, the power, antenna height, and area will be determined on the merits of each application with particular attention being given to rural areas which would not otherwise receive service.

(b) The following frequencies are designated as class B channels and are assigned for use by class B stations:

Frequency (Mc):	Channel No.	Frequency (Mc):	Channel No.
92.3	222	100.3	262
92.5	223	100.5	263
92.9	225	100.7	264
93.1	226	101.1	266
93.3	227	101.3	267
93.7	229	101.5	268
93.9	230	101.9	270
94.1	231	102.1	271
94.5	233	102.5	273

§ 3.205 Station location and program origination. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, each FM broadcast station will be licensed to serve primarily a particular city, town, or other political subdivision which will be specified in the station license and the station will be considered to be located in such place. Each station shall maintain a studio, which will be known as the main studio, in the place where the station is located provided that the main studio may be located at the transmitter site whether or not the transmitter site is in the place where the station is located. A majority (computed on the basis of duration and not number) of a station's programs or in the case of a station affiliated with a network, two-thirds of such station's non-network programs, whichever is smaller, shall originate from the main studio or from other studios or remote points situated in the place where the station is located.

(b) Stations will be licensed to serve more than one city, town, or other political subdivision, only where a satisfactory showing is made that each such place meets all the requirements of the rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice with respect to the location of main studios; that the station can and will originate a substantial number of local live programs from each such place; and that the requirements as to origination of programs contained in paragraph (a) of this section would place an unreasonable burden on the station if it were licensed to serve only one city, town or other political subdivision. A station licensed to serve more than one place shall be considered to be located in and shall maintain main studios in each such place. With respect to such station the requirements as to origination of programs contained in paragraph (a) of this section shall be satisfied by the origination of programs from any or all of the main studios or from other studios and remote points situated in any or all of the places in which the main studios are located.

(c) The transmitter of each FM broadcast station shall be so located that satisfactory service is delivered to the city where the main studio is located, in accordance with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations: Provided, however, Upon special showing of need, authorization may be granted to locate the transmitter so that adequate service is not rendered to this city, but in no event shall this city be beyond the 50 uv/m contour.

RULES GOVERNING ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE

§ 3.211 Application for FM broadcast stations. If the application is for a construction permit or for modification of an existing authorization, FCC Form 301 shall be filed; if for a license, FCC Form 302 shall be filed; if for a renewal of license, FCC Form 303 shall be filed.

§ 3.212 Full disclosures. Each application shall contain full and complete disclosures with regard to the real party or parties in interest, and their legal, technical, financial, and other qualifications, and as to all matters and things required to be disclosed by the application forms.

§ 3.213 Installation of apparatus. Applications for construction permits or modification thereof involving the installation of new transmitting apparatus should be filed at least 60 days prior to the contemplated installation.

§ 3.214 Period of construction. Each construction permit will specify a maximum of 60 days from the date of granting thereof as the time within which construction of the station shall begin, and a maximum of 6 months thereafter as the time within which construction shall be completed and the station ready for operation, unless otherwise determined by the Commission upon proper showing in any particular case.

§ 3.215 Forfeiture of construction permits; extension of time. (a) A construction permit shall be automatically forfeited if the station is not ready for operation within the time specified therein or within such further time as the Commission may have allowed for completion, and a notation of the forfeiture of any construction permit under this

[3] For the purpose of determining equivalent coverage, the 1 mv/m contour should be used.

[4] In the determination of appropriate coverage, consideration should be given to population distribution, terrain, service from other FM stations, trade area, and other economic factors. Among the recognized trade area authorities are the following: J. Walter Thompson (Retail Shopping Areas), Hearst Magazines, Inc. (Consumer Trading Areas), Rand McNally Map Co. (Trading Areas) and Hagstrom Map Co. (Four color Retail Trading Area Map).

provision will be placed in the records of the Commission as of the expiration date.

(b) Any application[5] for extension of time within which to construct a station shall be filed at least 30 days prior to the expiration date of such permit if the facts supporting such application for extension are known to the applicant in time to permit such filing. In other cases such applications will be accepted upon a showing satisfactory to the Commission of sufficient reasons for filing within less than 30 days prior to the expiration date. Such applications will be granted upon a specific and detailed showing that the failure to complete was due to causes not under the control of the grantee, or upon a specific and detailed showing of other matters sufficient to justify the extension.

(c) If a construction permit has been allowed to expire for any reason, application may be made for a new permit on FCC Form 321, "Application for Construction Permit to Replace Expired Permit."

§ 3.216 Equipment tests. (a) During the process of construction of an FM broadcast station, the permittee, after notifying the Commission and Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located, may without further authority of the Commission, conduct equipment tests for the purpose of such adjustments and measurments as may be necessary to assure compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, the rules and regulations, and the applicable engineering standards.

(b) The Commission may notify the permittee to conduct no tests or may cancel, suspend, or change the date for the beginning of equipment tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) Equipment tests may be continued so long as the construction permit shall remain valid.

(d) Inspection of a station will ordinarily be required during the equipment test period and before the commencement of the program test. After construction and after adjustments and measurements have been completed to show compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, the rules and regulations and the applicable engineering standards, the permittee should notify the Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located that it is ready for inspection.

(e) The authorization for tests embodied in this section shall not be construed as constituting a license to operate but as a necessary part of construction.

§ 3.217 Program tests. (a) Upon completion of construction of an FM broadcast station in accordance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, and the rules and regulations and the applicable engineering standards and when an application for station license has been filed showing the station to be in satisfactory operating condition,[6] the permittee may request authority to conduct program tests: Provided, That such request shall be filed with the Commission at least ten (10) days prior to the date on which it is desired to begin such operation and that the Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located is notified.

(b) Program tests shall not commence until specific Commission authority is received. The Commission reserves the right to change the date of the beginning of such tests or to suspend or revoke the authority for program tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) Unless sooner suspended or revoked program test authority continues valid during Commission consideration of the application for license and during this period further extension of the construction permit is not required. Program test authority shall be automatically terminated by final determination upon the application for station license.

(d) All operation under program test authority shall be in strict compliance with the rules governing FM broadcast stations and in strict accordance with representations made in the application for license pursuant to which the tests were authorized.

(e) The granting of program test authority shall not be construed as approval by the Commission of the application for station license.

§ 3.218 Normal license period. (a) All initial licenses covering construction permits for new FM broadcast stations will be issued so as to expire at the hour of 3 a. m., eastern standard time, and will be issued for a minimum period of one year and a maximum period of one year and 11 months to expire in accordance with the following schedule:

(1) For stations operating on the frequencies 92.1, 92.7, 93.5, 94.3, 95.3, 95.9, 96.7, 97.7, 98.3, 99.3 Mcs., June 1.

(2) For stations operating on the frequencies 100.1, 100.9, 101.7, 102.3, 103.1, 103.9, 104.9, 105.5, 106.3, 107.1 Mcs., September 1.

(3) For stations operating on the frequencies 100.3, 100.5, 100.7, 101.1, 101.3, 101.5, 101.9, 102.1 102.5, 102.7, 102.9, 103.3, 103.5, 103.7, 104.1, 104.3, 104.5, 104.7, 105.1, 105.3, 105.7, 105.9, 106.1, 106.5, 106.7, 106.9, 107.3, 107.5, 107.7, 107.9 Mcs., December 1.

(4) For stations operating on the frequencies 92.3, 92.5, 92.9, 93.1, 93.3, 93.7, 93.9, 94.1, 94.5, 94.7, 94.9, 95.1, 95.5, 95.7, 96.1, 96.3, 96.5, 96.9, 97.1, 97.3, 97.5, 97.9, 98.1, 98.5, 98.7, 98.9, 99.1, 99.5, 99.7, 99.9 Mcs., March 1.

(b) All renewals of FM broadcast station licenses will be issued so as to expire at the hour of 3 a. m., eastern standard time, and will be issued for a maximum period of three years to expire in accordance with the following schedule and at 3-year intervals thereafter:

(1) For stations operating on the frequencies 92.1, 92.7, 93.5 Mcs., June 1, 1948.

(2) For stations operating on the frequencies 100.1, 100.9, 101.7 Mcs., September 1, 1948.

(3) For stations operating on the frequencies 100.3, 100.5, 100.7, 101.1, 101.3, 101.5, 101.9, 102.1, 102.5, 102.7 Mcs., December 1, 1948.

(4) For stations operating on the frequencies 92.3, 92.5, 92.9, 93.1, 93.3, 93.7, 93.9, 94.1, 94.5, 94.7 Mcs., March 1, 1949.

(5) For stations operating on the frequencies 94.3, 95.3, 95.9 Mcs., June 1, 1949.

(6) For stations operating on the frequencies 102.3, 103.1, 103.9 Mcs., September 1, 1949.

(7) For stations operating on the frequencies 102.9, 103.3, 103.5, 103.7, 104.1, 104.3, 104.5, 104.7, 105.1, 105.3 Mcs., December 1, 1949.

(8) For stations operating on the frequencies 94.9, 95.1, 95.5, 95.7, 96.1, 96.3, 96.5, 96.9, 97.1, 97.3 Mcs., March 1, 1950.

(9) For stations operating on the frequencies 96.7, 97.7, 98.3, 99.3 Mcs., June 1, 1950.

(10) For stations operating on the frequencies 104.9, 105.5, 106.3, 107.1 Mcs., September 1, 1950.

(11) For stations operating on the frequencies 105.7, 105.9, 106.1, 106.5, 106.7, 106.9, 107.3, 107.5, 107.7, 107.9 Mcs., December 1, 1950.

(12) For stations operating on the frequencies 97.5, 97.9, 98.1, 98.5, 98.7, 98.9, 99.1, 99.5, 99.7, 99.9 Mcs., March 1, 1951.

§ 3.219 License, simultaneous modification and renewal. When an application is granted by the Commission necessitating the issuance of a modified license less than 60 days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be modified, and an application for renewal of said license is granted subsequent or prior thereto (but within 30 days of expiration of the present license) the modified license as well as the renewal license shall be issued to conform to the combined action of the Commission.

§ 3.220 Renewal of license. (a) Unless otherwise directed by the Commission, each application for renewal of an FM broadcast station license shall be filed at least 60 days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be renewed (Form FCC No. 303). No application for renewal of license of an FM broadcast station will be considered unless there is on file with the Commission, the information currently required by §§ 1.341–1.344 of this chapter, reference to which by date and file number shall be included in the application.

(b) Whenever the Commission regards an application for a renewal of an FM broadcast station license as essential to the proper conduct of a hearing or investigation, and specifically directs that it be filed by a date certain, such application shall be filed within the time thus specified. If the licensee fails to file such application within the prescribed time, the hearing or investigation shall proceed as if such renewal application had been received.

[6] All data necessary to show compliance with the terms and conditions of the construction permit must be filed with the license application.

§ 3.221 Temporary extension of station licenses. Where there is pending before the Commission any application, investigation, or proceeding which, after hearing, might lead to or make necessary the modification of, revocation of, or the refusal to renew an existing FM broadcast station license, the Commission may, in its discretion, grant a temporary extension of such license: Provided, however, That no such temporary extension shall be construed as a finding by the Commission that the operation of any radio station thereunder will serve public interest, convenience, and necessity beyond the express terms of such temporary extension of license: And provided further, That such temporary extension of license will in no wise affect or limit the action of the Commission with respect to any pending application or proceeding.

§ 3.222 Repetitious applications. (a) Where an applicant has been afforded an opportunity to be heard with respect to a particular application for a new FM broadcast station, or for change of existing service or facilities, and the Commission has, after hearing or default, denied the application or dismissed it with prejudice, the Commission will not consider another application for a station of the same class to serve in whole or in part the same area, by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf of or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, until after the lapse of 12 months from the effective date of the Commission's order.

(b) Where an appeal has been taken from the action of the Commission in denying a particular application, another application for the same class of broadcast station and for the same area, in whole or in part, filed by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, will not be considered until the final disposition of such appeal.

§ 3.223 Assignment or transfer of control—(a) Voluntary. Application for consent to voluntary assignment of an FM broadcast station construction permit or license or for consent to voluntary transfer of control of a corporation holding an FM broadcast station construction permit or license shall be filed with the Commission on Form FCC No. 314 (Assignment of License), Form FCC No. 315 (Transfer of Control) or Form FCC No. 316 (Short Form) at least 60 days prior to the contemplated effective date of assignment or transfer of control.

(b) Pro forma. Assignment or transfer applications shall be filed on FCC Form 316 where:

(1) There is an assignment from an individual or individuals (including partnerships) to a corporation owned and controlled by such individuals or partnerships without any substantial change in their relative interests;

(2) There is an assignment from a corporation to its individual stockholders without effecting any substantial change in the disposition of their interests;

(3) There is an assignment or transfer by which certain partners or stockholders retire but no new ones are brought in, provided that the interest transferred is not a controlling one;

(4) There is a corporate reorganization which involves no substantial change in the beneficial ownership of the corporation;

(5) There is an involuntary transfer to an Executor, Administrator or other court appointed officer caused by death or legal disability except that this form does not cover assignments (or transfers) from the Executor, Administrator or other court appointed officers to the ultimate beneficiary;

(6) There is an assignment or transfer from a corporation to a wholly owned subsidiary thereof or vice versa, or where there is an assignment from a corporation to a corporation owned or controlled by the assignor stockholders without substantial change in their interests.

(7) There is an assignment of less than a controlling interest in a partnership.

(c) Involuntary. In the event of the death or legal disability of a permittee or licensee, or a member of a partnership, or a person directly or indirectly in control of a corporation, which is a permittee or licensee:

(1) The Commission shall be notified in writing promptly of the occurrence of such death or legal disability, and

(2) Within 30 days after the occurrence of such death or legal disability, application on Form FCC No. 316 shall be filed for consent to involuntary assignment of such FM broadcast station permit or license or for involuntary transfer of control of such corporation to a person or entity legally qualified to succeed to the foregoing interests under the laws of the place having jurisdiction over the estate involved.

RULES RELATING TO LICENSING POLICIES

§ 3.231 Exclusive affiliation of station. No license shall be granted to an FM broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization [9] under which the station is prevented or hindered from, or penalized for, broadcasting the programs of any other network organization.

§ 3.232 Territorial exclusivity. No license shall be granted to an FM broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization which prevents or hinders another broadcast station serving substantially the same area from broadcasting the network's programs not taken by the former station, or which prevents or hinders another broadcast station serving a substantially different area from broadcasting any program of the network organization. This section shall not be construed to prohibit any contract, arrangement, or understanding between a station and a network organization pursuant to which the station is granted the first call in its primary service area upon the programs of the network organization.

[9] The term "network organization" as used herein includes national and regional network organizations. See ch. VII, J, of Report on Chain Broadcasting.

§ 3.233 Term of affiliation. No license shall be granted to an FM broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization which provides, by original terms, provisions for renewal, or otherwise for the affiliation of the station with the network organization for a period longer than 2 years: Provided, That a contract, arrangement, or understanding for a period up to 2 years, may be entered into within 6 months prior to the commencement of such period.

§ 3.234 Option time. No license shall be granted to an FM broadcast station which options [9] for network programs any time subject to call on less than 56 days' notice, or more time than a total of 3 hours [10] within each of four segments of the broadcast day, as herein described. The broadcast day is divided into four segments, as follows: 8 a. m. to 1 p. m.; 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.; 6 p. m. to 11 p. m.; 11 p. m. to 8 a. m.[11] Such options may not be exclusive as against other network organizations and may not prevent or hinder the station from optioning or selling any or all of the time covered by the option, or other time, to other network organizations.

§ 3.235 Right to reject programs. No license shall be granted to an FM broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization which (a), with respect to programs offered pursuant to an affiliation contract, prevents or hinders the station from rejecting or refusing network programs which the station reasonably believes to be unsatisfactory or unsuitable; or which (b), with respect to network programs so offered or already contracted for, prevents the station from rejecting or refusing any program which, in its opinion, is contrary to the public interest, or from substituting a program of outstanding local or national importance.

§ 3.236 Network ownership of stations. No license shall be granted to a network organization, or to any person directly or indirectly controlled by or under common control [12] of a network organization, for an FM broadcast station in any locality where the existing FM broadcast stations are so few or of such unequal desirability (in terms of coverage, power, frequency, or other related matters) that competition would be substantially restrained by such licensing.

[9] As used in this section, an option is any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, between a station and a network organization which prevents or hinders the station from scheduling programs before the network agrees to utilize the time during which such programs are scheduled, or which requires the station to clear time already scheduled when the network organization seeks to utilize the time.

[10] All time options permitted under this section must be specified clock hours, expressed in terms of any time system set forth in the contract agreed upon by the station and network organization. Shifts from daylight saving to standard time or vice versa may or may not shift the specified hours correspondingly as agreed by the station and network organization.

[11] These segments are to be determined for each station in terms of local time at the location of the station but may remain constant throughout the year regardless of shifts from standard to daylight saving time or vice versa.

§ 3.237 Dual network operation. No license shall be issued to an FM broadcast station affiliated with a network organization which maintains more than one network of FM broadcast stations: Provided, That this section shall not be applicable if such networks are not operated simultaneously, or if there is no substantial overlap in the territory served by the group of stations comprising each such network.

§ 3.238 Control by networks of station rates. No license shall be granted to an FM broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization under which the station is prevented or hindered from, or penalized for, fixing or altering its rates for the sale of broadcast time for other than the network's programs.

§ 3.239 Use of common antenna site. No FM broadcast station license or renewal of FM broadcast station license will be granted to any person who owns, leases, or controls a particular site which is peculiarly suitable for FM broadcasting in a particular area and (a) which is not available for use by other FM broadcast station licensees; and (b) no other comparable site is available in the area; and (c) where the exclusive use of such site by the applicant or licensee would unduly limit the number of FM broadcast stations that can be authorized in a particular area or would unduly restrict competition among FM broadcast stations.

§ 3.240 Multiple ownership. (a) No person (including all persons under common control) [13] shall, directly or indirectly, own, operate, or control more than one FM broadcast station that would serve substantially the same service area as another FM broadcast station owned, operated, or controlled by such person.

(b) No person (including all persons under common control) shall, directly or indirectly, own, operate, or control more than one FM broadcast station, except upon a showing (1) that such ownership, operation, or control would foster competition among FM broadcast stations or provide an FM broadcasting service distinct and separate from existing services, and (2) that such ownership, operation, or control would not result in the concentration of control of FM broadcasting facilities in a manner inconsistent with public interest, convenience, or necessity: Provided, however, That the Commission will consider the ownership, operation, or control of more than six FM broadcast stations to constitute the concentration of control of FM broadcasting facilities in a manner inconsistent with public interest, convenience, or necessity.

§ 3.241 Special rules relating to contracts providing for reservation of time upon sale of a station. (a) No license, renewal of license, assignment of license, or transfer of control of a corporate licensee shall be granted or authorized to a FM broadcast station which has a contract, arrangement or understanding, express or implied, pursuant to which, as consideration or partial consideration for the assignment of license or transfer of control, the assignor of a station license or the transferror of stock, where transfer of a corporate licensee is involved, or the nominee of such assignor or transferror retains any right of reversion of the license or any right to the reassignment of the license in the future, or reserves the right to use the facilities of the station for any period whatsoever.

(b) In the case of assignment of license or transfer of control of a corporate licensee approved by the Commission before the effective date of this section, February 15, 1949, involving a contract, arrangement or understanding of the type covered by paragraph (a) of this section and the existence and terms of which were fully disclosed to the Commission at the time of execution, the Commission will give consideration to the issuance of a license despite the existence of such contract, arrangement or understanding, if the parties thereto modify such contract within 6 months from the effective date of this section. Such modification will be considered on the facts of each case but no such modification will be approved unless the modified contract contains at least the following provisions:

(1) A maximum limitation of the time subject to reservation so that no more than 12 hours per week shall be subject to reservation, of which no more than 4 hours shall be on any given day.

(2) A clause providing that the licensee reserves the right to reject or refuse programs which he reasonably believes to be unsatisfactory or unsuitable or for which, in his opinion, a program of outstanding local or national importance should be substituted, but provision may be made for the substitution of other radio time for programs so rejected or for the payment at the station card rate for the time made unavailable.

(3) A prohibition against the resale or reassignment of any of the broadcast time reserved by such modified contract.

(4) An express negation of any right with respect to reversion or reassignment of license.

(5) An express provision setting forth a definite expiration date of the contract arrangement or understanding. Such expiration date shall not extend beyond February 15, 1964 and shall in no event extend beyond the expiration date originally provided for in any such contract, agreement or understanding, in the event that such expiration date is a date prior to February 15, 1964.

(6) An express provision giving to the licensee the right to terminate the contract, arrangement or understanding for substantial cause, including, but not limited to, the assignment of license or the transfer of control of a corporate licensee, consistent disagreement over programs between the parties, or the acquisition of a network affiliation by the licensee, upon the payment of a lump sum or periodic payments, and providing that the amount initially fixed shall thereafter decrease as the amount of time reserved is decreased by performance of the contract. Any such payment should not be so unduly large as to constitute in practice an effective deterrent to the licensee exercising the right. In determining whether the amount is unduly large, the Commission will consider the amount by which consideration in return for the transfer of the station was decreased by reason of the reservation of time or the present value of the radio time still reserved and unused as of the date of the exercise of the right of termination.

RULES RELATING TO EQUIPMENT

§ 3.251 Transmitter power. The standard power rating and operating power range of transmitters shall be in accordance with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.252 Frequency monitor. The licensee of each FM broadcast station shall have in operation at the transmitter an approved frequency monitor independent of the frequency control of the transmitter. For detailed requirements thereof see Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.253 Modulation monitor. The licensee of each FM broadcast station shall have in operation at the transmitter an approved modulation monitor. For detailed requirements thereof see Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.254 Required transmitter performance.[14] (a) The construction, installation, operation and performance of the FM broadcast transmitting system shall be in accordance with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations (sections 8 and 13). The licensee of each FM broadcast station shall make the following equipment performance measurements at least at yearly intervals. (One such set of measurements shall be made during the four-month period preceding the date of filing application for renewal of station license.)[15]

[12] The word "control" as used herein, is not limited to full control but includes such a measure of control as would substantially affect the availability of the station to other networks.

[13] The word "control" as used herein is not limited to majority stock ownership, but includes actual working control in whatever manner exercised.

[14] In view of the fact that it is doubtful whether equipment necessary for certain of the measurements prescribed by this paragraph can be timely obtained, the effective date of the requirement that the equipment performance measurements be made at yearly intervals is extended from August 1, 1948 to August 1, 1949.

[15] Applications for renewal of licenses expiring prior to February 1, 1950 are not required to indicate that these measurements have been made; applications for renewal of licenses expiring on or after February 1, 1950 shall indicate that the measurements have been made.

(1) Audio frequency response from 50 to 15,000 cycles for approximately 25, 50 and 100 percent modulation. Measurements shall be made on at least the following audio frequencies: 50, 100, 400, 1000, 5000, 10,000 and 15,000 cycles. The frequency response measurements should normally be made without deemphasis; however, standard 75 microsecond deemphasis may be employed in the measuring equipment or system provided the accuracy of the deemphasis circuit is sufficient to insure that the measured response is within the prescribed limits.

(2) Audio frequency harmonic distortion for 25, 50 and 100 percent modulation for the fundamental frequencies of 50, 100, 400, 1000, and 5000 cycles. Audio frequency harmonics for 100 percent modulation for fundamental frequencies of 10,000 and 15,000 cycles. Measurements shall normally include harmonics to 30,000 cycles. The distortion measurements shall be made employing 75 microsecond deemphasis in the measuring equipment or system.

(3) Output noise level (frequency modulation) in the band of 50 to 15,000 cycles in decibels below the audio frequency level representing a frequency swing of 75 kilocycles. The noise measurements shall be made employing 75 microsecond deemphasis in the measuring equipment or system.

(4) Output noise level (amplitude modulation) in the band of 50 to 15,000 cycles in decibels below the level representing 100 percent amplitude modulation. The noise measurements shall be made employing 75 microsecond deemphasis in the measuring equipment or system. All measurements shall be made with the equipment adjusted for normal program operation and shall include all circuits between the main studio microphone terminals and the antenna output, including telephone lines, preemphasis circuits and any equalizers employed except for microphones, and without compression if a compression amplifier is installed.

(b) The above data, diagrams and appropriate graphs together with a description of measurement procedures and instruments, signed by the engineer making the measurements, shall be kept on file at the transmitter and shall be made available upon request to any duly authorized representative of the Federal Communications Commission.

§ 3.255 Auxiliary transmitter. Upon showing that a need exists for the use of an auxiliary transmitter in addition to the regular transmitter of an FM broadcast station, a license therefor may be issued: Provided, That:

(a) An auxiliary transmitter may be installed either at the same location as the main transmitter or at another location.

(b) A licensed operator shall be in control whenever an auxiliary transmitter is placed in operation.

(c) The auxiliary transmitter shall be maintained so that it may be put into immediate operation at any time for the following purposes:

(1) The transmission of the regular programs upon the failure of the main transmitter.

(2) The transmission of regular programs during maintenance or modification [14] work on the main transmitter, necessitating discontinuance of its operation for a period not to exceed 5 days.

(3) Upon request by a duly authorized representative of the Commission.

(d) The auxiliary transmitter shall be tested at least once each week to determine that it is in proper operating condition and that it is adjusted to the proper frequency, except that in case of operation in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section during any week, the test in that week may be omitted provided the operation under paragraph (c) is satisfactory. A record shall be kept of the time and result of each test operating under paragraph (c). Tests shall be conducted only between midnight and 6 a. m., local standard time.

(e) The auxiliary transmitter shall be equipped with satisfactory control equipment which will enable the maintenance of the frequency emitted by the station within the limits prescribed by the regulations in this part.

(f) The operating power of an auxiliary transmitter may be less than the authorized power of the main transmitter, but in no event shall it be greater than such power.

§ 3.256 Alternate main transmitters. The licensee of an FM broadcast station may be licensed for alternate main transmitters provided that a technical need [15] for such alternate transmitters is shown and that the following conditions are met:

(a) Both transmitters are located at the same place.

(b) Both transmitters shall have the same power rating.

(c) Both transmitters shall meet the construction, installation, operation, and performance requirements of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.257 Changes in equipment and antenna system. Licensees of FM broadcast stations shall observe the following provisions with regard to changes in equipment and antenna system:

(a) No changes in equipment shall be made:

(1) That would result in the emission of signals outside of the authorized channel.

(2) That would result in the external performance of the transmitter being in disagreement with that prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

(b) Specific authority, upon filing formal application (Form FCC No. 301) therefor, is required for a change in service area or for any of the following changes:

(1) Changes involving an increase or decrease in the power rating of the transmitter.

(2) A replacement of the transmitter as a whole.

(3) Change in the location of the transmitting antenna.

(4) Change in antenna system, including transmission line.

(5) Change in location of main studio, if it is proposed to move the main studio to a different city from that specified in the license.

(6) Change in the power delivered to the antenna.

(7) Change in frequency control and/or modulation system.

(c) Specific authority, upon filing informal request therefor, is required for a change in the indicating instruments installed to measure transmitter power output, except by instruments of the same maximum scale reading and accuracy.

(d) Other changes, except as above provided for in this section or in Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations prescribed by the Commission may be made at any time without the authority of the Commission: Provided, That the Commission shall be promptly notified thereof and such changes shall be shown in the next application for renewal of license.

RULES RELATING TO TECHNICAL OPERATION

§ 3.261 Time of operation. All FM broadcast stations will be licensed for unlimited time operation. Until further notice a minimum of 6 hours per day of operation will be required, which shall consist of 3 hours during the period 6 a. m. to 6 p. m., local standard time, and 3 hours during the period 6 p. m. to midnight, local standard time. In an emergency, however, when due to causes beyond the control of a licensee, it becomes impossible to continue operation, the station may cease operation for a period not to exceed 10 days, provided that the Commission and the engineer in charge of the radio district in which the station is located shall be notified in writing immediately after the emergency develops.

§ 3.262 Experimental operation. The period between 1:00 a. m., and 6:00 a. m., local standard time, may be used for experimental purposes in testing and maintaining apparatus by the licensee of any FM broadcast station on its assigned frequency and not in excess of its authorized power, without specific authorization by the Commission.

§ 3.263 Station inspection. The licensee of any FM broadcast station shall make the station available for inspection by representatives of the Commission at any reasonable hour.

§ 3.264 Station license, posting of. The original of each station license shall be posted in the transmitter room.

§ 3.265 Operator requirements. One or more licensed radio telephone first-class operators shall be on duty at the place where the transmitting apparatus of each station is located and in actual charge thereof whenever it is being operated. The original license (or Form FCC No. 759) of each FM broadcast station operator shall be posted at the place where he is on duty. The licensed operator on duty and in charge of an FM broadcast transmitter may, at the discretion of the licensee, be employed for other duties or for the operation of another station or stations in accordance with the class of operator's license which he holds and by the rules and regulations governing such stations. However, such duties shall in nowise interfere with the operation of the broadcast transmitter.

§ 3.266 Facsimile broadcasting and multiplex transmission. (a) FM broadcast stations may transmit simplex facsimile in accordance with transmission standards set forth in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations during periods not devoted to FM aural broadcasting. However, such transmissions may not exceed one hour during the period between 7 a. m. and midnight (no limit for the hours between midnight and 7 a. m.) and may not be counted toward the minimum operation required by § 3.261.

(b) FM broadcast stations may, upon securing authorization from the Commission, transmit multiplex facsimile and aural broadcast programs for a maximum of three hours between the hours of 7 a. m. and midnight (no limit for the hours between midnight and 7 a. m.) in accordance with transmission standards set forth in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations provided that the transmission of facsimile does not impair the quality of the aural program below 10,000 cycles per second, and that a filter or other additional equipment is not required for receivers not equipped to receive facsimile.

§ 3.267 Operating power; how determined. The operating power, and the requirements for maintenance thereof, of each FM broadcast station shall be determined by the methods prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice concerning FM broadcast stations.

§ 3.268 Modulation. The percentage of modulation of FM broadcast stations shall be maintained as high as possible consistent with good quality of transmission and good broadcast practice and in no case less than 85 percent nor more than 100 percent on peaks of frequent recurrence during any selection which normally is transmitted at the highest level of the program under consideration.

§ 3.269 Frequency tolerance. The center frequency of each FM broadcast station shall be maintained within 2000 cycles of the assigned center frequency.

§ 3.270 Inspection of tower lights and associated control equipment. The licensee of any FM broadcast station which has an antenna or antenna supporting structure(s) required to be illuminated pursuant to the provisions of section 303 (q) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended:

(a) Shall make a visual observation of the tower lights at least once each 24 hours to insure that all such lights are functioning properly as required.

(b) Shall report immediately by telephone or telegraph to the nearest Airways Communication Station or office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration any observed failure of the tower lights, not corrected within 30 minutes, regardless of the cause of such failure. Further notification by telephone or telegraph shall be given immediately upon resumption of the required illumination.

(c) Inspect at intervals of at least once each three months all automatic and mechanical control devices associated with flashing or rotating beacons to insure that such apparatus is functioning properly as required.

§ 3.271 Discontinuance of operation. The licensee of each station shall notify the Commission in Washington, D. C., and the Engineer in Charge of the district where such station is located of permanent discontinuance of operation at least two days before operation is discontinued. The licensee, shall, in addition, immediately forward the station license and other instruments of authorization to the Washington, D. C., office of the Commission for cancellation.

§ 3.272 Field intensity measurements. The Commission may require field intensity measurements in connection with applications and in other cases where such measurements are found to be necessary. For example, any application which asserts that interference predicted under the Standards of Good Engineering Practice would not be realized may require supplementary data including appropriate field intensity measurements. Furthermore, in order that FM broadcast station coverage data may be accumulated it is desirable that existing FM broadcast stations make such measurements where feasible and file the data with the Commission.

§ 3.273 Emergency antenna. In the event it becomes impossible to operate with the regularly authorized antenna, the station may, without further authority, be operated with an emergency antenna for a period of 10 days or less pending necessary repairs: Provided, That the Commission and the engineer in charge of the district in which the station is located shall be notified in writing immediately upon the beginning of such operation and upon the resumption of normal operation.

OTHER RULES RELATING TO OPERATION

§ 3.281 Logs. The licensee of each FM broadcast station shall maintain separate program and operating logs for such station: Provided, however, If the same licensee operates an FM broadcast station and a standard broadcast station and simultaneously broadcasts the same programs over the facilities of both such stations, one program log may be maintained for both stations for such periods as both stations simultaneously broadcast the same programs. Such licensee shall require entries to be made as follows:

(a) In the program log:

(1) An entry of the time each station identification announcement (call letters and location) is made.

(2) An entry briefly describing each program broadcast, such as "music," "drama," "speech," etc., together with the name or title thereof and the sponsor's name, with the time of the beginning and ending of the complete program. If a mechanical record is used, the entry shall show the exact nature thereof, such as "record," "transcription," etc., and the time it is announced as a mechanical reproduction. If a speech is made by a political candidate, the name and political affiliations of such speaker shall be entered.

(3) An entry showing that each sponsored program broadcast has been announced as sponsored, paid for, or furnished by the sponsor.

(4) An entry showing, for each program of network origin, the name of the network originating the program.

(b) In the operating log:

(1) An entry of the time the station begins to supply power to the antenna, and the time it stops.

(2) An entry of the time the program begins and ends.

(3) An entry of each interruption to the carrier wave, its cause, and duration.

(4) An entry of the following each 30 minutes:

(i) Operating constants of last radio stage (total plate current and plate voltage).

(ii) RF transmission line meter reading.

(iii) Frequency monitor reading.

(5) Log of experimental operation during experimental period (if regular operation is maintained during this period, the above logs shall be kept).

(i) A log must be kept of all operation during the experimental period. If the entries required above are not applicable thereto, then the entries shall be made so as to fully describe the operation.

(c) Where an antenna and antenna supporting structure(s) is required to be illuminated the licensee shall make entries in the radio log appropriate to the requirements of § 3.65 as follows:

(1) The time the tower lights are turned on and off if manually controlled.

(2) The time the daily visual observation of the tower lights was made.

(3) In the event of any observed failure of a tower light,

(i) Nature of such failure.

(ii) Time the failure was observed.

(iii) Time and nature of the adjustments, repairs, or replacements made.

(iv) Airways Communication Station (CAA) notified of the failure of any code or rotation beacon light or top light not corrected within 30 minutes and the time such notice was given.

(v) Time notice was given to the Airways Communication Station (CAA) that the required illumination was resumed.

(4) Upon completion of the periodic inspection required at least once each 3 months:

(i) The date of the inspection and the condition of all tower lights and associated tower lighting control devices.

(ii) Any adjustments, replacements or repairs made to insure compliance with the lighting requirements.

§ 3.282 Logs, retention of. Logs of FM broadcast stations shall be retained by the licensee for a period of two years: Provided, however, That logs involving communications incident to a disaster or which include communications incident to or involved in an investigation by the Commission and concerning which the [14] This includes the equipment changes which may be made without authority as set forth elsewhere in the rules and regulations and the Standards of Good Engineering Practice or as authorized by the Commission by letter or by construction permit. Where such operation is required for periods in excess of 5 days, request therefor shall be in accordance with § 1.324 of this chapter.

[15] Such as licensees maintaining 24-hour schedule and needing alternate operation for maintenance, or where developmental work requires alternate operation.

licensee has been notified, shall be retained by the licensee until he is specifically authorized in writing by the Commission to destroy them: Provided, further, That logs incident to or involved in any claim or complaint of which the licensee has notice shall be retained by the licensee until such claim or complaint has been fully satisfied or until the same has been barred by statute limiting the time for the filing of suits upon such claims.

§ 3.283 Logs, by whom kept. Each log shall be kept by the person or persons competent to do so, having actual knowledge of the facts required, who shall sign the log when starting duty and again when going off duty. The logs shall be made available upon request by an authorized representative of the Commission.

§ 3.284 Log form. The log shall be kept in an orderly manner, in suitable form, and in such detail that the data required for the particular class of station concerned are readily available. Key letters or abbreviations may be used if proper meaning or explanation is contained elsewhere in the log.

§ 3.285 Correction of logs. No log or portion thereof shall be erased, obliterated, or willfully destroyed within the period of retention provided by the rules. Any necessary correction may be made only by the person originating the entry who shall strike out the erroneous portion, initial the correction made, and indicate the date of correction.

§ 3.286 Rough logs. Rough logs may be transcribed into condensed form, but in such case the original log or memoranda and all portions thereof shall be preserved and made a part of the complete log.

§ 3.287 Station identification. (a) A licensee of an FM broadcast station shall make separate station identification announcement (call letters and location) for such station: Provided, however, That if the same licensee operates an FM broadcast station and a standard broadcast station and simultaneously broadcasts the same programs over the facilities of both such stations, station identification announcements may be made jointly for both stations for periods of such simultaneous operation. If the call letters of the FM station do not clearly reveal that it is an FM station, the joint announcement shall state that one of the stations is an FM station. Station identification announcement shall be made at the beginning and ending of each time of operation and during operation (1) on the hour and (2) either on the half hour or at the quarter hour following the hour and at the quarter hour preceding the next hour: Provided,

(b) Such identification announcement need not be made on the hour when to make such announcement would interrupt a single consecutive speech, play, religious service, symphony concert, or operatic production of longer duration than 30 minutes. In such cases the identification announcement shall be made at the beginning of the program, at the first interruption of the entertainment continuity, and at the conclusion of the program.

(c) Such identification announcement need not be made on the half hour or quarter hours when to make such announcement would interrupt a single consecutive speech, play, religious service, symphony concert, or operatic production. In such cases an identification announcement shall be made at the first interruption of the entertainment continuity and at the conclusion of the program: Provided, That an announcement within 5 minutes of the times specified in paragraph (a) (2) of this section will satisfy the requirements of identification announcements.

(d) In the case of variety show programs, baseball game programs or similar programs of longer duration than 30 minutes, the identification announcement shall be made within 5 minutes of the hour and of the times specified in paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

(e) In the case of all other programs, the identification announcement shall be made within 2 minutes of the hour and of the times specified in paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

(f) In making the identification announcement the call letters shall be given only on the channel of the station identified thereby except as otherwise provided herein.

§ 3.288 Mechanical records. Each program broadcast which consists in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions shall be announced in the manner and to the extent set out below.

(a) Each such program of longer duration than 30 minutes, consisting in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions, shall be identified by appropriate announcement at the beginning of the program, at each 30-minute interval and at the conclusion of the program: Provided, however, That the identifying announcement at each 30-minute interval is not required in case of a mechanical reproduction consisting of a continuous uninterrupted speech, play, religious service, symphony concert, or operatic production of longer than 30 minutes.

(b) Each such program of a longer duration than 5 minutes and not in excess of 30 minutes, consisting in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions, shall be identified by an appropriate announcement at the beginning and end of the program.

(c) Each such program of duration of 5 minutes or less, consisting in whole or in part of mechanical reproductions, shall be identified by appropriate announcement immediately preceding the use thereof: Provided, however, That each such program of one minute or less need not be announced as such.

(d) In case a mechanical reproduction is used for background music, sound effects, station identification, program identification (theme music of short duration) or identification of the sponsorship of the program proper, no announcement of the mechanical reproduction is required.

(e) The exact form of identifying announcement is not prescribed, but the language shall be clear and in terms commonly used and understood. A licensee shall not attempt affirmatively to create the impression that any program being broadcast by mechanical reproduction consists of live talent.

§ 3.289 Sponsored programs, announcement of. (a) In the case of each program for the broadcasting of which money, services, or other valuable consideration is either directly or indirectly paid or promised to, or charged or received by, any radio broadcast station, the station broadcasting such program shall make, or cause to be made, an appropriate announcement that the program is sponsored, paid for, or furnished, either in whole or in part.

(b) In the case of any political program or any program involving the discussion of public controversial issues for which any records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services of any kind are furnished, either directly or indirectly, to a station as an inducement to the broadcasting of such program, an announcement shall be made both at the beginning and conclusion of such program on which such material or services are used that such records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services have been furnished to such station in connection with the broadcasting of such program: Provided, however, That only one such announcement need be made in the case of any such program of 5 minutes' duration or less, which announcement may be made either at the beginning or conclusion of the program.

(c) The announcement required by this section shall fully and fairly disclose the true identity of the person or persons by whom or in whose behalf such payment is made or promised, or from whom or in whose behalf such services or other valuable consideration is received, or by whom the material or services referred to in paragraph (b) hereof are furnished. Where an agent or other person contracts or otherwise makes arrangements with a station on behalf of another, and such fact is known to the station, the announcement shall disclose the identity of the person or persons in whose behalf such agent is acting instead of the name of such agent.

(d) In the case of any program, other than a program advertising commercial products or services, which is sponsored, paid for, or furnished, either in whole or in part, or for which material or services referred to in paragraph (b) of this section are furnished, by a corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group, the announcement required by this section, shall disclose the name of such corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group. In each such case the station shall require that a list of the chief executive officers or members of the executive committee or of the board of directors of the corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group shall be made available for public inspection at one of the radio stations carrying the program.

(e) In the case of programs advertising commercial products or services, an announcement stating the sponsor's corporate or trade name or the name of the sponsor's product, shall be deemed sufficient for the purposes of this section and only one such announcement need be made at any time during the course of the program.

§ 3.290 Broadcasts by candidates for public office—(a) Definitions. A "legally qualified candidate" means any person who has publicly announced that he is a candidate for nomination by a convention of a political party or for nomination or election in a primary, special, or general election, municipal, county, state or national, and who meets the qualifications prescribed by the applicable laws to hold the office for which he is a candidate, so that he may be voted for by the electorate directly or by means of delegates or electors, and who

(1) Has qualified for a place on the ballot or

(2) Is eligible under the applicable law to be voted for by sticker, by writing in his name on the ballot, or other method, and (i) has been duly nominated by a political party which is commonly known and regarded as such, or (ii) makes a substantial showing that he is a bona fide candidate for nomination or office, as the case may be.

(b) General requirements. No station licensee is required to permit the use of its facilities by any legally qualified candidate for public office, but if any licensee shall permit any such candidate to use its facilities, it shall afford equal opportunities to all other such candidates for that office to use such facilities: Provided, That such licensee shall have no power of censorship over the material broadcast by any such candidate.

(c) Rates and practices. The rates, if any, charged all such candidates for the same office shall be uniform and shall not be rebated by any means, directly or indirectly; no licensee shall make any discrimination in charges, practices, regulations, facilities, or services for or in connection with the service rendered pursuant to the regulations in this part, or make or give any preference to any candidate for public office or subject any such candidate to any prejudice or disadvantage; nor shall any licensee make any contract or other agreement which shall have the effect of permitting any legally qualified candidate for any public office to broadcast to the exclusion of other legally qualified candidates for the same public office.

(d) Inspection of records. Every licensee shall keep and permit public inspection of a complete record of all requests for broadcast time made by or on behalf of candidates for public office, together with an appropriate notation showing the disposition made by the licensee of such requests, and the charges made, if any, if request is granted.

§ 3.291 Rebroadcast. (a) The term "rebroadcast" means reception by radio of the program [19] of a radio station, and the simultaneous or subsequent retransmission of such program by a broadcast station.[20]

(b) The licensee of an FM broadcast station may, without further authority of the Commission, rebroadcast the program of a United States standard, FM or noncommercial educational broadcast station, provided the Commission is notified of the call letters of each station rebroadcast and the licensee certifies that express authority has been received from the licensee of the station originating the program.[20]

(c) (1) The licensee of an FM broadcast station located within a State or the District of Columbia may, without further authority of the Commission, rebroadcast on a noncommercial basis a noncommercial program of a United States international broadcast station.

(2) The licensee of an FM broadcast station located in any territory or insular possession of the United States may, without further authority of the Commission, rebroadcast any program of a United States international broadcast station.

(3) In the case of any rebroadcast under the provisions of this paragraph, the Commission shall be notified of the call letters of each station whose program is rebroadcast and the licensee shall certify that express authority has been received from the licensee of the station originating the program.

(d) No licensee of an FM broadcast station shall rebroadcast the program of any United States radio station not designated in paragraph (b) or (c) of this section without written authority having first been obtained from the Commission upon application (informal) accompanied by written consent or certification of consent of the licensee of the station originating the program.[21]

§ 3.292 Lotteries and give-away programs.[22] (a) An application for construction permit, license, renewal of license, or any other authorization for the operation of a broadcast station, will not be granted where the applicant proposes to follow or continue to follow a policy or practice of broadcasting or permitting "the broadcasting of any advertisement of or information concerning any lottery, gift enterprise, or similar scheme, offering prizes dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance, or any list of the prizes drawn or awarded by means of any such lottery, gift enterprise, or scheme, whether said list contains any part or all of such prizes." (See 18 U. S. C. sec. 1304.)

(b) The determination whether a particular program comes within the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section depends on the facts of each case. However, the Commission will in any event consider that a program comes within the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section if in connection with such program a prize consisting of money or thing of value is awarded to any person whose selection is dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance, if as a condition of winning or competing for such prize:

(1) Such winner or winners are required to furnish any money or thing of value or are required to have in their possession any product sold, manufactured, furnished or distributed by a sponsor of a program broadcast on the station in question; or

(2) Such winner or winners are required to be listening to or viewing the program in question on a radio or television receiver; or

(3) Such winner or winners are required to answer correctly a question, the answer to which is given on a program broadcast over the station in question or where aid to answering the question correctly is given on a program broadcast over the station in question. For the purposes of this provision the broadcasting of the question to be answered over the radio station on a previous program will be considered as an aid in answering the question correctly; or

(4) Such winner or winners are required to answer the phone in a prescribed manner or with a prescribed phrase, or are required to write a letter in a prescribed manner or containing a prescribed phrase, if the prescribed manner of answering the phone or writing the letter or the prescribed phrase to be used over the phone or in the letter (or an aid in ascertaining the prescribed phrase or the prescribed manner of answering the phone or writing the letter) is, or has been, broadcast over the station in question.

SUBPART C—RULES GOVERNING NONCOMMERCIAL EDUCATIONAL FM BROADCAST STATIONS

CLASSIFICATION OF STATIONS AND ALLOCATION OF FREQUENCIES

§ 3.501 Channels available for assignment.[23] The channels available for non-

[19] As used in this section, program includes any complete program or part thereof.

[20] In case a program is transmitted from its point of origin to a broadcast station entirely by telephone facilities in which a section of such transmission is by radio, the broadcasting of this program is not considered a rebroadcast.

[20] The notice and certification of consent shall be given within 3 days of any single rebroadcast, but in case of the regular practice of rebroadcasting certain programs of a standard or FM broadcast station several times during a license period, notice and certification of consent shall be given for the ensuing license period with the application for renewal of license, or at the beginning of such rebroadcast practice if begun during a license period.

[21] The broadcasting of a program relayed by a remote pickup broadcast station or an ST broadcast station is not considered a rebroadcast.

By Order No. 82, dated and effective June 24, 1941, until further order of the Commission, § 3.291 (d) is suspended only insofar as it requires prior written authority of the Commission for the rebroadcasting of programs originated for that express purpose by United States Government radio stations.

[22] The Commission on Sept. 21, 1949, adopted an order which reads in part as follows:

It is ordered, That, effective immediately, the effective date of §§ 3.192, 3.292 and 3.692 of the Commission's rules is hereby postponed until a date to be fixed by further order, which shall be at least thirty days after a final decision by the Supreme Court of the United States, or thirty days after the time within which an appeal to the Supreme Court may be taken has expired without such an appeal being taken, in pending litigation with respect to these rules.

[23] The frequency 89.1 Mc., Channel No. 206 in the New York City metropolitan area is reserved for the use of the United Nations with the equivalent of an antenna height of 500 feet above average terrain and effective radiated power of 20 kw., and the Commission will make no assignments which would cause objectionable interference with such use.

commercial educational FM broadcasting are listed in the table below, together with numerical designations for convenience:

Frequency (Mc):	Channel No.	Frequency (Mc):	Channel No.
88.1	201	90.1	211
88.3	202	90.3	212
88.5	203	90.5	213
88.7	204	90.7	214
88.9	205	90.9	215
89.1	206	91.1	216
89.3	207	91.3	217
89.5	208	91.5	218
89.7	209	91.7	219
89.9	210	91.9	220

§ 3.502 State-wide plans. In considering the assignment of a channel for a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station, the Commission will take into consideration the extent to which each application meets the requirements of any state-wide plan for noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations filed with the Commission, provided that such plans afford fair treatment to public and private educational institutions, urban and rural, at the primary, secondary, higher, and adult educational levels, and appear otherwise fair and equitable.

§ 3.503 Licensing requirements and service. The operation of, and the service furnished by noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations shall be governed by the following:

(a) A noncommercial educational FM broadcast station will be licensed only to a nonprofit educational organization and upon showing that the station will be used for the advancement of an educational program.

(1) In determining the eligibility of publicly supported educational organizations, the accreditation of their respective state departments of education shall be taken into consideration.

(2) In determining the eligibility of privately controlled educational organizations, the accreditation of state departments of education and/or recognized regional and national educational accrediting organizations shall be taken into consideration.

(b) Each station may transmit programs directed to specific schools in a system or systems for use in connection with the regular courses as well as routine and administrative material pertaining thereto and may transmit educational, cultural, and entertainment programs to the public.

(c) Each station shall furnish a nonprofit and noncommercial broadcast service. No sponsored or commercial program shall be transmitted nor shall commercial announcements of any character be made. A station shall not transmit the programs of other classes of broadcast stations unless all commercial announcements and commercial references in the continuity are eliminated.

§ 3.504 Frequency, power and service area. (a) In the assignment of frequency and power to a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station the Commission will consider with the application: (1) the area served by applicant's existing educational facilities; and (2) the provisions of any statewide plan on file with the Commission which meets the requirements of § 3.502. A station licensed for transmitter power output of 10 watts or less normally will be licensed to operate on the frequency 88.1 megacycles; however, should it appear that operation on this frequency would cause objectionable interference, such station may be licensed to operate on the next higher frequency that would not cause objectionable interference.

(b) The license of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output of 10 watts or less shall specify the maximum authorized operating power output of the transmitter. The license of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output above 10 watts shall specify the authorized effective radiated power of the station and the authorized operating power output of the transmitter.

(c) Each application for a new noncommercial educational FM broadcast station or increase in facilities of an existing station which proposes transmitter power output above 10 watts shall contain a determination of the antenna height above average terrain and the extent of the 1 mv/m and 50 uv/m contours of the proposed station by the methods prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.505 Standards of good engineering practice. The definitions and interference standards contained in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations shall be applicable to noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations. Other portions of such Standards shall be applicable to the extent specifically prescribed by this part.

RULES GOVERNING ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE

§ 3.511 Application for noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations. Each applicant for a construction permit for a new noncommercial educational FM broadcast station, change in facilities of any existing noncommercial educational FM broadcast station, or noncommercial educational FM broadcast station license or modification of license shall file with the Commission in Washington, D. C., two copies of applications on the appropriate form designated by the Commission and a like number of exhibits and other papers incorporated therein and made a part thereof. Only the original copy need be sworn to. If the application is for a construction permit for a new noncommercial educational FM broadcast station, Form FCC No. 340 should be filed; for a noncommercial educational FM license, Form FCC No. 341[1] should be filed; and for modification of a noncommercial educational FM license or for change in facilities of an existing noncommercial educational FM broadcast station Form FCC No. 342[1] should be filed.

[1] Will be issued by the Commission at a later date. Appropriate forms to be employed may be obtained from the Commission on request.

§ 3.512 Full disclosures. Each application shall contain full and complete disclosures with regard to all matters and things required to be disclosed by the application forms.

§ 3.513 Installation of apparatus. Applications for construction permits or modification thereof involving the installation of new transmitting apparatus should be filed at least 60 days prior to the contemplated installation.

§ 3.514 Period of construction. Each construction permit will specify a maximum of 8 months from the date of granting thereof as the time within which construction of the station shall be completed and the station ready for operation, unless otherwise determined by the Commission upon proper showing in any particular case. Each construction permit shall bear the date of the Commission's action authorizing the issuance of the construction permit. Where a conditional grant is ordered, the construction permit shall be dated as of the time when all conditions have been satisfied.

§ 3.515 Forfeiture of construction permits; extension of time. (a) A construction permit shall be automatically forfeited if the station is not ready for operation within the time specified therein or within such further time as the Commission may have allowed for completion, and a notation of the forfeiture of any construction permit under this provision will be placed in the records of the Commission as of the expiration date.

(b) Any application[1] for extension of time within which to construct a station shall be filed at least 30 days prior to the expiration date of such permit if the facts supporting such application for extension are known to the applicant in time to permit such filing. In other cases such applications will be accepted upon a showing satisfactory to the Commission of sufficient reasons for filing within less than 30 days prior to the expiration date. Such applications will be granted upon a specific and detailed showing that the failure to complete was due to causes not under the control of the grantee, or upon a specific and detailed showing of other matters sufficient to justify the extension.

(c) If a construction permit has been allowed to expire for any reason, application may be made for a new permit on FCC Form 321 "Application for a Construction Permit to Replace Expired Permit".

§ 3.516 Equipment tests. (a) During the process of construction of a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station, the permittee, after notifying the Commission and Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located, may without further authority of the Commission, conduct equipment tests for the purpose of such adjustments and measurements as may be necessary to assure compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, the rules and regulations, and the applicable engineering standards.

[1] Form FCC No. 701.

(b) The Commission may notify the permittee to conduct no tests or may cancel, suspend, or change the date for the beginning of equipment tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) Equipment tests may be continued so long as the construction permit shall remain valid.

(d) Inspection of a station will ordinarily be required during the equipment test period and before the commencement of the program test. After construction and after adjustments and measurements have been completed to show compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, the rules and regulations and the applicable engineering standards, the permittee should notify the Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located that it is ready for inspection.

(e) The authorization for tests embodied in this section shall not be construed as constituting a license to operate but as a necessary part of construction.

§ 3.517 Program tests. (a) Upon completion of construction of a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station in accordance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, and the rules and regulations and applicable engineering standards, and when an application for station license has been filed showing the station to be in satisfactory operating condition,[1] the permittee may request authority to conduct program tests: Provided, That such request shall be filed with the Commission at least ten (10) days prior to the date on which it is desired to begin such operation and that the Engineer in Charge of the District in which the station is located is notified.

(b) Program tests shall not commence until specific Commission authority is received. The Commission reserves the right to change the date of the beginning of such tests, or to suspend or revoke the authority for program tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) Unless sooner suspended or revoked program test authority continues valid during Commission consideration of the application for license and during this period further extension of the construction permit is not required. Program test authority shall be automatically terminated by final determination upon the application for station license.

(d) All operation under program test authority shall be in strict compliance with the rules governing noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations and in strict accordance with representations made in the application for license pursuant to which the tests were authorized.

(e) The grant of program test authority shall not be construed as approval by the Commission of the application for station license.

[1] All data necessary to show compliance with the terms and conditions of the construction permit must be filed with the license application.

§ 3.518 Normal license period. (a) All initial licenses covering construction permits for new noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations will be issued so as to expire at the hour of 3 a. m., eastern standard time, and will be issued for a minimum period of one year and a maximum period of one year and 11 months to expire in accordance with the following schedule:

(1) For stations operating on the frequencies 88.1, 88.3, 88.5, 88.7, 88.9, 89.1, 89.3, 89.5, 89.7 and 89.9 Mcs., June 1.

(2) For stations operating on the frequencies 90.1, 90.3, 90.5, 90.7, 90.9, 91.1, 91.3, 91.5, 91.7 and 91.9 Mcs., September 1.

(b) All renewals of noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licenses will be issued so as to expire at the hour of 3 a. m., eastern standard time, and will be issued for a maximum period of three years to expire in accordance with the following schedule and at 3-year intervals thereafter:

(1) For stations operating on the frequencies 88.1, 88.3, 88.5 Mcs., June 1, 1948.

(2) For stations operating on the frequencies 90.1, 90.3, 90.5 Mcs., September 1, 1948.

(3) For stations operating on the frequencies 88.7, 88.9, 89.1 Mcs., June 1, 1949.

(4) For stations operating on the frequencies 90.7, 90.9, 91.1 Mcs., September 1, 1949.

(5) For stations operating on the frequencies 89.3, 89.5, 89.7, 89.9 Mcs., June 1, 1950.

(6) For stations operating on the frequencies 91.3, 91.5, 91.7, 91.9 Mcs., September 1, 1950.

§ 3.519 License, simultaneous modification and renewal. When an application is granted by the Commission necessitating the issuance of a modified license less than 60 days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be modified, and an application for renewal of said license is granted subsequent or prior thereto (but within 30 days of expiration of the present license) the modified license as well as the renewal license shall be issued to conform to the combined action of the Commission.

§ 3.520 Renewal of license. (a) Unless otherwise directed by the Commission, each application for renewal of license shall be filed at least 60 days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be renewed (Form FCC No. 343).[1]

(b) Whenever the Commission regards an application for renewal of license as essential to the proper conduct of a hearing or investigation, and specifically directs that it be filed by a date certain, such application shall be filed within the time thus specified. If the licensee fails to file such application within the prescribed time, the hearing or investigation shall proceed as if such renewal application had been received.

[1] Will be issued by the Commission at a later date. Appropriate forms to be employed may be obtained from the Commission on request.

§ 3.521 Temporary extension of station licenses. Where there is pending before the Commission any application, investigation, or proceeding which, after hearing, might lead to or make necessary the modification of, revocation of, or the refusal to renew an existing noncommercial educational FM license, the Commission may, in its discretion, grant a temporary extension of such license: Provided, however, That no such temporary extension shall be construed as a finding by the Commission that the operation of any radio station thereunder will serve public interest, convenience, and necessity beyond the express terms of such temporary extension of license: And provided further, That such temporary extension of license will in no wise affect or limit the action of the Commission with respect to any pending application or proceeding.

§ 3.522 Repetitious applications. (a) Where an applicant has been afforded an opportunity to be heard with respect to a particular application for a new noncommercial educational FM broadcast station, or for change of existing service or facilities, and the Commission has, after hearing or default, denied the application or dismissed it with prejudice, the Commission will not consider another application for a station of the same class to serve in whole or in part the same area, by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf of or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, until after the lapse of 12 months from the effective date of the Commission's order.

(b) Where an appeal has been taken from the action of the Commission in denying a particular application, another application for the same class of broadcast station and for the same area, in whole or in part, filed by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, will not be considered until after the final disposition of such appeal.

§ 3.523 Assignment or transfer of control. (a) Application for consent to assignment of a noncommercial educational FM construction permit or license or for consent to voluntary transfer of control of a corporation holding a noncommercial educational FM construction permit or license shall be filed with the Commission on Form FCC No. 314 (Assignment of License), Form FCC No. 315 (Transfer of Control) or Form FCC No. 316 (Short Form) at least 60 days prior to the contemplated effective date of assignment or transfer of control.

(b) Pro forma assignment or transfer applications shall be filed on FCC Form 316. Such cases are defined as cases in which:

(1) There is an assignment from an individual or individuals (including partnerships) to a corporation owned and controlled by such individuals or partnerships without any substantial change in their relative interests;

(2) There is an assignment from a corporation to its individual stockholders without effecting any substantial change in the disposition of their interests;

(3) There is an assignment or transfer by which certain partners or stockholders retire but no new ones are brought in, provided that the interest transferred is not a controlling one;

(4) There is a corporate reorganization which involves no substantial change in the beneficial ownership of the corporation;

(5) There is an involuntary transfer to an Executor, Administrator or other court appointed officer caused by death or legal disability except that this form does not cover assignments (or transfers) from the Executor, Administrator or other court appointed officers to the ultimate beneficiary;

(6) There is an assignment or transfer from a corporation to a wholly owned subsidiary thereof or vice versa, or where there is an assignment from a corporation to a corporation owned or controlled by the assignor stockholders without substantial change in their interests;

(7) There is an assignment of less than a controlling interest in a partnership.

RULES RELATING TO EQUIPMENT

§ 3.551 Transmitter power. (a) The standard power rating of the transmitter of a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output above 10 watts shall be in accordance with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

(b) The standard power rating of the transmitter of a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output of 10 watts or less shall be not less than the authorized operating power and not more than 10 watts.

§ 3.552 Frequency monitor. (a) The licensee of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output above 10 watts shall have in operation at the transmitter a frequency monitor independent of the frequency control of the transmitter. The frequency monitor shall be approved by the Commission. (See Approved Frequency Monitors and Requirements for Type Approval of Frequency Monitors in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.)

(b) The licensee of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output of 10 watts or less shall provide for the measurement of the station frequency by a means independent of the frequency control of the transmitter. The station frequency shall be measured (1) when the transmitter is initially installed, (2) at any time the frequency determining elements are changed, and (3) at any time the licensee may have reason to believe the frequency has shifted beyond the tolerance specified by the Commission's rules.

§ 3.553 Modulation monitor. (a) The licensee of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output above 10 watts shall have in operation at the transmitter a modulation monitor approved by the Commission. (See Approved Modulation Monitor and Requirements for Type Approval of Modulation Monitors in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.)

(b) The licensee of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output of 10 watts or less shall provide a percentage modulation indicator or a calibrated program level meter from which a satisfactory indication of the percentage of modulation of the transmitter can be determined.

§ 3.554 Transmitter performance. (a) The transmitter proper and associated transmitting equipment of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output above 10 watts shall be designed, constructed and operated in accordance with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

(b) The transmitter proper and associated transmitting equipment of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output of 10 watts or less, although not required to meet all requirements of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations, shall be constructed with safety features in accordance with the specifications of article 810 of the current National Electrical Code as approved by the American Standards Association and shall be so operated, tuned, and adjusted that emissions are not radiated outside the authorized band which cause or which are capable of causing interference to the communications of other stations. The audio distortion, audio frequency range, carrier hum, noise level, and other essential phases of the operation which control the external effects, shall at all times be capable of providing satisfactory broadcast service. Studio equipment properly covered by an underwriter's certificate will be considered as satisfying safety requirements.

§ 3.555 Auxiliary transmitter. Upon showing that a need exists for the use of an auxiliary transmitter in addition to the regular transmitter of a broadcast station, a license therefor may be issued: Provided, That:

(a) An auxiliary transmitter may be installed either at the same location as the main transmitter or at another location.

(b) A licensed operator shall be in control whenever an auxiliary transmitter is placed in operation.

(c) The auxiliary transmitter shall be maintained so that it may be placed into immediate operation at any time for the following purposes:

(1) The transmission of the regular programs upon the failure of the main transmitter.

(2) The transmission of regular programs during maintenance or modification[1] work on the main transmitter, necessitating discontinuance of its operation for a period not to exceed 5 days.

(3) Upon request by a duly authorized representative of the Commission.

(d) The auxiliary transmitter shall be tested at least once each week to determine that it is in proper operating condition and that it is adjusted to the proper frequency, except that in case of operation in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section during any week, the test in that week may be omitted provided the operation under paragraph (c) is satisfactory. A record shall be kept of the time and result of each test.

(e) The auxiliary transmitter shall be equipped with satisfactory control equipment which will enable the maintenance of the frequency emitted by the station within the limits prescribed by the regulations in this part.

(f) The operating power of an auxiliary transmitter may be less than the authorized power of the main transmitter, but in no event shall it be greater than such power.

§ 3.556 Alternate main transmitters. The licensee of a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station may be licensed for alternate main transmitters provided that a technical need[2] for such alternate transmitters is shown and that the following conditions are met:

(a) Both transmitters are located at the same place.

(b) Both transmitters shall have the same power rating.

(c) Both transmitters shall meet the requirements of § 3.554.

§ 3.557 Changes in equipment and antenna system. Licenses of noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations shall observe the following provisions with regard to changes in equipment and antenna system:

(a) No changes in equipment shall be made:

(1) That would result in the emission of signals outside of the authorized channel.

(2) That would result in the external performance of the transmitter being in disagreement with § 3.554.

(b) Specific authority, upon filing formal application (Form FCC No. 342[3]) therefor, is required for a change in service area or for any of the following changes:

(1) Changes involving an increase or decrease in the power rating of the transmitter.

[1] This includes the equipment changes which may be made without authority as set forth elsewhere in the rules and regulations and the Standards of Good Engineering Practice or as authorized by the Commission by letter or by construction permit. Where such operation is required for periods in excess of 5 days, request therefor shall be in accordance with § 1.324 of this chapter.

[2] Such as licensees maintaining 24-hour schedule and needing alternate operation for maintenance, or where developmental work requires alternate operation.

[3] Will be issued by the Commission at a later date. Appropriate forms to be employed may be obtained from the Commission on request.

(2) A replacement of the transmitter as a whole.

(3) Change in the location of the transmitting antenna.

(4) Change in antenna system, including transmission line.

(5) Change in location of main studio, if it is proposed to move the main studio to a different city from that specified in the license.

(6) Change in the power delivered to the antenna.

(7) Change in frequency control and/or modulation system.

(c) Specific authority, upon filing informal request therefor, is required for a change in the indicating instruments installed to measure transmitter power output, except by instruments of the same maximum scale reading and accuracy.

(d) Other changes, except as above provided for in this section, may be made at any time without the authority of the Commission, provided that the Commission shall be promptly notified thereof and such changes shall be shown in the next application for renewal of license.

RULES RELATING TO TECHNICAL OPERATION

§ 3.561 Operating schedule. Noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations are not required to operate on a regular schedule and no minimum number of hours of operation is specified; but the hours of actual operation during a license period shall be taken into consideration in considering the renewal of noncommercial educational FM broadcast licenses wherever it appears that the channels available for such stations are insufficient to meet the demand.

§ 3.562 Experimental operation. The period between 1:00 a. m., and 6:00 a. m., local standard time, may be used for experimental purposes in testing and maintaining apparatus by the licensee of any noncommercial educational FM broadcast station on its assigned frequency and not in excess of its authorized power, without specific authorization from the Commission.

§ 3.563 Station inspection. The licensee of any noncommercial educational FM broadcast station shall make the station available for inspection by representatives of the Commission at any reasonable hour.

§ 3.564 Station license, posting of. The original of each station license shall be posted in the transmitter room.

§ 3.565 Operator requirements.[4] (a) If the transmitter power rating is in excess of 1 kilowatt, one or more operators holding first-class radiotelephone licenses shall be on duty at the place where the transmitting apparatus of the station is located and in actual charge thereof.

(b) If the transmitter power rating is in excess of 10 watts but not greater than 1 kilowatt, one or more operators holding first- or second-class radiotelephone licenses shall be on duty at the place where the transmitting apparatus of the station is located and in actual charge thereof.

(c) If the transmitter power rating is 10 watts or less, one or more operators holding first-, second- or third-class radiotelephone or telegraph licenses or permits shall be on duty at the place where the transmitting apparatus of the station is located, except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, and in actual charge thereof: Provided, That, in the case of an operator holding a third-class radiotelephone or radiotelegraph permit, (1) such operator is prohibited from making any adjustments that may result in improper transmitter operation, and (2) the equipment is so designed that the stability of the frequency of the transmitter is maintained by the transmitter itself within the limits of tolerance specified by the station license, and none of the operations necessary to be performed during the course of normal rendition of service may cause off-frequency operation or result in any unauthorized radiation, and (3) any needed adjustments of the transmitter that may affect the proper operation of the station are regularly made by or under the immediate supervision and responsibility of a person holding a first- or second-class radiotelephone or radiotelegraph operator license who shall be responsible for the proper functioning of the station equipment.

(d) A noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output of 10 watts or less may, upon securing prior authorization from the Commission, be operated by remote control. Application for authorization to operate by remote control may be made as a part of an application for construction permit or license, or modification thereof, or may be made by informal application at any time. For the purpose of this section, remote control is defined as the operation of a transmitter by a licensed operator from an operating position from which the transmitter is not directly accessible to but is under the control of the operator. Authority for operation by remote control shall be subject to the following conditions and applications for such authority shall clearly indicate the means whereby the conditions will be met:

(1) The equipment at the operating and transmitting positions shall be on premises under the control and supervision of the licensee at all times and shall not be accessible to persons other than the licensee or his agents.

(2) The control circuits from the operating position to the transmitter shall provide positive on and off control and shall be such that open circuits, short circuits, grounds or other line faults will not actuate the transmitter and any fault causing loss of such control will automatically place the transmitter in an inoperative condition.

(3) Monitoring equipment shall be installed at the remote control point so as to continuously monitor the actual FM carrier and audibly indicate the nature and quality of the program being broadcast.

(e) The original license (or FCC Form 759) of each station operator and of each operator responsible for the proper functioning of the transmitting equipment shall be posted at the place where the transmitting apparatus is located: Provided, however, That where remote control operation is authorized the original license (or FCC Form 759) of each station operator shall be posted at his normal place of duty at the station.

(f) The licensed operator on duty and in charge of a non-commercial educational FM broadcast transmitter may, at the discretion of the station licensee, be employed for other duties or for the operation of another station or stations in accordance with the class of operator's license which he holds and the rules and regulations governing such stations; however, such duties shall in nowise interfere with the operation of the broadcast transmitter.

§ 3.566 Facsimile broadcasting and multiplex transmission. Transmission of simplex facsimile on FM channels may be permitted upon application to the Commission. The Commission may grant experimental authority to a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station for the multiplex transmission of facsimile or other signals and aural broadcast programs: Provided, That the transmission of facsimile or other signals does not reduce the quality of the aural program, and that a filter or other additional equipment is not required for receivers not equipped to receive facsimile or other signals.

§ 3.567 Operating power; determination and maintenance of. (a) The operating power of each station licensed for transmitter power output of 10 watts or less shall be determined by the methods prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations. The power at which the station is operated may be less than the licensed power but shall in no event be more than 5 percent above the licensed power. The transmitter of each such station shall be so maintained as to be capable of operation at maximum licensed power.

(b) The operating power, and the requirements for maintenance thereof, of each station licensed for transmitter power output above 10 watts shall be determined by the methods prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.568 Modulation. The percentage of modulation of all stations shall be maintained as high as possible consistent with good quality of transmission and good broadcast practice and in no case less than 85 percent or more than 100 percent on peaks of frequent recurrence during any selection which normally is transmitted at the highest level of the program under consideration.

§ 3.569 Frequency tolerance. (a) The center frequency of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output of 10 watts or less shall be maintained within 3,000 cycles of the assigned center frequency.

(b) The center frequency of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station licensed for transmitter power output above 10 watts shall be maintained within 2,000 cycles of the assigned center frequency.

[4] For additional information regarding operator licenses see Part 13 of this chapter.

§ 3.570 Inspection of tower lights and associated control equipment. The licensee of any noncommercial educational FM broadcast station which has an antenna or antenna supporting structure(s) required to be illuminated pursuant to the provisions of section 303 (q) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended:

(a) Shall make a visual observation of the tower lights at least once each 24 hours to insure that all such lights are functioning properly.

(b) Shall report immediately by telephone or telegraph to the nearest Airways Communication Station or office of the Civil Acronautics Administration any observed failure of the tower lights, not corrected within 30 minutes, regardless of the cause of such failure. Further notification by telephone or telegraph shall be given immediately upon resumption of the required illumination.

(c) Inspect at intervals of at least once each three months all automatic and mechanical control devices associated with flashing or rotating beacons to insure that such apparatus is functioning properly as required.

§ 3.571 Discontinuance of operation. The licensee of each station shall notify the Commission in Washington, D. C., and the Engineer in Charge of the district where such station is located of permanent discontinuance of operation at least two days before operation is discontinued. The licensee, shall, in addition, immediately forward the station license and other instruments of authorization to the Washington, D. C., office of the Commission for cancellation.

OTHER RULES RELATING TO OPERATION

§ 3.581 Logs. The licensee of each noncommercial educational FM broadcast station shall maintain program and operating logs and shall require entries to be made as follows:

(a) In the program log:

(1) An entry of the time each station identification announcement (call letters and location) is made.

(2) An entry briefly describing each program broadcast, such as "music," "drama," "speech," etc., together with the name or title thereof, with the time of the beginning and ending of the complete program. If a mechanical record is used, the entry shall show the exact nature thereof, such as "record," "transcription," etc., and the time it is announced. If the program is of network origin, its source shall be indicated. If the broadcast is under the auspices of an institution or organization other than the licensee, its name shall be noted.

(b) In the operating log:

(1) An entry of the time the station begins to supply power to the antenna, and the time it stops.

(2) An entry of the time the program service begins and ends.

(3) An entry of each interruption to the carrier wave, its cause and duration.

(4) For each station licensed for transmitter power output above 10 watts, an entry of the following each 30 minutes:

(i) Operating constants of last radio stage (total plate current and plate voltage).

(ii) Radio frequency transmission line meter reading.

(iii) Frequency monitor reading.

(5) A log must be kept of all operation during the experimental period. If the entries required above are not applicable thereto, then the entries shall be made so as to fully describe the operation.

(c) Where an antenna and antenna supporting structure(s) is required to be illuminated the licensee shall make entries in the radio log appropriate to the requirements of § 3.65 as follows:

(1) The time the tower lights are turned on and off if manually controlled.

(2) The time the daily visual observation of the tower lights was made.

(3) In the event of any observed failure of a tower light:

(i) Nature of such failure.

(ii) Time the failure was observed.

(iii) Time and nature of the adjustments, repairs or replacements made.

(iv) Airways Communication Station (CAA) notified of the failure of any code or rotation beacon light or top light not corrected within 30 minutes and the time such notice was given.

(v) Time notice was given to the Airways Communication Station (CAA) that the required illumination was resumed.

(4) Upon completion of the periodic inspection (required at least once each 3 months):

(i) The date of the inspection and the condition of all tower lights and associated tower lighting control devices.

(ii) Any adjustments, replacements or repairs made to insure compliance with the lighting requirements.

§ 3.582 Logs, retention of. Logs of non-commercial, educational FM broadcast stations shall be retained by the licensee for a period of two years, Provided, however, That logs involving communications incident to a disaster or which include communications incident to or involved in an investigation by the Commission and concerning which the licensee has been notified, shall be retained by the licensee until he is specifically authorized in writing by the Commission to destroy them; Provided, further, That logs incident to or involved in any claim or complaint of which the licensee has notice shall be retained by the licensee until such claim or complaint has been fully satisfied or until the same has been barred by statute limiting the time for the filing of suits upon such claims.

§ 3.583 Logs, by whom kept. Each log shall be kept by the person or persons competent to do so, having actual knowledge of the facts required, who shall sign the log when starting duty and again when going off duty. The logs shall be made available upon request by an authorized representative of the Commission.

§ 3.584 Log form. The log shall be kept in an orderly manner, in suitable form, and in such detail that the data required for the particular class of station concerned are readily available. Key letters or abbreviations may be used if proper meaning or explanation is contained elsewhere in the log.

§ 3.585 Correction of logs. No log or portion thereof shall be erased, obliterated, or willfully destroyed within the period of retention provided by the rules. Any necessary correction may be made only by the person originating the entry who shall strike out the erroneous portion, initial the correction made, and indicate the date of correction.

§ 3.586 Rough logs. Rough logs may be transcribed into condensed form, but in such case the original log or memoranda and all portions thereof shall be preserved and made a part of the complete log.

§ 3.587 Station identification. (a) A licensee of a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station shall make at least the following station identification announcements (call letters and location): (1) at the beginning and ending of each time of operation; and (2) within 2 minutes of each hour and each half hour during operation: Provided,

(b) Such identification announcement need not be made on the hour or half hour when to make such announcement would interrupt a single continuous program of longer duration than 30 minutes. In such cases the identification announcement shall be made at the beginning of the program, at the first interruption of the continuity, and at the conclusion of the program.

(c) In making the identification announcement, the call letters shall be given only on the channel of the station identified thereby.

§ 3.588 Mechanical records. Each program broadcast, except when designed specifically for in-school listening, which consists in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions shall be announced in the manner and to the extent set out below.

(a) Each such program of longer duration than 30 minutes, consisting in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions, shall be identified by appropriate announcement at the beginning of the program, at each 30-minute interval and at the conclusion of the program: Provided, however, That the identifying announcement at each 30-minute interval is not required in case of a mechanical reproduction consisting of a continuous uninterrupted speech, play, religious service, symphony concert, or operatic production of longer than 30 minutes.

(b) Each such program of a longer duration than 5 minutes and not in excess of 30 minutes, consisting in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions, shall be identified by an appropriate announcement at the beginning and end of the program.

(c) Each such program of 5 minutes or less, consisting in whole or in part of mechanical reproductions, shall be identified by appropriate announcement immediately preceding the use thereof: Provided, however, That each such program of one minute or less need not be announced as such.

(d) In case a mechanical reproduction is used for background music, sound effects, station identification, program identification (theme music of short duration) or identification of the sponsorship of the program proper, no announcement of the mechanical reproduction is required.

(e) The exact form of identifying announcement is not prescribed, but the language shall be clear and in terms commonly used and understood. A licensee shall not attempt affirmatively to create the impression that any program being broadcast by mechanical reproduction consists of live talent.

§ 3.591 Rebroadcast. (a) The term "rebroadcast" means reception by radio of the program [9] of a radio station, and the simultaneous or subsequent retransmission of such program by a broadcast station. The broadcasting of a program relayed by a remote pick-up broadcast station or studio transmitter link is not considered a rebroadcast. In case a program is transmitted from its point of origin to a broadcast station entirely by telephone facilities in which a section of such transmission is by radio, the broadcasting of this program is not considered a rebroadcast.

(b) The licensee of a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station may, without further authority of the Commission, rebroadcast the program of a United States standard, FM, noncommercial educational, or international broadcast station, provided the Commission is notified of the call letters of each station rebroadcast and the licensee certifies that express authority has been received from the licensee of the station originating the program." [10] [11]

(c) No licensee of a noncommercial educational FM broadcast station shall rebroadcast the program of any United States radio station not designated in paragraph (b) of this section without written authority having first been obtained from the Commission upon application (informal) accompanied by written consent or certification of consent of the licensee of the station originating the program." [12]

SUBPART D—RESERVED FOR RULES GOVERNING FACSIMILE BROADCAST STATIONS (UNDER PREPARATION)

SUBPART E—RULES GOVERNING TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS

CLASSIFICATION OF TELEVISION STATIONS AND ALLOCATION OF FREQUENCIES

§ 3.601 Numerical designation of television channels. The channels or frequency bands set forth below are available for television broadcast stations.

Channel No.:	Megacycles
1	44–50
2	54–60
3	60–66
4	66–72
5	76–82
6	82–88
7	174–180
8	180–186
9	186–192
10	192–198
11	198–204
12	204–210
13	210–216

§ 3.602 Sharing of television channels. Channels 1 through 5 and 7 through 13 are available for assignment to radio services other than television upon a showing that no mutual interference will result.

§ 3.603 Community stations. (a) A community station is designed primarily for rendering service to the smaller metropolitan districts or principal cities. Television channel No. 1 is assigned exclusively for community stations. Channels 2 to 13, inclusive, can also be used for community stations provided such use complies with § 3.606.

(b) The power of a community station may not exceed an effective radiated peak power of 1 kilowatt. The maximum antenna height for such stations shall be 500 feet above the average terrain as determined by methods prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations.

(c) The main studio of a community station shall be located in the city or town served and the transmitter shall be located as near the center of the city as practicable.

§ 3.604 Metropolitan stations. (a) Metropolitan stations may be assigned to television channels 2 through 13, both inclusive. They are designed primarily to render service to a single metropolitan district or a principal city and to the rural area surrounding such metropolitan district or principal city.

(b) Metropolitan stations are limited to a maximum of 50 kilowatts effective radiated peak power with antenna having a height of 500 feet above the average terrain, as determined by the methods prescribed in Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations. Where higher antenna heights are available, they should be used but in such cases the Commission may authorize less than 50 kilowatts effective radiated peak power so that the coverage (within the 5000 uv/m contour) shall be substantially similar to that which would be provided by 50 kilowatts effective radiated peak power and a 500-foot antenna. Where it is shown that an antenna height of 500 feet is not available, the Commission may authorize the use of a lower height antenna but will not permit an increase in radiated power in excess of 50 kilowatts. The service area of metropolitan stations will not be protected beyond the 5000 uv/m contour and such stations will be located in such a manner as to insure, insofar as possible, a maximum of television service to all listeners, whether urban or rural.

(c) The main studio for metropolitan stations shall be located in the city or metropolitan district with which the station is associated and the transmitter should be located so as to provide the maximum service to the city or metropolitan district served.

§ 3.605 Rural stations. (a) Licensees of metropolitan stations or applicants who desire to qualify as licensees of rural stations must make a special showing to the Commission that they propose to serve an area more extensive than that served by a metropolitan station and that the additional area proposed to be served is predominantly rural in character. In addition, a showing must be made that such use of the channel will not cause objectionable interference to other television stations or prevent the assignment of other television stations where there is reasonable evidence of the probability of such station being located in the future.

(b) Channels 2 through 13 are available for assignment to rural stations. The service area of rural stations will be determined by the Commission.

(c) The main studio of rural stations shall be located within the 500 uv/m contour.

§ 3.606 Table showing allocation of television channels to metropolitan districts in the United States. (a) The table below sets forth the channels which are available for the areas indicated. The table will be revised from time to time depending upon the demand for television stations which may exist in the various cities. Where it is desired to use a different channel in any such area, or to use one of the channels in another area conflicting therewith, it must be shown that public interest, convenience, or necessity will be better served thereby than by the allocation set forth in the table.

(b) Only the first 140 metropolitan districts are listed in the table below. Stations in other metropolitan or city areas not listed in the table will not be assigned closer than 150 miles on the same channel or 75 miles on adjacent channels, except upon an adequate showing that public interest, convenience, or necessity would be better served thereby or that by using lower power or by other means equivalent protection is provided.

(c) Persons desiring to enter into a voluntary sharing arrangement of a television channel may file application therefor with the Commission pursuant to the provision of § 3.661 (c).

RULES GOVERNING ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE

§ 3.611 Application for television stations. If the application is for a new station or for modification of an existing authorization, FCC Form 301 shall be filed; if for a license, Form 302 shall be filed; if for a renewal of license, FCC Form 303 shall be filed.

§ 3.612 Full disclosures. Each application shall contain full and complete disclosures with regard to the real party or parties in interest, and their legal, technical, financial, and other qualifications, and as to all matters and things

[9] As used in this section, program includes any complete program or part thereof.

[10] The notice and certification of consent shall be given within 3 days of any single rebroadcast, but in case of the regular practice of rebroadcasting certain programs several times during a license period, notice and certification of consent shall be given for the ensuing license period with the application for renewal of license, or at the beginning of such rebroadcast practice if begun during a license period.

[11] See § 3.503 (c).

[12] By Order No. 82, dated and effective June 24, 1941, until further order of the Commission, § 3.591 (c) is suspended only insofar as it requires prior written authority of the Commission for the rebroadcasting of programs originated for the express purpose by U. S. Government radio stations.

required to be disclosed by the application forms.

§ 3.613 Installation of apparatus. Applications for construction permits or modification thereof involving the installation of new transmitting apparatus should be filed at least 60 days prior to the contemplated installation.

§ 3.614 Period of construction. Each construction permit will specify a maximum of 60 days from the date of granting thereof as the time within which construction of the station shall begin, and a maximum of 6 months thereafter as the time within which construction shall be completed and the station ready for operation, unless otherwise determined by the Commission upon proper showing in any particular case.

§ 3.615 Forfeiture of construction permits; extension of time. (a) A construction permit shall be automatically forfeited if the station is not ready for operation within the time specified therein or within such further time as the Commission may have allowed for completion, and a notation of the forfeiture of any construction permit under this provision will be placed in the records of the Commission as of the expiration date.

(b) An application (Form FCC No. 701) for extension of time within which to construct a station shall be filed at least 30 days prior to the expiration date of such permit if the facts supporting such application for extension are known to the applicant in time to permit such filing. In other cases such applications will be accepted upon a showing satisfactory to the Commission of sufficient reasons for filing within less than 30 days prior to the expiration date. Such applications will be granted upon a specific and detailed showing that the failure to complete was due to causes not under the control of the grantee, or upon a specific and detailed showing of other matters sufficient to justify the extension.

(c) If a construction permit has been allowed to expire for any reason, application may be made for a new permit on FCC Form 321, "Application for Construction Permit to Replace Expired Permit."

§ 3.616 Equipment tests. (a) During the process of construction of a television broadcast station, the permittee, after notifying the Commission and Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located, may without further authority of the Commission, conduct equipment tests for the purpose of such adjustments and measurements as may be necessary to assure compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, the rules and regulations, and the applicable engineering standards.

(b) The Commission may notify the permittee to conduct no tests or may cancel, suspend, or change the date for the beginning of equipment tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) Equipment tests may be continued so long as the construction permit shall remain valid.

(d) Inspection of a station will ordinarily be required during the equipment test period and before the commencement of the program test. After construction and after adjustments and measurements have been completed to show compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, the rules and regulations and the applicable engineering standards, the permittee should notify the Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located that it is ready for inspection.

(e) The authorization for tests embodied in this section shall not be construed as constituting a license to operate but as a necessary part of construction.

(f) Within the period prescribed by this section for equipment tests, field intensity measurements in accordance with the methods prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations shall be submitted to the Commission.

§ 3.617 Program tests. (a) Upon completion of construction of a television broadcast station in accordance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, and the rules and regulations and applicable engineering standards and when an application for station license has been filed showing the station to be in satisfactory operating condition,[1] the permittee may request authority to conduct program tests: Provided, That such request shall be filed with the Commission at least ten (10) days prior to the date on which it is desired to begin such operation and that the Engineer in Charge of the District in which the station is located is notified.

(b) Program tests shall not commence until specific Commission authority is received. The Commission reserves the right to change the date of the beginning of such tests or to suspend or revoke the authority for program tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) Unless sooner suspended or revoked the program test authority continues valid during Commission consideration of the application for license and during this period further extension of the construction permit is not required. Program test authority shall be automatically terminated by final determination upon the application for station license.

(d) All operation under program test authority shall be in strict compliance with the rules governing television broadcast stations and in strict accordance with representations made in the application for license pursuant to which the tests were authorized.

[1] All data necessary to show compliance with the terms and conditions of the construction permit, including proof of performance, must be filed with the license application.

(e) The granting of program test authority shall not be construed as approval by the Commission of the application for station license.

§ 3.618 Normal license period. All television broadcast station licenses will be issued so as to expire at the hour of 3 a. m. eastern standard time, and will be issued for a normal license period of 1 year.

§ 3.619 License, simultaneous modification and renewal. When an application is granted by the Commission necessitating the issuance of a modified license less than 60 days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be modified, and an application for renewal of said license is granted subsequent or prior thereto (but within 30 days of expiration of the present license) the modified license as well as the renewal license shall be issued to conform to the combined action of the Commission.

§ 3.620 Renewal of license. (a) Unless otherwise directed by the Commission, each application for renewal of a television station license shall be filed at least 60 days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be renewed (Form FCC No. 303). No application for renewal of license of a television broadcast station will be considered unless there is on file with the Commission, the information currently required by §§ 1.341–1.344 of this chapter, reference to which by date and file number shall be included in the application.

(b) Whenever the Commission regards an application for a renewal of a television station license as essential to the proper conduct of a hearing or investigation, and specifically directs that it be filed by a certain date, such application shall be filed within the time thus specified. If the licensee fails to file such application within the prescribed time, the hearing or investigation shall proceed as if such renewal application had been received.

§ 3.621 Temporary extension of station licenses. Where there is pending before the Commission any application, investigation, or proceeding which, after hearing, might lead to or make necessary the modification of, revocation of, or the refusal to renew an existing television license, the Commission may, in its discretion, grant a temporary extension of such license: Provided, however, That no such temporary extension shall be construed as a finding by the Commission that the operation of any radio station thereunder will serve public interest, convenience, and necessity beyond the express terms of such temporary extension of license: And provided further, That such temporary extension of license will in nowise affect or limit the action of the Commission with respect to any pending application or proceeding.

§ 3.622 Repetitious applications. (a) Where an applicant has been afforded an opportunity to be heard with respect to a particular application for a new television broadcast station, or for change of existing service or facilities, and the Commission has, after hearing or default, denied the application or dismissed it with prejudice, the Commission will not consider another application for a station of the same class to serve in whole or in part the same area, by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf of or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, until after the lapse of 12 months from the effective date of the Commission's order.

(b) Where an appeal has been taken from the action of the Commission in denying a particular application, another application for the same class of broadcast station and for the same area, in whole or in part, filed by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, will not be considered until the final disposition of such appeal.

§ 3.623 Assignment or transfer of control—(a) Voluntary. Application for consent to voluntary assignment of a television station construction permit or license or for consent to voluntary transfer of control of a corporation holding a television station construction permit or license shall be filed with the Commission on Form FCC No. 314 (Assignment of License), Form FCC No. 315 (Transfer of Control) or Form FCC No. 316 (Short Form) at least 60 days prior to the contemplated effective date of assignment or transfer of control.

(b) Pro forma. Assignment or transfer application shall be filed on FCC Form 316 where:

(1) There is an assignment from an individual or individuals (including partnerships) to a corporation owned and controlled by such individuals or partnerships without any substantial change in their relative interests;

(2) There is an assignment from a corporation to its individual stockholders without effecting any substantial change in the disposition of their interests;

(3) There is an assignment or transfer by which certain partners or stockholders retire but no new ones are brought in, provided that the interest transferred is not a controlling one;

(4) There is a corporate reorganization which involves no substantial change in the beneficial ownership of the corporation;

(5) There is an involuntary transfer to an Executor, Administrator or other court appointed officer caused by death or legal disability except that this form does not cover assignments (or transfers) from the Executor, Administrator or other court appointed officers to the ultimate beneficiary;

(6) There is an assignment or transfer from a corporation to a wholly owned subsidiary thereof or vice versa, or where there is an assignment from a corporation to a corporation owned or controlled by the assignor stockholders without substantial change in their interests;

(7) There is an assignment of less than a controlling interest in a partnership.

(c) Involuntary. In the event of the death or legal disability of a permittee or licensee, or a member of a partnership, or a person directly or indirectly in control of a corporation, which is a permittee or licensee:

(1) The Commission shall be notified in writing promptly of the occurrence of such death or legal disability, and

(2) Within thirty days after the occurrence of such death or legal disability, application on Form FCC No. 316 shall be filed for consent to involuntary transfer of control of such corporation to a person or entity qualified to succeed to the foregoing interests under the laws of the place having jurisdiction over the estate involved.

RULES RELATING TO LICENSING POLICIES

§ 3.631 Exclusive affiliation of station. No license shall be granted to a television broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied with a network organization[2] under which the station is prevented or hindered from, or penalized for, broadcasting the programs of any other network organization.

§ 3.632 Territorial exclusivity. No license shall be granted to a television broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization which prevents or hinders another broadcast station serving substantially the same area from broadcasting the network's programs not taken by the former station, or which prevents or hinders another broadcast station serving a substantially different area from broadcasting any program of the network organization. This regulation shall not be construed to prohibit any contract, arrangement, or understanding between a station and a network organization pursuant to which the station is granted the first call in its primary service area upon the programs of the network organization.

§ 3.633 Term of affiliation. No license shall be granted to a television broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization which provides, by original terms, provisions for renewal, or otherwise for the affiliation of the station with the network organization for a period longer than 2 years: Provided, That a contract, arrangement, or understanding for a period up to 2 years, may be entered into within 6 months prior to the commencement of such period.

§ 3.634 Option time. No license shall be granted to a television broadcast station which options[3] for network programs any time subject to call on less than 56 days' notice, or more time than a total of 3 hours[4] within each of four segments of the broadcast day, as herein described. The broadcast day is divided into four segments, as follows: 8 a. m. to 1 p. m.; 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.; 6 p. m. to 11 p. m.; 11 p. m. to 8 a. m.[5] Such options may not be exclusive as against other network organizations and may not prevent or hinder the station from optioning or selling any or all of the time covered by the option, or other time, to other network organizations.

§ 3.635 Right to reject programs. No license shall be granted to a television broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization which (a), with respect to programs offered pursuant to an affiliation contract, prevents or hinders the station from rejecting or refusing network programs which the station reasonably believes to be unsatisfactory or unsuitable; or which (b), with respect to network programs so offered or already contracted for, prevents the station from rejecting or refusing any program which, in its opinion, is contrary to the public interest, or from substituting a program of outstanding local or national importance.

§ 3.636 Network ownership of stations. No license shall be granted to a network organization, or to any person directly or indirectly controlled by or under common control[6] of a network organization, for a television broadcast station in any locality where the existing television broadcast stations are so few or of such unequal desirability (in terms of coverage, power, frequency, or other related matters) that competition would be substantially restrained by such licensing.

§ 3.637 Dual network operation. No license shall be issued to a television broadcast station affiliated with a network organization which maintains more than one network of television broadcast stations: Provided, That this section shall not be applicable if such networks are not operated simultaneously, or if there is no substantial overlap in the territory served by the group of stations comprising each such network.

§ 3.638 Control by networks of station rates. No license shall be granted to a television broadcast station having any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, with a network organization under which the station is prevented or hindered from, or penalized for, fixing or altering its rates for the sale of broadcast time for other than the network's programs.

§ 3.639 Use of common antenna site. No television license or renewal of a television license will be granted to any person who owns, leases, or controls a particular site which is peculiarly suitable for television broadcasting in a particular area and (a) which is not available for use by other television licensees; and (b) no other comparable site is available in the area; and (c) where the exclusive use of such site by the applicant or licensee would unduly limit the number of television stations that can be authorized in a particular area or would unduly restrict competition among television stations.

§ 3.640 Multiple ownership. (a) No person (including all persons under common control)[7] shall, directly or indirectly, own, operate, or control more than one television broadcast station that would serve substantially the same service area as another television broadcast station owned, operated, or controlled by such person.

(b) No person (including all persons under common control) shall, directly or indirectly, own, operate, or control more than one television broadcast station, except upon a showing (1) that such ownership, operation, or control would foster competition among television broadcast stations or provide a television broadcasting service distinct and separate from existing services, and (2) that such ownership, operation, or control would not result in the concentration of control of television broadcasting facilities in a manner inconsistent with public interest, convenience, or necessity: Provided, however, That the Commission will consider the ownership, operation, or control of more than five television broadcast stations to constitute the concentration of control of television broadcasting facilities in a manner inconsistent with public interest, convenience, or necessity.

§ 3.641 Special rules relating to contracts providing for reservation of time upon sale of a station. (a) No license, renewal of license, assignment of license, or transfer of control of a corporate licensee shall be granted or authorized to a television broadcast station which has a contract, arrangement or understanding, express or implied, pursuant to which, as consideration or partial consideration for the assignment of license or transfer of control, the assignor of a station license or the transferor of stock, where transfer of a corporate licensee is involved, or the nominee of such assignor or transferor retains any right of reversion of the license or any right to the reassignment of the license in the future, or reserves the right to use the facilities of the station for any period whatsoever.

(b) In the case of assignment of license or transfer of control of a corporate licensee approved by the Commission before the effective date of this section, February 15, 1949, involving a contract, arrangement or understanding of the type covered by paragraph (a) of this section and the existence and terms of which were fully disclosed to the Commission at the time of execution, the Commission will give consideration to the issuance of a license despite the existence of such contract, arrangement or understanding, if the parties thereto modify such contract within 6 months from the effective date of this section. Such modifications will be considered on the facts of each case but no such modification will be approved unless the modified contract contains at least the following provisions:

(1) A maximum limitation of the time subject to reservation so that no more than 12 hours per week shall be subject to reservation, of which no more than 4 hours shall be on any given day.

(2) A clause providing that the licensee reserves the right to reject or refuse programs which he reasonably believes to be unsatisfactory or unsuitable or for which, in his opinion, a program of outstanding local or national importance should be substituted, but provision may be made for the substitution of other radio time for programs so rejected or for the payment at the station card rate for the time made unavailable.

(3) A prohibition against the resale or reassignment of any of the broadcast time reserved by such modified contract.

(4) An express negation of any right with respect to reversion or reassignment of license.

(5) An express provision setting forth a definite expiration date of the contract, arrangement or understanding. Such expiration date shall not extend beyond February 15, 1964, and shall in no event extend beyond the expiration date originally provided for in any such contract, agreement or understanding, in the event that such expiration date is a date prior to February 15, 1964.

(6) An express provision giving to the licensee the right to terminate the contract, arrangement or understanding for substantial cause, including, but not limited to, the assignment of license or the transfer of control of a corporate licensee, consistent disagreement over programs between the parties, or the acquisition of a network affiliation by the licensee, upon the payment of a lump sum or periodic payments, and providing that the amount initially fixed shall thereafter decrease as the amount of time reserved is decreased by performance of the contract. Any such payment should not be so unduly large as to constitute in practice an effective deterrent to the licensee exercising the right. In determining whether the amount is unduly large, the Commission will consider the amount by which consideration in return for the transfer of the station was decreased by reason of the reservation of time or the present value of the radio time still reserved and unused as of the date of the exercise of the right of termination.

RULES RELATING TO EQUIPMENT

§ 3.651 Transmitter power. The rated power and operating power range of transmitters shall be in accordance with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.652 Frequency monitors. The licensee of each television broadcast station shall have in operation at the transmitters frequency monitors independent of the frequency control of the transmitters.

§ 3.653 Modulation monitors. The licensee of each television broadcast station shall have in operation at the transmitter a modulation monitor for the aural transmitter. There shall also be sufficient monitoring equipment for the visual signal to determine that the signal complies with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.654 Required transmitter performance. The construction, installation, operation, and performance of the television broadcast transmitter system shall be in accordance with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.655 Auxiliary transmitter. Upon showing that a need exists for the use of auxiliary transmitters in addition to the regular transmitters of a television station, a license therefor may be issued: Provided, That:

(a) Auxiliary transmitters may be installed either at the same location as the main transmitters or at another location.

(b) A licensed operator shall be in control whenever auxiliary transmitters are placed in operation.

(c) The auxiliary transmitters shall be maintained so that they may be put into immediate operation at any time for the following purposes:

(1) The transmission of the regular programs upon the failure of the main transmitter.

(2) The transmission of regular programs during maintenance or modification,[8] work on the main transmitters necessitating discontinuance of its operation for a period not to exceed five days.

(3) Upon request by a duly authorized representative of the Commission.

(d) The auxiliary transmitters shall be tested at least once each week to determine that they are in proper operating condition and that they are adjusted to the proper frequency, except that in case of operation in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section during any week, the test in that week may be omitted provided the operation under paragraph (c) is satisfactory. A record shall be kept of the time and result of each test operating under paragraph (c).

[2] The term "network organization" as used herein includes national and regional network organizations. See ch. VII, J, of Report on Chain Broadcasting.

[3] As used in this section, an option is any contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied, between a station and a network organization which prevents or hinders the station from scheduling programs before the network agrees to utilize the time during which such programs are scheduled, or which requires the station to clear time already scheduled when the network organization seeks to utilize the time.

[4] All time options permitted under this section must be specified clock hours, expressed in terms of any time system set forth in the contract agreed upon by the station and network organization. Shifts from daylight saving to standard time or vice versa may or may not shift the specified hours correspondingly as agreed by the station and network organization.

[5] These segments are to be determined for each station in terms of local time at the location of the station but may remain constant throughout the year regardless of shifts from standard to daylight saving time or vice versa.

[6] The word "control" as used in this section, is not limited to full control but includes such a measure of control as would substantially affect the availability of the station to other networks.

[7] The word "control" as used herein is not limited to majority stock ownership, but includes actual working control in whatever manner exercised.

[8] This includes the equipment changes which may be made without authority as set forth elsewhere in the rules and regulations and the Standards of Good Engineering Practice or as authorized by the Commission by letter or by construction permit. Where such operation is required for periods in excess of 5 days, request therefor shall be in accordance with § 1.324 of this chapter.

(e) The auxiliary transmitters shall be equipped with satisfactory control equipment which will enable the maintenance of the frequency emitted by the station within the limits prescribed by the regulations in this part.

(f) The operating power of an auxiliary transmitter may be less than the authorized power of the main transmitters, but in no event shall it be greater than such power.

§ 3.656 Alternate main transmitters. The licensee of a television broadcast station may be licensed for alternate main transmitters provided that a technical need for such alternate transmitters is shown and that the following conditions are met:

(a) Both transmitters are located at the same place.

(b) Both transmitters shall have the same power rating.

(c) Both transmitters shall meet the construction, installation, operation, and performance requirements of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.657 Changes in equipment and antenna system. Licensees of television broadcast stations shall observe the following provisions with regard to change in equipment and antenna system:

(a) No changes in equipment shall be made:

(1) That would result in the emission of signals outside of the authorized channel.

(2) That would result in the external performance of the transmitter being in disagreement with that prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations.

(b) Specific authority, upon filing formal application (Form FCC No. 301) therefor, is required for a change in service area or for any of the following changes:

(1) Changes involving an increase or decrease in the power rating of the transmitters.

(2) A replacement of the transmitters as a whole.

(3) Change in the location of the transmitting antenna.

(4) Change in antenna system, including transmission line.

(5) Change in location of main studio, if it is proposed to move the main studio to a different city from that specified in the license.

(6) Change in the power delivered to the antenna.

(7) Change in frequency control and/or modulation system.

(c) Specific authority, upon filing informal request therefor, is required for a change in the indicating instruments installed to measure transmitter power output, except by instruments of the same maximum scale reading and accuracy.

(d) Other changes, except as above provided for in this section or in Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations prescribed by the Commission may be made at any time without the authority of the Commission, provided that the Commission shall be promptly notified thereof and such changes shall be shown in the next application for renewal of license.

RULES RELATING TO TECHNICAL OPERATION

§ 3.661 Time of operation. (a) All television broadcast stations will be licensed for unlimited time operation. Each such station shall maintain a regular program operating schedule as follows: not less than two hours daily in any five broadcast days per week and not less than a total of twelve hours per week during the first eighteen months of the station's operation; not less than two hours daily in any five broadcast days per week and not less than a total of sixteen hours, twenty hours and twenty-four hours per week for each successive six month period of operation, respectively; and not less than two hours in each of the seven days of the week and not less than a total of twenty-eight hours per week thereafter. "Operation" includes the period during which a station is operated pursuant to special temporary authority or during program tests, as well as during the license period. Time devoted to test patterns, or to aural presentations accompanied by the incidental use of fixed visual images which have no substantial relationship to the subject matter of such aural presentations, shall not be considered in computing periods of program service. If, in the event of an emergency due to causes beyond the control of a licensee, it becomes impossible to continue operation, the Commission and the Engineer in Charge of the radio district in which the station is located shall be notified in writing immediately after the emergency develops and immediately after the emergency ceases and operation is resumed.

(b) The aural transmitter of a television broadcast station shall not be operated separately from the visual transmitter except for experimental or test purposes.

(c) Persons desiring to enter into a voluntary sharing arrangement of a television channel may file application therefor with the Commission. Copies of the time-sharing agreement should be filed with the application.

§ 3.662 Experimental operation. Television broadcast stations may conduct technical experimentation directed to the improvement of technical phases of operation and for such purposes may utilize a signal other than the standard television signal subject to the following conditions:

(a) That the licensee complies with the provisions of § 3.661 with regard to the minimum number of hours of transmission with a standard television signal.

(b) That no transmissions are radiated outside of the authorized channel and subject to the condition that no interference is caused to the transmissions of a standard television signal by other television broadcast stations.

(c) No charges either direct or indirect shall be made by the licensee of a television broadcast station for the production or transmission of programs when conducting technical experimentation.

§ 3.663 Station inspection. The licensee of any television broadcast station shall make the station available for inspection by representatives of the Commission at any reasonable hour.

§ 3.664 Station license, posting of. The original of each station license shall be posted in the transmitter room.

§ 3.665 Operator requirements. One or more licensed radio-telephone first class operators shall be on duty at the place where the transmitting apparatus of each station is located and in actual charge thereof whenever it is being operated. The original license (or Form FCC No. 759) of each station operator shall be posted at the place where he is on duty. The licensed operator on duty and in charge of a television broadcast transmitter may, at the discretion of the licensee, be employed for other duties or for the operation of another station or stations in accordance with the class of operator's license which he holds and by the rules and regulations governing such stations. However, such duties shall in nowise interfere with the operation of the broadcast transmitter.

§ 3.666 Operating power; how determined. The operating power, and the requirements for maintenance thereof, of each television broadcast station shall be determined by the methods prescribed in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Television Broadcast Stations.

§ 3.667 Modulation. The percentage of modulation of the aural transmissions shall be maintained as high as possible consistent with good quality of transmission and good broadcast practice and in no case less than 85 percent nor more than 100 percent on peaks of frequent recurrence during any selection which normally is transmitted at the highest level of the program under consideration.

§ 3.668 Frequency tolerance. The operating frequencies of the aural and visual transmitters of a television broadcast station shall be maintained within 0.002 percent of the assigned frequencies.

§ 3.669 Inspection of tower lights and associated control equipment. The licensee of any television station which has an antenna or antenna supporting structure(s) required to be illuminated pursuant to the provisions of section 303 (q) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended:

(a) Shall make a visual observation of the tower lights at least once each 24 hours to insure that all such lights are functioning properly as required.

(b) Shall report immediately by telephone or telegraph to the nearest Airways Communication Station or office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration any observed failure of the tower lights, not corrected within 30 minutes, regardless of the cause of such failure. Further notification by telephone or telegraph shall be given immediately upon resumption of the required illumination.

(c) Inspect at intervals of at least once each three months all automatic and mechanical control devices associated with flashing or rotating beacons to insure that such apparatus is functioning properly as required.

§ 3.670 Discontinuance of operation. The licensee of each station shall notify the Commission in Washington, D. C., and the Engineer in Charge of the district where such station is located of permanent discontinuance of operation at least two days before operation is discontinued. The licensee, shall, in addition, immediately forward the station license and other instruments of authorization to the Washington, D. C., office of the Commission for cancellation.

OTHER RULES RELATING TO OPERATION

§ 2.681 Logs. The licensee of each television station shall maintain program and operating logs and shall require entries to be made as follows:

(a) In the program log:

(1) An entry of the time each station identification announcement (call letters and location) is made.

(2) An entry briefly describing each program broadcast, such as "music," "drama," "speech," etc., together with the name or title thereof and the sponsor's name, with the time of the beginning and ending of the complete program. If a mechanical reproduction, either visual or aural, is used, the entry shall show the exact nature thereof, and the time it is announced as a mechanical reproduction. If a speech is made by a political candidate, the name and political affiliations of such speaker shall be entered.

(3) An entry showing that each sponsored program broadcast has been announced as sponsored, paid for, or furnished by the sponsor.

(4) An entry showing, for each program of network origin, the name of the network originating the program.

(b) In the operating log:

(1) An entry of the time the station begins to supply power to the antenna, and the time it stops.

(2) An entry of the time the program begins and ends.

(3) An entry of each interruption to the carrier wave, its cause, and duration.

(4) An entry of the following each 30 minutes:

(i) Operating constants of last radio stage of the aural transmitter (total plate current and plate voltage).

(ii) Transmission line current or voltage of both transmitters.

(iii) Frequency monitor reading.

(5) Log of experimental operation during experimental period (if regular operation is maintained during this period, the above logs shall be kept).

(i) A log must be kept of all operation during the experimental period. If the entries required above are not applicable thereto, then the entries shall be made so as to fully describe the operation.

(c) Where an antenna and antenna supporting structure(s) is required to be illuminated the licensee shall make entries in the radio log appropriate to the requirements of § 3.65 as follows:

(1) The time the tower lights are turned on and off if manually controlled.

(2) The time the daily visual observation of the tower lights was made.

(3) In the event of any observed failure of a tower light.

(i) Nature of such failure.

(ii) Time the failure was observed.

(iii) Time and nature of the adjustments, repairs or replacements made.

(iv) Airways Communication Station (CAA) notified of the failure of any code or rotation beacon light or top light not corrected within 30 minutes and the time such notice was given.

(v) Time notice was given to the Airways Communication Station (CAA) that the required illumination was resumed.

(4) Upon completion of the periodic inspection required at least once each 3 months.

(i) The date of the inspection and the condition of all tower lights and associated tower lighting control devices.

(ii) Any adjustments, replacements, or repairs made to insure compliance with the lighting requirements.

§ 3.682 Logs, retention of. Logs of television broadcast stations shall be retained by the licensee for a period of two years, Provided, however, That logs involving communications incident to a disaster or which include communications incident to or involved in an investigation by the Commission and concerning which the licensee has been notified, shall be retained by the licensee until he is specifically authorized in writing by the Commission to destroy them; Provided, further, That logs incident to or involved in any claim or complaint of which the licensee has notice shall be retained by the licensee until such claim or complaint has been fully satisfied or until the same has been barred by statute limiting the time for the filing of suits upon such claims.

§ 3.683 Logs, by whom kept. Each log shall be kept by the person or persons competent to do so, having actual knowledge of the facts required, who shall sign the log when starting duty and again when going off duty. The logs shall be made available upon request by an authorized representative of the Commission.

§ 3.684 Log form. The log shall be kept in an orderly manner, in suitable form, and in such detail that the data required for the particular class of station concerned are readily available. Key letters or abbreviations may be used if proper meaning or explanation is contained elsewhere in the log.

§ 3.685 Correction of logs. No log or portion thereof shall be erased, obliterated, or wilfully destroyed within the period of retention provided by the rules. Any necessary correction may be made only by the person originating the entry who shall strike out the erroneous portion, initial the correction made, and indicate the date of correction.

§ 3.686 Rough logs. Rough logs may be transcribed into condensed form, but in such case, the original log or memoranda and all portions thereof shall be preserved and made a part of the complete log.

§ 3.687 Station identification. (a) A licensee of a television broadcast station shall make station identification announcement (call letters and location), at the beginning and ending of each time of operation and during the operation on the hour. The announcement at the beginning and ending of each time of operation shall be by both aural and visual means. Other announcements may be by either aural or visual means.

(b) Identification announcements during operation need not be made when to make such announcement would interrupt a single consecutive speech, play, religious service, symphony concert, or any type of production. In such cases the identification announcement shall be made at the first interruption of the entertainment continuity and at the conclusion thereof.

§ 3.688 Mechanical reproductions. (a) Each program which consists in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions, either visual or aural, shall be accompanied by an appropriate announcement to that effect either at the beginning or end of such reproduction or at the beginning or end of the program in which such reproduction is used. No such announcement shall be required where a mechanical reproduction is used for background music, sound effects, station identification, program identification (theme music of short duration) or identification of sponsorship of the program proper.

(b) The exact form of identifying announcement is not prescribed but the language shall be clear and in terms commonly used and understood. The licensee shall not attempt affirmatively to create the impression that any program being broadcast by mechanical reproduction consists of live talent.

§ 3.689 Sponsored programs, announcement. (a) In the case of each program for the broadcasting of which money, services, or other valuable consideration is either directly or indirectly paid or promised to, or charged or received by, any radio broadcast station, the station broadcasting such program shall make, or cause to be made, an appropriate announcement that the program is sponsored, paid for, or furnished, either in whole or in part.

(b) In the case of any political program or any program involving the discussion of public controversial issues for which any films, records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services of any kind are furnished, either directly or indirectly, to a station as an inducement to the broadcasting of such program, an announcement shall be made both at the beginning and conclusion of such program on which such material or services are used that such films, records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services have been furnished to such station in connection with the broadcasting of such program: Provided, however, That only one such announcement need be made in the case of any such program of 5 minutes' duration or less, which announcement may be made either at the beginning or conclusion of the program.

(c) The announcement required by this section shall fully and fairly disclose the true identity of the person or persons by whom or in whose behalf such payment is made or promised, or from whom or in whose behalf such services or other valuable consideration is received, or by whom the material or services referred to in paragraph (b) of this section are furnished. Where an agent or other person contracts or otherwise makes arrangements with a station on behalf of another, and such fact is known to the station, the announcement shall disclose the identity of the person or persons in whose behalf such agent is acting instead of the name of such agent.

(d) In the case of any program, other than a program advertising commercial products or services, which is sponsored, paid for or furnished, either in whole or in part, or for which material or services referred to in paragraph (b) of this section are furnished, by a corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group, the announcement required by this section, shall disclose the name of such corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group. In each such case the station shall require that a list of the chief executive officers or members of the executive committee or of the board of directors of the corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group shall be made available for public inspection at one of the television broadcast stations carrying the program.

(e) In the case of programs advertising commercial products or services, an announcement stating the sponsor's corporate or trade name or the name of the sponsor's product, shall be deemed sufficient for the purposes of this section and only one such announcement need be made at any time during the course of the program.

§ 3.690 Broadcasts by candidates for public office—(a) Legally qualified candidate. A "legally qualified candidate" means any person who has publicly announced that he is a candidate for nomination by a convention of a political party or for nomination or election in a primary, special, or general election, municipal, county, state or national, and who meets the qualifications prescribed by the applicable laws to hold the office for which he is a candidate, so that he may be voted for by the electorate directly or by means of delegates or electors, and who:

(1) Has qualified for a place on the ballot, or

(2) Is eligible under the applicable law to be voted for by sticker, by writing in his name on the ballot, or other method, and (i) has been duly nominated by a political party which is commonly known and regarded as such, or (ii) makes a substantial showing that he is a bona fide candidate for nomination or office, as the case may be.

(b) General requirements. No station licensee is required to permit the use of its facilities by any legally qualified candidate for public office, but if any licensee shall permit any such candidate to use its facilities, it shall afford equal opportunities to all other such candidates for that office to use such facilities: Provided, That such licensee shall have no power of censorship over the material broadcast by any such candidate.

(c) Rates and practices. The rates, if any, charged all such candidates for the same office shall be uniform and shall not be rebated by any means, directly or indirectly; no licensee shall make any discrimination in charges, practices, regulations, facilities, or services for or in connection with the service rendered pursuant to the regulations in this part, or make or give any preference to any candidate for public office or subject any such candidate to any prejudice or disadvantage; nor shall any licensee make any contract or other agreement which shall have the effect of permitting any legally qualified candidate for any public office to broadcast to the exclusion of other legally qualified candidates for the same public office.

(d) Inspection of records. Every licensee shall keep and permit public inspection of a complete record of all requests for broadcast time made by or on behalf of candidates for public office, together with an appropriate notation showing the disposition made by the licensee of such requests, and the charges made, if any, if request is granted.

§ 3.691 Rebroadcast. (a) The term "rebroadcast" means reception by radio of the program [9] of a radio station, and the simultaneous or subsequent retransmission of such program by a broadcast station. The broadcasting of a program relayed by a relay broadcast station or studio transmitter link is not considered a rebroadcast.

(b) The licensee of a television broadcast station may, without further authority of the Commission, rebroadcast the program of a United States television broadcast station, provided the Commission is notified of the call letters of each station rebroadcast and the licensee certifies that express authority has been received from the licensee of the station originating the program.[10]

(c) No licensee of a television broadcast station shall rebroadcast the program of any United States radio station not designated in paragraph (b) of this section without written authority having first been obtained from the Commission upon application (informal) accompanied by written consent or certification of consent of the licensee of the station originating the program.[11]

[9] As used in this section, program includes any complete program or part thereof.

[10] The notice and certification of consent shall be given within 3 days of any single rebroadcast, but in case of the regular practice of rebroadcasting certain programs of a television broadcast station several times during a license period, notice and certification of consent shall be given for the ensuing license period with the application for renewal of license, or at the beginning of such rebroadcast practice if begun during a license period.

[11] By Order No. 82, dated and effective June 24, 1941, until further order of the Commission, § 3.691 (c) is suspended only insofar as it requires prior written authority of the Commission for the rebroadcasting of programs originated for that express purpose by U. S. Government radio stations.

§ 3.692 Lotteries and give-away programs.[12] (a) An application for construction permit, license, renewal of license, or any other authorization for the operation of a broadcast station, will not be granted where the applicant proposes to follow or continue to follow a policy or practice of broadcasting or permitting "the broadcasting of any advertisement of or information concerning any lottery, gift enterprise, or similar scheme, offering prizes dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance, or any list of the prizes drawn or awarded by means of any such lottery, gift enterprise, or scheme, whether said list contains any part or all of such prizes." (See 18 U. S. C. sec. 1304.)

(b) The determination whether a particular program comes within the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section depends on the facts of each case. However, the Commission will in any event consider that a program comes within the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section if in connection with such program a prize consisting of money or thing of value is awarded to any person whose selection is dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance, if as a condition of winning or competing for such prize:

(1) Such winner or winners are required to furnish any money or thing of value or are required to have in their possession any product sold, manufactured, furnished or distributed by a sponsor of a program broadcast on the station in question; or

(2) Such winner or winners are required to be listening to or viewing the program in question on a radio or television receiver; or

(3) Such winner or winners are required to answer correctly a question, the answer to which is given on a program broadcast over the station in question or where aid to answering the question correctly is given on a program broadcast over the station in question. For the purposes of this provision the broadcasting of the question to be answered over the radio station on a previous program will be considered as an aid in answering the question correctly; or

(4) Such winner or winners are required to answer the phone in a prescribed manner or with a prescribed phrase, or are required to write a letter in a prescribed manner or containing a prescribed phrase, if the prescribed manner of answering the phone or writing the letter or the prescribed phrase to be used over the phone or in the letter (or an aid in ascertaining the prescribed phrase or

[12] The Commission on September 21, 1949, adopted an order which read, in part as follows:

It is ordered, That, effective immediately, the effective date of §§ 3.192, 3.292 and 3.692 of the Commission's rules is hereby postponed until a date to be fixed by further order, which shall be at least thirty days after a final decision by the Supreme Court of the United States, or thirty days after the time within which an appeal to the Supreme Court may be taken has expired without such an appeal being taken, in pending litigation with respect to these rules.

the prescribed manner of answering the phone or writing the letter) is, or has been, broadcast over the station in question.

SUBPART F—RULES GOVERNING INTERNATIONAL BROADCAST STATIONS

DEFINITION OF INTERNATIONAL BROADCAST STATIONS AND ALLOCATION OF FACILITIES

§ 3.701 Defined. The term "international broadcast station" means a station licensed for the transmission of broadcast programs for international public reception. (Frequencies for these stations are allocated from bands assigned (between 6000 and 21700 kilocycles) for broadcasting by international agreement.)

§ 3.702 Frequency assignments. (a) The following groups of frequencies are allocated for assignment to international broadcast stations:

[In kilocycles]

Group A	Group B	Group C	Group D	Group E	Group F
6040	9530	11710	[1] 15130	17750	21460
6060	[1] [2] 9550	[1] [2] 11730	15150	17760	[1] [2] 21500
6080	9570	11790	15210	17780	21520
6100	9590	11820	15260	17800	21540
[1] 6120	9650	11830	15270	17830	21570
6140	9670	11870	15330		21590
6170		11890	15350		21610
6190					21630

[1] Authorizations for international broadcast stations which permit operation on these frequencies shall be subject to the condition that the authorizations for these frequencies may be modified by the Commission to delete these frequencies without advance notice or hearing.

[2] Authorizations for international broadcast stations which permit operation on these frequencies shall be subject to the condition that there shall be no commercial or advertising announcements of any kind in the programs broadcast through the medium of these frequencies, and that the names of program sponsors shall not be broadcast.

(b) Additional frequencies allocated by international agreement may be assigned to international broadcast stations subject to the conditions that no objectionable interference results to the service of foreign international broadcast stations which, in the opinion of the Commission, have priority of assignment.

(c) Any frequency licensed to an international broadcast station shall also be available for assignment to other international broadcast stations, provided no objectionable interference is caused to the service of any United States international broadcast station.

(d) [1] An international broadcast station will not be authorized to use more than one frequency listed in any group listed in paragraph (a) of this section without a showing of technical necessity.

(e) [1] Not more than one frequency shall be used simultaneously under the same authorization and call letter designation.

RULES GOVERNING ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE

§ 3.711 Application for international broadcast stations. Each applicant for a construction permit for a new international broadcast station, change in facilities of any existing international broadcast station, or international station license or modification of license shall file with the Commission in Washington, D. C., three copies of applications on the appropriate form designated by the Commission and a like number of exhibits and other papers incorporated therein and made a part thereof. Only the original copy need be sworn to. If the application is for a construction permit for a new international station, Form FCC No. 309 should be filed; for an international station license, Form FCC No. 310 should be filed; for modification of an international station license or for change in facilities of an existing international station, Form FCC No. 312 should be filed.

[1] Suspended until further order of the Commission by Order No. 108, dated and effective December 22, 1942.

§ 3.712 Full disclosures. Each application shall contain full and complete disclosures with regard to the real party or parties in interest, and their legal, technical, financial, and other qualifications, and as to all matters and things required to be disclosed by the application forms.

§ 3.713 Installation or removal of apparatus. Applications for construction permit or modification thereof, involving removal of existing transmitting apparatus and/or installation of new transmitting apparatus, shall be filed at least 60 days prior to the contemplated removal and/or installation.

§ 3.714 Period of construction. Each construction permit will specify a maximum of 60 days from the date of granting thereof as the time within which construction of the station shall begin, and a maximum of six months thereafter as the time within which construction shall be completed and the station ready for operation, unless otherwise determined by the Commission upon proper showing in any particular case.

§ 3.715 Forfeiture of construction permits; extension of time. (a) A construction permit shall be automatically forfeited if the station is not ready for operation within the time specified therein or within such further time as the Commission may have allowed for completion, and a notation of the forfeiture of any construction permit under this provision will be placed in the records of the Commission as of the expiration date.

(b) An application (Form FCC No. 701) for extension of time within which to construct a station shall be filed at least 30 days prior to the expiration date of such permit if the facts supporting such application for extension are known to the applicant in time to permit such filing. In other cases such applications will be accepted upon a showing satisfactory to the Commission of sufficient reasons for filing within less than 30 days prior to the expiration date. Such applications will be granted upon a specific and detailed showing that the failure to complete was due to causes not under the control of the grantee, or upon a specific and detailed showing of other matters sufficient to justify the extension.

§ 3.716 Equipment tests. (a) Upon completion of construction of an international station in exact accordance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor and the rules and regulations and prior to filing of application for license, the permittee is authorized to test the equipment for a period not to exceed 30 days: Provided, That the engineer in charge of the district in which the station is located and the Commission are notified 2 days in advance of the beginning of tests.

(b) The Commission may notify the permittee to conduct no tests or may cancel, suspend, or change the date of beginning for the period of such tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) The Commission may grant extensions of time upon showing of reasonable need therefor.

§ 3.717 Program tests. (a) When construction and equipment tests are completed in exact accordance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefor, and after an application for station license has been filed with the Commission showing the equipment to be in satisfactory operating condition, the permittee is authorized to conduct program tests in exact accordance with the terms of the construction permit for a period not to exceed 30 days: Provided, That the engineer in charge of the district in which the station is located and the Commission are notified 2 days in advance of the beginning of such tests.

(b) The Commission reserves the right to cancel such tests or suspend, or change the date of beginning for the period of such tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity by notifying the permittee.

(c) The authorization for tests embodied in this section or § 3.716 shall not be construed as constituting a license to operate but as a necessary part of the construction.

§ 3.718 Normal license period. All international broadcast station licenses will be issued so as to expire at the hour of 3 a. m. eastern standard time and will be issued for a normal license period of 1 year expiring November 1.

§ 3.719 License, simultaneous modification and renewal. When an application is granted by the Commission necessitating the issuance of a modified license less than 60 days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be modified, and an application for renewal of said license is granted subsequent or prior thereto (but within 30 days of expiration of the present license) the modified license as well as the renewal license shall be issued to conform to the combined action of the Commission.

§ 3.720 Renewal of license. (a) Unless otherwise directed by the Commission, each application for renewal of an international broadcast station license shall be filed at least 60 days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be renewed (Form FCC No. 311). No application for renewal of license of an international broadcast station will be considered unless there is on file with the Commission, the information currently required by §§ 1.341–1.344 of this chapter reference to which by date and file number shall be included in the application.

(b) Whenever the Commission regards an application for a renewal of an international broadcast station license as essential to the proper conduct of a hearing or investigation, and specifically directs that it be filed by a date certain, such application shall be filed within the time thus specified. If the licensee fails to file such application within the prescribed time, the hearing or investigation shall proceed as if such renewal application had been received.

§ 3.721 Temporary extension of station licenses. Where there is pending before the Commission any application, investigation, or proceeding which, after hearing, might lead to or make necessary the modification of, revocation of, or the refusal to renew an existing international license, the Commission may, in its discretion, grant a temporary extension of such license: Provided, however, That no such temporary extension shall be construed as a finding by the Commission that the operation of any radio station thereunder will serve public interest, convenience, and necessity beyond the express terms of such temporary extension of license: And provided further, That such temporary extension of license will in nowise affect or limit the action of the Commission with respect to any pending application or proceeding.

§ 3.722 Repetitious applications. (a) Where an applicant has been afforded an opportunity to be heard with respect to a particular application for a new international broadcast station, or for change of existing service or facilities, and the Commission has, after hearing or default, denied the application or dismissed it with prejudice, the Commission will not consider another application for a station of the same class to serve in whole or in part the same area, by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf of or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, until after the lapse of 12 months from the effective date of the Commission's order.

(b) Where an appeal has been taken from the action of the Commission in denying a particular application, another application for the same class of broadcast station and for the same area, in whole or in part, filed by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, will not be considered until the final disposition of such appeal.

§ 3.723 Assignment or transfer of control—(a) Voluntary. Application for consent to voluntary assignment of an international station construction permit or license or for consent to voluntary transfer of control of a corporation holding an international station construction permit or license shall be filed with the Commission on Form FCC No. 314 (Assignment of License), Form FCC No. 315 (Transfer of Control) or Form FCC No. 316 (Short Form) at least 60 days prior to the contemplated effective date of assignment or transfer of control.

(b) Pro forma. Assignment or transfer applications shall be filed on FCC Form 316 where:

(1) There is an assignment from an individual or individuals (including partnerships) to a corporation owned and controlled by such individuals or partnerships without any substantial change in their relative interests;

(2) There is an assignment from a corporation to its individual stockholders without effecting any substantial change in the disposition of their interests;

(3) There is an assignment or transfer by which certain partners or stockholders retire but no new ones are brought in, provided that the interest transferred is not a controlling one;

(4) There is a corporate reorganization which involves no substantial change in the beneficial ownership of the corporation;

(5) There is an involuntary transfer to an Executor, Administrator or other court appointed officer caused by death or legal disability except that this form does not cover assignments (or transfers) from the Executor, Administrator or other court appointed officers to the ultimate beneficiary;

(6) There is an assignment or transfer from a corporation to a wholly owned subsidiary thereof or vice versa, or where there is an assignment from a corporation to a corporation owned or controlled by the assignor stockholders without substantial change in their interests.

(7) There is an assignment of less than a controlling interest in a partnership.

(c) Involuntary. In the event of the death or legal disability of a permittee or licensee, or a member of a partnership, or a person directly or indirectly in control of a corporation, which is a permittee or licensee:

(1) The Commission shall be notified in writing promptly of the occurrence of such death or legal disability, and

(2) Within thirty days after the occurrence of such death or legal disability, application on Form FCC No. 316 shall be filed for consent to involuntary assignment of such international station permit or license or for involuntary transfer of control of such corporation to a person or entity legally qualified to succeed to the foregoing interests under the laws of the place having jurisdiction over the estate involved.

RULES RELATING TO LICENSING POLICIES

§ 3.731 Licensing requirements; necessary showing. A license for an international broadcast station will be issued only after a satisfactory showing has been made in regard to the following, among others:

(a) That there is a need for the international broadcast service proposed to be rendered.

(b) That the necessary program sources are available to the applicant to render an effective international service.

(c) That the technical facilities are available on which the proposed service can be rendered without causing interference to established international stations having prior registration and occupancy in conformity with existing international conventions or regulations on the frequency requested.[1]

(d) That directive antennas and other technical facilities will be employed to deliver maximum signals to the country or countries for which the service is designed.

(e) That the production of the program service and the technical operation of the proposed station will be conducted by qualified persons.

(f) That the applicant is technically and financially qualified and possesses adequate technical facilities to carry forward the service proposed.

(g) That the public interest, convenience and necessity will be served through the operation of the proposed station.

RULES RELATING TO EQUIPMENT

§ 3.751 Power requirement. No international broadcast station will be authorized to install equipment or licensed for operation with a power less than 50 kilowatts.

§ 3.752 Frequency control. The transmitter of each international broadcast station shall be equipped with automatic frequency control apparatus so designed and constructed that it is capable of maintaining the operating frequency within plus or minus 0.005 percent of the assigned frequency.

§ 3.753 Antenna. The antenna shall be so designed and operated that the signal (field intensity) toward the specific foreign country or countries served shall be at least 3.16 times the average effective signal from the station (power gain of 10).

§ 3.754 Frequency monitors. (a) The licensee of each international broadcast station shall operate at the transmitter a frequency monitor independent of the frequency control of the transmitter.

(b) The frequency monitor shall be designed and constructed in accordance with good engineering practice and shall have an accuracy sufficient to determine that the operating frequency is within one-half of the allowed tolerance.

§ 3.755 Modulation monitors. The licensee of each international broadcast station shall have in operation at the transmitter a modulation monitor.

§ 3.756 Required transmitter performance. The construction, installation, operation, and performance of the international broadcast transmitter system shall be in accordance with good engineering practice.

§ 3.757 Auxiliary transmitters. Upon showing that a need exists for the use of auxiliary transmitters in addition to the regular transmitters of an international broadcast station, a license therefor may be issued provided that:

(a) Auxiliary transmitters may be installed either at the same location as the main transmitters or at another location.

(b) A licensed operator shall be in control whenever auxiliary transmitters are placed in operation.

(c) The auxiliary transmitters shall be maintained so that they may be put into immediate operation at any time for the following purposes:

(1) The transmission of the regular programs upon the failure of the main transmitters.

(2) The transmission of regular programs during maintenance or modification[2] work on the main transmitter, necessitating discontinuance of its operation for a period not to exceed 5 days.

(3) Upon request by a duly authorized representative of the Commission.

(d) The auxiliary transmitters shall be tested at least once each week to determine that they are in proper operating condition and that they are adjusted to the proper frequency, except that in case of operation in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section during any week, the test in that week may be omitted provided the operation under paragraph (c) is satisfactory. A record shall be kept of the time and result of each test operating under paragraph (c).

(e) The auxiliary transmitters shall be equipped with satisfactory control equipment which will enable the maintenance of the frequency emitted by the station within the limits prescribed by the regulations in this part.

(f) The operating power of an auxiliary transmitter may be less than the authorized power of the main transmitters, but in no event shall it be greater than such power.

§ 3.758 Alternate main transmitters. The licensee of an international broadcast station may be licensed for alternate main transmitters provided that a technical need for such alternate transmitters is shown and that the following conditions are met:

(a) Both transmitters are located at the same place.

(b) Both transmitters shall have the same power rating.

(c) Both transmitters shall meet the construction, installation, operation, and performance requirements of good engineering practice.

§ 3.759 Changes in equipment and antenna system. Licensees of international broadcast stations shall observe the following provisions with regard to changes in equipment and antenna system:

(a) No changes in equipment shall be made:

(1) That would result in the emission of signals outside of the authorized channel.

(b) Specific authority, upon filing formal application (Form FCC No. 312) therefor, is required for any of the following changes:

(1) Changes involving an increase or decrease in the power rating of the transmitters.

(2) A replacement of the transmitters as a whole.

(3) Change in the location of the transmitting antenna.

(4) Change in location of main studio, if it is proposed to move the main studio to a different city from that specified in the license.

(5) Change in the power delivered to the antenna.

(6) Change in frequency control and/or modulation system.

(c) Other changes, except as above provided for in this section may be made at any time without the authority of the Commission, provided that the Commission shall be promptly notified thereof and such changes shall be shown in the next application for renewal of license.

RULES RELATING TO TECHNICAL OPERATION

§ 3.761 Time of operation. (a) All international broadcast stations will be licensed for unlimited time operation except as may be directed by the Commission from time to time. In an emergency, however, when due to causes beyond the control of the licensee, it becomes impossible to continue operation, the station may cease operation for a period not to exceed 10 days, provided that the Commission and the engineer in charge of the radio district in which the station is located shall be notified in writing immediately after the emergency develops.

(b) Persons desiring to enter into a voluntary sharing arrangement of an international channel may file application therefor with the Commission. Copies of the time-sharing agreement should be filed with the application.

§ 3.762 Station inspection. The licensee of any international broadcast station shall make the station available for inspection by representatives of the Commission at any reasonable hour.

§ 3.763 Station license, posting of. The original of each station license shall be posted in the transmitter room.

§ 3.764 Operator requirements. One or more licensed radiotelephone first class operators shall be on duty at the place where the transmitting apparatus of each station is located and in actual charge thereof whenever it is being operated. The original license (or Form FCC No. 759) of each station operator shall be posted at the place where he is on duty. The licensed operator on duty and in charge of an international broadcast transmitter may, at the discretion of the licensee, be employed for other duties or for the operation of another station or stations in accordance with the class of operator's license which he holds and by the rules and regulations governing such stations. However, such duties shall in nowise interfere with the operation of the broadcast transmitter.

§ 3.765 Operating power; how determined. The operating power, and its maintenance, of each international broadcast station shall be in conformity with good engineering practice.

§ 3.766 Modulation. The percentage of modulation of the transmissions shall be maintained as high as possible consistent with good quality of transmission and good broadcast practice and in no case less than 50 percent nor more than 100 percent on peaks of frequent recurrence during any selection which normally is transmitted at the highest level of the program under consideration.

§ 3.767 Frequency tolerance. The operating frequencies of international broadcast station transmitters shall be maintained within .005% of the assigned frequencies.

§ 3.768 Inspection of tower lights and associated control equipment. The licensee of any international broadcast station which has an antenna or antenna supporting structure(s) required to be illuminated pursuant to the provisions of section 303 (q) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended:

(a) Shall make a visual observation of the tower lights at least once each 24 hours to insure that all such lights are functioning properly as required.

(b) Shall report immediately by telephone or telegraph to the nearest Airways Communication Station or Office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration any observed failure of the tower lights, not corrected within 30 minutes, regardless of the cause of such failure. Further notification by telephone or telegraph shall be given immediately upon resumption of the required illumination.

(c) Shall inspect at intervals of at least once each 3 months all flashing or rotating beacons and automatic lighting control devices to insure that such apparatus is functioning properly as required.

§ 3.769 Discontinuance of operation. The licensee of each station, except stations operating in Alaska, shall notify the engineer in charge of the district where such station is located of any of the following changes in the status of such station at least two days before such change:

(a) Temporary discontinuance of operation for a period of ten days or more;

(b) The date of resumption of operation after temporary discontinuance of operation for a period of ten days or more;

(c) Permanent discontinuance of operation.

In all cases of permanent discontinuance of operation the licensee shall, in addition to notifying the engineer of intention to discontinue operation immediately forward the station license to the Washington, D. C., office of the Commission for cancellation.

OTHER RULES RELATING TO OPERATION

§ 3.781 Logs. The licensee of each international broadcast station shall maintain program and operating logs in the following manner:

(a) In the program log:

(1) An entry of the time each station identification announcement (call letters and location) is made.

[1] See General Radio Regulations annexed to the International Telecommunications Convention, Madrid, 1932, art. 7. Prior to September 1, 1939, and thereafter see Cairo General Radio Regulations, art. 7, annexed to the International Telecommunications Conferences, Cairo, Egypt, 1938. Also, see list of assignments to international channels prepared by the Bureau of the International Telecommunications Union, Berne, Switzerland.

[2] This includes the equipment changes which may be made without authority as set forth elsewhere in the Rules and Regulations or as authorized by the Commission by letter or by construction permit. Where such operation is required for periods in excess of 5 days, request therefor shall be in accordance with § 1.324 of this chapter.

(2) An entry briefly describing each program broadcast, such as "music", "drama", "speech", etc., together with the name or title thereof, language, and the sponsor's name, with the time of the beginning and ending of the complete program.

(3) An entry showing, for each program of network origin, the name of the network originating the program.

(b)[1] Each licensee of an international broadcast station shall make verbatim mechanical records of all international programs transmitted.

(1) The mechanical records, and such manuscripts, transcripts, and translations of international broadcast programs as are made shall be kept by the licensee for a period of 2 years after the date of broadcast and shall be furnished the Commission or be available for inspection by representatives of the Commission upon request.

(2) If the broadcast is in a language other than English the licensee shall furnish the Commission upon request such record and scripts together with complete translations in English.

(c) In the operating log:

(1) An entry of the time the station begins to supply power to the antenna, and the time it stops.

(2) An entry of the time the program begins and ends.

(3) An entry of each interruption to the carrier wave, its cause, and duration.

(4) An entry of the following each 30 minutes:

(i) Operating constants of last radio stage of the transmitter (total plate current and plate voltage).

(ii) Frequency monitor reading.

(5) A log must be kept of all experimental operation. If the entries required above are not applicable thereto, then the entries shall be made so as to fully describe the operation.

(d) When an antenna or antenna-supporting structure(s) is required to be illuminated, the licensee shall make entries in the radio station log appropriate to the requirements of § 3.768 as follows:

(1) The time the tower lights are turned on and off if manually controlled.

(2) The time the daily visual observation of the tower lights was made.

(3) In the event of any observed failure of a tower light:

(i) Nature of such failure.

(ii) Time the failure was observed.

(iii) Time and nature of the adjustments, repairs or replacements made.

(iv) Airways Communication Station (CAA) notified of the failure of any tower light not corrected within 30 minutes and the time such notice was given.

(v) Time notice was given to the Airways Communication Station (CAA) that the required illumination was resumed.

(4) Upon completion of the periodic inspection required at least once each three months:

(i) The date of the inspection and the condition of all tower lights and associated tower lighting control devices.

(ii) Any adjustments, replacements, or repairs made to insure compliance with the lighting requirements.

§ 3.782 Logs, retention of. Logs of international broadcast stations shall be retained by the licensee for a period of two years, Provided, however, That logs involving communications incident to a disaster or which include communications incident to or involved in an investigation by the Commission and concerning which the licensee has been notified, shall be retained by the licensee until he is specifically authorized in writing by the Commission to destroy them; Provided, further, That logs incident to or involved in any claim or complaint of which the licensee has notice shall be retained by the licensee until such claim or complaint has been fully satisfied or until the same has been barred by statute limiting the time for the filing of suits upon such claims.

§ 3.783 Logs, by whom kept. Each log shall be kept by the person or persons competent to do so, having actual knowledge of the facts required, who shall sign the log when starting duty and again when going off duty. The logs shall be made available upon request by an authorized representative of the Commission.

§ 3.784 Log form. The log shall be kept in an orderly manner, in suitable form, and in such detail that the data required for the particular class of station concerned are readily available. Key letters or abbreviations may be used if proper meaning or explanation is contained elsewhere in the log.

§ 3.785 Correction of logs. No log or portion thereof shall be erased, obliterated, or willfully destroyed within the period of retention provided by the rules. Any necessary correction may be made only by the person originating the entry who shall strike out the erroneous portion, initial the correction made, and indicate the date of correction.

§ 3.786 Rough logs. Rough logs may be transcribed into condensed form, but in such case, the original log or memoranda and all portions thereof shall be preserved and made a part of the complete log.

§ 3.787 Station identification. (a) A licensee of an international broadcast station shall make station identification announcement (call letters and location), at the beginning and ending of each time of operation and during the operation on the hour.

(b) Station identification, program announcements, and oral continuity shall be made with international significance (language particularly) which is designed for the foreign country or countries for which the service is primarily intended.

(c) Identification announcements during operation need not be made when to make such announcement would interrupt a single consecutive speech, play, religious service, symphony concert, or any type of production. In such cases the identification announcement shall be made at the first interruption of the entertainment continuity and at the conclusion thereof.

§ 3.788 Service; commercial or sponsored program. (a)[2] A licensee of an international broadcast station shall render only an international broadcast service which will reflect the culture of this country and which will promote international goodwill, understanding, and cooperation. Any program solely intended for, and directed to an audience in the continental United States does not meet the requirements for this service.

(b) Such international broadcast service may include commercial or sponsored programs: Provided, That:

(1) Commercial program continuities give no more than the name of the sponsor of the program and the name and general character of the commodity, utility or service, or attraction advertised.

(2) In case of advertising a commodity, the commodity is regularly sold or is being promoted for sale on the open market in the foreign country or countries to which the program is directed in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

(3) In case of advertising an American utility or service to prospective tourists or visitors to the United States, the advertisement continuity is particularly directed to such persons in the foreign country or countries where they reside and to which the program is directed in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

(4) In case of advertising an international attraction (such as a world fair, resort, spa, etc.) to prospective tourists or visitors to the United States, the oral continuity concerning such attraction is consistent with the purpose and intent of this section.

(5) In case of any other type of advertising, such advertising is directed to the foreign country or countries and to which the program is directed in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section and is consistent with the purpose and intent of this section.

(c) The areas or zones established to be served by international broadcast stations are the foreign countries of the world, and directive antennas shall be employed to direct the signals to specific countries.

(d) An international broadcast station may transmit the program of a standard broadcast station or network system: Provided, The conditions in paragraph (b) of this section in regard to any commercial continuities are observed and when station identifications are made, only the call letter designation of the international station is given on its assigned frequency: And provided further, That in the case of chain broadcasting[3] the program is not carried simultaneously by another international station (except another station owned by the same licensee operated on a frequency

[1] Suspended until further order of the Commission by Order No. 108, dated and effective December 22, 1942.

[2] The Commission on July 14, 1939, suspended the operation of § 3.788 (a) until further order of the Commission.

[3] See sec. 3 (p) of the Communications Act of 1934 for the definition of "chain broadcasting."

in a different group to obtain continuity of signal service), the signals from which are directed to the same foreign country or countries.

§ 3.789 Sponsored programs, announcement of. (a) In the case of each program for the broadcasting of which money, services, or other valuable consideration is either directly or indirectly paid or promised to, or charged or received by, any radio broadcast station, the station broadcasting such program shall make, or cause to be made, an appropriate announcement that the program is sponsored, paid for, or furnished, either in whole or in part.

(b) In the case of any political program or any program involving the discussion of public controversial issues for which any films, records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services of any kind are furnished, either directly or indirectly, to a station as an inducement to the broadcasting of such program, an announcement shall be made both at the beginning and conclusion of such program on which such material or services are used that such films, records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services have been furnished to such station in connection with the broadcasting of such program: Provided, however, That only one such announcement need be made in the case of any such program of 5 minutes' duration or less, which announcement may be made either at the beginning or conclusion of the program.

(c) The announcement required by this section shall fully and fairly disclose the true identity of the person or persons by whom or in whose behalf such payment is made or promised, or from whom or in whose behalf such services or other valuable consideration is received, or by whom the material or services referred to in paragraph (b) of this section are furnished. Where an agent or other person contracts or otherwise makes arrangements with a station on behalf of another, and such fact is known to the station, the announcement shall disclose the identity of the person or persons in whose behalf such agent is acting instead of the name of such agent.

(d) In the case of any program, other than a program advertising commercial products or services, which is sponsored, paid for or furnished, either in whole or in part, or for which material or services referred to in paragraph (b) of this section are furnished, by a corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group, the announcement required by this section, shall disclose the name of such corporation, committee, association, or other unincorporated group. In each such case the station shall require that a list of the chief executive officers or members of the executive committee or of the board of directors of the corporation, committee, association, or other unincorporated group shall be made available for public inspection at one of the international broadcast stations carrying the program.

(e) In the case of programs advertising commercial products or services, an announcement stating the sponsor's corporate or trade name or the name of the sponsor's product, shall be deemed sufficient for the purposes of this section and only one such announcement need be made at any time during the course of the program.

§ 3.790 Rebroadcast.[1] (a) The licensee of an international broadcast station may, without further authority of the Commission, rebroadcast the program of a United States standard, noncommercial educational, or FM broadcast station, provided the Commission is notified of the call letters of each station rebroadcast and the licensee certifies that express authority has been received from the licensee of the station originating the program.[2] (See § 3.788 concerning commercial announcements.)

(b) No licensee of an international broadcast station shall rebroadcast the programs of any other class of United States radio station without written authority having first been obtained from the Commission.

(c) A licensee of an international broadcast station may authorize the rebroadcast of its programs by any station outside the limits of the North American continent without permission from the Commission: Provided, That the station rebroadcasting the programs cannot be received consistently in the United States.

§ 3.791 Supplemental report with renewal application.[3] A supplemental report shall be filed with and made a part of each application for renewal of license and shall include statements of the following:

(a) The number of hours operated on each frequency.

(b) A list of programs transmitted of special international interest.

(c) Outline of reports of reception and interference and conclusions with regard to propagation characteristics of the frequency assigned.

TITLE 46—SHIPPING

Chapter II—Federal Maritime Board, Maritime Administration, Department of Commerce

[Rev. Gen. Order 39]

PART 222—STATEMENTS AND AGREEMENTS REQUIRED TO BE FILED

CARGO AND PASSENGER REPORTS TO BE FILED BY COMMON CARRIERS BY WATER

Whereas, the United States Maritime Commission published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, issue of May 23, 1950, 15 F. R. 3131, a notice of proposed rules constituting a revision of General Order 39, amended (6 F. R. 5899), as amended by Supplement No. 1 (7 F. R. 7561); and

Whereas, the functions of the United States Maritime Commission were transferred to the Secretary of Commerce and to the Federal Maritime Board pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 21 of 1950 (15 F. R. 3178); and

Whereas, the time and date provided in said notice for the submission of written comments on the proposed rules has expired; and

Whereas, after careful consideration of the comments submitted, the Secretary of Commerce has adopted the following General Order 29 revised; and

Whereas, the Federal Maritime Board has consented to the repeal of such of the provisions of General Order 39, as previously published, as may relate to the functions transferred to the Board under the provisions of Reorganization Plan No. 21 of 1950: Now, therefore, it is hereby ordered, That:

General Order No. 39, amended (6 F. R. 5899), as amended by supplement No. 1 (7 F. R. 7561), (§§ 222.2 through 222.4, Code of Federal Regulations), is hereby amended effective February 15, 1951, as follows:

Strike out §§ 222.2, 222.3 and 222.4 and insert in lieu thereof the following §§ 222.2 through 222.9:

§ 222.2 Revised forms of cargo report and vessel performance summary prescribed. Pursuant to the authority of section 204 (b) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936 (49 Stat. 1987, as amended by 52 Stat. 953, 964; 46 U. S. C. 1114), the Secretary of Commerce has determined that it is necessary to the performance of his duties under sections 211 and 212 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (49 Stat. 1989, 1990; 46 U. S. C. 1121, 1122), to require persons operating vessels in the water-borne foreign commerce of the United States to file reports on the utilization and performance of such vessels in the form of Maritime Administration forms 7801, 7802, 7803, and 7804, and hereby prescribes and approves such forms.[1]

§ 222.3 Dry cargo reports. Vessel utilization and performance reports (Form 7801, inbound, and Form 7802, outbound) must be filed in duplicate with the Collector of Customs for transmittal to the Maritime Administration by the operator of every dry cargo vessel of 300 or more net registered tons carrying cargo, passengers, or in ballast for each inward and outward voyage in the foreign trade of the United States.

§ 222.4 Time for filing dry cargo inbound reports. Form 7801 must be filed before midnight of the tenth day, not including Saturdays, Sundays or holidays, after entering the first United States port, including any port in the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska or Puerto Rico, from a foreign port, provided however a vessel entering a port in the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska or Puerto Rico to depart for a continental United States port shall file such report at such non-

[1] The broadcasting of a program relayed by a remote pickup broadcast station is not considered a rebroadcast.

[2] The notice and certification of consent must be given within 3 days of any single rebroadcast, but in case of the regular practice of rebroadcasting certain programs of another broadcast station several times during a license period, notice and certification of consent must be given for the ensuing license period with the application for renewal of license, or at the beginning of such rebroadcast practice if begun during a license period.

contiguous port, and also at the first continental United States port of arrival.

§ 222.5 Time for filing dry cargo outbound reports. Form 7802 must be filed before midnight of the tenth day, not including Saturdays, Sundays or holidays, after clearing the last United States port, including a port in the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska or Puerto Rico, for a foreign port: Provided, however, That vessels departing from a continental United States port to clear for a foreign port from a port in the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska or Puerto Rico shall file such report with the Collector of Customs at the continental port of departure and also at the noncontiguous port of clearance.

§ 222.6 Tanker reports. (Form 7803, inbound, and Form 7804, outbound) must be filed in duplicate with the Collector of Customs for transmittal to the Maritime Administration by the operator of every tanker of 300 or more net registered tons carrying cargo, passengers, or in ballast for each inward and outward voyage in the foreign trade of the United States.

§ 222.7 Time for filing tanker inbound reports. Form 7803 must be filed before midnight of the tenth day, not including Saturdays, Sundays or holidays, after entering the first United States port, including any port in the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska or Puerto Rico, from a foreign port: Provided, however, A tanker entering a port in the Hawaiian Island, Alaska or Puerto Rico to depart for a continental United States port shall file such report at such noncontiguous port, and also at the first continental United States port of arrival.

§ 222.8 Time for filing tanker outbound reports. Form 7804 must be filed before midnight of the tenth day, not including Saturdays, Sundays or holidays, after clearing the last United States port, including a port in the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska or Puerto Rico, for a foreign port: Provided, however, That tankers departing from a continental United States port to clear for a foreign port from a port in the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska or Puerto Rico shall file such report with the Collector of Customs at the continental port of departure and also at the noncontiguous port of clearance.

§ 222.9 Penalty. Section 806 (d) of the Merchant Marine Act 1936, as amended, 53 Stat. 1182, provides:

(d) Whoever knowingly and willfully violates any order, rule, or regulation of the United States Maritime Commission made or issued in the exercise of the powers, duties, or functions transferred to it or vested in it by this Act, as amended, for which no penalty is otherwise expressly provided, shall upon conviction thereof be subject to a fine of not more than $500. If such violation is a continuing one, each day of such violation shall constitute a separate offense.

(Sec. 21, 39 Stat. 736, sec. 204, 49 Stat. 1987, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 1114. Reorg. Plan No. 21 of 1950, 15 F. R. 3178)

NOTE: The reporting requirements contained in this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget under the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[SEAL] CHARLES SAWYER,
Secretary of Commerce.

By direction of the Federal Maritime Board.

A. J. WILLIAMS,
Secretary of the Federal Maritime Board.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[P. & S. Docket No. 291]

NASHVILLE UNION STOCK YARDS, INC.

NOTICE OF PETITION FOR MODIFICATION

Pursuant to the provisions of the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U. S. C. 181 et seq.), the Secretary prescribed reasonable rates and charges for the respondent in an order dated August 2, 1929. Certain modifications of these rates and charges have been placed into effect for temporary periods.

By petition filed on January 10, 1951, the respondent requested authority to put into effect the increased rates set out below:

YARDAGE CHARGES

(Applicable to both initial yardage charges and resales in the commission firms' pens)

	Cents
Cattle, per head	75
Calves, per head	43
Hogs, per head	25
Sheep, per head	25

FEED CHARGES

Corn—60 cents per bushel above current market price.

Inasmuch as the authorization petitioned for will produce additional revenue for the respondent and increase yardage charges to the public, it appears that notice of the petition should be given to the public in order that all interested persons may have an opportunity to be heard in the matter.

Now, therefore, notice of the filing of the petition is hereby given to the public and to all interested persons. All interested persons who desire to be heard upon the matter requested in said petition shall notify the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 15 days from the date of the publication of this notice.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of January 1951.

[SEAL] KATHERINE L. MASON,
Hearing Clerk.

CREAM FOR USE IN MANUFACTURE OF BUTTER

U. S. STANDARDS FOR GRADES

Notice is hereby given that the United States Department of Agriculture is considering the issuance, as hereinafter proposed, of United States Standards for Grades of Cream for Use in the Manufacture of Butter pursuant to the authority contained in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1951 (Pub. Law 759, 81st Cong., approved September 6, 1950). All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments, for consideration in connection with the proposed standards should file the same, in duplicate, with the Director, Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than April 15, 1951.

The proposed standards are as follows:

DEFINITIONS

§ 38.1 Cream. Cream is that portion of fresh milk, produced by healthy cows, which rises to the surface on standing or is separated by centrifugal force, is clean and contains not less than eighteen percent of milk fat.

U. S. GRADES

§ 38.2 Nomenclature of U. S. Grades. (a) The nomenclature of the U. S. Grades is as follows:

(1) U. S. Sweet; U. S. No. 1; U. S. No. 2; and U. S. No. 3.

(b) Basis for determination of U. S. Grades. The respective U. S. Grades of cream for use in the manufacture of butter are determined on the basis of flavor and odor, titratable acidity, physical character, and sediment content:

(1) Titratable acidity and sediment content. With respect to the ascertainment of acidity and sediment content, the following are applicable:

(i) Titratable acidity. The cream is examined for titratable acidity in accordance with the procedure prescribed in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph.

(ii) Procedure. Using a 9 ml. pipette, pipette 9 ml. of the cream into a suitable container. Rinse the pipette with one filling of distilled water, adding the rinse to the 9 ml. of cream. Add 3 drops of a one percent alcoholic solution of phenolphthalein as the color indicator and titrate with 0.1N sodium hydroxide solution. The ml. of sodium hydroxide solution used in the titration divided by 10 equals the percent of titratable acidity.

(iii) Sediment. The cream is examined for sediment content by using the "off-bottom" method of sediment testing set forth in paragraph 9.06 of the publication "Standard Methods for the Examination of Dairy Products," Ninth Edition, 1948, published by the American Public Health Association, 1790 Broadway, New York, New York. Sediment content is determined on the basis of the United States Sediment Standards for Milk and Milk Products (7 CFR 43.101).

§ 38.3 U. S. Grades—(a) U. S. Sweet. U. S. Sweet grade of cream for use in the manufacture of butter conforms to the following requirements:

(1) Flavor and odor. Has not more than slight feed flavor and odor.

(2) Titratable acidity. Has not more than 0.2 of one percent titratable acidity.

(3) Physical character. Is of smooth and uniform consistency; and is free from abnormal conditions (including, but not being limited to, foam, lumps, curd, surface mold, and extraneous matter).

(4) Sediment. Contains not more than 0.50 mg. of sediment when tested by comparison of a properly prepared sediment disc with the aforesaid United States Sediment Standards for Milk and Milk Products sediment disc representing 0.50 mg. of sediment.

(b) U. S. No. 1. U. S. No. 1 cream for use in the manufacture of butter conforms to the following requirements:

(1) Flavor and odor. Has not more than slight feed and slight acid flavor and odor.

(2) Titratable acidity. Has not more than 0.35 of one percent titratable acidity.

(3) Physical character. Is of smooth and uniform consistency; and is free from abnormal conditions (including but not being limited to, foam, lumps, curd, surface mold, and extraneous matter).

(4) Sediment. Contains not more than the sediment content permitted for U. S. Sweet grade.

(c) U. S. No. 2. U. S. No. 2 cream for use in the manufacture of butter conforms to the following requirements:

(1) Flavor and odor. Has not more than moderate acid, old cream, feed, and utensil flavors and odors and other unnatural flavors and odors to more than a slight degree.

(2) Titratable acidity. Has not more than 0.6 of one percent titratable acidity.

(3) Physical character. Is of slightly lumpy or curdy consistency, but is free from other abnormal conditions (including, but not being limited to, surface mold, foam, and extraneous matter).

(4) Sediment. Contains not more than 1.00 mg. of sediment when tested by comparison of a properly prepared sediment disc with the aforesaid United States Sediment Standards for Milk and Milk Products sediment disc representing 1.00 mg. of sediment.

(d) U. S. No. 3. U. S. No. 3 cream for use in the manufacture of butter conforms to the following requirements:

(1) Flavor and odor. Has not more than strong feed flavor and odor; and not more than moderate acid, bitter, stale, weed, and other unnatural but not offensive flavors and odors.

(2) Titratable acidity. Has not more than 0.8 of one percent titratable acidity.

(3) Physical character. Is of lumpy or curdy consistency but is free from other abnormal conditions (including, but not being limited to, surface mold, foam, and extraneous matter).

(4) Sediment. Contains not more than 2.50 mg. of sediment when tested by comparison of a properly prepared sediment disc with the aforesaid United States Sediment Standards for Milk and Milk Products sediment disc representing 2.50 mg. of sediment.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

§ 38.4 Explanation of terms—(a) With respect to flavor and odor of cream—(1) Slight. Barely noticeable or detectable and unlikely to result in an unnatural flavor or odor of the butter.

(2) Moderate. Definitely noticeable or detectable and present to such degree that it may result in an unnatural flavor or odor of the butter.

(3) Strong. Pronounced and practically certain to result in an unnatural flavor or odor of the butter.

(4) Offensive. (i) Extreme, in the case of feed flavors or odors or weed flavors or odors.

(ii) So strong, in the case of any other unnatural flavor or odor as to be repulsive or reflect contamination by filth, kerosene, gasoline, fly spray, or substances comparable to any of the foregoing.

(5) Natural. Characteristic of fresh, cool cream and free from unnatural flavors and odors.

(6) Unnatural. Attributable to any one or more of the following: feeds (such as silage, green alfalfa, green rye, or turnips), or weeds (such as peppergrass, french weed, skunk cabbage, wild onion, or garlic); utensil; any contamination (including, but not being limited to, unclean equipment, or other contamination with bacteria, molds, or sediment), or presence of odors in the vicinity.

(7) Acid. Any odor or flavor attributable to acidity.

(8) Utensil. Suggestive of improper or inadequate washing and sanitizing of milking machines, utensils, or factory equipment.

(b) With respect to flavor and odor of the butter—(1) Natural. Characteristic of butter that was processed from cream having a natural flavor and odor.

(2) Unnatural. Attributable to any one or more of the following: Unnatural cream flavor and odor, manner of processing the butter; any contamination (including, but not being limited to, that due to bacteria or mold); or exposure to odors.

(c) With respect to physical character of cream—(1) Slightly. Barely noticeable or detectable.

(2) Extraneous matter. Substances (such as filth, hair, insects and parts thereof, and rodents and parts thereof), and materials (such as metal, wood, glass, and leather particles or objects).

(3) Lumps or curd. Lumps or curd particles.

(4) Lumpy or curdy. Possessing lumps or curd.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of January, 1951.

VEAL AND CALF CARCASSES AND VEALERS AND SLAUGHTER CALVES

REVISION OF OFFICIAL U. S. STANDARDS FOR GRADES

Notice is hereby given in accordance with section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003 (a)) that the Department of Agriculture has under consideration a proposed revision of the standards for grades of veal and calf carcasses (7 CFR 53.107 to 53.113, inclusive) and a proposed revision of the standards for grades of vealers and slaughter calves (U. S. D. A., PMA. Service and Regulatory Announcement No. 113), under the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087, 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.) and the item for Market Inspection of Farm Products recurring in the annual appropriation acts for the Department of Agriculture and currently found in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1951 (Chap. VI, Public Law 759—81st Cong.; 7 U. S. C. Sup. 414).

The principal changes proposed in the standards for grades of veal and calf carcasses are as follows:

(1) The existing Prime and Choice grades would be combined and designated as Prime; the existing Good grade would be renamed Choice; and the top half of existing Commercial grade would be designated as Good. Other grade designations would remain the same as they now are.

(2) Relevant changes in the specifications would be made to reflect the minimum requirements for the respective grade designations.

(3) The method of differentiating between veal and calf carcasses would be clarified, with special emphasis upon the role of color of flesh. Other changes of a minor nature would be made in order to facilitate interpretation of the standards.

The purpose of the revision of the grade standards for veal and calf carcasses is to bring them into full agreement with the revised standards for grades of carcass beef which became effective December 29, 1950 (15 F. R. 9422). Appropriate changes are also proposed for the standards for grades of vealers and slaughter calves to make them conform to the proposed veal and calf carcass grade standards and the revised slaughter cattle grade standards adopted December 30, 1950.

To accomplish these changes, the standards would be revised to read as follows:

VEAL AND CALF CARCASSES

§ 53.107 Differentiation between veal and calf carcasses. Differentiation between veal and calf carcasses is made primarily on the basis of the color of the lean, although factors such as texture of lean, character of fat, size and color of the rib bones, and carcass weight are also considered. Typical veal carcasses have a grayish pink color of lean that is very smooth and velvety in texture. They also have a slightly soft, pliable character of fat and narrow, very red rib bones, and weigh less than 100 pounds. By contrast, typical calf carcasses have a distinctly reddish color of lean, a harder, flakier type of fat and somewhat wider rib bones with less pronounced evidences of red color, and weigh more than 150 pounds.

§ 53.108 Classes of veal and calf carcasses. Class determination is based on the apparent sex condition of the animal at time of slaughter. Hence, there are three classes of veal and calf carcasses—steers, heifers, and bulls. While recognition may sometimes be given to these different classes on the market, especially in the case of calf carcasses that are approaching beef in maturity, the differences between the various classes are so slight that accurate description of them is impractical. Therefore, the grade standards which follow are equally applicable to all classes of veal and calf carcasses.

§ 53.109 Application of standards. (a) Veal and calf carcasses are graded on a composite evaluation of three general grade factors—conformation, finish, and quality. These factors are concerned with the proportions of the various wholesale cuts in the carcass, the proportions of fat, lean, and bone in the carcass, and the quality of the flesh. Carcasses qualifying for any particular grade may vary with respect to their relative development of the three grade factors; and there will be carcasses which qualify for a particular grade, some of whose characteristics may be more nearly typical of another grade. Because it is impractical to describe the nearly limitless numbers of such recognizable combinations of characteristics, the standards for each grade describe only carcasses which have a relatively similar development of conformation, finish, and quality and which are also representative of the lower limit of each grade.

(b) The standards specify only one degree of fatness for each grade of veal and calf. However, this degree of fatness applies only to carcasses of average weight and maturity. In order to qualify for any particular grade, heavier, more mature carcasses are required to have a somewhat greater quantity of fat and lighter, younger carcasses somewhat less fat than that specified. Because of the greater variability in weight and maturity among calf carcasses, a somewhat greater variation in degree of fatness will be present within each grade of that class than will be present among carcasses of each grade of veal carcasses.

(c) While color of lean is of primary importance in differentiating between veal and calf carcasses, the range of colors within the various grades is slightly different. Very young veal usually has a very light grayish pink color of lean regardless of grade. As veal carcasses approach calf in development and maturity, the color of the lean becomes progressively more reddish. However, in the higher grades the color remains light and bright; whereas, in the lower grades the color may become progressively darker and duller. A similar variation in color is found among the various grades of calf.

§ 53.110 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of veal carcasses—(a) Prime. (1) A veal carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for Prime grade is superior in conformation, finish, and quality.

(2) In conformation it is blocky and compact and tends to be broad in proportion to its length. It tends to be thickly fleshed and has a rather plump, full, well-rounded appearance.

(3) Rounds tend to be thick and bulging. Loin and back tend to be full and plump. Shoulders and breasts tend to be thick.

(4) There is a thin covering of fat over the rump, loin, back, top of the shoulders, and over the inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are slightly large deposits of fat in the breast, flanks, and crotch, and around the kidneys, the latter being completely covered. All exterior fat is smooth.

(5) The flesh is rather firm, fine textured and, in a cut surface, velvety to sight and touch. All bones are small in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(b) Choice. (1) A veal carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for Choice grade is moderately blocky and compact and tends to be moderately broad in proportion to its length. It is slightly thick-fleshed and has a slightly plump appearance.

(2) Rounds are slightly thick and bulging. Loin and back tend to be moderately full and plump. Shoulders and breast are slightly thick.

(3) There is a very thin covering of fat over the loin and back and over the inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are slightly small deposits of fat in the breast, flanks and crotch, and around the kidneys. All exterior fat is moderately smooth. The flesh is slightly firm and fine textured, and may be slightly moist to sight and touch. All bones are moderately small in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(c) Good. (1) A veal carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for the Good grade tends to be slightly blocky and compact and tends to be slightly broad in proportion to its length. It tends to be slightly thin fleshed and has little or no evidence of plumpness.

(2) Loin, back and rounds are slightly thin and nearly flat. Shoulders and breasts tend to be slightly thin.

(3) There are very thin patches of fat over the loin and back and over the inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are small deposits of fat in the breast, flanks, and crotch and around the kidneys. The flesh is moderately soft, and, in a cut surface, slightly moist to sight and touch. All bones are slightly large in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(d) Commercial. (1) A veal carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for the Commercial grade is rough and rangy and is narrow in proportion to its length. It is thinly fleshed and has an empty, sunken, or hollowed-out appearance.

(2) Rounds are thin and tapering and slightly concave. Loin and back are depressed. Shoulders and breast are narrow and thin.

(3) There are extremely thin patches of fat over the back and loin and over a portion of the inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are very small deposits of fat in the breast, flanks and crotch and around the kidneys, the latter being incompletely covered.

(4) The flesh is soft, and in a cut surface, moist to the touch. All bones are moderately large in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(e) Utility. (1) A veal carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for the Utility grade is very rough and rangy and very narrow in proportion to its length. It is very thinly fleshed and has a very depressed or hollowed-out appearance.

(2) Rounds are very thin and tapering and moderately concave. Loin and back are very shallow and depressed. Shoulders and breast are very narrow and thin.

(3) There is no fat covering over the back, loin, or inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are extremely small deposits of fat in the breast, flanks and crotch, and around the kidneys.

(4) The flesh is very soft, and, in a cut surface, very moist to the touch. All bones are large in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(f) Cull. (1) A typical Cull grade veal carcass is extremely rough and rangy and extremely narrow in proportion to its length. It is extremely deficient in fleshing and has an extremely shallow, depressed, or hollowed-out appearance.

(2) Rounds are concave and extremely thin and tapering. Loin and back are extremely depressed. Shoulders and breast are extremely narrow and thin.

(3) There is no fat covering over any part of the exterior of the carcass and none on the inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are no discernible fat deposits in the breast, flanks, or crotch, and only extremely small quantities around the kidneys.

(4) The flesh is very soft and watery. All bones are very large in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

§ 53.111 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of calf carcasses—(a) Prime. (1) A calf carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for the Prime grade is superior in conformation, finish, and quality.

(2) In conformation, it is blocky and compact and tends to be broad in proportion to its length. It is thickly fleshed and has a plump, full, well-rounded appearance.

(3) Rounds tend to be thick and bulging. Loin and back tend to be full and plump. Shoulders and breasts tend to be thick.

(4) There is a slightly thick covering of fat over the back and loin and a slightly thin fat covering over the rump and the top of the shoulders and over the inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are moderately large deposits of fat in the breast, flanks and crotch, and around the kidneys, the latter being completely covered. All exterior fat is smooth and moderately firm.

(5) The flesh is firm, fine textured and, in a cut surface, velvety to sight and touch, and has a small amount of marbling. Calf carcasses which are approaching beef in maturity and development will have a moderate amount of marbling. All bones are small in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(b) Choice. (1) A calf carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for the Choice grade tends to be moderately blocky and compact and tends to be moderately broad in proportion to its length. It tends to be moderately thick-fleshed and has a moderately plump appearance.

(2) Rounds tend to be moderately thick and bulging. Loin and back tend to be moderately full and plump. Shoulders and breast tend to be moderately thick.

(3) There is a moderately thin covering of fat over the loin and back and over the inner walls of the chest and abdomen and a very thin fat covering over the rump and tops of the shoulders. There are moderate deposits of fat in the breast, flanks, and crotch, and around the kidneys.

(4) The flesh tends to be moderately firm and fine textured, and, in a cut surface, may be slightly moist to sight and touch, and has traces of marbling. Calf carcasses approaching beef in maturity and development will have a slight amount of marbling. All bones are moderately small in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(c) Good. (1) A calf carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for the Good grade tends to be slightly blocky and compact and tends to be slightly broad in proportion to its length. It tends to be only slightly thick fleshed and has a slightly plump appearance.

(2) Rounds are slightly thick but have little evidence of plumpness. Loin and back are very slightly full and plump. Shoulders and breast are slightly thick.

(3) There is a very thin covering of fat over the loin and back and over the inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are very thin patches of fat over the rump and top of the shoulders. There are slightly small deposits of fat in the breast, flanks and crotch, and around the kidneys.

(4) The flesh is slightly soft and, in a cut surface, is somewhat moist to sight and touch. All bones are slightly large in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(d) Commercial. (1) A calf carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for the Commercial grade is rough and rangy and narrow in proportion to its length. It tends to be thinly fleshed and has a depressed, sunken, or hollowed-out appearance.

(2) Rounds are thin and tapering and very slightly concave. Loins and back are slightly shallow and depressed. Shoulders and breasts are thin.

(3) There are very small, thin patches of fat on the back and loin and on the inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are very small deposits of fat in the breast, flanks and crotch, and around the kidneys, the latter being only partially covered.

(4) The flesh is moderately soft, and, in a cut surface, is slightly watery in appearance. All bones are moderately large in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(e) Utility. (1) A calf carcass possessing the minimum qualifications for the Utility grade is very rough and rangy and very narrow in proportion to its length. It is very thinly fleshed and has a very depressed, sunken, or hollowed-out appearance.

(2) Rounds are very thin and tapering and are moderately concave. Loin and back are very shallow and depressed. Shoulders and breast are very narrow and thin.

(3) The exterior surface of the carcass is practically devoid of fat covering and there is no discernible fat over the inner walls of the chest and abdomen. There are extremely small deposits of fat in the breast, flanks, and crotch, and around the kidneys.

(4) The flesh is very soft and very moist and watery. All bones are very large in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

(f) Cull. (1) A typical Cull grade calf carcass is extremely rough and rangy and extremely narrow in proportion to its length. It is extremely thinly fleshed and has an extremely depressed, sunken, or hollowed-out appearance.

(2) Rounds are extremely thin, tapering and concave. Loins and back are extremely shallow and depressed. Shoulders and breast are extremely narrow and thin.

(3) There is usually no visible exterior fat and the interior fat is limited to extremely small amounts in the crotch and around the kidneys.

(4) The flesh is very soft and watery. All bones are extremely large in proportion to the size and weight of the carcass.

VEALERS AND SLAUGHTER CALVES

§ 53.120 Differentiation between vealers and calves. Young bovine animals are segregated for market purposes as vealers or calves. The basis for differentiation between vealers and calves is made primarily on age and certain evidences of type of feeding. Typical vealers are less than 3 months of age and have subsisted largely on milk. Since vealers have consumed little, if any, roughages, they have the characteristic trimness of middle associated with limited paunch development. Calves are usually between 3 and 8 months of age, have subsisted partially or entirely on feeds other than milk for a substantial period of time, and have developed the heavier middles and physical characteristics associated with maturity beyond the vealer stage.

§ 53.121 Classes of vealers and calves. There are three classes of vealers and calves, based on sex condition—steers, heifers, and bulls. However, the influence of sex condition on physical characteristics is not sufficient to merit separate grade standards for each class.

§ 53.122 Application of standards—(a) Grade factors. Vealers and calves are graded largely on a composite evaluation of three general factors—conformation, finish, and quality. Conformation refers to the general body proportions of the animal and to the ratio of meat to bone. While primarily determined by the inherent muscular and skeletal system, it is also influenced by degree of fatness. Finish refers to the fatness of the animal. The quality, quantity, and distribution of finish are all closely associated with the palatability and quality of the meat. Quality in the slaughter animal refers to the refinement of hair, hide, and bone and to the smoothness and symmetry of the body. Quality is also closely associated with carcass yield and the proportion of meat to bone.

(b) General principles. (1) The determination of the carcass grade that the live animal will produce requires the exercising of well regulated judgment. Each animal presents a different combination of the grade determining factors. It is not unusual to find an animal of one grade that has some of the characteristics associated with another grade or grades. Therefore, a composite evaluation of the total inherent physical characteristics of the animal is essential for accuracy in determining grade.

(2) The descriptions of the physical characteristics of the grades of vealers and calves represent the lower limits of each grade. No attempt is made to describe the numerous combinations of grade factors which may meet the minimum requirements for a particular grade. Descriptions are limited largely to animals considered as typical of the lower limits of the grade.

(3) The grade descriptions of both vealers and calves apply to those of average age or maturity. In order to qualify for a specific grade, more mature animals should carry somewhat more finish, while very young animals may carry somewhat less finish than specified herein.

§ 53.123 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of vealers—(a) Prime. Vealers possessing the minimum qualifications for Prime grade are superior in conformation, quality, and finish. In conformation, Prime vealers tend to be low-set, compact, short of neck and body, and relatively thick fleshed. They are wide over the back, loin, and rump. Shoulders and hips are moderately neat and smoothly laid in. The twist is deep and full, and the rounds are thick and moderately plump. There is a slight fullness or plumpness evident over the crops, loin, and rump, which contributes to a rather well-rounded appearance. Prime vealers have a thin fat covering over the crops, back, loin, rump, and upper ribs. The brisket, rear flanks, and cod or udder show distinct evidence of fullness. Prime vealers exhibit evidences of high quality. The bones tend to be proportionately small, joints smooth, the hide moderately thin and pliable, and the body very trim, smooth, and symmetrical.

(b) Choice. Vealers possessing the minimum qualifications for Choice grade tend to be moderately low-set, short necked, and compact. They are slightly thick-fleshed and moderately wide over the back and loin. Shoulders and hips are usually moderately neat and smoothly laid in, with only a a slight tendency toward prominence. The loin, rump, and rounds may appear almost flat, with little evidence of fullness. Choice vealers have a very thin fat covering over the back, loin, and upper ribs. The brisket, rear flanks, and cod or udder may show a very slight fullness. Choice vealers usually present a moderately refined appearance.

(c) Good. Vealers possessing the minimum qualifications for Good grade tend to be slightly compact and slightly wide of back and loin. The neck may be slightly long and thin. Good grade vealers tend to be slightly thin fleshed, and the loin, rump, and rounds are flat and may present a very slight sunken or hollowed-out appearance. The shoulders and hips are slightly prominent. The fat covering is very limited and is discernible only over portions of the back and loin. The brisket, rear flanks, and cod or udder may have small fat deposits but have no apparent fullness. Good grade vealers are usually moderately smooth and slightly refined in appearance.

(d) Commercial. Vealers possessing the minimum requirements for Commercial grade tend to be rangy, upstanding, long and thin of neck, narrow over the back, loin, and rump, and shallow in the twist. They are thin fleshed, and there is a distinctly sunken or hollowed-out appearance over the back, loin, and rounds. Hips and shoulders appear moderately prominent. There is an extremely thin fat covering over portions of the back and loin that is difficult to detect in the live animal. Such vealers may show the heavy bones, thick hide, prominent hips and shoulders associated with coarseness, or they may show the small bones, tight hide, and angularity denoting over-refinement.

(e) Utility. Vealers possessing the minimum requirements for the Utility grade may tend to be very rangy, angular, and long and thin of neck. They are very thinly fleshed, narrow over the back, loin, and rump, and shallow in the twist. Hips and shoulders are very prominent, and the crops, back, loin, rump, and rounds present a very sunken or hollowed-out appearance. Utility vealers show no visible evidence of any fat covering. Utility vealers tend to be of low quality. The bones and joints are usually proportionately large and the hide either thick or tight and inelastic.

(f) Cull. The typical Cull grade vealer appears extremely rangy, angular, long and thin necked, narrow and shallow bodied. Shoulders and hips are extremely prominent, and the crops, back, loin, rump, and round present an extremely sunken or hollowed-out appearance. The general appearance denotes low quality. The relative proportion of meat to bone is very low, joints appear large and coarse, and the body is very unsymmetrical.

§ 53.124 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of slaughter calves—(a) Prime. Calves possessing the minimum qualifications for Prime grade are superior in conformation, quality, and finish. In conformation, Prime calves tend to be low-set, compact, and short of neck and body and thick-fleshed. They are wide over the back, loin, and rump. Shoulders and hips are neat and smoothly laid in. The twist is deep and full and the rounds are thick and moderately plump. There is a fullness or plumpness evident over the crops, loin, and rump which contributes to a well-rounded appearance. Prime calves have a slightly thick fat covering over the crops, back, loin, rump, and upper ribs. The brisket, rear flanks, and cod or udder show a marked fullness. Prime calves exhibit evidences of high quality. The bones tend to be proportionately small, joints smooth, the hide moderately thin and pliable, and the body very trim, smooth, and symmetrical.

(b) Choice. Calves possessing the minimum qualifications for Choice grade tend to be moderately low-set, short-necked, and compact. They tend to be moderately thick-fleshed, and are moderately wide over the back and loin. Shoulders and hips are usually moderately neat and smoothly laid in. There is a slight fullness or plumpness over the crops, loin, rump, and rounds which contribute to a rather well-rounded appearance. Choice calves have a moderately thin fat covering over the back, loin, rump, and upper ribs. The brisket, rear flanks, and cod or udder are slightly full. Choice calves usually present a moderately refined appearance.

(c) Good. Calves possessing the minimum qualifications for Good grade tend to be slightly compact and slightly wide of back and loin. The neck may be slightly long and thin. Good grade calves tend to be only slightly thick-fleshed, and the loin, rump, and rounds may appear almost flat with little or no evidence of fullness. The shoulders and hips are usually moderately neat and smoothly laid in but may appear slightly prominent. There is a very thin fat covering over the back, loin, and upper ribs. The brisket, rear flanks, and cod or udder may show a very slight fullness. Good grade calves are usually moderately smooth and slightly refined in appearance.

(d) Commercial. Calves possessing the minimum requirements for Commercial grade tend to be rangy, upstanding, long and thin of neck; narrow over the back, loin, and rump, and shallow in the twist. They tend to be thinly fleshed, and there is a slightly sunken or hollowed-out appearance over the back, loin, and rounds. Hips and shoulders appear somewhat prominent. There is a very thin fat covering that is discernible only over portions of the back and loin. Such calves may show the heavy bones, thick hide, prominent hips and shoulders associated with coarseness; or they may show the small bones, tight hide, and angularity denoting over-refinement.

(e) Utility. Calves possessing the minimum requirements for the Utility grade tend to be very rangy, angular, and long and thin of neck. They tend to be very thinly fleshed, narrow over the back, loin, and rump, and shallow in the twist. Hips and shoulders are very prominent, and the crops, back, loin, rump, and round present a very sunken or hollowed-out appearance. There is an extremely thin fat covering over the back and loin that is difficult to detect in the live animal. Utility calves tend to be of low quality. The bones and joints are usually proportionately large, and the hide either thick or tight and inelastic.

(f) Cull. The typical Cull grade calf appears extremely rangy, angular, long and thin necked, narrow, and shallow bodied. Shoulders and hips are extremely prominent, and the crops, back, loin, rump, and round present an extremely sunken or hollowed-out appearance. The general appearance denotes low quality. The relative proportion of meat to bone is very low, joints appear large and coarse, and the body is very unsymmetrical.

Any interested person who desires to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed revised standards, as set forth herein, may do so by filing them with the Director of the Livestock Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[7 CFR, Part 972]

[Docket No. AO 177-A9]

HANDLING OF MILK IN TRI-STATE MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Gallipolis, Ohio, on January 10, 1951, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on January 2, 1951 (16 F. R. 98) upon a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Tri-State marketing area.

The material issues on the record related to (1) the prevention of a decrease in the prices for Class I milk and Class II milk during the months of February and March 1951, and (2) whether a recommended decision and filing of exceptions thereto should be omitted.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on these issues are based upon the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record pertaining thereto.

(1) The prices for Class I milk and Class II milk for the months of February and March 1951 should not be lower than the corresponding prices for such classes during January 1951.

Because of certain provisions in the current order 25 cents has been added to the computed prices for Class I milk and Class II milk during the months of October, November, and December 1950, and January 1951. The evidence shows that during both October and November 1950 (figures were not available for December 1950 and January 1951) when this increase was effective there was not sufficient producer milk to meet the market requirements for Class I milk and Class II milk. A decrease in the prices for Class I milk and Class II milk for the months of February and March 1951 would tend to discourage the production of milk during these months when it will be needed in the market. Accordingly, it is concluded that the prices for Class I milk and Class II milk during February and March 1951 should not be lower than the corresponding prices for such classes during January 1951.

The current order contains a proviso that the prices for Class I milk and Class II milk for the months of April through July, inclusive, shall not be higher than the respective prices for such classes for the preceding March. It was not intended that this proposed amendment should raise the prices for Class I milk and Class II milk during the months of April, May, June, and July and provision is made to prevent such a result.

(2) The due and timely execution of the function of the Secretary of Agriculture under the act imperatively and unavoidably requires the omission of a recommended decision by the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, and exceptions thereto.

Immediate action must be taken if an amendment is to relieve the disorderly marketing conditions which would result if the prices for Class I milk and Class II milk should decrease during February or March 1951. The delay necessarily involved in the preparation, filing, and publication of a recommended decision and exceptions thereto would defeat the purpose of the amendment.

Every point covered in the briefs filed by interested parties was carefully considered along with the record evidence in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the said marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Tri-State Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Tri-State Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of January 1951.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Tri-State Marketing Area

§ 972.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Tri-State marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Tri-State marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

Delete from the end of § 972.5 (b) the words "for the preceding March," and substitute therefor the following: "prior to the following proviso for the preceding March: And provided further, That the prices for Class I milk and Class II milk for the months of February and March 1951 shall not be lower than the respective prices computed for such classes pursuant to this section for January 1951."

[F. R. Doc. 51-1450; Filed, Jan. 29, 1951; 8:48 a. m.]

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[17 CFR, Part 239]

FORM S–1 FOR REGISTRATION OF SECURITIES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

The Securities and Exchange Commission has under consideration a proposed revision of Form S–1[1] (§ 239.11), which is one of the forms for registration of securities under the Securities Act of 1933. The purpose of this revision is mainly to shorten and improve the prospectus and thereby facilitate its distribution and make it more useful to investors.

Some of the items of information currently required to be shown in the prospectus would be omitted from the prospectus but would be otherwise filed with the registration statement. For example, the prospectus would include very limited information as to the nature of the underwriting commitment. Details of the underwriting arrangements would be omitted from the prospectus but would be otherwise filed as a part of the registration statement. Certain other items of information would be similarly treated.

An entirely new approach in the disclosure of financial data in the prospectus is provided for in the proposed revision. At the present time, the prospectus is required to include not only a summary of earnings for a period of years but also the formal balance sheets, profit and loss statements, statements of surplus and certain schedules filed as a part of the registration statement. It is proposed that the summary of earnings be accepted in the prospectus in lieu of any formal profit and loss statements. In addition, a statement of financial position containing the substance of the information set forth in the formal balance sheets would be included in the prospectus in lieu of such balance sheets. Thus all conventional balance sheets, profit and loss statements, surplus statements and schedules would be omitted from the propectus but would be otherwise filed as a part of the registration statement.

It is contemplated that the presentation of the financial data included in the prospectus, particularly the statement of financial position, would be left largely up to registrants and their accountants. This would permit them to break away from conventional forms of presentation now in common use in favor of a more informal presentation.

The Commission's experience has been that to a considerable extent detailed items and instructions result in unnecessarily detailed answers in the prospectus. Accordingly, the revised items and instructions of the proposed form have been somewhat streamlined for the purpose of producing more concise statements in the prospectus without sacrificing essential information.

The Commission believes that a prospectus based upon the proposed revision would result in a shorter and more usable prospectus which would at the same time give the average investor the information he needs in appraising a registered security.

The Commission invites comments and suggestions on the proposed form from all interested persons. It will be glad to consider any suggestions for the further shortening of prospectuses without detriment to investors. Comments and suggestions should be submitted in writing to the Securities and Exchange Commission at its principal office, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C., on or before February 26, 1951.

By the Commission.

Civil Aeronautics Administration

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONS

1. Purpose. The purpose of this notice is to provide the organization for the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics to carry out his delegated and assigned responsibilities and powers under the Defense Production Act of 1950 and implementing documents.

2. Establishment of the Office of Aviation Defense Requirements. (a) There is hereby established in the Civil Aeronautics Administration an Office of Aviation Defense Requirements, the director of which shall report and be responsible to the Administrator.

(b) The Office of Aviation Defense Requirements shall carry out the responsibilities and powers of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics as assigned by him in connection with (1) his responsibilities and powers as a claimant under Executive Order 10161 (see 15 F. R. 8090–8091), and (2) his authority to apply priority ratings, with respect to delegations of authority both as they exist at the effective date of this notice and as they may subsequently be extended or otherwise amended.

3. Assignment of functions. The Office of Aviation Defense Requirements, under the general supervision of the Administrator, shall serve as the central point of coordination of all Civil Aeronautics Administration activities relating to the defense production program; provide basic policies, standards and procedures for use by Civil Aeronautics Administration offices in carrying out their responsibilities in the defense production program; and maintain such records and make such reports as may be required to satisfy the requirements of Civil Aeronautics Administration and other agencies involved in the program.

In connection with its claimancy function, the Office of Aviation Defense Requirements shall collect and process civil aviation requirements and, in this respect, shall (a) develop standard instructions and procedures to be used by agencies whose requirements are to be presented by Civil Aeronautics Administration for processing and transmittal to the appropriate agencies, and (b) review and evaluate, in light of available materials and facilities, all civil aviation requirements filed with Civil Aeronautics Administration as a claimant agency, consolidate such requirements into periodic programs, and submit them to appropriate agencies for action.

The Office of Aviation Defense Requirements shall also carry out for the Administrator the authority delegated to him with respect to the application of priority ratings to the extent he may direct.

This notice is effective January 19, 1951.

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

SUPPLEMENT 1—DELEGATION OF FURTHER AUTHORITY AS TO CERTAIN PROGRAMS

This supplement to NPA Delegation 1 is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950. The Secretary of Defense has been delegated certain authority to apply and assign ratings by NPA Delegation 1. In addition to such authority, there is hereby delegated to the Secretary of Defense the following authority:

1. To reschedule deliveries of the materials specified in Column I of attached List A which are required in support of the authorized programs appearing in the corresponding section of Column II of the List: Provided, however, That such authority (a) shall be applicable only to deliveries to fill orders rated by or under the authority of the Secretary of Defense; and (b) shall be applicable only to the extent that such rescheduling of deliveries requires no change in production schedules.

2. To redelegate the authority hereby delegated to appropriate agencies of the Department of Defense or its authorized agents.

The exercise of this authority shall conform to the terms of the regulations and orders of the National Production Authority and also to priorities and allocations policy directives issued by the Munitions Board and subject to approval by the National Production Authority.

This supplement shall take effect on January 25, 1951.

[Docket No. G–1574]

UNITED GAS PIPE LINE CO.

ORDER FIXING DATE OF HEARING

JANUARY 24, 1951.

On December 29, 1950, United Gas Pipe Line Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at 1525 Fairfield Avenue, Shreveport, Louisiana, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural-gas transmission pipe line facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, as fully described in said application on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The Commission finds: This proceeding is a proper one for disposition under the provisions of § 1.32 (b) (18 CFR 1.32 (b)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, Applicant having requested that its application be heard under the shortened procedure provided by the aforesaid rule for noncontested proceedings, and no request to be heard, protest or petition having been filed subsequent to the giving of due notice of the filing of the application, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 5, 1951 (15 F. R. 136).

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing be held on February 13, 1951, at 9:45 a. m. e. s. t., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved and the issues presented by such application; Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, forthwith dispose of the proceeding pursuant to the provisions of § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(B) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the said rules of practice and procedure.

Date of issuance: January 25, 1951.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. G-1580]

MICHIGAN-WISCONSIN PIPE LINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JANUARY 24, 1951.

Take notice that on January 5, 1951, Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation of Detroit, Michigan, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the acquisition from Iowa Electric Company and the operation of approximately 6.5 miles of 4-inch pipeline extending from Applicant's main line to Fairfield, Iowa, and the installation of certain regulating and measuring facilities therein.

In the Commission's Opinion No. 180 and order of August 2, 1949, Applicant was ordered to sell and deliver natural gas to Iowa Electric Company, and in Opinion No. 180-A and accompanying order of July 12, 1950, the Applicant was directed to remove the discrimination which the Commission found would result from the rates and conditions under which Applicant then proposed to render service to Iowa Electric Company. The present application is filed in accordance with Opinion No. 180-A and order of July 12, 1950.

The application recites that the proposed purchase of facilities is to be made in accordance with the terms of an agreement between Applicant and Iowa Electric Company, executed December 27, 1950, and the purchase price is estimated to approximate $76,000. The cost of facilities to be constructed is estimated to be $7,000 and all expenditures will be paid from general funds of the Applicant.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 14th day of February 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

CITIES SERVICE GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JANUARY 23, 1951.

Take notice that Cities Service Gas Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation, address, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, filed on January 15, 1951, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of certain transmission pipeline facilities hereinafter described.

Applicant proposes to install three additional 1600 hp. compressor units at its existing Hugoton Station in Grant County, Kansas, which will increase the daily delivery capacity of said Station by 55,500 Mcf; to construct and operate a 6400 hp. compressor station on its Hugoton-Kansas City 26-inch pipeline for delivery of the volumes made available by the Hugoton Station; to construct and operate a 1200 hp. compressor station on its Quapaw 16-inch pipeline and to construct and operate a 680 hp. compressor station on its Springfield 10-inch pipeline which will increase the transmission capacity of Applicant's Quapaw-Springfield system.

The estimated cost of the proposed facilities is $4,204,000, which will be paid for by funds disbursed from Applicant's own treasury.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 12th day of February 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

[Docket No. G-1590]

CITIES SERVICE GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JANUARY 23, 1951.

Take notice that Cities Service Gas Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation, address, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, filed on January 15, 1951, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of certain transmission pipeline facilities hereinafter described, and for an order pursuant to section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing and approving the abandonment of certain other transmission pipeline facilities hereinafter described.

Applicant proposes to construct and operate approximately 29 miles of 16-inch pipeline between Wichita and Hesston, Kansas, which will allow Applicant to abandon and reclaim approximately 114 miles of 6-inch, 8-inch, 10-inch, and 12-inch lines from its existing system. Said lines were constructed between 1906 and 1936 and have been used for the past several years to move natural gas from Wichita to Hutchinson and Newton, Kansas, from the south, but more recently have delivered gas into the Wichita area from the north. Applicant states that their abandonment is required by reason of their condition, age, size and length.

Applicant also proposes to construct and operate approximately 11.1 miles of 3-inch pipeline to connect its system with the towns of Valley Center, Bentley, Burrton and Mount Hope, in Kansas, and approximately 16 miles of 10-inch pipeline between its existing 16-inch pipeline and the town of Parsons, Kansas. In addition, Applicant proposes to abandon and reclaim approximately 32.25 miles of 8-inch pipeline in the vicinity of Parsons, Kansas, and to abandon and reclaim approximately 40.25 miles of 8-inch pipeline which heretofore had been used to transport natural gas from the Cunningham, Chitwood and Lerado Fields to a point near Hutchinson, Kansas. In connection with the proposed abandonment, Applicant states, forty-two individual customers now served by The Gas Service Company with gas from Applicant's system will no longer be served, and Applicant proposes to advise such customers that service will be discontinued on or about April 1, 1951. Applicant states that said customers have agreed to a discontinuance of service on ten days' notice under the terms of their contract with The Gas Service Company.

The estimated cost of the facilities proposed to be constructed and operated by Applicant is $982,610, which will be paid for out of funds disbursed from Applicant's own treasury.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 12th day of February 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[Ex Parte No. 175 (Sub-No. 1)]

INCREASED FREIGHT RATES, 1951

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of January, A. D. 1951.

Upon consideration of a petition filed January 22, 1951, by Newtex Steamship Corporation, Pan-Atlantic Steamship Corporation and Seatrain Lines, Inc., common carriers by water subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, engaged in the transportation of property between North Atlantic ports and South Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico ports, requesting permission to make increases in their port-to-port rates, their proportional rates and charges, and joint through rates in which they participate with other carriers, corresponding to the increases requested by carriers by railroad in a petition filed with the Commission on January 16, 1951 in Docket Ex Parte No. 175:

It is ordered, That the said petition be, and it is hereby, docketed as Ex Parte No. 175 (Sub-No. 1), Increased Freight Rates, 1951;

It is further ordered, That an investigation be, and it is hereby, instituted into and concerning the reasonableness and lawfulness of the increases in the freight rates and charges requested by the petitioning carriers herein;

It is further ordered, That the proceeding be assigned for hearing at such times and places as may hereinafter be designated;

And it is further ordered, That notice of this proceeding be given to the general public by depositing a copy of this order in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing a copy thereof with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

By the Commission.

[Ex Parte No. 175 and Ex Parte No. 175 (Sub.-No. 1)]

INCREASED FREIGHT RATES, 1951

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its Office in Washington, D. C., on the 24th day of January A. D. 1951.

1. A petition was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission on January 16, 1951, by the railroads listed in Appendix I thereof, being substantially all the class I railroads in the United States and many railroads of other classes, which requests the Commission to institute an investigation into the adequacy of railway freight rates and charges of the petitioners, with the object of effecting general increases in freight rates and charges as set forth in Appendix II thereof; and also seeks permission to make such increased rates and charges effective at the earliest possible date, upon less than statutory notice; and prays for the entry of a general order modifying all outstanding orders of the Commission to the extent necessary to enable the railroads to make the proposed increased rates and charges effective, and also for the entry of appropriate orders under sections 4 and 6 of the Interstate Commerce Act. A subsequent amendment modified the petition in certain matters of detail.

2. On January 22, 1951, 29 freight forwarders on leave granted for the purpose became intervening parties by a petition which sought the same relief as the petitioning railroads as above referred to. Subsequently the intervening petition was concurred in by 2 other freight forwarders.

3. On January 19, 1951, Newtex Steamship Corporation, Pan-Atlantic Steamship Corporation, and Seatrain Lines, Inc., as participants in joint rates and charges with connecting carriers via Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico ports to and from origins and destinations on the lines of such connecting carriers, petition that in the event the authority sought by the railroads is granted, they be permitted to make corresponding increases in their local and proportional rates and in their joint rates with other carriers between Official Territory and Southern and Southwestern Territories. The Commission has directed that this petition be received and docketed under the above caption, and docketed as Ex Parte No. 175 (Sub-No. 1).

4. On January 19, 1951, petitioners described in paragraph 1 hereof filed a "Motion for Immediate Increase in Freight Rates and Charges on an Interim Basis", together with a "Verified Statement" of J. H. Parmelee in support thereof, with an accompanying, attached statistical exhibit. The motion seeks authority to put the increased freight rates and charges described in the petition into effect on an interim basis, on one day's notice, pending hearing and final determination of the proceeding, for grounds stated therein, supported by the verified statement and exhibit referred to in this paragraph. In their petition the freight forwarders ask that their pleading be also considered as a petition or motion for authority to make such interim increases on short notice as the rail carriers may be authorized to make. The intervening steamship lines do not speak of interim relief in terms, but their petition shows their request implies simultaneous changes in their port-to-port and their rail-ocean, ocean-rail, and rail-ocean-rail rates, with any changes authorized for the all-rail carriers, and their petition will be considered as a motion to that effect.

Upon consideration of the foregoing matters:

It is ordered, That the several motions for "Immediate" or "Interim" increases in freight rates, described in paragraph 4 hereof, be set for hearing at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., commencing February 19, 1951, at 10:00 o'clock a. m., before Division Two of the Commission, for the reception of evidence; and that the matter be argued orally or upon memorandum briefs in substitution for or supplemental to oral argument. Oral argument before the Commission at its offices in Washington will follow as promptly as possible after the close of the hearing for the reception of evidence.

It is further ordered, That the special instructions and rules of procedure appearing in the Appendix below be followed in the submission of the motions for interim relief, in addition to the general rules of practice before the Commission.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] W. P. BARTEL, Secretary.

APPENDIX—SPECIAL RULES OF PROCEDURE AND INSTRUCTIONS GOVERNING THE HEARING UPON MOTIONS FOR INTERIM RELIEF

Interventions. Petitions of intervention by carriers, other than the petitioners, seeking similar relief should comply with the General Rules of Practice, Rule 72.

Persons appearing in opposition to the petition herein, or in opposition to similar petitions of carriers other than those filing the original petition, will be considered as protestants, and may be heard without the filing of petitions of intervention.

Simplification of presentations. To conserve time and avoid expense, it is strongly urged that persons finding themselves with common interests in the proceeding shall, to the greatest extent possible, endeavor to consolidate their presentation of testimony, and arrange for cross-examination by as few counsel as possible. The same course should be followed upon oral argument.

Evidence offered should be carefully prepared with a view to conciseness and clarity, and so as to avoid extraneous, immaterial, and irrelevant matter, and undue cumulation of testimony or of witnesses upon any point. It should be factual in character, and argument should be reserved for the oral argument stage, and not be incorporated in the testimony.

Basic data, when of a voluminous character, should not be included if it is possible to make it available for inspection by other parties, for instance, by temporarily lodging it with the Commission.

Exhibits. In the preparation of exhibits, Rules of Practice 81 to 84, inclusive, should be followed. If possible, all documents submitted by a witness should be embraced in a single exhibit, with pages consecutively numbered, suitably bound together. In order to supply the State Commissioners, members of this Commission, and counsel in the proceeding, at least 250 copies of each exhibit should be prepared. So far as possible exhibits should be made self-explanatory, in order to minimize the amount of time required for explanation by oral testimony.

Use of portions of record made in other proceedings. Parties desiring to present for the record a portion of the record in any other proceeding before the Commission should comply with Rule 82 of the General Rules of Practice.

Stipulation as to use of Commission's records, and other data. The petitioners have stipulated and agreed in writing for all purposes in the proceeding various documents filed with or issued by the Commission, described as follows, may be noticed and considered by it:

Annual reports. Freight Commodity Statistics, Class I Steam Railways; Comparative Statement of Railway Operating Statistics; Preliminary Abstract of Railway Statistics; Annual Report on the Statistics of Railways in the United States; Similar compilations of statistics of Class I motor carriers, electric railways, freight forwarders, carriers by water, and private car owners.

Quarterly reports. Series No. Q-500, 550, 650, 750, and 800.

Monthly reports. Series No. M-100, 125, 150, 211, 213, 220, 230, 250, 300, 500, and 550.

Weekly reports. A. A. R. Car Service Division Revenue Freight Loaded and Received from Connections.

Special studies. Analyses of the 1 percent sample of waybills, by the Commission's Bureau of Transport Economics and Statistics.

The annual returns of railroads to Valuation Order No. 3.

The stipulation, the Commission understands, extends to such documents on file or to be filed or issued during the pendency of the proceedings, and is for the benefit of all parties as well as the Commission.

To the extent that the Commission may be asked to take notice of matters shown in such documents, reference to the portion thereof to be noticed should be given to the Commission and parties in an open manner and at a timely stage of the proceeding.

Prepared statements. Witnesses who expect in the course of their oral testimony to read from a written statement should comply with Rule 77 of the rules of practice. They should have sufficient copies thereof to supply opposing counsel present, the presiding officers and the official reporter. Such written statements should be furnished counsel a reasonable time before the appearance of the witness on the stand. To conserve time, it is suggested that such statements be prepared and offered in the manner indicated in the paragraph below, relating to verified statements, instead of being submitted orally by a witness on the stand.

Witnesses who will use prepared statements should remember that extensive tabular matter should be submitted separately, as an exhibit, and thus avoid the necessity for copying tabular matter into the transcript of oral testimony with accompanying expense and delay.

Hearings. The hearing set in the notice and order to which these rules are appended is to be primarily upon the motions for interim relief, and for the purpose of receiving testimony on behalf of (a) the petitioners, (b) interveners, and (c) protestants who are prepared and desire to be heard on that issue. Such additional hearings will be provided as the progress of the proceeding indicates to be necessary or desirable, at which time the evidence received upon the motions will be considered as already a part of the record.

Submission of evidence in chief in written form. The evidence in chief to be produced on behalf of the petitioners and any intervening petitioners who may come into the proceeding, shall be submitted in written form, as prepared statements by the respective witnesses, with their accompanying exhibits. Such documents should be made available to the Commission by filing 25 copies on or before January 30, 1951, and a copy should be transmitted as first class mail by petitioners and intervening petitioners to the regulatory authority of each State having jurisdiction with respect to the intrastate rates and charges of petitioners and intervening petitioners, and also to each person who shall give timely notice to the Commission and counsel for petitioners of their intention to appear as protestants. Such notification to petitioners should be made in writing promptly, addressed to E. H. Burgess, B. & O. Building, Baltimore 1, Md.

Verified statements (affidavits). Evidence in the form of verified statements (affidavits) without personal appearance of the affiant as a witness will also be received in the absence of objection, as hereinafter specified.

The Commission desires for its own use 20 copies of each verified statement, with accompanying exhibit or exhibits firmly attached. Copies for the Commission should be filed with the Secretary of the Commission by the dates herein stated. Verified statements of evidence in chief on behalf of petitioners and parties in support of petitioners should be filed on or before January 30, 1951. Evidence on behalf of protestants (parties other than respondents) should be filed with the Commission at or before the opening of the hearing.

Parties other than petitioners should also furnish 75 copies of each verified statement to E. H. Burgess, B. & O. Building, Baltimore 1, Md., for distribution by him to the petitioners in the three rate territories, and should furnish 5 copies to W. S. Jermain, 140 Cedar Street, New York 6, N. Y., for the use of the steamship lines, petitioners in Sub-No. 1, and should furnish 20 copies to Giles Morrow, 1220 Dupont Circle Building, Washington 6, D. C., for the use of the freight forwarders, interveners on behalf of the petitioners and themselves. In addition, the petitioners and all other parties should be prepared with a sufficient number of copies for general distribution of verified statements to counsel present at the hearing.

The verified statements received will be open to public inspection promptly upon filing, at the office of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

Notice of objections to the receipt in evidence of any verified statement should be filed with the Commission and a copy be given to the affiant promptly, and if not so given, it will be considered that objection is waived. But objection to the weight to be accorded the statement of facts is reserved.

If cross-examination of a witness is desired by any party, written request therefor must be given to the Commission or to the witness or his attorney as promptly as circumstances permit, and in time to enable the witness to reach Washington not later than the third day of the hearing—otherwise the privilege of cross-examination will be deemed to be waived.

Witnesses receiving such notice of desire for cross-examination must report at the hearing, or their verified statements cannot be received.

Verified statements should conform to the rules of practice in respect of style, mimeographing, or printing, etc. They should be limited strictly to statements of fact, and contain no argument, and if not so limited may be excluded. The Commission on its own motion or on objection may exclude a verified statement or any portion thereof which (a) is not material or relevant to the questions presented in this proceeding, (b) is obviously incompetent, or (c) is argumentative in character. In the absence of objection to introduction of the verified statement it will be unnecessary for the affiant to appear personally at the hearing.

All verified statements received in evidence will be part of the record in the proceeding, upon which the Commission will base its decision.

Notice of intention to produce testimony. Persons who desire to be heard will facilitate necessary arrangements by sending notice of their intention by letter or telegram to the Commission at Washington, so as to reach the Commission before February 15, 1951, which shall state the number of witnesses, and the approximate amount of time considered necessary for presentation of direct testimony.

Correspondence. Correspondence relative to this matter should be addressed to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington 25, D. C., and not to a particular Commissioner, with a reference to the docket number, Ex Parte No. 175 or Ex Parte No. 175 (Sub-No. 1) or both, as the case may be.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-2524]

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER RELEASING JURISDICTION AND PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of January A. D. 1951.

Southern Natural Gas Company ("Southern"), a registered holding company, having filed a declaration and amendments thereto pursuant to section 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rules U-42 and U-50 promulgated thereunder, regarding, among other things, the issuance and sale by Southern, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of said Rule U-50, of $17,500,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Pipe Line Sinking Fund Bonds, Series due 1970 ("New Bonds"), and the issuance and sale by Southern, without underwriting, of 155,546 additional shares of its common stock with a par value of $7.50 per share ("New Stock"), upon the exercise of transferable subscription warrants to be issued pro rata to Southern's stockholders in the ratio of one share of New Stock for ten shares of present common stock held of record on January 30, 1951, at a price of $33 per share; and

The Commission having, by order dated January 16, 1951, permitted said declaration, as amended, to become effective subject, among other things, to the condition that the proposed sale of said bonds shall not be consummated until the results of competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 shall have been made a matter of record in these proceedings and a further order shall have been entered by this Commission in the light of the record so completed; and subject to the reservation of jurisdiction over all fees and expenses incurred or to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions; and

Southern, on January 23, 1951, having filed a further amendment herein setting forth the action taken by it to comply with the requirements of Rule U-50 and stating that pursuant to the invitation for competitive bids the following bids were received:

Bidder	Annual interest rate (percent)	Price to company (percent of principal)	Annual cost to company (percent)
The First Boston Corp	2¾	100.1899	2.8024
Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.	2¾	100.18	2.8031
Kuhn, Loeb & Co	2¾	100.104	2.8081
Equitable Securities Corp.	2¾	100.099	2.8084
Blyth & Co	3	101.82	2.8795

[1] Exclusive of accrued interest from Dec. 1, 1950.

Southern having stated that it has accepted the bid of The First Boston Corporation and that the bonds are to be offered to the public at a price of 100.683 percent of the principal amount, plus accrued interest from December 1, 1950, resulting in an underwriter's spread of .4931 percent of the principal amount of the bonds, or an aggregate of $86,292.50; and

It appearing from the record that Southern estimates its fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions will amount to $178,000, including $10,000 legal fees payable to the firm of Hughes, Hubbard & Ewing of New York; $8,500 legal fees payable to the firm of Cabaniss & Johnston of Birmingham, Alabama; $1,400 legal fees payable to the firm of Milbank, Tweed, Hope & Hadley of New York, counsel for the Trustee; $10,500 payable to various local counsel for title examinations and services in connection with the recording of the Supplemental Indenture of Southern; accounting fees and expenses payable to Arthur Young & Company in the amount of $14,350; and that the legal fees of counsel for the successful purchasers of the bonds are estimated in the amount of $12,000 payable to the firm of Chadbourne, Hunt, Jaeckel, & Brown of New York, which latter fees are to be paid by the successful bidder; and

This Commission having examined the said amendments filed herein on January 23, 1951, and having considered the record and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the price to be received by the company for the bonds and the interest rate thereon, the redemption prices thereof, or the underwriter's spread, and finding that the fees and expenses, if they do not exceed the amounts estimated, are not unreasonable; and it appearing appropriate to the Commission that jurisdiction heretofore reserved over the results of competitive bidding and over fees and expenses be released:

It is ordered, That jurisdiction heretofore reserved to consider the results of competitive bidding with respect to the sale of said bonds and over the fees and expenses to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions be, and hereby is, released and that said declaration, as further amended, be, and hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed by Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

NIAGARA MOHAWK POWER CORP. AND FRONTIER CORP.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 24th day of January, A. D. 1951.

Notice is hereby given that a joint application-declaration has been filed with this Commission, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, by Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation ("Niagara Mohawk"), a subsidiary of The United Corporation, a registered holding company, and Frontier Corporation ("Frontier"), a wholly owned subsidiary of Niagara Mohawk. Applicants-declarants have designated sections 9, 10 and 12 of the act as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 6, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application-declaration proposed to be controverted, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after February 6, 1951, said application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said application-declaration which is on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

It is proposed to merge Frontier into Niagara Mohawk. Frontier owns undeveloped riparian lands and water rights and other real and personal property in and along the St. Lawrence River within the State of New York. The application-declaration states that the merger is subject to the jurisdiction of The Public Service Commission of the State of New York, and that the order of that Commission with respect to the merger will be supplied by amendment to the instant application-declaration.

By the Commission.

NEW ENGLAND ELECTRIC SYSTEM

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C. on the 24th day of January A. D. 1951.

Notice is hereby given that New England Electric System ("NEES"), a registered holding company, has filed a declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. NEES has designated sections 9 (a) (1) and 10 of the act as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 5, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact, or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. At any time thereafter, said declaration, as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C.

All interested parties are referred to said declaration which is on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

NEES proposes to acquire a $3,540,000 collateral promissory note of What Cheer Associates, Inc. as part of the consideration for the sale of its security holdings of United Electric Railways Company ("UER"), a transportation company incorporated and doing business in Rhode Island. Such securities to be sold consist of 81,800 shares (99 percent) of the UER capital stock ($100 par value per share) and all of its outstanding funded debt, namely $939,800 principal amount of General and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, 5 percent series A, due January 1, 1951, and $1,475,300 principal amount of General and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, 4 percent series B, due January 1, 1951.

The total consideration for the securities to be sold by NEES is $4,700,000, of which $1,160,000 is to be paid in cash upon transfer of title and the balance of $3,540,000 is to be represented by the note to be acquired. Said promissory note is payable $500,000 on December 1, 1951, and $500,000 annually thereafter (the last such payment being $540,000), with interest on the unpaid balance at the rate of 4 percent per annum and with privilege of prior payment in whole or in part. Said promissory note is to be secured by the deposit with NEES of $661,300 principal amount of said 5 percent series A bonds, $1,038,700 principal amount of said 4 percent series B bonds and 74,300 shares of capital stock of UER.

The declaration states that NEES made available to the representatives of six interested groups the minimum acceptable conditions for the sale of the securities it owns and that three bids were received. The declaration further states that the successful bidder, What Cheer Associates, Inc., is not a registered holding company or a subsidiary thereof and is not now, and by virtue of the proposed transactions will not become, an affiliate of a holding company or a public utility.

Services to NEES in connection with the proposed transactions performed at the actual cost thereof by New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company are estimated not to exceed $5,000. In addition thereto, NEES will pay the necessary transfer taxes estimated at $6,115.

NEES requests that the Commission issue an order permitting the declaration to become effective forthwith upon the issuance thereof.

By the Commission.

UNITED STATES TARIFF COMMISSION

[List No. D-13 (E)]

EMERGENCY LEAD COMMITTEE AND NEW MEXICO MINERS AND PROSPECTORS ASSN.

DISMISSAL OF APPLICATION FOR INVESTIGATION OF IMPORTS OF LEAD AND LEAD-BEARING MATERIALS

JANUARY 25, 1951.

The United States Tariff Commission today announces dismissal of the applications for an investigation of imports of lead and lead-bearing materials under the escape clause provision of the former Mexican Trade Agreement. The applications were filed by the Emergency Lead Committee and the New Mexico Miners and Prospectors Association. This action by the Tariff Commission was due to the termination of the trade agreement between the United States and Mexico effective at the close of December 31, 1950, resulting in there being no escape clause provision in any trade agreement regarding the rates of duty on lead and lead-bearing materials.

The applications of the Emergency Lead Committee and the New Mexico Miners and Prospectors Association were pursuant to escape clause procedure and each contained a request for an increase in the rates of duty on lead-bearing ores, flue dust, mattes of all kinds, lead bullion, lead in pigs and bars, lead dross, reclaimed lead, and scrap lead.

Lead-bearing ores, flue dust, and mattes of all kinds are dutiable under the Tariff Act of 1930 at 1½ cents per pound of lead content. Under the Trade Agreement with Mexico this rate was reduced to ¾ cent per pound. Lead bullion or base bullion, lead in pigs and bars, lead dross, reclaimed lead, and scrap lead are dutiable under the Tariff Act of 1930 at 2⅛ cents per pound of lead content. This rate was reduced in the Trade Agreement with Mexico to 1⅛ cents per pound.

Presidential Proclamation No. 2901 dated September 6, 1950, terminated the Trade Agreement with Mexico effective at the close of December 31, 1950, resulting in there being no escape clause provision in any trade agreement regarding the rates of duty on the commodities involved and in the rates of duty on the articles enumerated being restored to those provided in the Tariff Act of 1930.

DONN N. BENT,
Secretary.

[Vesting Order 17092]

ERNEST GRAF

In re: Stock owned by and debt owing to Ernest Graf. F–28–22246–D–1/D–2; E–1.

Under the authority of the Trading With the Enemy Act, as amended, Executive Order 9193, as amended, and Executive Order 9788, and pursuant to law, after investigation, it is hereby found:

1. That Ernest Graf, whose last known address is Burg-Uber Oberwait-Steinmark, Germany is a resident of Germany and a national of a designated enemy country (Germany);

2. That the property described as follows:

a. Six (6) shares of capital stock of Grocery Store Products Co., Union and Adams Streets, West Chester, Pennsylvania, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, evidenced by certificate numbered 0369, registered in the name of Ernest Graf, together with all declared and unpaid dividends thereon,

b. Thirty (30) shares of common stock of Republic Pictures Corp., 1790 Broadway, New York 19, New York, evidenced by two certificates for 40 shares of $1.00 par value common stock of Consolidated Film Industries, Inc. (merged with Republic Pictures Corp.), said certificates numbered 17769 and 19850 for 10 and 30 shares respectively, registered in the name of Ernest Graf, together with all declared and unpaid dividends thereon and any and all rights to receive certificates of Republic Pictures Corp., and

c. That certain debt or other obligation owing to Ernest Graf by the National City Bank of New York, Madison Avenue, New York 21, New York, arising out of an account, Account number V6585, maintained at the aforesaid bank and any and all rights to demand, enforce and collect the same, is property within the United States owned or controlled by, payable or deliverable to, held on behalf of or on account of, or owing to, or which is evidence of ownership or control by, the aforesaid national of a designated enemy country (Germany);

and it is hereby determined:

3. That to the extent that the person named in subparagraph 1 hereof is not within a designated enemy country, the national interest of the United States requires that such person be treated as a national of a designated enemy country (Germany).

All determinations and all action required by law, including appropriate consultation and certification, having been made and taken, and it being deemed necessary in the national interest, and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

There is hereby vested in the Attorney General of the United States the property described above, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest of and for the benefit of the United States.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Gallipolis, Ohio, on January 10, 1951, upon a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Tri-State marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order, as amended, effective not later than February 1, 1951. Any delay beyond February 1, 1951, in the effective date of this order amending the order, as amended, will seriously disrupt the orderly marketing of milk for the Tri-State marketing area. The changes effected by this order amending the order, as amended, do not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found that good cause exists for making this order effective February 1, 1951 (Sec. 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping milk covered by this order, as amended, and as hereby further amended) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign such proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing areas; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (October 1950), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Tri-State marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

Delete from the end of § 972.5 (b) the words "for the preceding March," and substitute therefor the following: "prior to the following proviso for the preceding March: And provided further, That the prices for Class I milk and Class II milk for the months of February and March 1951 shall not be lower than the respective prices computed for such classes pursuant to this section for January 1951."

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup 608c).

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 29th day of January 1951 to be effective on and after the 1st day of February 1951.

PART 979—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN THE EASTERN SOUTH DAKOTA PRODUCTION AREA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 979.304 Limitation of shipments—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 103 and Order No. 79 (7 CFR Part 979) regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the Eastern South Dakota production area, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the South Dakota Potato Committee, established under said marketing agreement and order, and other available information, it is hereby found that such limitation of shipments as hereinafter provided will tend to effectuate the declared policies of the act.

(2) It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until thirty days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5

U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) shipments of the 1950 crop Irish potatoes grown in the production area are now being made and have been subject to grade and size regulations since August 3, 1950, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest than would otherwise prevail will be promoted by limiting shipments of potatoes on and after the effective date hereinafter provided in the manner set forth, (iii) compliance with this section will not require any preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by such effective date, (iv) a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for such preparation, (v) the time intervening between the date when adequate information became available to the South Dakota Potato Committee to make its recommendation and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and (vi) information regarding the committee's recommendation has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning February 5, 1951, and ending June 30, 1951, both dates inclusive, each shipment of table stock potatoes grown in the production area shall be limited to U. S. Commercial, or better grade, and which are not less than 2 inches minimum diameter, as such grades and size are defined in the U. S. Standards for Potatoes (7 CFR 51.366), including the tolerances set forth therein.

(2) The terms used in this section shall have the same meanings as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 103 and Order No. 79 (7 CFR Part 979).

(3) The limitations set forth in this section supersede the limitations issued on August 3, 1950, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 5, 1950 (15 F. R. 5041), and such prior limitations are hereby terminated and revoked as of the effective date of the limitations set forth in this section.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of January 1951, to be effective February 5, 1951.

TITLE 16—COMMERCIAL PRACTICES

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

[Docket 5502]

PART 3—DIGEST OF CEASE AND DESIST ORDERS

CORN PRODUCTS REFINING CO. ET AL.

Subpart—Aiding, assisting and abetting unfair or unlawful act or practice: § 3.290 Aiding, assisting and abetting unfair or unlawful act or practice. Subpart—Combining or conspiring: § 3.400 To discriminate or stabilize prices through basing point or delivered price systems; § 3.430 To enhance, maintain or unify prices. Subpart—Discriminating in price under Sec. 2, Clayton Act as amended—Price discrimination under 2 (a): § 3.735 Delivered price systems. I. In or in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution in commerce of corn derivatives, as in said order defined, and on the part of nine manufacturers of said products, and the seven subsidiaries of five of them, entering into, continuing, cooperating in or carrying out any planned common course of action, agreement, understanding, combination or conspiracy between or among any two or more of said respondents or between any one or more of said respondents and others not parties hereto, to (1) establish, fix or maintain prices, terms or conditions of sale; (2) establish or maintain any plan for the purpose or with the effect of informing or advising any of the respondents or any other manufacturer of corn derivatives as to prices, terms or conditions of sale at or upon which any manufacturing respondent or other seller of corn derivatives expects to sell corn derivatives; (3) exchange, distribute or relay among the respondents or any of them directly or through any institute or central agency or private individual or corporation or through any other medium or central agency information as to current prices for the purpose or with the effect of fixing or maintaining prices, terms or conditions of sale for corn derivatives; (4) exchange, distribute or relay among the respondents or any of them or through any other medium or central agency information, or authorize or permit the examination of the books or records of the manufacturing respondents by any agent or representative, concerning prices charged particular customers or information concerning sales or shipments of corn derivatives when the identity of the manufacturer, seller or purchaser can be determined or disclosed through such information and which has the capacity or tendency of aiding in securing compliance with the prices, terms or conditions of sales as announced by any one or more of the manufacturing respondents; (5) collectively investigate, review, consider or act upon, either directly or through any medium or central agency, the act of any seller of corn derivatives in making a sale, at prices or on terms or conditions of sale different from those announced, exchanged or relayed by such seller to other respondents directly through an institute, medium or central agency or otherwise; (6) take any action having the purpose, capacity or tendency to aid in securing on the part of any seller of corn derivatives compliance with its announced prices, terms or conditions of sale; (7) formulate, establish, put into operation or use in any way any price reporting plan which has the tendency or the effect of depriving the public of any benefit of competition in price upon or among the manufacturing respondents or between any of them and any other manufacturer or seller of corn derivatives; (8) select, determine or establish a method of quoting or charging prices for corn derivatives, to wit: (a) establishing or maintaining a zone system of quoting or charging prices; (b) dividing the country into a number of geographical territories and establishing or fixing the same delivered price to all consumers of the same class within each territory; (c) establishing or maintaining a basing point system or pattern of pricing; (d) establishing, maintaining or using any method, practice, policy or system of quoting or charging prices; (9) fail to quote or sell and deliver corn derivatives f. o. b. each production point; or, (10) fix or maintain allowances for return of containers or unused corn derivatives; differentials for warehouse, tank car or other means of delivery to customers; charges for installation of pumping and other service facilities and for performing service functions for customers; terms and conditions for guarantee against price declines on orders of corn derivatives; terms and conditions governing the booking of orders for future delivery of corn derivatives and the lengths of time and prices at which such orders may be booked; and, II, in said connection, and on the part of said manufacturing respondents, acting, individually or otherwise so as to knowingly contribute to the maintenance or operation of any planned common course of action, agreement, understanding, combination or conspiracy between or among any two or more of the said respondents or between any one or more of said respondents and others not parties hereto through the commission of any of the acts, practices or things prohibited in the preceding parts of the order; and, III, in said connection, and on the part of said nine manufacturing respondents, and the seven subsidiaries of five of them, and their respective officers, etc., discriminating in price as between purchasers of corn derivatives of like grade and quality where the effect may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in the line of commerce in which respondents or customers of respondents are engaged, or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition with any person who either grants or knowingly receives the benefit of such discrimination; prohibited, subject to the provisions, however, that nothing contained in such order shall prevent any respondent from showing that any differentials alleged to be in violation of the provisions thereof are differentials which make only due allowance for differences in cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which such commodities are to such purchasers sold or delivered, and that when differentials are thus shown by any respondent to be justified they are not to be construed as in violation of the orders; or shall prevent any seller from rebutting a prima facie case based upon discriminations which may be practiced subsequent to the date of the order by showing that his lower price or the furnishing of services or facilities to any purchaser or purchasers was made in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor, or the services or facilities furnished by a competitor; or shall prevent price changes from time to time where in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods concerned, such as but not limited to actual or imminent deterioration of perishable goods, obsolescence of seasonal goods, distress sales under court process, or sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in the goods concerned; and subject to the further provisions, as respects parts I through III, inclusive, of the order, that nothing therein contained shall be construed as prohibiting any of the respondents from entering into such contracts or agreements relating to the maintenance of resale prices as are made lawful by the provisions of the Miller-Tydings Act; or from taking such action relating to its export sales as would be lawful under the provisions of the Webb-Pomerene Act, or, when not for the purpose nor with the tendency of lessening competition or restraining trade, from the establishment or maintenance of any lawful bona fide agreements, discussions, or other action solely between any respondent and its directors, officers and employees, or between the officers, directors or employees of any respondent relating solely to the carrying on of that corporation's sole and separate business, or between any respondent and any of its wholly owned subsidiaries.

[Cease and desist order, Corn Products Refining Company et al., Docket 5502, November 20, 1950]

In the Matter of Corn Products Refining Company, a Corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a Corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a Massachusetts Trust; A. E. Staley Manufacturing Company, a Corporation; Staley Sales Corporation, a Corporation; Clinton Industries, Inc., a Corporation; Clinton Sales Company, a Corporation; Bliss Syrup and Preserving Company, a Corporation; D. B. Scully Syrup Company, Inc., a Corporation; Penick and Ford, Ltd., Inc., a Corporation; American Maize-Products Company, a Corporation; Anheuser-Busch, Inc., a Corporation; A. A. Busch and Company, Inc., a Corporation; A. A. Busch and Company of Massachusetts, a Corporation; Southern Syrup Company, Inc., a Corporation; The Hubinger Company, a Corporation; National Starch Products, Inc., a Corporation; Union Starch & Refining Company, a Corporation; and Union Sales Corporation

This proceeding was heard by William L. Pack, trial examiner theretofore designated by the Federal Trade Commission for that purpose, upon the complaint of the Commission, and the answer of the respondents, and upon evidence which was introduced, and stipulations as to certain facts which were made on the record, before said trial examiner. Such evidence and stipulations, which followed the initiation of conferences contemplating settlement by respondents, after the filing of their answer, and their consent to the entry of a cease and desist order in the form set forth in the initial decision herein noted, were duly recorded and filed in the office of the Commission.

Thereafter the proceeding regularly came on for final consideration by the trial examiner on the complaints, answers, stipulations, evidence, proposed findings as to the facts and conclusions filed by counsel supporting the complaint (the filing of such proposals having been waived by counsel for respondents), and the proposed order to which respondents had consented; and said trial examiner having duly considered the matter, made his initial decision, comprising certain findings as to the facts, conclusion drawn therefrom, and order to cease and desist, and order of dismissal as to certain respondents.

No appeal having been filed from said initial decision of said trial examiner as provided for in Rule XXII, nor any other action taken as thereby provided to prevent said initial decision becoming the decision of the Commission thirty days from service thereof upon the parties, said initial decision, including said order to cease and desist, accordingly, under the provisions of said Rule XXII, became the decision of the Commission November 20, 1950, except, in conformity with the joint request of respondents and counsel supporting the complaint, the words "do or perform" are substituted for the words "engage in" in the language at the end of section I of the order to cease and desist in the initial decision which reads "or between any one or more of said respondents and others not parties hereto to engage in any of the following acts or practices:", so that said section I of the order to cease and desist shall read, as thus modified, as set out in the "Decision of the Commission and order to File Report of Compliance", which, dated November 20, 1950, announced the fruition of said initial decision, subject to the aforesaid modification of the order to cease and desist, and required compliance with said order to cease and desist, as hereinafter set forth.

The said order to cease and desist, as thus modified, is as follows:

Order to cease and desist. The words "corn derivatives" as used throughout this order shall mean and include the products corn syrup unmixed, pearl starch, gloss starch, powdered starch, thin boiling starch, moulding starch, refined grits, dextrin, corn sugar, refined corn oil, crude corn oil, soap-stock and mixed corn syrup, but shall not include dextrose (refined corn sugar), Amioca (starch made from waxy maize) or adhesives produced from corn derivatives through the further process of cooking or gelatinizing, or any product of a different character resulting from the further processing of any of the foregoing products defined as "corn derivatives."

I. It Is Ordered, Under the authority vested in the Federal Trade Commission by the Federal Trade Commission Act, that the respondents, Corn Products Refining Company, a corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a Massachusetts trust; A. E. Staley Manufacturing Company, a corporation; Staley Sales Corporation, a corporation; Clinton Foods, Inc., a corporation; (formerly known as Clinton Industries, Inc.); Bliss Syrup and Preserving Company, a corporation; D. B. Scully Syrup Company, Inc., a corporation; Penick & Ford, Ltd., Inc., a corporation; American Maize-Products Company, a corporation; Anheuser-Busch, Inc., a corporation; Southern Syrup Company, Inc., a corporation; The Hubinger Company, a corporation; National Starch Products, Inc., a corporation; Union Starch & Refining Company, a corporation; and Union Sales Corporation, a corporation, in or in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution of corn derivatives in commerce between and among the several States of the United States and in the District of Columbia, do forthwith cease and desist from entering into, continuing, cooperating in or carrying out any planned common course of action, agreement, understanding, combination or conspiracy between or among any two or more of said respondents or between any one or more of said respondents and others not parties hereto to engage in any of the following acts or practices:

1. Establishing, fixing or maintaining prices, terms or conditions of sale;

2. Establishing or maintaining any plan for the purpose or with the effect of informing or advising any of the respondents or any other manufacturer of corn derivatives as to prices, terms or conditions of sale at or upon which any manufacturing respondent or other seller of corn derivatives expects to sell corn derivatives;

3. Exchanging, distributing or relaying among the respondents or any of them directly or through any institute or central agency or private individual or corporation or through any other medium or central agency information as to current prices for the purpose or with the effect of fixing or maintaining prices, terms or conditions of sale for corn derivatives;

4. Exchanging, distributing or relaying among the respondents or any of them or through any other medium or control agency information, or authorizing or permitting the examination of the books or records of the manufacturing respondents by any agent or representative, concerning prices charged particular customers or information concerning sales or shipments of corn derivatives when the identity of the manufacturer, seller or purchaser can be determined or disclosed through such information and which has the capacity or tendency of aiding in securing compliance with the prices, terms or conditions of sale as announced by any one or more of the manufacturing respondents;

5. Collectively investigating, reviewing, considering or acting upon, either directly or through any medium or central agency, the act of any seller of corn derivatives in making a sale, at prices or on terms or conditions of sale different from those announced, exchanged or relayed by such seller to other respondents directly through an institute, medium or central agency or otherwise;

6. Taking any action having the purpose, capacity or tendency to aid in securing on the part of any seller of corn derivatives compliance with its announced prices, terms or conditions of sale;

7. Formulating, establishing, putting into operation or using in any way any price reporting plan which has the tendency or the effect of depriving the public of any benefit of competition; in price between or among the manufacturing respondents or between any of them and any other manufacturer or seller of corn derivatives;

8. Selecting, determining or establishing a method of quoting or charging prices for corn derivatives, to wit:

a. Establishing or maintaining a zone system of quoting or charging prices;

b. Dividing the country into a number of geographical territories and establishing or fixing the same delivered price to all consumers of the same class within each territory;

c. Establishing or maintaining a basing point system or pattern of pricing;

d. Establishing, maintaining or using any method, practice, policy or system of quoting or charging prices;

9. Failing to quote or sell and deliver corn derivatives f. o. b. each production point;

10. Fixing or maintaining allowances for return of containers or unused corn derivatives; differentials for warehouse, tank car or other means of delivery to customers; charges for installation of pumping and other service facilities and for performing service functions for customers; terms and conditions for guarantee against price declines on orders of corn derivatives; terms and conditions governing the booking of orders for future delivery of corn derivatives and the lengths of time and prices at which such orders may be booked.

II. It is further ordered, Under the authority vested in the Federal Trade Commission by the Federal Trade Commission Act, that each of the manufacturing respondents, Corn Products Refining Company, a corporation; A. E. Staley Manufacturing Company, a corporation; Clinton Foods, Inc., a corporation (formerly known as Clinton Industries, Inc.); Penick & Ford, Ltd., Inc., a corporation; American Maize-Products Company, a corporation; Anheuser-Busch, Inc., a corporation; The Hubinger Company, a corporation; National Starch Products, Inc., a corporation; and Union Starch & Refining Company, a corporation, directly or indirectly, in or in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution in commerce of corn derivatives between and among the several States of the United States and in the District of Columbia, do forthwith cease and desist from acting, individually or otherwise, so as to knowingly contribute to the maintenance or operation of any planned common course of action, agreement, understanding, combination or conspiracy between or among any two or more of the said respondents or between any one or more of said respondents and others not parties hereto through the Commission of any of the acts, practices or things prohibited in the preceding parts of this order.

III. It is further ordered, Under the authority vested in the Federal Trade Commission by section 2 (a) and section II of the Clayton Act, as amended, that each of the respondents, Corn Products Refining Company, a corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a Massachusetts trust; A. E. Staley Manufacturing Company, a corporation; Staley Sales Corporation, a corporation; Clinton Foods, Inc., a corporation (formerly known as Clinton Industries, Inc.); Bliss Syrup and Preserving Company, a corporation; D. B. Scully Syrup Company, Inc., a corporation; Penick & Ford, Ltd., Inc., a corporation; American Maize-Products Company, a corporation; Anheuser-Busch, Inc., a corporation; Southern Syrup Company, Inc., a corporation; the Hubinger Company, a corporation; National Starch Products, Inc., a corporation; Union Starch & Refining Company, a corporation; and Union Sales Corporation, a corporation, and their respective officers, representatives, agents and employees, directly or indirectly, in or in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of corn derivatives in commerce between and among the several States of the United States and in the District of Columbia, do forthwith cease and desist from discriminating in price as between purchasers of corn derivatives of like grade and quality where the effect may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in the line of commerce in which respondents or customers of respondents are engaged, or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition with any person who either grants or knowingly receives the benefit of such discrimination: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall prevent any respondent from showing that any differentials alleged to be in violation of this provision of this order are differentials which make only due allowance for differences in cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which such commodities are to such purchasers sold or delivered, and when differentials are thus shown by any respondent to be justified they are not to be construed as in violation of this order: And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall prevent any seller from rebutting a prima facie case based upon discriminations which may be practiced subsequent to the date of this order by showing that his lower price or the furnishing of services or facilities to any purchaser or purchasers was made in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor, or the services or facilities furnished by a competitor: And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall prevent price changes from time to time where in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods concerned, such as but not limited to actual or imminent deterioration of perishable goods, obsolescence of seasonal goods, distress sales under court process, or sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in the goods concerned, Provided, That nothing contained in any of the foregoing provisions of paragraphs I through III, inclusive, of this order shall be construed as prohibiting any of the respondents from entering into such contracts or agreements relating to the maintenance of resale prices as are made lawful by the provisions of the Miller-Tydings Act; or from taking such action relating to its export sales as would be lawful under the provisions of the Webb-Pomerene Act, or, when not for the purpose nor with the tendency of lessening competition or restraining trade, from the establishment or maintenance of any lawful bona fide agreements, discussions, or other action solely between any respondent and its directors, officers and employees, or between the officers, directors or employees of any respondent relating solely to the carrying on of that corporation's sole and separate business, or between any respondent and any of its wholly owned subsidiaries.

It is further ordered, That for the reasons appearing in the findings as to the facts in this proceeding the complaint be, and the same hereby is, dismissed as to respondents A. A. Busch and Company, Inc., A. A. Busch and Company of Massachusetts and Clinton Sales Company.

By "Decision of the Commission and Order to File Report of Compliance", Docket 5502, November 20, 1950, which announced fruition of said initial decision, subject to the modification of section I of the order to cease and desist as above set forth, report of compliance with the order was required as follows:

I. It is ordered, Under the authority vested in the Federal Trade Commission by the Federal Trade Commission Act, that the respondents, Corn Products Refining Company, a corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a Massachusetts trust; A. E. Staley Manufacturing Company, a corporation; Staley Sales Corporation, a corporation; Clinton Foods, Inc., a corporation (formerly known as Clinton Industries, Inc.); Bliss Syrup and Preserving Company, a corporation; D. B. Scully Syrup Company, Inc., a corporation; Penick & Ford, Ltd., Inc., a corporation; American Maize-Products Company, a corporation; Anheuser-Busch, Inc., a corporation; Southern Syrup Company, Inc., a corporation; the Hubinger Company, a corporation; National Starch Products, Inc., a corporation; Union Starch & Refining Company, a corporation; and Union Sales Corporation, a corporation, in or in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution of corn derivatives in commerce between and among the several States of the United States and in the District of Columbia, do forthwith cease and desist from entering into, continuing, cooperating in or carrying out any planned common course of action, agreement, understanding, combination or conspiracy between or among any two or more of said respondents or between any one or more of said respondents and others not parties hereto to do or perform any of the following acts or practices:

As a further part of the decision of the Commission, it is ordered that the respondents, Corn Products Refining Company, a corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a corporation; Corn Products Sales Company, a Massachusetts trust; A. E. Staley Manufacturing Company, a corporation; Staley Sales Corporation, a corporation; Clinton Foods, Inc., a corporation (formerly known as Clinton Industries, Inc.); Bliss Syrup and Preserving Company, a corporation; D. B. Scully Syrup Company, Inc., a corporation; Penick & Ford, Ltd., Inc., a corporation; American Maize-Products Company, a corporation; Anheuser-Busch, Inc., a corporation; Southern Syrup Company, Inc., a corporation; the Hubinger Company, a corporation; National Starch Products, Inc., a corporation; Union Starch & Refining Company, a corporation; and Union Sales Corporation, a corporation, shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: November 20, 1950.

By the Commission.

TITLE 24—HOUSING AND HOUSING CREDIT

Chapter VIII—Office of Housing Expediter

[Controlled Housing Rent Reg., for Atlantic County Defense-Rental Area, Amdt. 30]

PART 825—RENT REGULATIONS UNDER THE HOUSING AND RENT ACT OF 1947, AS AMENDED

ATLANTIC COUNTY

Amendment 30 to the Controlled Housing Rent Regulation for the Atlantic County Defense-Rental Area (§§ 825.61 to 825.72). Said rent regulation is hereby amended in the following respects:

1. In § 825.61 (a) the date "December 31, 1950" is changed, wherever it appears therein, to "March 31, 1951."

2. In § 825.61 (a) the proviso clause is changed further to read as follows:

Provided, however, That after March 31, 1951, said §§ 825.61 to 825.72 will apply only to housing accommodations in the Cities of Atlantic City and Linwood, the Town of Hammonton, and all unincorporated localities in Atlantic County, New Jersey.

This adds the City of Linwood, New Jersey, as a locality affected by a declaration for continuance of rent control after March 31, 1951, based on a declaration made on September 12, 1950, in accordance with section 204 (f) (1) of the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, as amended.

(Sec. 204, 61 Stat. 197, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 1894)

This amendment shall be effective as of September 12, 1950.

Issued this 26th day of January 1951.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilizaton Agency

[Administrative Order 1]

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR FOR MANAGEMENT

DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY WITH RESPECT TO BUDGET, PERSONNEL, MANAGEMENT, ORGANIZATION, AND GENERAL ADMINISTRATION

JANUARY 27, 1951.

1. Pursuant to the authority vested in me as Director of the Office of Price Stabilization, by General Order No. 2 of the Economic Stabilization Agency, I hereby establish the position of Assistant Director for Management, and delegate to it full authority to discharge the responsibilities vested in me on all matters concerning the budget, personnel, management, organization, and general administration of the Office of Price Stabilization.

2. The Assistant Director for Management is authorized to redelegate any of the authorities vested in him by this order to the extent that he deems advisable in the interest of efficient operation of the Office of Price Stabilization.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director.

Chapter VI—National Production Authority, Department of Commerce

[NPA Order M–24]

PART 23—TIN PLATE AND TERNE PLATE

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected in advance of the issuance of this order has been rendered impracticable by the fact that the order affects a very substantial number of different trades and industries.

AUTHORITY: §§ 23.1 to 23.13 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105. Sec. 2, E. O. 10200, dated January 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

§ 23.1 What this part does. The purpose of this part is to set forth the permitted uses of tin plate and terne plate, the permitted materials in those uses, and the maximum permitted coating of tin or of terne metal per single base box. This part also sets forth certain additional permitted uses, optional uses, restrictions on manufacturers, and permitted substitutions. Part 27 of this chapter (NPA Order M–8, as amended), contains certain limitations on the use of pig tin in the manufacture of tin plate and terne plate, but permits the use of tin for tin plate and terne plate in accordance with the provisions of this Order insofar as tin plate and terne plate specifications are concerned.

§ 23.2 Definitions. As used in this part:

(a) "Tin plate" means steel sheet coated with tin and includes electrolytic tin plate, hot dipped tin plate, primes, seconds, unassorted, and waste-waste.

(b) "Terne plate" means steel sheet coated with terne metal and includes short ternes (which are steel sheets coated on tin mill coating machines), long ternes (which are steel sheets coated on sheet mill coating machines), primes, seconds, unassorted, and waste-waste.

(c) "Reconditioned tin plate or terne plate" means damaged tin plate or terne plate which has been put into usable condition by recoating.

(d) "Terne metal" means a tin-bearing lead alloy used as a coating for terne plate, but does not include lead recovered from secondary sources which contains less than 1½ percent residual tin.

(e) "Waste-waste" means hot dipped or electrolytic tin coated steel sheets or steel sheets coated with terne metal which have been rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such sheets from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted.

(f) "Idle and excess inventories" means (1) inventories of tin plate accumulated at a steel mill which have resulted from overruns or materials which did not comply with the original specifications and which overruns and material has been offered for sale on the domestic market by the mill as "primes", "seconds" or "unassorted" for a period of at least 30 days prior to being declared by the mill as idle and excess; (2) inventories of tin plate in the possession of a warehouse or distributor which have been offered for sale by the warehouse or distributor on the domestic market as "primes," "seconds" or "unassorted", for a period of at least 60 days prior to being declared by the warehouse or distributor as idle and excess.

(g) "Menders" means tin plate arising in the production of electrolytic tin plate which has been rejected by the producer by reason of defects which disqualify such tin plate from sale as "primes", "seconds", or "unassorted" and which tin plate has been (1) mended into coke tin plate primes, seconds or unassorted by hot dipping in tin, or (2) mended into terne plate by hot dipping in terne metal.

(h) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

§ 23.3 Permitted uses. Tin plate, terne plate and reconditioned tin plate and terne plate may be used only for the purposes set forth in Schedule A of this part, subject to the limitations, restrictions, and conditions specified in the said Schedule A with respect to the various items and purposes.

§ 23.4 Additional permitted uses. (a) Any person may use waste-waste from electrolytic tin plate, from hot dipped tin plate, or from terne plate for any purpose which is not prohibited in List A of NPA Order M–8, as effective March 1, 1951, or as subsequently amended. In addition, any person may use tin plate or terne plate for any purpose which is not prohibited in List A of NPA Order M–8, if his total annual consumption of tin plate and terne plate does not exceed 100 base boxes.

(b) Tin plate menders arising in the production of electroytic tin plate may be used without regard to the weight of coating for any purpose where .50 pound electrolytic tin plate is permitted under Schedule A. Where menders arising cannot be used to replace .50 pound electrolytic or heavier tin plate, they may be used to replace any electrolytic tin plate.

§ 23.5 Optional uses—(a) Substitution of material with lower tin content. Wherever Schedule A permits use of tin plate or terne plate in any grade, tin plate or terne plate coated with less tin per base box may be used; or if tin mill black plate is adaptable it may be used as a substitute.

(b) Optional use of 0.25 tin plate for terne plate. Where terne plate is permitted to be used in the manufacture of an item listed in Schedule A of this part, a manufacturer may substitute electrolytic tin plate with a maximum permitted tin coating of 0.25 pound per base box for that item.

(c) Optional use of electrolytic tin plate. Where hot dipped tin plate is permitted to be used in the manufacture of an item listed in Schedule A of this part, the manufacturer may substitute electrolytic tin plate.

(d) Use of idle and excess inventories. (1) Idle and excess inventories of hot dipped tin plate may be used without regard to weight of coating for any purpose where electrolytic tin plate is permitted under Schedule A.

(2) Idle and excess inventories of electrolytic tin plate menders may be used without regard to the weight of coating for any purpose under Schedule A.

§ 23.6 Manufacture—(a) Manufacture of tin plate and terne plate. Tin plate and terne plate may be manufactured and tested as in this section provided and for the purposes set forth in Schedule A. Coating shall be determined on the basis of average spot coating tests, in the case of electrolytic tin plate, and on the basis of pot yield, in the case of hot dipped tin plate. No person may use terne metal containing more than 15 percent tin in tin mill coating machines, and for coating roofing ternes. No person may use terne metal containing more than 10 percent tin in sheet mill coating machines.

(b) Manufacture of terne metal. Secondary tin only may be used to make terne metal.

§ 23.7 Other restrictions. No person shall manufacture, sell or deliver any tin plate, terne plate or reconditioned tin plate or terne plate which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted or used in violation of the terms of this part, or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority.

§ 23.8 Certification of delivery of plate. No person shall sell or deliver any tin plate or terne plate to any person unless he has received from the purchaser a certificate signed manually. This certificate shall be by letter in substantially the following form and, once filed by a purchaser with a manufacturer, covers all future deliveries of tin plate or terne plate from the manufacturer to that purchaser:

To _____, manufacturer:

The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties for mispresentation, that he is familiar with Order M-24 of the National Production Authority, and that all purchases from you of items regulated by that order, and the acceptance of the same by the undersigned, will be in compliance with said order, and any amendments thereto.

§ 23.9 Exceptions. The restrictions in this part shall not apply to military requirements for tin plate or terne plate intended for manufacture of items of a special design or style not normally produced or used commercially, nor to tin plate or terne plate intended for manufacture of items for emergency rations and supplies for lifeboats.

The provisions of this part do not apply to use of tin plate or terne plate which is in process of manufacture or in the inventory of a consumer, or in the inventory of a manufacturer for the account of a consumer, on the effective date of this part.

§ 23.10 Application for adjustments. Any person affected by any provision of this part may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this part, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

§ 23.11 Communications. All communications concerning this part shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M-24.

§ 23.12 Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this part shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this part have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this part shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(c) Persons subject to this part shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

§ 23.13 Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this part or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this part is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this part have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This part shall take effect on January 27, 1951.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
[SEAL] MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Acting Administrator.

SCHEDULE A

Permitted use	Permitted material	Maximum permitted coating of tin or terne metal (per single base box)
1. All kitchen equipment	Electrolytic tin plate	0.25 pound per base box.
2. Food preparation and cooking equipment:
(a) Baking pans for institutions and commercial bakers.	Hot dipped tin plate	1.25 pounds per base box.
	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
(b) All other food preparation and cooking equipment.	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
3. Battery cups for electrical contact	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
4. Brushes, power driven	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
5. Cans as defined in Order M-25	As permitted by Order M-25	As permitted by Order M-25.
6. (a) Closures as defined in Order M-26	As permitted by Order M-26	As permitted by Order M-26.
(b) Closures for steel drums	Hot dipped tin plate	1.25 pounds per base box.
	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
7. Carbide nonexplosive emergency lights	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
8. Chaplets, skingates, and tin forms for foundry use.	Hot dipped tin plate	1.25 pounds per base box.
	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
9. Cheese vats	Hot dipped tin plate	1.25 pounds per base box.
10. Component parts for internal Combustion engines including air cleaners, cooling systems, fuel systems, and lubricating systems, but only where less essential material is impractical because of corrosion or solderability.	Hot dipped tin plate	3.30 pounds per base box (2A charcoal).
	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
11. Cylinder liners for lard and fruit presses	Hot dipped tin plate	1.25 pounds per base box.
12. Dairy ware and equipment including dairy pails, milk strainer pails, hooded milking pails, milk kettles, setter or cream cans, weigh cans, measures and test ware, bottle conveyors, ice cream freezers, milk filters, receiving tanks, separators, strainers, upper and lower troughs and covers for surface type heaters and coolers, and testing equipment.	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
13. Diamond cutting wheels	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
14. Dusters and sprayers, hand, for disinfectant and pest control; parts requiring solderable coatings.	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
15. Equipment or appliance parts requiring solderable coatings.	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
16. (a) Fuel tanks, except for automotive equipment.	Electrolytic tin plate	0.25 pound per base box.
	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
(b) Fuel tanks for automotive equipment.	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	6 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
17. Gas mask canisters	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate

SCHEDULE A—Continued

Permitted use	Permitted material	Maximum permitted coating of tin or terne metal (per single base box)
18. Gas meters	Hot dipped tin plate	3.30 pounds per base box (2A charcoal).
	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
19. Heat exchangers	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
20. Integral parts of signal cells—but only for current collectors and baskets.	Hot dipped tin plate	1.25 pounds per base box.
	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
21. Lining of drying chambers for milk and egg dehydration.	Hot dipped tin plate	11 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
22. Maple syrup evaporators	Hot dipped tin plate	Do.
	Reconditioned tin plate
23. Oilers (excluding cans as defined by Order M-25).	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
24. Oil lanterns and non-electric lamps	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
25. Repair parts for domestic laundry equipment.	Hot dipped tin plate	1.25 pounds per base box.
	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
26. Safety cans for inflammable liquids	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
27. Textile spinning cylinders, card screens, spools and bobbins.	Hot dipped tin plate	1.25 pounds per base box.
	Electrolytic tin plate	0.50 pound per base box.
	Reconditioned tin plate
	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
28. Torpedoes for oil and gas well shooting	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
29. Vaporizing liquid fire extinguishers	Hot dipped tin plate	1.25 pounds per base box.
	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
30. Wick holders for oil stoves	Short ternes	1.30 pounds per base box.
	Long ternes	4 pounds per base box.
	Reconditioned terne plate
31. Smoke pipe elbows and fittings	Long ternes	10 pounds per base box.
32. Hot water heater flue jacket liners and other parts exposed to flame or hot flue gases.	Long ternes	6 pounds per base box.
33. Roofing, fire doors, gutters, downspouts and fittings for same; roof flashings; exterior louvres and exterior shutters, where such flashings, louvres and shutters are to be soldered and painted.	Roofing ternes	10 pounds per base box.

[NPA Order M-8, as amended]

PART 27—TIN

This order which amends and supersedes NPA Order M-8, dated December 18, 1950, is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority of section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected in advance of the issuance of this order, has been rendered impracticable by the fact that the order affects a very substantial number of different trades and industries.

§ 27.1 What this part does. This part amends and supersedes NPA Order M-8. The purpose of this part is to describe how tin remaining after allowing for the requirements of national defense may be distributed and used in the civilian economy. It restricts the use of pig tin in manufacture, processing and construction. It prohibits all uses of pig tin, secondary tin and certain tin bearing products not expressly set forth in the attached Schedules I through VII. In addition, many of the permissible uses included in the Schedules I through VII are prohibited in connection with the manufacture of the items or for the purposes set forth in List A. The part also sets forth limitations on inventories of pig tin and alloys and other materials containing tin and explains the conditions under which reports are required in connection with the production, distribution, importation, use, and inventories of pig tin. In addition, it covers the conditions under which reporting is required in connection with the customs entry of tin importation. It is the intent of this part that other materials which are not in short supply will be substituted for tin and alloys and other materials containing tin wherever possible.

§ 27.2 Definitions. As used in this part:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Base period" means the six months period ending June 30, 1950.

(c) "Manufacture" means to melt, put into process, machine, fabricate, cast, roll, turn, spin, coat, extrude, or otherwise alter pig tin, alloys containing tin, or other materials containing tin, by physical or chemical means and includes the use of tin and alloys and other materials containing tin in plating, and in chemical compounding and processing. It does not include the use of tin contained in any "in process" materials or any other materials not actually to be incorporated into the items to be manufactured, such "in process" materials and other materials being included under paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section.

(d) "Maintenance" means the minimum upkeep necessary to continue a building, machine, piece of equipment, or facility in sound working condition, and "repair" means the restoration of a building, piece of equipment, or facility to sound working condition when the same has been rendered unsafe or unfit for service by wear and tear, damage, failure of parts, or the like; Provided, however, Neither maintenance nor repair includes the improvement of any such item with material of a better kind, quality or design.

(e) "Operating supplies" means any tin or alloy or other material containing tin normally carried by a person as operating supplies according to established accounting practice and not included in his finished product, except that materials included in such product which are normally chargeable to operating expense may be treated as operating supplies.

(f) "Import" means to transport in any manner into the continental United States from any foreign country or from any territory or possession of the United States. It includes shipments into a U. S. foreign trade zone, or bonded custody of any United States Collector of Customs (bonded warehouse) in the continental United States and shipments into the continental United States for processing or manufacture in bond for exportation. "Import" does not include shipments in transit in bond through the continental United States without processing or manufacture to Canada, Mexico or any other foreign country, or shipments through U. S. foreign trade zones to a foreign country without processing or manufacture. However, if any material in such shipments in transit in bond is, because of a change in plans, to be sold or used in the continental United States, or subjected to processing or manufacture in the continental United States, it becomes an "import" for the purposes of this order and requires the reports specified in § 27.12.

(g) "Pig tin" means metal containing 95 percent or more by weight of the element tin, in shapes current in the trade, including anodes, small bars, and ingots, but excluding the products specifically listed in Section IV of report Form NPAF–7.

(h) "Secondary tin" means any alloy, produced from scrap, which contains less than 95 percent but not less than 1.5 percent by weight of the element tin.

(i) For the purpose of the reporting requirements relating to imports stated in § 27.12 (b): "Tin" means pig tin and tin in any raw, semifinished, or scrap form, and any alloys, compounds, or other materials containing tin (where tin is of chief value) in any raw, semifinished or scrap form. This includes, but is not limited to, the following:

Babbitt metal and solder	6506.100
Alloys and combinations of lead, not in chief value lead (including lead, antimony, and white metal)	6506.900
Type metal	6507.000
Tin bars, blocks, pigs, grained or granulated	6551.300
Tin metallic scrap (except alloyed scrap)	6551.500
Tin alloys, chief value tin n. s. p. f. (including alloyed scrap)	6551.900
Tin dross, skimmings and residues	6740.170
Tin foil less than 0.006 inch thick	6790.710
Tin powder, flitters and metallics	6790.720
Tin bichloride, tin tetrachloride and other chemical compounds, mixtures, and salts, tin chief value (including tin oxide)	8380.920

NOTE: The numbers listed in the second column are commodity numbers taken from Schedule A, Statistical Classification of Imports into the United States, issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce (August 1, 1950 edition).

(j) "Copper-base alloy" for the purpose of this order means any alloy containing tin in the composition of which the percentage of copper metal by weight equals or exceeds 40 percent of the total weight of the alloy.

(k) "Scrap" means all materials or objects which are the waste or by-products of industrial fabrication or which have been discarded for obsolescence, failure, or other reason, and which contain tin or alloys or other materials containing tin in a form making such scrap suitable for industrial use.

(l) "Soldering" means joining with solder. This term does not include dipping or solder coating in which the joining operation is not performed simultaneously with such dipping or coating. (For dipping or coating see Schedule IV and Schedule VII, item 13).

(m) "Low grade" secondary tin bearing drosses, residues and scrap metal means such material having a tin content not over 10 percent and an impurity content too high for use in the production of other items for which secondary low grade tin bearing materials are permitted in the attached Schedules.

(n) "Implements of war" means combat end products, complete for tactical operations (including, but not limited to aircraft, ammunition, armaments, weapons, ships, tanks, military vehicles and radio and radar equipment), and any parts, assemblies or materials to be incorporated in any of these items. This term does not include facilities or equipment used to manufacture the items described above nor does it include any "in process" or any other materials not actually to be incorporated into the items described above.

§ 27.3 Application of part. Subject to the exemptions stated in § 27.9 this part applies to all persons who produce tin or alloys or other materials containing tin, or who use tin or alloys or other materials containing tin, in manufacture, processing, or construction, or for maintenance, repair, or operating supplies. In addition, the reporting provisions stated in § 27.12 apply to persons who produce, distribute, or hold in their possession pig tin, or who import tin.

§ 27.4 Restrictions on use of pig tin and alloys and other materials containing tin. Subject to the exemption in § 27.9, or unless specifically directed by the National Production Authority:

(a) No person shall use pig tin for any purpose where secondary tin can be used.

(b) Commencing on March 1, 1951, no person shall use any pig tin, secondary tin, solder, babbitt, copper-base alloy, or other alloy containing 1.5% or more tin, or other materials containing 1.5% or more tin in the manufacture, treatment, installation, construction of any item or product, or in any process, or for any purpose, except those set forth in the attached Schedules and to the extent permitted thereby. Uses not expressly authorized by said Schedules are prohibited.

(c) During February 1951, no person shall use in the manufacture of any item or in any process set forth in the attached List A a total quantity by weight of tin in any form specified in paragraph (b) in excess of 80% of his average monthly use of such materials for said purposes during the base period. Commencing on March 1, 1951, no person shall use tin in any form specified in paragraph (b) in the manufacture of any item or in any process set forth in List A, even though such use might otherwise be permissible under paragraph (b); provided however, that this prohibition will not apply to the use of solder for joining purposes to the extent permitted in attached Schedule II.

(d) In addition to the restrictions set forth in the attached Schedules, commencing on March 1, 1951, no person shall use: (i) In the manufacture of any product or for any purpose as to which the attached Schedules limit tin content, any alloys or other materials having a tin content greater than that being used by such person in such manufacture or for such purpose on January 27, 1951; (ii) in the coating of any item, a heavier coating in terms of tin content than that being used by such person for such purpose on January 27, 1951; or (iii) any metal to which pig tin has been added to produce any product or perform any process for which the use of pig tin is not permitted in the Schedules.

(e) Paragraphs (b) and (c) do not apply to the use of tin in any form specified in paragraph (b) of this section prior to May 1, 1951 in the completion of any item that was in the process of manufacture or production on March 1, 1951.

§ 27.5 Limitations on use of pig tin. Subject to the restrictions of § 27.4 and to the exemption in § 27.9, or unless specifically directed by the National Production Authority, no person shall put into process or otherwise use in manufacturing, treating, installation or construction during the following months, a total quantity by weight of pig tin in excess of the percentages specified with respect to each month of his average monthly use of such forms of tin during the base period:

	Percent
January 1951	100
February 1951	80
March 1951	80

§ 27.6 Maintenance, repair and operating supplies. Unless specifically directed by the National Production Authority during the calendar quarter commencing January 1, 1951, no person shall use for maintenance, repair and operating supplies a quantity by weight of pig tin in excess of 100 percent of his average quarterly use of pig tin for such purposes during the base period: Provided, however, That such use is permissible only in connection with items, products or processes included in the attached Schedules and to the extent permitted thereby. No pig tin shall be used for such purposes where secondary tin can be used.

§ 27.7 Certification. (a) No person shall sell or deliver and no person shall purchase or accept delivery of any pig tin, secondary tin, solder, babbitt containing more than 10 percent of tin, copper-base alloys containing 3.5 percent or more tin, or other alloys containing 1.5 percent or more tin, or other materials containing 1.5 percent or more tin unless the purchaser furnishes a signed certification as follows:

The undersigned certifies, subject to the penalties of Title 18, U. S. Code (Crimes), section 1001, that the tin or tin product herein ordered will be used only for the purposes permitted by NPA Order M–8 (Schedule____, item____) as follows: [1]

(Specify end use)

[1] In cases coming within the exemption stated in section 27.9, substitute the phrase "implements of war" for the reference to Schedule and item.

This certification constitutes a representation by the purchaser to the seller and to the National Production Authority that the tin or tin bearing products or materials delivered will be used either for the purpose or purposes set forth in the attached Schedules or for "implements of war," and that such use is not prohibited by other applicable orders or regulations of the National Production Authority.

(b) This certification shall not be required in connection with the delivery of: (1) Tin to the General Services Administration for the stockpile of strategic materials; (2) tin or tin bearing items or products pursuant to a specific authorization of the National Production Authority; (3) solder in lots not exceeding 2 pounds, if in wire form, solid or cored, not over 5/32" in diameter, and containing no more than 40 percent tin by weight; (4) solder in lots not exceeding 5 pounds, if in any other form and containing not more than 35 percent tin by weight; (5) babbitt in lots not exceeding 5 pounds; or (6) printing plates and type metal containing tin for use by the printing, publishing and related services industries.

(c) No person giving a certification under this section may receive, use or dispose of the materials obtained upon such certification contrary to its terms.

§ 27.8 Defense orders for items containing tin. Notwithstanding the provisions of Part 11 of this chapter (NPA Reg. 2) which establishes a priorities system, rated orders calling for items containing tin are subject to the provisions of §§ 27.4, 27.5, 27.6 and 27.7, unless within the exemption provided in § 27.9 or unless otherwise directed by the National Production Authority.

§ 27.9 Exemption. The restrictions of §§ 27.4 and 27.5 shall not apply to the manufacture of "implements of war" produced for the Department of Defense, Atomic Energy Commission, United States Coast Guard, National Committee for Aeronautics, provided that the use of tin contrary to these restrictions is required either by the latest applicable specifications or drawings, or by letter or contract issued by any such government agency for which the "implements of war" are being produced.

§ 27.10 Inventories. In addition to the inventory provisions of Part 10 of this chapter (NPA Reg. 1), it is considered that a more exact requirement applying to users of pig tin or alloys or other materials containing tin (excluding ores and concentrates) is necessary.

(a) No person obtaining any such materials for use in manufacture, processing, or construction, or for maintenance, repair, or operating supplies, shall receive or accept delivery of a quantity of the materials listed in Column A below from domestic sources if his inventory of such materials is, or by such receipt would become, more than the smallest quantity which will be required by his scheduled method and rate of operation to be put into use for such purposes during the next succeeding period specified in the corresponding section of Column B below, or (except for pig tin) in excess of a "practicable minimum working inventory" as defined in NPA Reg. 1, whichever is less:

Column A	Column B
1. Pig tin.	1. 120 days (for manufacture of tin plate); 60 days (for any other use).
2. Copper-base alloys (containing 1.5 percent or more tin).	2. 60 days.
3. Solder, babbitt, and other alloys containing 1.5 percent or more tin (except copper-base alloys).	3. 60 days.
4. All other materials containing tin.	4. 60 days.

For the purpose of this section, any such materials in which only minor changes or alterations have been effected shall be included in inventory.

(b) Section 10.11 of NPA Reg. 1, entitled "Imported materials" will continue to apply. The other provisions of this regulation will continue to apply except as modified by this section.

(c) No scrap dealer shall accept delivery of any form of scrap defined in § 27.2, unless, during the 60 days immediately preceding the date of such acceptance, he shall have made delivery or otherwise disposed of scrap to an amount at least equal in weight to his scrap inventory on the date of such acceptance, exclusive of the delivery to be accepted.

§ 27.11 Export certificates. Any purchaser of an item included in the attached Schedules who intends to export such item from the United States, its territories or possessions, or from Canada, shall include in the certification required under § 27.7 the words "for export" as well as the number of the export license applicable to such item. No item may be produced for export unless its manufacture is permitted under the provisions of § 27.4.

§ 27.12 Reports and records. (a) Reports on pig tin:

(1) Any person using 1,000 lbs. or more of pig tin in any calendar month must complete and file report Form NPAF–7 with the National Production Authority on or before the 20th day of November 1950, and on or before the 20th day of each succeeding month with respect to such use during the preceding month.

(2) Any person who on the last day of any calendar month has in his possession or under his control 1,000 lbs. or more of pig tin must complete and file report Form NPAF–7 with the National Production Authority on or before the 20th day of November 1950, and on or before the 20th day of each succeeding month with respect to such possession or control on the last day of the preceding month.

(3) Any person who produces, imports, or distributes any pig tin must report his production, entries, receipts, deliveries, inventories, balance of entries, and all other transactions in pig tin either by completing and filing report Form NPAF–7, or by letter in triplicate with the National Production Authority, on or before the 20th day of November 1950, with respect to all such operations and transactions during October 1950, and on or before the 10th of December and on or before the 10th day of each succeeding month with respect to all such operations and transactions during the preceding month.

(b) Reports on Customs Entry: No tin, including without limitation, tin imported by or for the account of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, U. S. Commercial Company, or any other United States Governmental department, agency or corporation, shall be entered through the United States Collectors of Customs unless the person making the entry shall complete and file with the Collector of Customs Form NPAF–8. The filing of such form a second time shall not be required upon any subsequent entry of the same material through the United States Collectors of Customs; nor shall the filing of such form a second time be required upon the withdrawal of such material from bonded custody of the United States Collectors of Customs, regardless of the date when such material was first transported into the continental United States. Form NPAF–8 will be transmitted by the Collectors of Customs to the National Production Authority.

(c) Records: (1) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this part shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction whether the provisions of this part have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(2) All records required by this part shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(3) Persons subject to this part shall make such records and submit such other reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

(d) All reports required by this part shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M–8, together with such number of copies as may be specified in the report form.

§ 27.13 Application for adjustments. Any person affected by any provision of this part may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that his business operation was commenced during or after the base period, or because any provision otherwise works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this part, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

§ 27.14 Communications. All communications concerning this part shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-8.

§ 27.15 Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this part or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this part is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by a fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting requirements of this part have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act.

This part, as amended, shall take effect except as otherwise specifically stated on January 27, 1951.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
[SEAL] MANLY FLIESCHMANN,
Acting Administrator.

SCHEDULES

(See § 27.4)

SCHEDULE I—BRASS AND BRONZE

A. CAST COPPER-BASE ALLOYS

Alloys containing 3.5% or more by weight of tin may be cast for the following purposes only	Maximum permissible tin content of alloys (percent by weight)
(1) Piston rings for locomotives and for airbrake equipment	(1) 20.
(2) Bridge trunnion bearings, bridge bearing plates, railroad and bridge turntable bearing discs, mill stand screw down nuts	(2) 18.
(3) High ratio worm gears, fire engine pump gears, jack nuts, feed nuts, elevating nuts, thrust washers or discs, machine tool spindle bearings	(3) 12.
(4) Hydraulic pump bodies and ends for gear pumps, grinder spindle sleeve bearings, step bearings, internal parts of industrial centrifugal pumps and injectors, collector rings, bearings and bushings	(4) 10.
(5) Bearings produced by the process of powder metallurgy	(5) 10.
(6) Steam industrial and aircraft valves, fittings and specialties	(6) 9.
(7) Tablets, markers, and memorials	(7) 3.5.
(8) All other castings	(8) 6.

B. WROUGHT ALLOYS

Pig or secondary tin may be used to make wrought alloys, but the tin content of such alloys must be limited to the amount essential for the particular purpose.

C. COPPER NICKEL ALLOYS

(1) Seats, discs, and bearing surfaces of steam and industrial valves	(1) 12.

SCHEDULE II—SOLDERS

Pig or secondary tin may be used to make solder to be used for the following purposes only. (See definition of "soldering" in section 27.4, solder coating is covered by Schedule IV, and item 13, Schedule VII.)	Maximum permissible tin content of solder (percent by weight)
(1) For soldering side seams in the manufacture of cans made with either lock or lap side seams with a combination of lock or lap seams.	(1) 5.
(2) For soldering end seams of all solder seam cans	(2) 26.
(3) For the sealing of milk cans	(3) 21.

SCHEDULE II—SOLDERS—Continued

Pig or secondary tin may be used to make solder to be used for the following purposes only. (See definition of "soldering" in section 27.4, solder coating is covered by Schedule IV, and item 13, Schedule VII.)	Maximum permissible tin content of solder (percent by weight)
(4) For a filler or smoother for automobile or truck bodies or fenders or for similar purposes.	(4) 20.
(5) Radiators	(5)
(i) All cellular type radiators (average per radiator)	(i) 21.
(ii) All fin and tube type radiators for military and civilian use (average per radiator).	(ii) 30.
(6) For all soldering on the following: railroad car and truck refrigeration; refrigeration equipment inside refrigeration compartments; aluminum refrigeration condensers, aircraft motors, electric-traction motors for railroads, street cars, mine locomotives, railway locomotives and busses (including the dipping of commutator segments); electrical precision instruments; meters; dairy equipment; food processing equipment; hospital and sterilizing equipment.	(6) Unlimited.
(7) For other hand soldering operations done either with a soldering iron or with a torch and wiping.	(7) 40.
(8) For any other soldering operations	(8) 35.

SCHEDULE III—BABBITT

Pig or secondary tin may be used to make babbitt metal or alloys used as babbitt for the following purposes only	Maximum permissible tin content of babbitt (percent by weight)
(1) For manufacture, repair, maintenance or replacement of multivane crosshead linings in locomotives or for lining aluminum crossheads and for bonding of precision bearings and all bearings included under items (2) and (3) below.	(1) Unlimited.
(2) For manufacture, repair, maintenance or replacement of connecting rods or main engine bearings for trucks, tractors, bulldozers or busses.	(2) 90.
(3) For manufacture, repair, maintenance or replacement of Diesel engines; turbines; locomotive connecting rod or coupling rod bearings; irrigation water pumping engines and equipment; industrial engines; generators and motors; compressors; pumps; vessels or other ship facilities; electric lomomotives; electric traction motor bearings; stone crusher bearings; saw mill, planing mill, and paper mill machinery.	(3) 90.
(4) For any other bearing purpose	(4) 10.

SCHEDULE IV—PLATING AND COATING

Pig tin or alloys containing tin may be used to plate or coat solely for protective or functional purposes in the following items only	Permitted use of pig tin or alloys containing tin
(1) Dairy equipment, including fluid milk shipping containers, ice cream cans, strainers, pails, and other dairy equipment.	(1) Plate, coat or retin.
(2) Equipment for preparing and handling food, including kitchen utensils, galley and mess equipment.	(2) Coat or retin only such parts as are designed to come in actual contact with food.
(3) Cutlery and flatware.	(3) Plate or coat.
(4) Copper or brass pipe and fittings:	(4)
(i) Tubing or fittings to dispense beverages or distilled water.	(i) Coat.
(ii) Tubing or fittings used as refrigeration tubing or in contact with beverages or drinking water in beverage or drinking water equipment.	(ii) Electro tin or chemically tin.

Pig tin or alloys containing tin may be used to plate or coat solely for protective or functional purposes in the following items only	Permitted use of pig tin or alloys containing tin
(5) Snap fasteners and hooks and eyes	(5) Tin or tin chemicals may be used for barrel plating or chemical plating.
(6) Copper-base alloy wire and strip:	(6)
(i) Wire—0.032" nominal diameter or finer.	(i) Coat.
(ii) Wire—larger than 0.032" nominal diameter.	(ii) Coat with alloy containing not more than 12% tin by weight.
(iii) Strip—0.0250" thick or thinner where solderable coating is required for electrical connection.	(iii) Coat. Coating limited to .0004" in thickness.
(iv) Strip—where solderable coating is required for radiators and heat exchangers.	(iv) Coat with an alloy containing not more than 15% tin by weight.
(7) Steel wire, for following purposes:	(7) Coat for purposes indicated.
(i) Liquor finishing process of fine steel bright wire.
(ii) Armature binding wire and wire for all electrical equipment and aircraft parts including aircraft wire and cable.
(iii) Wire having ultimate tensile strength of 100,000 lbs. per sq. in. for manufacture of stranded cable (not including picture wire, fishing leaders and like items) but including musical instrument strings.
(iv) Spring steel wire for use as springs where prime function of the wire is a spring and alternative coatings cannot be used (this does not include wire for spiral binding and like applications).
(v) Wire for use in manufacture of equipment for the production of textiles.
(vi) Wire for manufacture of pin tickets and tag wire in direct contact with garments and other textiles and including dry cleaning and laundry tag use, for pin type card holders and brake strand.
(vii) Beekeepers' wire for comb construction.
(viii) Wire for packaging or marking food where wire comes into actual contact with edible portions of the food.
(ix) Bookbinders' wire or preformed staple wire to be used in foot or power operated stitching machines using wire in coils or spools or preformed staples for the following:
(a) Stitching of magazines, books, booklets and pamphlets, other than those used solely for advertising purposes.
(b) Preformed containers for dairy products and other foods and for pull-up tabs for bottles and tubs only where the wire comes into direct contact with the food.

SCHEDULE IV—PLATING AND COATING—Continued

Pig tin or alloys containing tin may be used to plate or coat solely for protective or functional purposes in the following items only	Permitted use of pig tin or alloys containing tin
(7) Steel wire, for following purposes—Continued	(7) Coat for purposes indicated.
(x) Stitching wire and wire for staples to be used in hand, foot or power operated stitching machines using wire in coils or spools or preformed staples for the following:
(a) Attaching tabs and tickets to garments, other textiles, leather and imitation leather, and sheet plastics, and for attaching these items to other items or materials;
(b) Stitching and stapling in industrial manufacturing operations where tinned stitching wire or staples are required for penetration and alternative coatings cannot be used (this does not include wire for office staples, staples for tea bags, book matches or box and carton construction).
(8) Tin plate and terne plate	(8) Pig or secondary tin may be used to coat tin plate and terne metal containing not more than 15% tin to coat short ternes and roofing ternes and terne metal containing not more than 10% tin may be used to coat all other long ternes in accordance with the specification limits stated in NPA Order M-24.
(9) Sheet (other than tin plate, terne plate, or tin mill black plate), tubing, wire, foundry chaplets, etc.	(9) Lead-base alloys containing not more than 7% of tin, may be used to coat, if the alloys are derived from secondary tin only.
(10) Steel bearing shells	(10) Pig or secondary tin may be used to electro-tin to a thickness not exceeding .00006."
(11) Electrotype shells	(11) Pig or secondary tin may be used to electro-plate, electrotype shells only where such installations were operating on or before January 27, 1951.

SCHEDULE V—FOIL

Pig or secondary tin may be used to make foil for the following purposes only	Maximum permissible tin content of foil (percent by weight)
(1) Electrotypers foil	(1) 30.
(2) Soft babbitt for the preparation of industrial metallic packing.	(2) 1½.
(3) Condenser foil of dimensions .00035" by 1 inch or less	(3) 50.
(4) Condenser foil for all other condensers	(4) 15.
(5) Foil for aircraft magnetos	(5) 50.
(6) Cap liner foil for packing medicinal, pharmaceutical, and biological preparations containing chloroform or other highly volatile chemicals; and preparations containing an equivalent alcohol content in excess of 50%, and for which other types of liners cannot be used.	(6) Unlimited.

SCHEDULE VI—TIN CHEMICALS AND TIN OXIDE

A. TIN CHEMICALS

Types of tin chemicals	Permitted use
(1) Pig tin or tin chemicals (excluding tin oxide).	(1) May be used only as or for: Laboratory reagents, medicinals, or plating (to the extent permitted in other Schedules). (2) May be used for any purpose except to make items included in List A.
(2) Tin chemicals (excluding tin oxide) produced from "low-grade" secondary tin-bearing drosses, residues, or scrap metal (See definition in § 27.2).

B. TIN OXIDE

Production	Permitted use
Pig tin cannot be used to make tin oxide except when and to the extent that manufacture is specifically authorized in writing by NPA.	(1) Commencing on March 1, 1951, for the production of green, pink, yellow and red colors in amounts in any one month not in excess of 50% of the average monthly use for such purposes during the base period. (2) For the production of earthenware plumbing fixtures.

SCHEDULE VII—MISCELLANEOUS

Items	Permitted use
(1) Aluminum alloys containing tin where tin content does not exceed 7% by weight.	(1) For any purpose except to make items included in List A.
(2) Tin pipe, sheet tin and fittings to repair or maintain beverage dispensing units and their parts.	(2) May be made from pig or secondary tin provided the purchaser returns to the supplier a quantity of scrap tin with the same tin content as that supplied.
(3) Tin pipe or tubes	(3) Where required, for conducting chemically pure distilled water.
(4) Bolster metal	(4) In the manufacture of surgical instruments if the tin content of the bolster metal does not exceed 35% of tin by weight.
(5) Pipe organs for religious and educational institutions.	(5) May be manufactured, rebuilt or repaired with secondary tin taken from the inventories of organ builders or acquired from old organs.
(6) Dental amalgam alloys	(6) No restriction on tin content.
(7) Detonators and blasting caps (including electric blasting caps).	(7) Pig or secondary tin may be used to make the detonators and blasting caps and all necessary parts and accessories.
(8) Collapsible tubes	(8) Pig or secondary tin may be used in accordance with the specification limits stated in NPA Order M-27.
(9) Printing plates and type metal containing tin.	(9) May be made for use by the printing, publishing and related services industries without certification.
(10) Terne metal	(10) Terne metal containing not more than 15% of tin may be produced if made from secondary tin only.
(11) Fusible alloys and dry pipe seat rings	(11)—
(i) Dry pipe seat rings	(i) Pig or secondary tin may be used to the extent required to meet performance specifications.
(ii) Fusible alloys for safety purposes only.	(ii) Pig or secondary tin may be used to the extent required to meet minimum code requirements with respect to the operation of the product in which the alloy is to be contained.
(12) Linings for chromium plating tanks and lead anodes for chromium plating.	(12) Lead base alloys containing not more than 4% tin may be used if the alloys are derived from secondary tin only.
(13) Secondary tin bearing drosses, residues, and scrap metal containing not more than 10% tin.	(13) May be used for any purpose except to make items included in List "A."

[NPA Order M-27]

PART 101—COLLAPSIBLE TUBES

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to authority granted by Section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected in advance of the issuance of this order has been rendered impracticable by the fact that the order affects a very substantial number of different trades and industries.

101.8 Application for adjustment or exception.
101.9 Records and reports.
101.10 Communications.
101.11 Violations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 101.1 to 101.11 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105. Sec. 2, E. O. 10200, dated January 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

§ 101.1 What this part does. This part places restrictions upon collapsible tubes. Schedule A of § 101.3 specifies the amount of tin that may be contained in collapsible tubes. This amount varies according to the products packaged. Part 27 of this chapter (NPA Order M-8, as amended), contains certain limitations on the use of pig tin in the manufacturing of collapsible tubes but permits the use of tin for collapsible tubes in accordance with the provisions of the within order insofar as collapsible tubes specifications are concerned. Section 101.4 specifies the amount of aluminum which may be used in the manufacture of collapsible tubes. Part 26 of this chapter (Order M-7) will exempt from the provisions of that order restrictions on the use of aluminum for collapsible tubes.

§ 101.2 Definitions. As used in this part:

(a) "Collapsible tube" means any collapsible container in the shape of a tube made in whole or in part of tin or aluminum. The term also includes all pile pipes in whole or in part made of tin or aluminum.

(b) "Tin" means any material which contains 1.5 percent or more by weight of the element of tin.

(c) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

§ 101.3 Restrictions on use of tin for collapsible tubes. No person shall purchase, accept delivery of, or use collapsible tubes containing tin for the purpose of packaging products except as specifically permitted in this section. Products may be packaged in collapsible tubes containing tin in accordance with Schedule A, if the tin content by weight of the tube is no greater than the maximum percentages specified in said Schedule A. Regardless of these restrictions no person may use a collapsible tube for any product with a tin content greater than that used for packaging such product as of the effective date of this part. Schedule A follows:

Product	Permitted tin content of tubes.
1. Ointments and other preparations for ophthalmic use	Unlimited
2. Sulfa drugs in ointment or jelly form	Do.
3. Diagnostic extracts (allergens)	Do.
4. Morphine or hypodermic injection	Do.
5. Antibiotics and combinations of antibiotics in ointment and jelly forms and antihistamine formulations	Do.
6. (a) Medicinal and pharmaceutical preparations which are intended for introduction into the body orifices (nasal, vaginal, rectal, surgical jelly, etc.)	Not to exceed 12½% by weight of tube.
(b) Medicinal and pharmaceutical ointments (excluding unmedicated petroleum jelly and lanolin)	Do.
7. Food products for human consumption	Unlimited
8. Dental cleansing preparations	Not to exceed 5% by weight of tube.
9. Cosmetic and shaving creams	Not to exceed 3% by weight of tube.

These restrictions shall not apply to collapsible tubes containing less than 1.5 percent of residual tin. These restrictions are subject to the exceptions contained in § 101.6.

§ 101.4 Restrictions on use of aluminum in collapsible tubes. After February 1, 1951, no person shall use in the manufacture of collapsible tubes during any calendar month more aluminum than 90 percent of his average monthly use of aluminum for this purpose during the period from August 1, 1950 through November 30, 1950.

§ 101.5 Other restrictions. No person shall manufacture, sell or deliver any collapsible tubes or tube blanks which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted or used in violation of the terms of this part, or any other order or regulation of the NPA.

§ 101.6 Exceptions. The provisions of this part do not apply to the use of any collapsible tubes which are in the inventory of the packager, or in the inventory of the collapsible tube manufacturer, or goods in process of manufacture, on the effective date of this order.

§ 101.7 Certification of delivery of Collapsible tubes. No manufacturer shall sell or deliver collapsible tubes unless he has received from the purchaser a certificate signed manually. This certificate shall be by letter in substantially the following form and, once filed by a purchaser with a manufacturer, covers all future deliveries of collapsible tubes from the manufacturer to that purchaser:

To ____, manufacturer:

The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties for misrepresentation, that he is familiar with Order M-27 of the National Production Authority, and that all purchases from you of items regulated by that order, and the acceptance of the same by the undersigned, will be in compliance with said order, and any amendments thereto.

§ 101.8 Application for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this part may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this part, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

§ 101.9 Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this part shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this part have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this part shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(c) Persons subject to this part shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

§ 101.10 Communications. All communications concerning this part shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-27.

§ 101.11 Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this part or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this part is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this part have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with said Federal Reports Act.

This part shall take effect on Jan. 27, 1951.

PART 102—CANS

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected in advance of the issuance of this order has been rendered impracticable by the fact that the order affects a very substantial number of different trades and industries.

102.7 Certification of delivery of cans.
102.8 Application for adjustment or exception.
102.9 Records and reports.
102.10 Communications.
102.11 Violations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 102.1 to 102.11 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., Sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105. Sec. 2, E. O. 10200, dated January 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

§ 102.1 What this part does. This part places restrictions upon cans made of tin plate and terne plate. Schedule I sets out plate specifications for cans which vary according to the products packed. This part also limits the use of cans made of tin plate and terne plate. Cans made wholly of black plate are not restricted by this part. Part 23 of this chapter (Order M-24) permits the use of tin plate and terne plate for cans in accordance with the terms of this part. Part 27 of this chapter (Order M-8) sets forth the specifications for solder that may be used in the manufacture of cans.

§ 102.2 Definitions. As used in this part:

(a) "Can" means any unused container made in whole or in part of tin plate, terne plate or black plate, which is suitable for packing any product. The term includes any container which has a closure or fitting, made in whole or in part of tin plate, terne plate or black plate, but does not include a glass container having such a closure or fitting. The term does not include fluid milk shipping containers.

(b) "Tin plate" means steel sheet coated with tin, and includes "primes", "seconds", and all other forms of tin plate, except waste and waste-waste.

(c) "Terne plate" means steel sheets coated with terne metal and includes "primes" and "seconds". The term does not include terne plate waste-waste, or terne plate waste. "Terne metal" means the lead-tin alloy used as the coating for terne plate, but does not include lead recovered from secondary sources which contains less than 1½ percent residual tin.

(d) "SCMT" means special coated manufacturers' terneplate.

(e) "Waste" means scrap tinplate and terneplate (including strips and circles) produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing cans, and tinplate and terneplate strips produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing tinplate and terneplate. The term also includes tinplate and terneplate parts recovered from used cans.

(f) "Waste-waste" means hot dipped or electrolytic tin-coated steel sheets or steel sheets coated with terne metal which have been rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such sheets from sale as primes or seconds.

(g) "Blackplate" means steel sheets (other than tinplate or terneplate) 29 gauge (128 pounds) or lighter. The term includes can manufacturing quality blackplate (CMQ), "blackplate rejects", chemically treated blackplate (CTB), waste-waste, and waste.

(h) "Packer" means any person who uses cans for commercially packing any product.

(i) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

§ 102.3 Restrictions on use of cans. No packer shall purchase, accept delivery of, or use a can made in whole or in part of tin plate or terne plate for any purpose other than for packing products listed in Schedule I, and in accordance with the specifications set out in said Schedule I. The restrictions contained in this section and said Schedule I are subject to the exceptions of § 102.6. Schedule I is set out at the end of this part.

§ 102.4 Other restrictions. No person shall manufacture, sell or deliver any cans which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted or used in violation of the terms of this part or any other order or regulation of the NPA.

§ 102.5 Restrictions on amount that may be packed. (a) The restrictions of this section do not apply to the packing of those products which are listed in Schedule I and preceded by a single asterisk. However, the restrictions of paragraph (b) of this section do apply to products preceded by a single asterisk if such products are re-packed from other containers.

(b) During the first quarter of the calendar year 1951 and each quarter thereafter, until otherwise ordered by NPA, no packer may accept delivery of or use for packing any particular product which is listed in Schedule I and preceded by a double asterisk any cans, made in whole or in part of tin plate or terne plate, requiring more than 100 percent of the quantity by area of measurement of tin plate, terne plate and black plate which he used for packing that particular product during the corresponding quarter of 1949 or 1950. The amounts packed during each quarter shall be spread as equally as possible over each of the three months of such quarter, but no packer shall be required to take delivery of cans in less than carload lots to meet this provision.

(c) During the first quarter of the calendar year 1951 and each quarter thereafter, until otherwise ordered by NPA, no packer may accept delivery of or use for packing any other product which is listed in Schedule I any cans, made in whole or in part of tin plate or terne plate, by area of measurement requiring more than 90 percent of the quantity by area of measurement of tin plate, terne plate and black plate which he used for packing such product during the corresponding quarter of 1949 or 1950. The amounts packed during each quarter shall be spread as equally as possible over each of the three months of such quarter, but no packer shall be required to take delivery of cans in less than carload lots to meet this provision.

§ 102.6 Exceptions. (a) The plate specifications set out in Schedule I do not apply to the use of any cans which are in the inventory of a packer or in the inventory of a can manufacturer or in process of manufacture, or to tin plate or terne plate which was either in process at a tin mill, in the inventory of a tin mill for the account of a can manufacturer or in the inventory of a can manufacturer on the effective date of this part. It is the intent of this section that any tin plate or terne plate intended for use in the manufacture of cans in inventory or process as aforesaid shall be used notwithstanding the plate specifications of this part. However, the restrictions of § 102.5 are not excepted by this paragraph (a).

(b) Until March 31, 1951, .25 pound electrolytic tin plate or SCMT plate may be used in place of black plate for soldered parts on cans where facilities for soldering black plate are not available. This exception is provided to enable manufacturers to equip themselves to solder black plate.

(c) Any person whose total use of cans for packing any product in any calendar year requires less than 250 base boxes of tin plate and terne plate shall be exempt from the use limitations of § 102.5 but not from the plate specifications of Schedule I.

(d) Cans may be used to pack any product provided such product is not to be sold in the same or different form, but this does not permit the use of cans contrary to the provisions of this part for the purpose of aiding or promoting the sale of a product.

(e) (1) Orders having a properly applied DO rating are exempt from the use limitations of this part but not from the plate specifications.

(2) The restrictions in this part shall not apply to military requirements for cans of a special design or style not normally produced or used commercially, nor to cans for emergency rations and supplies for life boats.

§ 102.7 Certification of delivery of cans. No manufacturer shall sell or deliver cans unless he has received from the purchaser a certificate signed manually. This certificate shall be by letter in substantially the following form and, once filed by a purchaser with a manufacturer, covers all future deliveries of cans from the manufacturer to that purchaser:

To ----------, manufacturer:

The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties for misrepresentation, that he is familiar with Order M-25 of the National Production Authority, and that all purchases from you of items regulated by that order, and the acceptance of the same by the undersigned, will be in compliance with said order, and any amendments thereto.

§ 102.8 Application for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this part may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that his business operation was commenced during or after the base period, or because any provision otherwise works an undue of exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this part, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

§ 102.9 Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this part shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this part have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this part shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(c) Persons subject to this part shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

§ 102.10 Communications. All communications concerning this part shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C. Ref.: M–25.

§ 102.11 Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this part or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this part is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this part have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with said Federal Reports Act.

This part shall take effect on January 27, 1951.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
[SEAL] MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Acting Administrator.

SCHEDULE I—CAN SPECIFICATIONS

Columns 2 and 3 specify the weights of tincoating per base box of tinplate and terneplate which may be used for the parts of cans for the products listed in column 1. Any packer may also use for packing a listed product blackplate cans or cans with a tin coating lighter than that specified for that product. Wherever .25 lb. electrolytic tinplate is specified SCMT may be used. Tinplate menders arising in the production of electrolytic tin plate may be used without regard to the weight of coating for any purpose where .50 lb. electrolytic tin plate is permitted under this Schedule. Where menders arising cannot be used to replace .50 lb. electrolytic tin plate, they may be used to replace any electrolytic tin plate. When only a figure is given in columns 2 or 3 this means that tin plate may be used for the part and the figures given indicate the maximum weight of tin coating on each base box of plate. Reference is made to § 102.5 for restrictions on amount that may be packed and meaning of the asterisks preceding certain products.

[NPA Order M-26]

PART 103—TIN-PLATE CLOSURES

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected in advance of the issuance of this order, has been rendered impracticable by the fact that the order affects a very substantial number of different trades and industries.

Sec.

103.1 What this part does.
103.2 Definitions.
103.3 Restrictions on use of tin-plate closures.
103.4 Other restrictions.
103.5 Exceptions.
103.6 Certification of delivery of tin-plate closures.
103.7 Application for adjustment or exception.
103.8 Records and reports.
103.9 Communications.
103.10 Violations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 103.1 to 103.10 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105. Sec. 2, E. O. 10200, dated January 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

§ 103.1 What this part does. This part places restrictions upon tinplate closures. Schedule A of § 103.3 specifies the maximum tin coatings for tin-plate closures. This maximum varies according to the products packed. This part does not restrict the use of closures made of any material other than tin plate. Part 23 of this chapter (Order M–24) permits the use of tin plate for tin-plate closures in accordance with the terms of this part.

§ 103.2 Definitions. As used in this part:

(a) "Tin-plate closures" means any new sealing or covering device made of tinplate and affixed or to be affixed to a glass container, and also includes crowns made of tin plate and affixed or to be affixed to a glass or metal container, for the purpose of retaining the contents within the container.

(b) "Tin plate" means steel sheet coated with tin, and includes "primes", "seconds", and all other forms of tin plate except waste and waste-waste.

(c) "Waste" means scrap tin plate, and includes strips and circles produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing tin plate or tin-plate closures.

(d) "Waste-waste" means hot dipped or electrolytic tin coated steel sheets which have been rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such sheets from sale as primes or seconds.

(e) "Packer" means any person who uses tinplate closures for commercially packing any product.

(f) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

§ 103.3 Restrictions on use of tinplate closures. (a) No packer shall purchase, accept delivery of, or use tinplate closures for the purpose of packing products except as specifically permitted in this section. Tin plate closures may be used for packing the classes of products listed in Schedule A below if they comply with the tin plate specifications set out in said Schedule A. The tin plate specifications set out in said Schedule A indicate the maximum number of pounds per base box of tin coating permitted for the particular products listed.

(b) Schedule A:

Product	Tin plate specifications (maximum pounds of tin coating per base box)
1. All food products (excluding malt beverages and nonalcoholic beverages) if preserved in a hermetically sealed container made sterile by heat	1.50
2. Olives, pickles, relishes, sauces, vinegar, french dressing, flavoring extracts, spices, mustard, horseradish, and cherries	.75
3. All other products except malt beverages and nonalcoholic beverages	.50
4. Malt beverages, including only beer, ale, porter, near beer and mixtures thereof. Nonalcoholic beverages, including only carbonated soft drinks, noncarbonated soft drinks, unflavored carbonated waters and unflavored naturally carbonated and still waters, drinks consisting of fruit juices, vegetable juices and combinations thereof, where less than 85% by weight of such drinks is pure fruit juices, vegetable juice, or a mixture thereof, and sterilized milk drinks made with powdered milk	.25

These restrictions are subject to the exceptions contained in § 103.5.

§ 103.4 Other restrictions. (a) No person shall manufacture, sell, or deliver any tin plate closures which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted or used in violation of the terms of this part, or any other order or regulation of the NPA.

(b) In the manufacture of home canning tin plate closures, no person shall use any tin plate with a tin coating in excess of .50 lb. per base box for the manufacture of top seal lids, or in excess of .25 lb. per base box for the manufacture of bands, or jelly glass lids.

§ 103.5 Exceptions. (a) The restrictions in this part shall not apply to military requirements for tin plate closures of a special design or style not normally produced or used commercially nor to tin plate closures for emergency rations and supplies for life boats.

(b) The provisions of this part do not apply to the use of any tin plate closures which are in the inventory of the packer, or in the inventory of the tin plate closure manufacturer, or in process of manufacture, or any tin plate in inventory at a tin mill for the account of the tin plate closure manufacturer on the effective date of this part. It is the intent of this part that any tin plate intended for use in the manufacture of tin plate closures in inventory or process as aforesaid shall be used notwithstanding the provisions of § 103.3.

§ 103.6 Certification of delivery of tin-plate closures. No person shall sell or deliver tin-plate closures to a packer (except to a retail pharmacist) unless he has received from such packer a certificate signed manually. This certificate shall be by letter in substantially the following form and, once filed by a purchaser with a manufacturer, covers all future deliveries of tin-plate closures from the manufacturer to that purchaser:

To ----------, manufacturer:

The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties for misrepresentation, that he is familiar with Order M-26 of the National Production Authority, and that all purchases from you of items regulated by that order, and the acceptance of the same by the undersigned, will be in compliance with said order, and any amendments thereto.

§ 103.7 Application for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this part may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this part, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

§ 103.8 Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this part shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this part have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this part shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(c) Persons subject to this part shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

§ 103.9 Communications. All communications concerning this part shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M–26.

§ 103.10 Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this part or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this part is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

Note: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this part have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with said Federal Reports Act.

This part shall take effect on January 27, 1951.

[NPA Order M–20 as amended January 29, 1951]

PART 24—IRON AND STEEL SCRAP

This amendment to Order M–20 is found necessary and appropriate to promote the National Defense and is issued pursuant to the authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this amendment consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impracticable due to the necessity for immediate action and because the amendment affects a large number of users in different trades and industries.

This amendment affects NPA Order M–20 as follows:

It amends the present §§ 24.1, 24.2 and 24.4; eliminates the present § 24.3; redesignates as § 24.3 the present § 24.4; adds new sections designated §§ 24.4, 24.5 and 24.10; and redesignates the present §§ 24.5, 24.6, 24.7, 24.8 and 24.9, respectively, as §§ 24.6, 24.7, 24.8, 24.9 and 24.11. As amended, this part (M–20) is revised to read as follows:

Sec.

24.1 What this part does.
24.2 Definitions.
24.3 Restrictions on shippers.
24.4 Restrictions on consumers.
24.5 Allocations and directives.
24.6 Application for adjustment or exception.
24.7 Communications.
24.8 Records.
24.9 Audit and inspection.
24.10 Reports.
24.11 Violations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 24.1 to 24.11 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; Sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

§ 24.1 What this part does. This part establishes inventory limitations for iron and steel scrap and subjects such scrap to allocation to assure its distribution in the interest of national defense.

§ 24.2 Definitions. As used in this part: (a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Scrap" means all ferrous materials, either alloyed or unalloyed, of which iron or steel is the principal component, which are the waste of industrial fabrication or objects that have been discarded on account of obsolescense, failure or other reasons, including therein iron and steel rail and axles for rerolling purposes.

(c) "Shipper" means any person engaged in the business of scrap dealer, scrap broker or automobile wrecker, and any person (except a person engaged in demolition, shipbreaking or other long-term projects) engaged in any business in the course of which scrap results, accumulates, or is generated or produced.

(d) "Consumer" means any person who melts scrap in the course of manufacture of iron, steel or ferro-alloys, and includes persons engaged in the operating of blast furnaces or in the rerolling of iron or steel rails or axles. If the business of any consumer is carried on in or by more than one operating unit, each operating unit shall constitute a consumer within the meaning and intent of this part.

§ 24.3 Restrictions on shippers. (a) No shipper, in any 60-day period, may receive delivery of any scrap the total of which will have the effect of increasing his inventory working position beyond a practicable minimum working inventory or beyond the average of his inventory position during the last preceding 60-day period, whichever is the lesser: Provided, however, That the prohibition set forth in this section shall not extend to those engaged in normal seasonal accumulation of scrap for subsequent water shipments.

(b) No shipper shall accept an order for, sell or deliver scrap which, or any part of which, he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted, received, held or used in violation of any provision of this part.

§ 24.4 Restrictions on consumers. The National Production Authority from time to time may establish, with respect to the scrap inventory of consumers, limitations either greater or less than the limitations established by the provisions of Part 10 of this chapter (NPA Reg. 1). The permissible scrap inventory of a consumer which is subject to a limitation established under this section and differing from the limitation established by the provisions of Part 10 of this chapter shall for the purposes of this section be known as an emergency inventory. No customer may receive or accept delivery of scrap if his inventory thereof is, or by such receipt would become, more than a practicable minimum working inventory, or, if NPA shall have established with respect to such consumer an emergency inventory, more than such emergency inventory as of the date of the proposed receipt. In figuring his inventory a customer must include all scrap in his possession or held for his account by others, but not that held by him for the account of others.

§ 24.5 Allocations and directives. The National Production Authority from time to time may allocate scrap and specifically direct the manner and quantities in which deliveries to particular persons or classes of persons or for particular uses or classes of uses shall be made or suspended; and from time to time may issue specific directives to any person as to the source, destination, consignee or amount of scrap to be delivered or acquired by such person.

§ 24.6 Application for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this part may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this part, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

§ 24.7 Communications. All communications concerning this part shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: Order M–20.

§ 24.8 Records. Each person participating in any transaction covered by this part shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this part have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

§ 24.9 Audit and inspection. All records required by this part shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

§ 24.10 Reports. Persons subject to this part shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Public Law 831, 77th Congress, 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

§ 24.11 Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this part or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this part is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

This part as amended shall take effect on January 29, 1951.

PART 36—MOLYBDENUM

This part is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this part consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impracticable due to the necessity for immediate action and because this part affects a large number of users in different trades and industries.

Sec.
36.1 What this part does.
36.2 Molybdenum to which this part applies.
36.3 Limitation on inventory.
36.4 Placing and adjusting orders.

AUTHORITY: § 36.1 to § 36.4 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, sec. 2, E. O. 10200, dated Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

§ 36.1 What this part does. This part establishes specific inventory limitations for molybdenum. It thus supplements Part 10 of this chapter (NPA Reg. 1), but supersedes Part 10 only insofar as inconsistent therewith.

§ 36.2 Molybdenum to which this part applies. This part applies to molybdenum in pure form as metal powder or in any shape into which it may be fabricated; ferromolybdenum; molybdic oxide; calcium molybdate; other combinations of molybdenum with other elements in semi-manufactured or manufactured form, prepared for consumption in the manufacture of steel or for other purposes; and all primary chemical compounds having molybdenum as an essential and recognizable component. This part applies also to imported as well as to domestic molybdenum except where such imported molybdenum has been purchased directly by the importer from a foreign seller for the purpose of resale by the importer and not for the purpose of use by him and where such imported molybdenum remains in the possession of such importer.

§ 36.3 Limitation on inventory. No person may receive delivery of molybdenum if his inventory thereof exceeds, or by such receipt would be made to exceed, his minimum requirements for the succeeding 20 days at his then scheduled method and rate of operation.

§ 36.4 Placing and adjusting orders. No person shall place any order calling for delivery of molybdenum earlier or in quantities greater than he would be permitted to receive under § 36.3. Any person who, on the effective date of this part or at any other time, has outstanding orders for molybdenum calling for delivery earlier or in quantities greater than he would be permitted to receive under § 36.3, shall forthwith notify his supplier of the extent to which delivery cannot be accepted as scheduled, and such orders shall be accordingly adjusted.

This part shall take effect on January 27, 1951.

Chapter IX—Petroleum Administration for Defense, Department of the Interior

[Order No. 2614]

CONFIRMATION OF DEFENSE ACTIONS AND REDELEGATIONS OF AUTHORITY

JANUARY 25, 1951.

SECTION 1. Confirmations. The Petroleum Administration for Defense, established by Order No. 2591, as amended (15 F. R. 6767, 9529), and the Defense Minerals Administration, the Defense Power Administration, and the Defense Solid Fucls Administration, established by Order No. 2605 (15 F. R. 8718), are continued, and all orders and appointments made and all actions taken by appropriate officials of these agencies or by the Secretary of the Interior pursuant to Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) and Executive Order 10182 (15 F. R. 8013) are ratified and confirmed, under the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by Delegation No. 1 of the Defense Production Administrator issued pursuant to Executive Order 10200 (16 F. R. 61).

SEC. 2. Redelegations. In so far as Delegation No. 1 issued by the Defense Production Administrator pursuant to Executive Order 10200 (16 F. R. 61) vests in the Secretary of the Interior the powers redelegated by the Secretary to the Deputy Administrator of the Petroleum Administration for Defense by Order No. 2591, as amended (15 F. R. 6767, 9529) and to the respective Administrators of the Defense Minerals Administration, the Defense Power Administration, and the Defense Solid Fuels Administration by Order No. 2605 (15 F. R. 8718), those powers are again redelegated to the Deputy Administrator and to the respective Administrators under the conditions stated in those orders.

§ 206.93 Everett Harbor, Wash., and vicinity; gill nets—(a) Restricted fishing area northeast, east, and southeast of Gedney Island. (1) The regulations in this paragraph shall govern fishing with gill nets, within all tidal waters of Possession Sound, Tulalip Bay, Steamboat Slough, Snohomish River, Everett Harbor, and Port Gardner, easterly of a line extending from the most southerly point of the mainland north of the entrance to Tulalip Bay southwesterly to the most northerly point of Gedney (Hat) Island, and of a line extending from the most southerly point of Gedney Island southeasterly to the Great Northern Railway Company's oil dock (approximately latitude 47°57′30″, longitude 122°15′00″); exclusive of waters lying within the Tulalip Indian Reservation.

(2) A tug with tow, whose intended course will take it through waters occupied by gill net gear, shall sound one long blast, followed by two short blasts, of a whistle or horn, and during darkness or fog shall, in addition, indicate its intended course by directing a searchlight beam on such course. Gill net fishermen operating within the indicated course of the tug shall draw in their gear or otherwise maneuver to permit passage of the tug and its tow without hindrance or unreasonable delay.

(3) A tug without tow, if unable to determine the lay of the nets and doubt exists aboard the tug as to the best course to take, may request assistance of the nearest gill net boat which shall, without delay, drop its net and pilot the tug through. If assistance of a pilot boat is not obtainable, or if nets are so concentrated as to make it impracticable to lay a course through the nets, the tug shall proceed as indicated in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph for a tug with tow, and nets shall be lifted or maneuvered out of the way to permit passage of the tug without hindrance or unreasonable delay.

(4) A boat with at least one man in it capable of controlling the net shall be in constant attendance upon each net while it is laid out, except when providing pilot service as provided in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(b) Prohibited fishing area in Possession Sound between Mukilteo and Columbia Beach. Fishing with gill nets is prohibited within 440 yards on each side of a straight line connecting the ferry landings at Mukilteo and Columbia Beach.

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans' Administration

PART 21—VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION AND EDUCATION

SUBPART B—EDUCATION AND TRAINING

1. Section 21.210 is amended to show new material, and material formerly appearing in § 21.210 is revised and redesignated § 21.210a.

§ 21.210 Authority to make arrangements with establishments for training on the job under Part VII, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended (38 U. S. C. ch. 12 note). (a) The chief of education and training is authorized to make arrangements and agreements with establishments, private and public, within his regional territory to furnish training on the job, including apprentice training, as a means of accomplishing the vocational rehabilitation of disabled veterans as provided by Part VII, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended where, in addition to meeting the applicable criteria set forth in § 21.211 (a) (1) through (10), the establishment:

(1) Agrees to furnish to the Veterans' Administration monthly a statement in writing as required by paragraph 3, Part VII, showing wages, compensation, and other income paid directly or indirectly to each trainee during the month; and

(2) Signs an agreement to train on the job disabled veterans under Public Law 16, 78th Congress, as amended.

(b) For purposes of Part VII, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, a joint apprenticeship committee or similar labor-management committee may be recognized as a training institution where the committee has been charged with the responsibility for controlling training programs in a standard apprentice course for a given craft and where it is found that the establishments which such committee utilizes for training actually are qualified to provide a satisfactory course of training on the basis of the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section and § 21.211, and the joint committee is performing in a satisfactory manner the functions delegated to it.

(c) Agreements with establishments for training veterans under Part VII, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended will be executed as the need develops for a definite course or courses and when there is reasonable assurance that the establishment will be utilized. The agreement may cover any or all courses offered by the establishment which it is expected will be utilized even though the need for all such courses is not present at the time the agreement is executed.

§ 21.210a Basis for selection. The training officer will select a satisfactory training facility for each veteran assigned to him, based upon the requirements of the prescribed course modified by the assets, qualifications, and limitations of the particular veteran, including those imposed by his disability.

2. In § 21.211 (a), the introduction and subparagraphs (2) and (6) are amended, and in paragraph (c), subparagraph (1) is amended and subparagraph (2) is deleted, so that the amended material reads as follows:

§ 21.211 Factors to be considered in selecting the facility—(a) Criteria which must be met by the training facility. Trainees are to be placed only in training facilities with which there is an agreement or contract to train disabled veterans and which:

* * * * *

(2) Have fully accepted the obligation to give training in the significant constituent parts of the training program which has been prepared for the particular veteran.

* * * * *

(6) Provide daytime courses in accord with § 21.202 (a) for the trainee except where necessary courses cannot be obtained during the working hours of the day. Evening courses will not be permitted except where satisfactory daytime courses are not available and the evening course is in full accord with § 21.202 (a) or where the evening course is prescribed as related instruction supplementing daytime on-the-job training.

* * * * *

(c) Ownership or control by veteran or relatives. A proprietary school or training-on-the-job establishment in which the veteran or a close family relative of the veteran has control or a pecuniary interest ordinarily shall not be selected as an appropriate training facility for training that veteran except where the chief of education and training determines that, beyond any reasonable doubt, another facility in which such control does not exist and which is satisfactory is not available and the social and economic relationship of teacher to the veteran, who will be the pupil, will be satisfactory for the efficient promotion of learning activities. Where, in spite of the foregoing, a veteran is inducted into training at a school or establishment in which the veteran or a close family relative has control, a clear statement will be placed by the chief of education and training in the veteran's training subfolder demonstrating the propriety of such action.

3. In § 21.220, paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

§ 21.220 Conditions to be met before induction into training. * * *

(b) When there has been obtained and is waiting to be utilized a training facility which, on the basis of adequate investigation by the education and training section, is clearly qualified as to space, equipment, instructional material, and personnel to give the required course and has agreed to cooperate fully with the Veterans' Administration in accomplishing records of the trainee's attendance, performance, and progress in training, and, in the case of training on the job, to report to the Veterans' Administration monthly as required by the law any payments of money to the trainee;

* * * * *

4. Section 21.221 is amended to read as follows:

§ 21.221 Additional conditions to be met prior to induction into training in a school. Veteran trainees will not be entered into training in a school under Part VII, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended (38 U. S. C. ch. 12 note), until a contract or a written memorandum agreement with the school has been negotiated. Where a veteran's interests and rights under Part VII will be jeopardized by withholding him from training because of the absence of a contract, and the contract cannot be completed immediately, and there is no question of the merits of the school being adequate, and indications are that the contract eventually will be completed, the chief of education and training will make urgent request upon the chief of training facilities to effect immediately the necessary memorandum agreement to permit the induction of the veteran.

5. Section 21.288 is amended to read as follows:

§ 21.288 Reentrance after discontinuance. When a veteran, whose training was discontinued under one of the conditions set forth in § 21.283, applies for reentrance into training under Part VII, Veterans' Regulation 1 (a), as amended (38 U. S. C. ch. 12 note), due consideration will be given to the facts in the individual case, and, if the facts warrant, the veteran may be reentered into training: Provided, That the veterans' disability rating has not been reduced to less than a compensable degree and, following that determination, need for vocational rehabilitation is reestablished: And provided further, That the veteran may not be reentered into training for an employment objective other than that for which he was pursuing training at the time of discontinuance except where it is clear that a change of employment objective is necessary because (a) for the veteran to resume training for the previous objective would result in failure to accomplish bona fide vocational rehabilitation for reasons not within the veteran's control, or (b) although the veteran could successfully resume training for the previous employment objective it is determined that another employment objective requested by the veteran is more in keeping with the veteran's interests and aptitudes and will not require any greater period of time for completion than the previous employment objective: And provided further, That where the veteran withdrew from training because his request to change his employment objective was denied, the veteran may not be reentered into training for the employment objective which was denied except where it is found that on the basis of all the facts in the case the denial to change employment objective was erroneous or that, although the denial was not erroneous at the time it was made, the veteran's disability has undergone such unfavorable change as to make the previous employment objective incompatible with the veteran's disability and the employment objective which was denied now is compatible.

(Sec. 2, 46 Stat. 1016, sec. 7, 48 Stat. 9, sec. 2, 57 Stat. 43, as amended, sec. 400, 58 Stat. 287, as amended; 38 U. S. C. and Sup. 11a, 701, 707, ch. 12 note. HANDLING OF IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN MASSACHUSETTS, RHODE ISLAND, CONNECTICUT, NEW HAMPSHIRE, AND VERMONT

EXEMPTION CERTIFICATES AND SAFEGUARDS

Notice is hereby given that the Secretary of Agriculture is considering the approval of rules and regulations, hereinafter set forth, which were recommended by the New England Potato Committee, established under Order No. 20 (15 F. R. 7349), regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Hampshire, and Vermont, issued under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

Consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto mailed in triplicate to the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., so as to be received by him not later than 15 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed rules and regulations are as follows:

Sec.
920.101 Definitions.
920.102 Area determinations.
920.103 Exemption certificates.
920.104 Safeguards for special purpose shipments.

AUTHORITY: §§ 920.101 to 920.104 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c.

§ 920.101 Definitions. For the purposes of §§ 920.101 to 920.104, inclusive, order means Order No. 20 (§§ 920.1 to 920.92; 15 F. R. 7349) regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the States of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Hampshire, and Vermont, and the terms used in such sections shall have the meanings set forth in §§ 920.1 to 920.92.

§ 920.102 Area determinations. (a) "Immediate area of production" is synonymous with "districts"; and (b) "Immediate shipping area" means the "district" wherein the potatoes to be covered by a handler exemption will be first handled under such exemption.

§ 920.103 Exemption certificates—(a) Application. Each producer and handler applying for exemption from regulations issued pursuant to § 920.53 shall file such application with the committee, or its duly authorized agent for such purpose, on forms to be furnished by the committee. Each application shall state the name and address of the applicant; the grade, size, and quality regulations from which exemption is requested, and facts demonstrating that the potatoes, for which exemption is requested, were adversely affected by acts beyond his control or by acts beyond the applicants reasonable expectation. Each application for an exemption certificate must be accompanied by a Federal-State Inspection Certificate or Certificates covering the lot or lots of potatoes for which exemption is requested: Provided, That the committee may authorize the submission of such Federal-State Inspection Certificates subsequent to the filing of the applications for exemption and prior to consideration of such applications. In addition, applications shall set forth such additional information as the committee may find necessary in making determinations with respect thereto, including, without limitation thereto, the information required on producer applications by subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, and the information required on handler applications by subparagraphs (3) and (4) of this paragraph:

(1) The location of the farm or farms on which potatoes for which exemption is requested were produced, or, if such potatoes are stored, the location of the storage where such potatoes are held, the location where such potatoes are to be processed, and the loading point from which such potatoes are to be shipped if exemption is granted;

(2) Acreage and quantity (by grade, size, quality, and variety) of potatoes harvested prior to the date of application and to be harvested, subsequent to such date, during the remainder of the season or specific portion thereof (as may be determined pursuant to the order); the quantity (by grade, size, quality, and variety) of potatoes disposed of prior to the date of application and to be disposed of subsequent to such date; the location of the potatoes to be disposed of, together with the place where such potatoes will be first handled; an estimate of the portion of such potatoes which can be handled under regulations issued pursuant to § 920.53, during the remainder of the season or specific portion thereof (as may be determined pursuant to the order); and the reasons why all of such potatoes cannot be handled under such regulations;

(3) The quantity (by grade, size, quality, and variety) of potatoes acquired by the applicant and stored during and immediately following the digging season, with appropriate identification of the location of individual storage bins, and a statement as to the reasons why the specified quantity of such potatoes remaining in storage cannot be handled under regulations in effect on and subsequent to the date of the application;

(4) The quantity (by grade, size, quality, and variety) of potatoes acquired by the applicant and stored during and immediately following the digging season, which were handled prior to the date of the application;

(5) Any applicant who is a producer of potatoes and a handler of potatoes produced by others may be required by the committee to distinguish between his producer and handler operations in submitting reports and data with respect to his applications for exemption.

(b) Investigation of applications. The committee may authorize investigations of applications by its employees, Federal-State inspectors, and such other persons as may be necessary to procure adequate information to pass upon the merits of such applications.

(c) Issuance. (1) The committee, or its duly authorized agents, shall give prompt consideration to all statements and facts relating to each application for exemption, and, pursuant to applicable provisions of the order, a determination shall be made as to whether or not the application is approved. The determination, if approving the application, shall be evidenced by the issuance of a certificate of exemption pursuant to § 920.71: Provided, That more than one certificate may be issued, at the request of an applicant, where the applicant ships or causes to be shipped the total quantity of exempted potatoes in more than one lot, in which case each certificate so issued shall be limited to the quantity of exempted potatoes to be contained in the respective lots shipped and the total quantity of exempted potatoes covered by such certificates shall not exceed the total quantity of such potatoes which would be authorized if only one certificate were issued to such applicant.

(2) The applicant shall be notified in writing if his request for exemption is denied.

(3) Each exemption certificate issued pursuant to this subpart shall be on a form duly approved by the committee and signed by an authorized representative of the committee. At least one copy of each exemption certificate issued shall be retained in the committee records. Each such certificate shall contain the name and address of the recipient, the location of all potatoes authorized to be shipped thereunder, the quantity (by varieties, grade, size, and quality) of potatoes which will be permitted in the exempted shipments, and such other information as may be deemed necessary by the committee to provide the committee, the recipient, or both, with adequate and specific information regarding such exempted potatoes.

(d) Disposition of certificates and reports. (1) Each lot of potatoes handled under an exemption certificate shall be accompanied by such certificate or by such appropriate identifying information with respect to such certificate as the committee may require to facilitate the administration of regulatory provisions applicable thereto.

(2) Handlers of potatoes exempted from regulation under exemption certificates shall, at such time as may be specified in such certificate, report thereon to the committee the names and addresses of persons to whom such potatoes were shipped, the quantity shipped, the grades, sizes, and qualities (by varieties) of potatoes so shipped, the inspection certificates issued with respect thereto, the dates of such shipments, and such other information as may be requested by the committee in order to administer the regulatory provisions applicable thereto.

(e) Appeals. If any applicant is dissatisfied with the determination of the committee regarding an application for an exemption certificate, or any duly issued exemption certificate, an appeal by such applicant may be taken to the committee in accordance with § 920.72.

§ 920.104 Safeguards for special purpose shipments—(a) Application for Certificates of Privilege. (1) All handlers desiring to make shipments of potatoes for the following purposes shall, prior thereto, apply to the committee for and obtain a Certificate or Certificates of Privilege permitting such shipments:

(i) Seed;

(ii) Export;

(iii) Livestock feed, except dyed potatoes distributed for livestock feed by the Federal Government; and

(iv) Manufacture or conversion into potato chips or potato salad.

(2) Applications for Certificates of Privilege shall be made on forms furnished by the committee. Each application shall contain the name and address of the handler, and such other information as the committee may require, such as, but not limited to, the quantities and varieties of potatoes to be shipped, the grades, sizes, and quality to be shipped, the mode of transportation, name of consignee, destination, and other appropriate information or documents necessary to safeguard against the entry of such potatoes into trade channels other than those for which the Certificate or Certificates are granted.

(b) Issuance. The committee, or its duly authorized agents, shall give prompt consideration to each application for a Certificate of Privilege and, pursuant to applicable provisions of the order, shall determine whether the application is approved. Approval of an application shall be evidenced by the issuance of a Certificate of Privilege authorizing the applicant named therein to ship potatoes for a specified purpose for a specific period of time.

(c) Reports. Each handler shipping potatoes under and pursuant to a Certificate of Privilege shall, 24 hours after each such shipment is made, supply the committee with a report thereon (except shipments of less than 10,000 pounds which shall be reported within 7 days after such shipment), showing the name and address of the shipper, car or truck license number, Federal-State Inspection Certificate number, loading point, destination, and consignee.

(d) Denial and appeals. The committee may rescind a Certificate or Certificates of Privilege, issued to a handler pursuant to this section, or deny Certificates of Privilege to a handler, upon proof, satisfactory to the committee, that such handler has shipped potatoes contrary to the provisions of this section. Such committee action denying a Certificate or Certificates of Privilege shall apply to and not exceed a reasonable period of time as determined by the committee. Any handler who has been denied a Certificate of Privilege, or who has had a Certificate of Privilege rescinded, may appeal to the committee for reconsideration. Such appeal shall be in writing.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of January 1951.

SPECIAL INDUSTRY COMMITTEE FOR VIRGIN ISLANDS

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING FOR PURPOSE OF RECEIVING EVIDENCE TO BE CONSIDERED IN RECOMMENDING MINIMUM WAGE RATES FOR EMPLOYEES

In conformity with sections 5 and 8 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (sec. 5, 8, 63 Stat. 911, 915; 29 U. S. C. 205, 208), and in accordance with § 511.11 of the regulations, issued pursuant thereto (Title 29, Chapter V, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 511), notice is hereby given to all interested persons that a public hearing will be held at the time and places hereinafter specified, for the purpose of receiving evidence to be considered by the Special Industry Committee for the Virgin Islands appointed by Administrative Order No. 409 (16 F. R. 584), in determining the highest minimum wage rates for all employees in said islands who, within the meaning of said act, are "engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce," which, having due regard to economic and competitive conditions, will not substantially curtail employment and will not give any industry in the Virgin Islands a competitive advantage over any industry in the United States outside of the Virgin Islands.

By Administrative Order No. 409, the Special Industry Committee for the Virgin Islands is charged, in accordance with the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, and rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, with the duty of investigating conditions in the industries in the Virgin Islands and of recommending to the Administrator minimum wage rates which may not be higher than 75 cents per hour for all employees in the Virgin Islands who within the meaning of said act are "engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce" excepting employees exempted by the provisions of section 13 (a) and employees coming under the provisions of section 14. Before any minimum wage rates recommended by the Committee are made effective, a public hearing will be held pursuant to section 8 of the act, at a time and place to be announced by the Administrator, and at which all interested persons will have an opportunity to be heard.

Administrative Order No. 409 directed the Special Industry Committee for the Virgin Islands to proceed to investigate conditions and to recommend to the Administrator minimum wage rates for all employees in the industries in said islands and in such order as the Committee may elect.

The public hearing for the purpose of receiving evidence to be considered by the Committee in determining the highest minimum wage rates for all employees in the Municipality of St. Thomas and St. John, Virgin Islands, will be held beginning on February 20, 1951, at 10:00 a. m. in the Municipal Council Chamber, Charlotte Amalie, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

The public hearing for the purpose of receiving evidence to be considered by the Committee in determining the highest minimum wage rates for all employees in the Municipality of St. Croix, Virgin Islands, will be held at such time during the subsequent week, as shall be designated by the Chairman, in the Federal Court Room, Christiansted, St. Croix, Virgin Islands.

Any person who, in the opinion of the Committee or its duly authorized subcommittee, has a substantial interest in the proceeding and is prepared to present material pertinent to the question under consideration, may appear on his own behalf or on behalf of any other person. Persons wishing to appear are requested to file with Russell Sturgis, Territorial Director of the Wage and Hour Division, New York Department Store Building, Post Office Box 3906, Santurce 29, Puerto Rico, not later than February 13, 1951, a notice of intention to appear. A copy of such notice must also be filed by such persons with the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C., on or before the same date. The notice of intention to appear should contain the following information:

1. The name and address of the person appearing.

2. If he is appearing in a representative capacity, the name and address of the person or persons whom, or the organization which, he is representing.

3. The approximate length of time which his presentation will consume.

All testimony will be taken under oath and subject to reasonable cross-examination by any interested person present. Testimony so received will be offered as evidence at the public hearing to be held on such minimum wage recommendations as the Special Industry Committee for the Virgin Islands may make.

Written statements of persons who cannot appear personally will be considered by the Committee provided that such statements are sworn and that at least nine copies thereof are received not later than February 20, 1951, at the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor, New York Department Store Building, Post Office Box 3906, Santurce 29, Puerto Rico. Any person appearing at the hearing who offers written material must submit nine copies thereof.

Signed at St. Thomas, V. I., this 26th day of January 1951.

JOHN P. SCOTT,
Chairman,
Special Industry Committee for the Virgin Islands.

POSITION LIGHT SYSTEM ON TRANSPORT CATEGORY AIRPLANES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Pursuant to authority delegated by the Civil Aeronautics Board to the Bureau of Safety Regulation, notice is hereby given that the Bureau will propose to the Board a Special Civil Air Regulation in substance as hereinafter set forth.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in duplicate to the Civil Aeronautics Board, attention Bureau of Safety Regulation, Washington 25, D. C. All communications received by February 15, 1951, will be considered by the Board before taking further action on the proposed rule. Copies of such communications will be available after February 19, 1951, for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

Sections 4b.632 through 4b.635 of the current Civil Air Regulations prescribe requirements for the position light system on airplanes of the transport category. Experience has shown the need for improvements in the present system, and recent demonstrations conducted by the Civil Aeronautics Administration indicate that new systems, requiring material changes in design, are promising and warrant further experimentation. When, as a result of this experimentation, a more satisfactory position light system is decided upon, it is planned to adopt new requirements domestically and to solicit modification of current international standards.

One improvement, however, in the operation of the present system, involving only minor mechanical adjustments, is believed to be of immediate value and worth testing in practice. Accordingly, while research and experimentation develop other improvements or new systems, it is proposed to allow an increase in flash rates in the present dual circuit position light system.

This Special Civil Air Regulation is intended to authorize for a temporary period, subject to the approval of the Administrator, experiments generally with position light systems, and the use, in particular, of flash rates with frequencies of 80, plus or minus 10, cycles per minute in the present system. In the interest of safety, the public as well as the armed forces and the aviation industry must be kept fully apprised of the experiments as conducted and with the practices resulting therefrom. For this reason the Administrator is authorized to require those conducting the experiments to assist the Civil Aeronautics Administration in making their experiments and practices widely known.

It is therefore proposed to promulgate a Special Civil Air Regulation to read as follows:

Contrary provisions of the Civil Air Regulations notwithstanding, any scheduled air carrier may, subject to the approval of the Administrator, (1) utilize, while operating the present position light system as established in Part 4b of the Civil Air Regulations, a flashing sequence which provides flashing rates of 80, plus or minus 10, cycles per minute for each forward position and fuselage light and flashing rates of 40, plus or minus 5, cycles per minute for each rear position light; and (2) engage, while operating aircraft in scheduled or other service, in similar experiments which are designed to improve the present position light system and which are not likely to cause confusion in air navigation. The Administrator shall prescribe such conditions and limitations as may be necessary to assure safety and avoid confusion in air navigation and shall require each carrier to disclose publicly its experiments and practices at times and in a manner which he deems consistent with the best interests of safety.

This regulation shall terminate January 1, 1953, unless sooner superseded or rescinded.

This regulation is proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended. The proposal may be changed in the light of the comment received in response to this notice of proposed rule making.

[Docket No. 9827]

AERONAUTICAL SERVICES AND RADIO STATIONS IN ALASKA

ORDER EXTENDING TIME FOR FILING COMMENTS

In the matter of extension of time within which to file reply comments or briefs concerning amendment of Part 9, rules and regulations governing Aeronautical Services, to provide for aviation service in Alaska, and amendment of Part 14, rules governing Radio Stations in Alaska, to delete the subpart thereof entitled "Aviation Service"; Docket No. 9827.

The Commission having on November 13, 1950, adopted a notice of proposed rule making in the above designated docket in which December 31, 1950, was set as the time within which comments were to be filed and 30 days thereafter as the last day for filing comments in reply to the original ones;

It appearing, that one of the interested persons petitioned the Commission for waiver of the December 31, 1950, closing date in order to enable it to file its comments; and

It further appearing, that such a waiver has been granted; and

It further appearing, that, in view of this waiver, it is desirable to extend the time within which comments or briefs in reply to the original comments or briefs may be filed, the authority for which is contained in sections 4 (i) and 303 (r), of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended;

It is ordered, This 18th day of January 1951, that the time within which to file such reply comments or briefs in the above entitled matter be and the same hereby is extended to February 20, 1951.

[Case No. 94]

KERSTEN SHIPPING AGENCY, INC.

DECISION OF APPEALS BOARD

In the matter of Kersten Shipping Agency, Inc., 36 Bridge Street, New York 4, New York, on appeal; Docket FC-9, O. I. T. Case No. 94.

Upon reading the transcript of the hearing held in New York, New York, September 14, 1950, by Milton M. Thompson, Compliance Commissioner, together with the exhibits introduced in evidence at said hearing, the report and recommendations, dated November 17, 1950, of said Commissioner to John C. Borton, Assistant Director for Export Supply, Office of International Trade, the order suspending license privileges, dated December 19, 1950 (15 F. R. 9399), issued by said John C. Borton thereon, and upon oral arguments of counsel for Office of International Trade and appellant before the Appeals Board in Washington, D. C., January 15, 1951, upon appeal from said order suspending license privileges, the Appeals Board finds as follows:

(1) That the findings and recommendations contained in the report of the Compliance Commissioner, November 17, 1950, are justified by the evidence; and,

(2) That the provisions of the order suspending license privileges, dated December 19, 1950, are appropriate in view of the nature of the violations disclosed.

In considering justification for the suspension ordered, the Appeals Board took note of that portion of the report of the Compliance Commissioner wherein he stated: "This is not a case in which a forwarder is held under a duty to make independent investigations even when no suspicious circumstances exist, but rather a case in which the suspicious circumstances were in fact known but disregarded." "* * * that the violations were relatively minor and suspension should be rather limited," * * * "it is quite possible that they believed they were resorting to avoidance as distinguished from evasion of the regulations."

However, the evidence clearly showed that during a period of about four consecutive working days the appellant, as freight forwarder, handled three transactions for other respondents cited in the Compliance Commissioner's report involving the export shipment of galvanized steel sheets, valued at amounts each approaching the then $1,000 limit for GLV shipments; received powers of attorney from two of these respondents; caused the transfer from a railroad to a dock of a single shipment of steel sheets from which then were taken the sheets necessary to fill the GLV shipments mentioned above; and arranged for export of all of the above shipments to the same consignee, on the same vessel, at the same time. Within six days after the above transactions took place the appellant billed one of the above respondents for his total services for handling all three shipments.

Appellant contends that these transactions were the acts of an employee. However, this employee holds a position of responsibility and is an officer of the appellant and the appellant is clearly responsible for his acts.

The Appeals Board concurs with the above quoted statements of the Compliance Commissioner but in addition notes that one of the appellant's contentions is that his fees amounted to less than $10.00 per shipment and it is apparent to the Board that appellant feels that the "irregularity" is to be measured by a sum of less than $30.00 when in fact, because of this split shipment, approximately 32,000 lbs. of galvanized steel sheets was exported in violation of Government regulations established in the interest of national security. The Board feels that appellant's disregard of control regulations as applied to freight forwarders has been in such degree that the suspension ordered is justified.

Now, therefore, it is ordered, That: The appeal of Kersten Shipping Agency, Inc. be and is hereby denied and the order suspending license privileges is in all respects sustained.

FREDERIC W. OLMSTEAD,
Chairman, Appeals Board.

[Administrative Order 410]

SPECIAL INDUSTRY COMMITTEE FOR VIRGIN ISLANDS

APPOINTMENT OF MEMBER

Amending Administrative Order No. 409 Appointing Special Industry Committee for the Virgin Islands.

On January 16, 1951 by Administrative Order No. 409, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 23, 1951 (16 F. R. 584), I created a Special Industry Committee for the Virgin Islands and charged it with the duty of investigating conditions in the industries in the Virgin Islands and of recommending minimum wage rates for employees in such industries. By such order, I appointed two persons representing employees in the industries in such islands, two persons representing employers in such industries, and one disinterested person representing the public, and indicated that a resident of the continental United States would be appointed to said committee as a second representative of the public.

Now, therefore, pursuant to authority under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.), I hereby appoint James C. Hill, Pelham Manor, New York, as a member of said Committee representing the public, to serve in the same manner and with the same duties as the appointees named in Administrative Order No. 409; and said order is hereby amended accordingly.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of January 1951.

HOFFMAN ANSWERING SERVICE AND NEWTON Z. WOLPERT

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATIONS FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re applications of John B. Hoffman, d/b as Hoffman Answering Service, for construction permit, Docket No. 9882, File No. 149-C2-P-51; and Newton Z. Wolpert, for modification of license to change frequencies in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at St. Paul, Minnesota; Docket No. 9883, File No. 420-C2-ML-51.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of January 1951;

The Commission, having under consideration the application of John B. Hoffman for authorization to construct a radio station to provide mobile radiocommunication service on the frequencies 152.03 Mc. and 158.49 Mc. in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at St. Paul, Minnesota, and the application of Newton Z. Wolpert for authorization to modify his existing license for radio station KAA285 to provide mobile radiocommunication service on the frequencies 152.03 Mc. and 158.49 Mc. in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at St. Paul, Minnesota; and

It appearing, that in accordance with the Commission's report and order in Dockets Nos. 8658, et al., dated April 27, 1949, and § 6.409 of the Commission's rules governing Public Radiocommunication Services (other than Maritime Mobile), each frequency available for assignment in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service is normally assigned exclusively to a single applicant in any service area in order to permit the rendition of service on an interference-free basis, and that such applications are mutually exclusive; and

The Commission, also having under consideration a petition filed December

13, 1950, by John B. Hoffman requesting dismissal of the instant application of Newton Z. Wolpert pursuant to the provisions of § 1.363 (a) of the Commission's rules, or, in the alternative, requesting issuance to John B. Hoffman of a conditional grant of construction permit, pursuant to the provisions of § 1.365 (e) (1) and (2) of the Commission's rules; and having also under consideration the response to said petition filed by Wolpert on December 26, 1950; and

It appearing, that § 1.363 (a) of the Commission's rules is not applicable to the instant application of Wolpert; and

It further appearing, that the public interest requires the prompt establishment of mobile radiocommunication service in the St. Paul area on the frequencies 152.03 Mc. and 158.49 Mc. in order that continuity of service may be maintained for the public presently served on such frequencies, pending the determination of the issues in this proceeding;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to the provisions of section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-entitled applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding to be heard in Washington, D. C., at a time and place to be hereafter designated, upon the following issues:

(1) To determine the legal, technical and financial qualifications of John B. Hoffman to construct and operate the proposed station, and the technical and financial qualifications of Newton Z. Wolpert.

(2) To determine the nature, type and scope of service proposed to be provided by each applicant.

(3) To determine the area which may be expected to receive service from the proposed stations and the need for such service in the area proposed to be served.

(4) To determine the facts with respect to the proposed facilities, personnel, rates, regulations, practices and services of each applicant for the furnishing of radiocommunication service in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at St. Paul, Minnesota.

(5) To determine the special need of Newton Z. Wolpert for an assignment of the frequency pair 152.03 Mc. and 158.49 Mc. in lieu of those presently assigned to him.

(6) To determine, in the light of the evidence on the foregoing issues, which applicant is better qualified to serve the public interest, convenience or necessity.

(7) To determine, on a comparative basis, which, if either, of the applications in this proceeding should be granted.

It is further ordered, With respect to the petition filed by John B. Hoffman on December 13, 1950, that the request for dismissal of the instant application of Newton Z. Wolpert is denied, and the request for conditional grant of construction permit to John B. Hoffman is granted, upon express condition that such grant is subject to being withdrawn if, at the hearing, it is shown that public interest will be better served by a grant of Wolpert's application, or that public interest will not be served by a grant of either application.

LAWRENCE COUNTY BROADCASTING CO.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of James L. Harrison, J. E. Sowell, Harold Twitty and R. C. Wiley d/b as Lawrence County Broadcasting Company, Lawrenceburg, Tennessee, for construction permit; Docket No. 9885, File No. BP-7756.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of January 1951:

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled application for a new standard broadcast station to be operated on the frequency of 1230 kilocycles with a power of 250 watts, unlimited time in Lawrenceburg, Tennessee;

It appearing, that the applicant is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to operate the proposed station but that the proposed station may involve interference with one or more existing stations and otherwise not comply with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application is designated for hearing commencing at 10:00 a. m., on March 2, 1951 at Washington, D. C., upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed station and the character of other broadcast service available to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with station WBHP, Huntsville, Alabama, and with Station WCMA, Corinth, Mississippi, or with any other existing broadcast stations, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether the installation and operation of the proposed station would be in compliance with the Commission's Rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

It is further ordered, That Wilton Harvey Pollard, licensee of Station WBHP, Huntsville, Alabama, and the Cosmopolitan Broadcasting Corporation, licensee of Station WCMA, Corinth, Mississippi, are made parties to this proceeding.

DOWLANDER BROADCASTING CO. (WOOF)

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of R. A. Dowling, Jr., tr/as Dowlander Broadcasting Company (WOOF), Dothan, Alabama, for construction permit; Docket No. 9886, File No. BP-7757.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission, held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of January 1951;

The Commission having under consideration (1) the above-entitled application of Dowlander Broadcasting Company for a construction permit to increase power from 1 kw to 5 kw, daytime only, at Station WOOF, Dothan, Alabama; and (2) a petition filed September 21, 1950, by Miami Broadcasting Company (WQAM) to designate the above-entitled application for hearing and to make the petitioner a party to the proceeding; and

It appearing, that the applicant is legally, technically, financially, and otherwise qualified to operate Station WOOF as proposed but that the application may involve interference with one or more existing stations and otherwise not comply with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application is designated for hearing commencing at 10:00 a. m., on March 7, 1951, at Washington, D. C., upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of Station WOOF, as proposed, and the character of other broadcast service available to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the operation of Station WOOF, as proposed, would involve objectionable interference with Station WQAM, Miami, Florida, or with any other existing broadcast stations and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether the installation and operation of Station WOOF, as proposed, would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations with particular reference to the excessive blanket population within the 250 mv/m contour.

It is further ordered, That the petition of Miami Broadcasting Company (WQAM) is granted, and that the Miami Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station WQAM, Miami, Florida, is made a party to this proceeding.

Utley d/b as Central City-Greenville Broadcasting Company, Central City, Kentucky, for construction permits; Docket No. 9888, File No. BP-7856.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of January 1951.

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled applications each requesting a permit to construct a new standard broadcast station to operate on frequency 1380 kilocycles, with 500 watts power, daytime only at Central City, Kentucky;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding commencing at 10:00 a. m., on March 13, 1951, at Washington, D. C., upon the following issues:

1. To determine the legal, technical, financial and other qualifications of the applicant partnerships and the partners to construct and operate the proposed stations.

2. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed stations, and the character of other broadcast service available to such areas and populations.

3. To determine the type and character of program service proposed to be rendered and whether it would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

4. To determine whether the operation of the proposed stations would involve objectionable interference with any existing broadcast stations, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

5. To determine whether the operation of the proposed stations would involve objectionable interference, each with the other, or with the services proposed in any other pending applications for broadcast facilities, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

6. To determine whether the installation and operation of the proposed stations would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

7. To determine the overlap, if any, that will exist between the service areas of the station proposed in the application of Muhlenberg County Broadcasting Company and Station WOMI, Owensboro, Kentucky, the nature and extent thereof, and whether such overlap, if any, is in contravention of § 3.35 of the Commission's rules.

8. To determine on a comparative basis which, if either, of the applications in this consolidated proceeding should be granted.

PART 37—UNITED STATES SCORCHED PARTICLE STANDARDS FOR DRY MILKS

On December 13, 1950, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (F. R. Doc. 50–11536; 15 F. R. 8827) regarding proposed United States Scorched Particle Standards for Dried Milks pursuant to the authority contained in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1951 (Pub. Law 759, 81st Cong., approved Sept. 6, 1950). After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals in the aforesaid notice, the standards hereinafter set forth are promulgated with respect to scorched particle standards for dry milks (i. e., "dried milks" as described in aforesaid notice).

Since the term "dry milks" has been generally used and accepted by the dairy industry, such term is employed in lieu of "dried milks." The promulgation of these standards will provide the Department with official standards for use in ascertaining the quantity of scorched particles in dry milks, and will make available to the dairy industry a uniform standard for its use.

The standards are as follows:

Sec.
87.1 United States scorched particle standards for dry milks.
37.2 Preparation of discs.
37.3 General.

AUTHORITY: §§ 37.1 to 37.3 issued under Pub. Law 759, 81st Cong.

§ 37.1 United States scorched particle standards for dry milks. The standards contained in this part consist of four (4) discs, each of which represents one of the following:

7.5 mg. of scorched particles.
15.0 mg. of scorched particles.
22.5 mg. of scorched particles.
32.5 mg. of scorched particles.

§ 37.2 Preparation of discs. Each of the four (4) discs was prepared in accordance with the procedure set forth in this section.

(a) Spread five grams of nonfat dry milk solids evenly over a petri dish and heat at 119° C. for four hours to produce scorched particles.

(b) After heating, keep in desiccator until the particles are weighed.

(c) Prepare scorched particle solution by mixing 0.50 gram of the scorched particles (prepared in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section) gently with approximately 20 ml. of a 50 percent filtered sucrose solution. Transfer the mixture to a 200 ml. volumetric flask and dilute to volume using a 50 percent filtered sucrose solution and mix thoroughly.

(d) To provide particles which, in appearance, are similar to highly scorched, or burned, protein particles, prepare at least 1.0 gram of a charcoal mixture by using the following specified percentages of charcoal of the designated meshes:

200 mesh charcoal: 20 percent.
150 mesh charcoal: 50 percent.
100 mesh charcoal: 20 percent.
65 mesh charcoal: 10 percent.

(e) Prepare charcoal solution by placing 1.0 gram of the charcoal mixture (prepared in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section) in a one-liter volumetric flask and dilute to volume, using a 50 percent filtered sucrose solution and mix thoroughly.

(f) Prepare each of the following sample solutions:

(1) Sample Solution 1. Mix 75 ml. of filtered, reconstituted, spray process nonfat dry milk solids with (i) a quantity of scorched particle solution containing scorched particles aggregating 7.425 mg. and (ii) a quantity of charcoal solution containing charcoal particles aggregating 0.075 mg. The particle content of this sample solution is 7.5 mg.

(2) Sample Solution 2. Mix 75 ml. of filtered, reconstituted, spray process nonfat dry milk solids with (i) a quantity of scorched particle solution containing scorched particles aggregating 14.85 mg. and (ii) a quantity of charcoal solution containing charcoal particles aggregating 0.15 mg. The particle content of this sample solution is 15.0 mg.

(3) Sample Solution 3. Mix 75 ml. of filtered, reconstituted, spray process nonfat dry milk solids with (i) a quantity of scorched particle solution containing scorched particles aggregating 22.2 mg. and (ii) a quantity of charcoal solution containing charcoal particles aggregating 0.30 mg. The particle content of this sample solution is 22.5 mg.

(4) Sample Solution 4. Mix 75 ml. of filtered, reconstituted, spray process nonfat dry milk solids with (i) a quantity of scorched particle solution containing scorched particles aggregating 31.9 mg. and (ii) a quantity of charcoal solution containing charcoal particles aggregating 0.60 mg. The particle content of this sample solution is 32.5 mg.

(g) Stir each sample solution immediately prior to filtering and filter through a standard lintine disc (1¼" diameter) using a filtering surface of 1⅛" diameter. Rinse the container of each sample solution with filtered, reconstituted, spray process nonfat dry milk solids and filter the rinse through the applicable disc.

(h) Dry the discs at room temperature.

§ 37.3 General. To facilitate the use and availability of these scorched particle standards, a composite photograph of the four (4) discs is attached hereto and made a part hereof;[1] and a copy of the photograph may be obtained, upon request, from the Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Room 2651, South Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of January 1951, to become effective 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[SEAL] ROY W. LENNARTSON,
Acting Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration.

TITLE 15—COMMERCE AND FOREIGN TRADE

Chapter III—Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce

Subchapter C—Office of International Trade

[5th Gen. Rev. of Export Regs., Amdt. P. L. 35][2]

PART 399—POSITIVE LIST OF COMMODITIES AND RELATED MATTERS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Section 399.1 Appendix A—Positive List of Commodities is amended in the following particulars:

1. The following commodities are added to the Positive List:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
	Rubber (natural, allied gums, and synthetics) and manufactures:
	Synthetic rubbers (dry rubber content):
200901	Buna S (copolymers of butadiene and styrene): GR-S type only.	Lb.	RUBR 14	100	RO
200906	Thiokol (organic polysulfides)	Lb.	RUBR 14	25	RO
201100	Rubber, reclaimed	Lb.	RUBR 9	100	R
201200	Rubber scrap	Lb.	RUBR 9	100	R
	Tires, tire casings and inner tubes (report scrap tires and tire casings with both beads cut through or at least one bead removed from the casings or the casings made discontinuous by being completely cut through or the carcass broken completely through for a length equal to at least the cross-sectional width, and inner tubes completely lacerated or cut cross-sectionally into two separate pieces, under 201200):
	Pneumatic tires and casings, new and used:
206200	Passenger car casings	No.	RUBR 9	100	R
	Inner tubes:
206520	Passenger car	No.	RUBR 9	25	R
	Tire sundries and repair material:
206905	Camelback	Lb.	RUBR 9	100	R

2. The entries on the Positive List for polyisobutylene (Vistanex type only), Schedule B No. 200907; and silicone rubber, Schedule B No. 200998, are revised and amended to read as follows:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
	Rubber (natural, allied gums, and synthetics) and manufactures:
	Synthetic rubbers (dry rubber content):
200907	Polyisobutylene—polymers of isobutylene (all types)[1]	Lb.	RUBR 2	100	R
200998	Synthetic rubbers, n. e. s.[2]	Lb.	RUBR 2	100	R

[1] By this amendment, all commodities classified under Schedule B No. 200907 are now on the Positive List and subject to R control.
[2] By this amendment, all commodities classified under Schedule B No. 200998 are now on the Positive List and subject to R control.

3. The entries on the Positive List for certain truck and bus casings, Schedule B No. 206000; certain off-the-road casings, Schedule B No. 206430; farm tractor and implement casings with cross section of 7.00 and over, Schedule B No. 206450; certain industrial casings, Schedule B No. 206490; certain truck and bus inner tubes, Schedule B No. 206530; and certain off-the-road, industrial, and farm tractor and implement inner tubes, Schedule B No. 206570, are revised and amended to read as follows:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
	Rubber (natural, allied gums, and synthetics) and manufactures:
	Tires, tire casings, and inner tubes (report scrap tires and tire casings with both beads cut through or at least one bead removed from the casings or the casings made discontinuous by being completely cut through or the carcass broken completely through for a length equal to at least the cross-sectional width, and inner tubes completely lacerated or cut cross-sectionally into two separate pieces, under 201200):
	Pneumatic tires and casings, new and used:
206000	Other truck and bus casings[1]	No.	RUBR 9	250	R
206430	Other off-the-road casings (except farm tractor and implements)[2]	No.	RUBR 9	250	R
206450	Farm tractor and implement casings[3]	No.	RUBR 9	250	R
206490	Other industrial casings[4]	No.	RUBR 9	250	R
	Inner tubes:
206530	Other truck and bus inner tubes[5]	No.	RUBR 9	100	R
206570	Other off-the-road and industrial inner tubes; farm tractor and implement inner tubes.[6]	No.	RUBR 9	100	R

[1] By this amendment, the Positive List coverage is extended to all truck and bus casings, classified under this Schedule B number, regardless of size or ply rating. The types now on the Positive List under this Schedule B number and subject to RO control are unaffected by this amendment.
[2] By this amendment, the Positive List coverage is extended to all off-the-road casings classified under this Schedule B number, regardless of size or ply rating. The types now on the Positive List under this Schedule B number and subject to RO control are unaffected by this amendment.
[3] The effect of this amendment is to add to the Positive List, subject to R control, farm tractor and implement casings with cross section under 7.00.
[4] By this amendment, the Positive List coverage is extended to all industrial casings classified under this Schedule B number, regardless of size or ply rating. The types now on the Positive List under this Schedule B number and subject to RO control are unaffected by this amendment.
[5] By this amendment, the Positive List coverage is extended to all truck and bus inner tubes classified under this Schedule B number. The types now on the Positive List under this Schedule B number and subject to RO control are unaffected by this amendment.
[6] By this amendment, the Positive List coverage is extended to all off-the-road, industrial, and farm tractor and implement inner tubes classified under this Schedule B number. Types of these commodities now on the Positive List under this Schedule B number and subject to RO control are unaffected by this amendment.

[1] Filed as part of the original document.
[2] This amendment was published in Current Export Bulletin No. 603 dated January 25, 1951.

4. The entry on the Positive List for coal-tar coke, including coal-tar coke flour, Schedule B No. 500400, is revised and amended to read as follows:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
	Coal and related fuels:
500400	Coke, except petroleum coke (report petroleum coke, including petroleum coke flour, in 504800).[1]	S. ton	COAL	100	RO

[1] By this amendment, all commodities classified under Schedule B No. 500400 are now on the Positive List and subject to RO control.

5. The following commodities are changed from R to RO. Accordingly, the entries therefor on the Positive List are amended to read as follows:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
	Rubber (natural, allied gums, and synthetics) and manufactures:
	Crude, rubber and allied gums:
200100	Crude rubber (dry rubber content)	Lb.	RUBR 2	250	RO
	Synthetic rubbers (dry rubber content):
200503	Butyl (copolymers of isobutylene and isoprene, or other diolefins)	Lb.	RUBR 2	100	RO
200504	Neoprene (polymers of chloroprene)	Lb.	RUBR 2	100	RO
200505	Buna N (copolymers of butadiene and acrylonitrile)	Lb.	RUBR 2	100	RO

Section 399.1 Appendix A—Positive List of Commodities and § 399.3 Appendix C—Commodity Processing Codes, are amended in the following particulars:

The processing codes are changed as follows, for the commodities listed below:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B Number	Commodity	Processing code
	Copper and manufactures:
649998	Copper manufactures, n. e. s.	CDGS
	Brass and bronze manufactures:
647000	Plumbers' brass goods	CDGS
647500	Hardware, brass and bronze, n. e. s.	CDGS
647998	All other brass and bronze manufactures[1]	CDGS
	Lead and manufactures:
651598	Other lead manufactures, n. e. s.[2]	CDGS
	Zinc and manufactures:
658998	Zinc manufactures, n. e. s.	CDGS
	Electrical machinery and apparatus:
705710-705755	Electric household refrigerators, and parts; flashlights; electric fans and lamps, and parts	CDGS
706100-706560	Electric household laundry equipment, vacuum cleaners and parts, mixers and blenders; electric razors; electric household motor-driven appliances, n. e. s., and parts; electric flatirons, household cooking ranges, coffee percolators, toasters and waffle irons, household storage water heaters, and heating or cooking appliances and utensils and parts, n. e. s.	CDGS
709812-707890	Electric lighting fixtures, portable lamps, and parts:
[3] 709610	Fluorescent, portable lamps	CDGS
[3] 709620	Incandescent: lighting fixtures, interior	BLDG
[3] 709630	Incandescent portable lamps	CDGS
[3] 709640	Incandescent lighting fixtures, exterior	ELME
[3] 709690	Other electric lighting fixtures, and parts	CDGS
	Textile, sewing, and shoe machinery:
755105-755107	Domestic sewing machines and parts	CDGS
	Miscellaneous commodities, n. e. s.:
984100, 984500	Household and commercial refrigerators, except electric, and parts	CDGS

[1] Brass and bronze blanks and circles, Schedule B No. 647988, retain the processing code NONF.
[2] Lead castings; calking yarn; circles; disks; flanges; plugs; powder; rings; metal packing rings; roof flanges; sash weights, except scale weights; wire; and wool, Schedule B No. 651598, retain the processing code NONF.
[3] Change in Schedule B classifications. These commodities were formerly classified under Schedule B Nos. 709607 through 709700. See Census Bulletin P. B. 143.

Shipments of any commodities removed from general license to Country Group R or Country Group O destinations, or whose GLV dollar-value limits were reduced, as a result of changes set forth in this amendment, which were on dock, on lighter, laden aboard an exporting carrier, or in transit to a port or exit pursuant to actual orders for export prior to the effective date of this amendment, may be exported under the previous general license provisions up to and including February 26, 1951. Any such shipment not laden aboard the exporting carrier on or before February 26, 1951, requires a validated license for export. This saving clause is not applicable to any such shipments to Subgroup A destinations, Hong Kong, and Macao.

(Sec. 3, 63 Stat. 7; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2023. E. O. 9630, Sept. 27, 1945, 10 F. R. 12245, 3 CFR, 1945 Supp.; E. O. 9919, Jan. 3, 1948, 13 F. R. 59, 3 CFR, 1948 Supp.)

This amendment shall become effective as of January 25, 1951.

TITLE 17—COMMODITY AND SECURITIES EXCHANGES

Chapter I—Commodity Exchange Authority (Including Commodity Exchange Commission) Department of Agriculture

PART 3—SPECIAL PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO COTTON

PART 9—SPECIAL PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO FATS

PART 10—SPECIAL PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO OILS

FORMS 300, 900, AND 1000

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under the Commodity Exchange Act, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1-17a), Parts 3, 9, and 10, Chapter I, Title 17, Code of Federal Regulations (17 CFR Parts 3, 9, and 10), are hereby amended as follows:

1. By deleting paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of § 3.01 and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

(c) The quantity of cotton bought and the quantity of cotton sold on such contracts during the period covered by the report; and

(d) The quantity of cotton delivered and the quantity of cotton received on such contracts during the period covered by the report.

2. By deleting paragraph (e) in § 9.01 and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

(e) The quantity of fat represented by delivery notices passed back to the clearing organization or passed on to other clearing members during the period covered by the report.

3. By deleting paragraph (e) of § 10.01 and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

(e) The quantity of oil represented by delivery notices passed back to the clearing organization or passed on to other clearing members, during the period covered by the report.

The effect of these amendments will be to reduce the amount of information concerning delivery notices reportable on Forms 300, 900, and 1000 by clearing members of contract markets. Since the amendments will operate to relieve or liberalize restrictions and will not adversely affect the public, it is hereby found that notice and public procedure under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act are unnecessary, and that the amendments should be made effective within less than thirty days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

These amendments shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[Controlled Rooms in Rooming Houses and Other Establishments Rent Reg., Amdt. 343]

PART 825—RENT REGULATIONS UNDER THE HOUSING AND RENT ACT OF 1947, AS AMENDED

CALIFORNIA

Amendment 347 to the Controlled Housing Rent Regulation (§§ 825.1 to 825.12) and Amendment 343 to the Rent Regulation for Controlled Rooms in Rooming Houses and Other Establishments (§§ 825.81 to 825.92). Said Regulations are amended in the following respect:

Schedule A, Item 38, is amended to describe the counties in the Defense-Rental Area as follows:

San Francisco County: San Mateo County, except the Cities of Belmont, Burlingame, Menlo Park, Millbrae, Redwood City, South San Francisco and San Bruno, the Town of Atherton, and the Community known as Lomita Park, which Community is more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the Northeasterly line of the Main County Road leading from San Francisco to San Jose, where said line is intersected by the Southeasterly line of San Juan Avenue as the same is shown and delineated upon that certain map entitled "Map of Lomita Park, showing subdivision No. 3" and recorded in Book No. 3 of Maps at Page 45, Records of San Mateo County; thence from said point of beginning North 56°30' East along the said Southeasterly line of San Juan Avenue to the Southwesterly line of the right of way of the United Railways Electric Road; thence Northwesterly along said line of said right of way to its intersection with the centerline of San Felipe Avenue as the same is shown and delineated upon that certain map entitled "Map of Lomita Park, showing subdivision No. 1 and 2," and recorded in Book No. 3 of Maps at page 41, Records of San Mateo County; thence South 59° 45' West along said centerline; which said centerline on April 24, 1950 was coincident with the city limit of San Bruno to a point on the Southwesterly line of the Main County Road leading from San Francisco to San Jose, which said Southwesterly line on April 24, 1950 was coincident with the city limit of San Bruno; thence Southeasterly along said city limit to a point in the Southwesterly line of the Main County Road leading from San Francisco to San Jose, where said point intersects the Southeasterly line of Santa Lucia Avenue as the same is shown and delineated on that certain map entitled "Map of San Bruno Park, Fourth Addition," filed in the office of the Recorder of San Mateo County in Liber "B" of Maps at page 1 and a copy entered in Liber 4 of Maps at page 15; thence Northeasterly along the projection of said Southeasterly line of said Santa Lucia Avenue to a point in the centerline of the Main County Road leading from San Francisco to San Jose; thence Southeasterly along said centerline of the Main County Road leading from San Francisco to San Jose which said centerline on April 24, 1950, was coincident with the city limit of San Bruno, to a point where said centerline intersects the extension of the Northwesterly line of Lot 1, as shown and delineated upon that certain map entitled "Capuchino Golf Corporation, Subdivision No. 1," and recorded in Volume 14 of Maps at page 24 San Mateo County Records; thence Northeasterly along the extension of said lot line to a point on the Northeasterly line of said Main County Road leading from San Francisco to San Jose; thence Southeasterly along the Northeasterly line of said Main County Road leading from San Francisco to San Jose to the point of beginning; and Sonoma County, except (i) the Cities of Healdsburg and Santa Rosa, (ii) the Judicial Townships of Redwood and Sonoma (including the City of Sonoma) and (iii) that portion of Analy Judicial Township lying west of the Monte Rio-Valley Ford Highway and lying between Redwood Judicial Township on the north and the northern line of Marin County on the south.

This decontrols on the Housing Expediter's own initiative in accordance with section 204 (c) of the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, as amended, what is known as the Community of Lomita Park, in San Mateo County, California, a portion of the San Francisco Bay, Defense-Rental Area.

(Sec. 204, 61 Stat. 197, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 1894)

This amendment shall become effective January 30, 1951.

Issued this 29th day of January 1951.

[Supp. 3, Amdt. 9]

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURES

Under sections 205 and 601 of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, the Civil Aeronautics Board is empowered to delegate to the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics the authority to prescribe rules, regulations, and standards which promote safety of flight in air commerce, and the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics is empowered to make and amend such general or special rules, regulations, and procedures as he deems necessary to exercise and perform his powers and duties under the act. Under § 60.46 of the Civil Air Regulations the Civil Aeronautics Board has authorized the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics to prescribe standard instrument approach procedures.

Acting pursuant to the foregoing statutes and regulations, standard instrument approach procedures were prescribed. Those procedures are hereby amended. This amendment is made effective without delay, in order to promote safety of the flying public. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and therefore is not required.

1. The low frequency range procedures prescribed in § 60.46–4 are amended to read in part:

PHYSICAL EVALUATION BOARDS

The following changes are effective as of January 1, 1951.

1. Delete § 725.8 (c) and substitute therefor the following:

(c) An officer shall be detailed to act as recorder of a Board empowered to act in any one case.

2. Delete § 725.8 (d) and substtiute therefor the following:

(d) At the request of an individual whose physical fitness is to be evaluated, the convening authority shall detail an officer as counsel for such individual; in lieu thereof the individual whose physical fitness is to be evaluated may obtain, at his own expense, the services of civilian counsel.

3. Delete § 725.11 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

§ 725.11 Findings. (a) After deliberating on the evidence before it, the Board, in the case of a member of the Regular Navy or Marine Corps entitled to receive basic pay or a member of a Reserve component thereof entitled to receive basic pay who has been called or ordered to extended active duty in excess of thirty days, shall make a recommended finding whether the member is fit or unfit to perform the duties of his office, rank, grade or rating, by reason of physical disability. If the recommendation of the Board is that the member be found unfit to perform the duties of his office, rank, grade or rating by reason of physical disability, the Board shall make a recommended finding as to whether such physical disability was or was not incurred while such member was entitled to receive basic pay, and in addition thereto the Board shall make recommended findings with respect to the following factors:

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter IX—Petroleum Administration for Defense, Department of the Interior

[Order 2591, Amdt. 2]

ESTABLISHMENT AND ORGANIZATION

Order No. 2591 of October 3, 1950, as heretofore amended is hereby revised in its entirety to read as follows:

SECTION 1. Purpose. The purpose of this order is to establish the Petroleum Administration for Defense and the organization necessary to carry out the functions with respect to petroleum and gas delegated to or vested in the Secretary of the Interior by Executive Order No. 10161 as amended and by such delegations or redelegations as may have been or may hereafter be made by the Defense Production Administrator pursuant to Executive Order No. 10200.

SEC. 2. Establishment of Petroleum Administration for Defense. There is established a Petroleum Administration for Defense which shall be headed by the Secretary of the Interior as Administrator and a Deputy Administrator who shall be appointed by the Secretary. The Deputy Administrator shall report directly and be responsible only to the Secretary. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of section 8 of this order the Petroleum Administration for Defense shall operate separately from, independently of and outside the jurisdiction or authority of any officer or employee of the Department of the Interior except the Secretary.

SEC. 3. Delegation of authority. Except as provided in section 4 of this order, all of the functions and powers delegated to the Secretary of the Interior by Executive Order No. 10161 as amended and by delegations or redelegations heretofore or hereafter made by the Defense Production Administrator pursuant to Executive Order No. 10200 are hereby delegated to and may be performed by the Deputy Administrator insofar as these functions and powers relate to petroleum and gas. These functions and powers shall include but not be limited to:

(a) The determination of requirements of various claimant agencies for petroleum and gas;

(b) The allocation of petroleum and gas among said claimants and, under appropriate circumstances, to the public and industry in general;

(c) The establishment of programs and policies with respect to the operation of the petroleum and gas industries;

(d) The development with other appropriate governmental agencies of such arrangements relating to petroleum and gas as may be necessary with respect to industrial operations, materials, manpower, procurement, financing, loans or other forms of assistance and the administration thereof;

(e) The claiming on behalf of and the distribution to the petroleum and gas industries of such materials, facilities and commodities as may be required in the operation of these industries;

(f) The making of recommendations with respect to the issuance of Necessity Certificates for Accelerated Amortization pursuant to section 124 A of the Internal Revenue Code;

(g) The exercise of the powers and the performance of the functions respecting voluntary agreements and programs under section 708 (a) of the Defense Production Act of 1950;

(h) The issuance of petroleum and gas industry orders or directives;

(i) The maintenance and implementation of all inter-agency relationships necessary for the efficient operation of the Petroleum Administration for Defense;

(j) The exercise of the powers and the performance of the functions respecting loans, purchases and commitments;

(k) The requisitioning of property;

(l) Matters of internal administration of the Petroleum Administration for Defense;

(m) The creation and appointment of industry advisory committees or councils;

(n) The power to redelegate any of the powers or authority delegated to him by this order.

SEC. 4. Limitations. The Deputy Administrator may not appoint or employ persons under section 710 of the Defense Production Act of 1950 or exercise the functions vested in the Secretary of the Interior by Executive Order No. 10182 as amended.

SEC. 5. Executive organization. Subject to such adjustments as may be made from time to time with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, the executive organization of the Petroleum Administration for Defense shall consist of the following: Administrator (the Secretary of the Interior); Deputy Administrator; General Counsel and Assistant Deputy Administrator; Finance Counselor; Manpower Counselor; Materials Director; Program Director; Director of Public Information; Administrative Officer; Assistant Deputy Administrators, as appropriate; Special Assistants to the Deputy Administrator, as appropriate; Directors of Operating Divisions, as appropriate; District Directors in Charge, as appropriate.

SEC. 6. Personnel and administrative services. (a) Subject to the requirements of applicable statutes and within the limits of funds which may be allocated or appropriated for the purposes, the Deputy Administrator is hereby authorized to:

(1) Employ necessary personnel and in connection therewith take final action with respect to all appointments and status changes in all positions in the Petroleum Administration for Defense, provided that final personnel action in cases involving alleged serious misconduct, irregularities, disloyalty or subversive activities may be taken only after approval thereof by the Secretary;

(2) Make provision for all necessary supplies, space, facilities, equipment, travel, payment of expenses on permanent change of station, or services required in the operation of the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

(b) The authority vested in the Deputy Administrator by paragraph (a) of this section may be exercised by the Administrative Officer of the Petroleum Administration for Defense upon formal notification in writing from the Deputy Administrator.

SEC. 7. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) The terms "petroleum" and "gas" shall mean "petroleum" and "gas" as defined in sections 901 (c) and (d) of Executive Order No. 10161 as amended;

(b) The term "appointments and status changes" means all personnel actions, including all types of appointments, changes in salary, position or grade and separations.

SEC. 8. Effect on other orders. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, the provisions of section 4 of Order No. 2509 as amended, Order No. 2596 and Order No. 2609 shall not apply to the Petroleum Administration for Defense and this order supersedes the provisions of any other order which are inconsistent or in conflict herewith.

(b) The provisions of sections 1, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14 of Order No. 2609 shall apply to the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

SEC. 9. Utilization of services of the Department of the Interior. The services of the U. S. Geological Survey, the Bureau of Mines and the personnel, accounting, administrative and other services of the Department of the Interior shall be available to the Petroleum Administration for Defense to the maximum practical extent.

SEC. 10. Direction and control. The functions delegated by the preceding paragraphs shall be exercised subject to the direction and control of the Petroleum Administrator and/or Secretary of the Interior.

(Sec. 902, E. O. 10161, 15 F. R. 6105; sec. 2, Reorg. Plan No. 3 of 1950, 15 F. R. 3174)

[EO-1]

MAJOR PLANT ADDITIONS: USE OF ALUMINUM, COPPER AND COPPER-BASE ALLOY

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority granted by the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

Sec.
1. What this order does.
2. Definitions.
3. Filing instructions.
4. Communications.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 4 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81 Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order establishes procedures for the collection of information on major plant additions for the electric utility industry contemplating that, by arrangement with the National Production Authority, authorizations will be issued by the Defense Power Administration for the use or receipt of certain critical materials, after April 1, 1951, for such major plant addition projects.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Electric utility" means any individual, partnership, association, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not, located in the United States, its territories, or possessions, supplying, or having facilities built for supplying electric power, directly or indirectly for general use by the public.

(b) "Net material cost" means the cost of all material incorporated in plant less the cost of all material removed from plant, priced in accordance with the electric utility's regular accounting practice.

(c) "Major plant addition" means an electric utility construction project which involves:

(1) Line construction designed for operation at more than 15 kv. where the project requires more than 10,000 pounds gross weight of conductor, or

(2) Line construction designed for operation at 15 kv. or less where the project has a net material cost exceeding $50,000, or

(3) Non-line construction, including but not limited to construction of or additions to generating plant, substations, or buildings, where the project has a net material cost over $50,000.

(d) "Gross weight of conductor" means, in the case of overhead lines, the weight of conductor as installed, including steel content in the case of Copperweld wire and steel core in the case of aluminum conductor steel reinforced, without deduction for material salvaged; and in the case of underground lines the copper and aluminum content only, without deduction for material salvaged.

(e) "Line construction" means construction of both overhead and underground lines.

SEC. 3. Filing instructions. (a) Effective at once, electric utilities shall file Form DPA-2, "Electric Utility Statement of a Current or Proposed Construction Project" and Form DPA-3, "Electric Utility Statement of Proposed Use of Aluminum, Copper or Copper-Base Alloy for a Construction Project," for major plant additions which involve use or receipt of aluminum, copper or copper-base alloy on or after April 1, 1951. Such filing shall occur as soon as the project has taken specific form and, whenever practicable, at least four months before receipt of aluminum, copper or copper-base alloy is required.

(b) Electric utilities should not file Forms DPA-2 or DPA-3 for construction projects not herein defined as major plant additions. Materials requirements after April 1, 1951, for such projects will be handled, along with requirements for maintenance, repair and operating supplies, by some other procedure. Electric utilities will be notified when this procedure has been established.

SEC. 4. Communications. All communications concerning this order and requests for Forms DPA-2 and DPA-3 shall be addressed to the Defense Power Administration, Department of the Interior, Washington 25, D. C.

CLIFFORD B. MCMANUS,
Administrator,
Defense Power Administration.

Approved: January 30, 1951.

OSCAR L. CHAPMAN,
Secretary of the Interior.

MATERIALS AND EQUIPMENT: REQUESTS FOR PROCUREMENT ASSISTANCE

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority granted by the Defense Production Act of 1950. Consultation with representatives of industry in advance of the issuance of this order has been rendered impracticable because the order is informative in nature and is issued in response to inquiries from representatives of the electric power industry as to the information which should be furnished in requesting procurement assistance.

Sec.
1. Qualifications for obtaining procurement assistance.
2. Information required; general.
3. Additional information required where an order has been placed and the promised delivery date is inadequate to meet the construction schedule.
4. Additional information required in requesting assistance in placing an order.
5. Cross-reference to other applications.
6. Communications.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 6 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. Qualifications for obtaining procurement assistance. It is imperative that orders for material be placed sufficiently in advance to allow manufacturers reasonable time in which to make required deliveries. Moreover, delivery dates specified should not be earlier than actually required to meet construction or installation schedules. The design of power plant facilities should be restricted to the use of standard sizes and shapes of steel wherever possible. Requests for assistance in connection with the construction of electric power facilities should be filed only after the applicant has exhausted every reasonable effort to obtain the equipment or material required and has completely investigated all possibilities of substituting non-critical material for critical material.

SEC. 2. Information required; general. The following information should be supplied in requesting assistance in procuring equipment or materials for each project:

(a) Project information should be submitted as specified in sections 1 and 2 of Form DPA-2, "Electric Utility Statement of a Current or Proposed Construction Project." If Form DPA–2 has already been submitted for the project, supply cross-reference information as specified in section 5 of this order.

(b) A progressive, construction schedule should be submitted monthly until all the items for which assistance is requested have been obtained.

SEC. 3. Additional information required where an order has been placed and the promised delivery date is inadequate to meet the construction schedule. (a) The following additional information should be supplied in requesting procurement assistance for mill shapes and forms of steel, copper or aluminum:

(1) Quantities, description, size, dimension, grade, specification, weight and dollar value of each product required (i. e., angles, shapes, plates, etc.).

(2) Order number on mill and date of order number.

(3) Current promised delivery date.

(4) Latest delivery date required to meet the construction schedule or other needs of applicant.

(5) Name and address of supplier or manufacturer with whom order has been placed, manufacturer's shop order number and the supplier's or manufacturer's reason for not being able to fill the order or orders in time to meet the construction schedule.

(b) The following additional information should be supplied in requesting procurement assistance for specific items other than mill shapes and forms of steel, copper or aluminum:

(1) Description as shown on purchase order, including dollar value.

(2) Number and date of applicant's purchase order.

(3) Current promised delivery date.

(4) Latest delivery date required to meet the construction schedule or other needs of applicant.

(5) Name and address of supplier or manufacturer with whom order has been placed, manufacturer's shop order number and the supplier's or manufacturer's reason for not being able to fill the order or orders in time to meet the construction schedule. Enclose copies of letter or letters received from the suppliers or manufacturers contacted.

SEC. 5. Cross-reference to other applications. If any of the information specified in this order has been previously submitted to any Government agency in connection with another application, it will not be necessary to resubmit such information. However, the applicant should furnish, with respect to such previous application, the name of the Government agency to which it was submitted, the form number, date of application, serial number, if known, affixed to the application by the Government agency, action taken by the Government agency and date of such action.

SEC. 6. Communications. All communications concerning this order and requests for Form DPA–2 shall be addressed to the Defense Power Administration, Department of the Interior, Washington 25, D. C.

CLIFFORD B. MCMANUS,
Administrator,
Defense Power Administration.

Approved: January 30, 1951.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine

[7 CFR, Parts 301, 319]

BANANA PLANTS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) that the Secretary of Agriculture, pursuant to sections 7 and 8 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912, as amended (7 U. S. C. 160, 161), is considering lifting the quarantine prohibiting the importation, from all foreign countries and localities into the United States, of any variety of banana plants (Musa spp.) or portions thereof, except the fruit (7 CFR 319.31, B. E. P. Q.—Q. 31), and the quarantine prohibiting the movement, from Hawaii and Puerto Rico into or through any other State, Territory, or District of the United States, of all species and varieties of banana plants (Musa spp.) or portions thereof 7 CFR 301.32, B. E. P. Q.—Q. 32).

The purpose of Quarantine No. 31, was to prevent the introduction of the banana root borer (Cosmopolites sordidus Germ.). The purpose of Quarantine No. 32 was to prevent the spread from Hawaii and Puerto Rico into any other State, Territory, or District of a weevil then known as Rhabdocnemis obscurus Boisd. but now called the New Guinea sugarcane weevil (Rhabdoscelus obscurus Bdvl.) and another weevil known as Metamasius hemipterus Linn., commonly called the West Indian cane weevil. Both quarantines have been in effect since April 1, 1918.

When promulgated, these quarantines were designed to protect the banana industry of this country. Banana production is of importance in Hawaii and Puerto Rico but not on the mainland, where banana plants are now grown chiefly for ornamental or novelty purposes. The banana root borer exists in Puerto Rico, and as late as 1944 it was recorded from Florida. There is little potential traffic in banana propagating material to the United States, but there is an occasional effort to import experimentally parts of the plant for industrial uses. Such importations are now forbidden by Quarantine No. 31. Upon the lifting of that quarantine, the admission of banana planting stock would automatically fall within the provisions of Nursery Stock, Plant, and Seed Quarantine No. 37 (7 CFR 319.37), which it is believed would afford adequate protection against the further entry of the banana root borer. There appears to be, therefore, little necessity for continuing the more severe prohibitions of the foreign banana plant quarantine.

The New Guinea sugarcane weevil which occurs in Hawaii and the West Indian cane weevil which occurs in Puerto Rico are now believed to be relatively unimportant as pests of banana plants. Moreover, the possibilities of traffic in banana propagating materials in either direction between Hawaii and Puerto Rico are remote, and should it occur there is even less likelihood, in the light of current information, that these pests would be carried with the shipments. Furthermore, in the absence of a Federal quarantine, both Hawaii and Puerto Rico would be free to enforce Territorial or Insular quarantine regulations on such domestic movement should they find the protection necessary.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with this matter should file the same with the Chief of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Agricultural Research Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 20 days after the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Secs. 7, 8, 37 Stat. 317, 318, as amended, 7 U. S. C. 160, 161)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of January 1951.

ST. PAUL UNION STOCKYARDS CO.

NOTICE OF SUPPLEMENTAL PETITION FOR MODIFICATION

On January 5, 1951, the Judicial Officer issued an order permitting the respondent to make effective certain temporary modifications of its charges for the yarding and feeding of livestock.

On January 24, 1951, the respondent filed a supplemental petition requesting further temporary modifications of its charges as follows:

(1) To increase the yardage rates on horses and mules from 70¢ per head to 80¢ per head.

(2) To change the schedule of charges in connection with hog immunization as set forth in Item 5 of respondent's tariff so as to read as follows:

Hog Immunization

5. (a) All vaccination or castration of hogs in these stockyards is subject to the supervision and regulations of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture and The Live Stock Sanitary Board of the State of Minnesota.

(b) Facilities are provided by the Stockyards Company for the services as set out in paragraph (a). The owner or his representative will make his own arrangements with authorized veterinarians for service. For the use of facilities and necessary labor for vaccinating, temperaturizing, holding, castrating, removing tusks, branding and ear-tagging hogs, owner will be assessed the following charges:

	Cents per head
(A) Temperaturizing and holding hogs weighing under 175 pounds	12
(A) An additional 12 cents for each 100 pounds or fraction thereof will be charged for hogs weighing over 175 pounds.
Hogs temperaturized but not vaccinated (except rejects)	5
Applying ear tags or rings	3
Branding with paint	3
Castration of hogs weighing 175 pounds or under	50
An additional 50¢ for each 100 pounds or fraction thereof will be charged for hogs weighing over 175 pounds.
(N) Removing tusks on hogs:
When removed at time of castration	25
(This charge will be in addition to charges for castration.)
When performed without castration, the regular charges for holding of hogs for castration will apply in addition to charge of	25

NOTE: This Company will not be responsible for loss of or damage to animals resulting from the use of the facilities provided in the service set out above.

(A) Advance. (N) New.

If authorized the modifications will produce additional revenues for the respondent and increase the cost of marketing to the shippers. Accordingly, it appears that this public notice should be given of the filing of the petition in order that all interested persons may have an opportunity to be heard in the matter.

All interested persons who desire to be heard upon the matter requested in said petition shall notify the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 15 days from the date of publication of this notice.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 29th day of January 1951.

[SEAL] KATHERINE L. MASON,
Hearing Clerk.

[Docket No. AO–226]

HANDLING OF MILK IN PUGET SOUND, WASH., MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS THERETO WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of milk in the Puget Sound, Washington, marketing area, to be made effective pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

Interested parties may file exceptions to this recommended decision with the Hearing Clerk, Room 1353, South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., not later than the close of business on the 20th day after the publication of this recommended decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. A public hearing on the record of which the recommended marketing agreement and order were formulated was called by the Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, following receipt of a petition filed on behalf of the United Dairymen's Association of Seattle, Washington, and was held at Seattle, Washington, from August 14–September 6, 1950, pursuant to notice duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (15 F. R. 4508; Doc. 50–6161; 15 F. R. 4694; Doc. 50–6342). The period from September 6–October 9, 1950 was reserved to interested parties for the filing of briefs on the record.

The major issues developed at the hearing were concerned with the following matters:

1. Whether the handling of milk produced for the Puget Sound marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce or directly burdens, obstructs or affects interstate commerce in milk or its products;

2. Whether the issuance of a milk marketing agreement or order will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act; and

3. If an order is issued, what its provisions should be. With respect to this issue, several primary points were developed. These were concerned with:

(a) The proper size of the marketing area;

(b) The proper scope of regulation;

(c) The classification of milk;

(d) The level of class prices to be paid and the methods for determining such prices;

(e) The type of pool to be used in distributing returns to producers; and

(f) Administrative provisions.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues decided herein are hereby made upon the basis of the record of the hearing:

Character of the commerce. (1) The handling of milk produced for the Puget Sound marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce and directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk and its products.

There are substantial interstate movements of milk produced for the Puget Sound marketing area and of milk products manufactured from such milk. Fresh fluid milk and frozen fluid milk processed in plants of handlers are transported by ship or van to the Territory of Alaska for use there by both Army and commercial establishments.

During 1949 the Seattle Quartermaster Market Center procured 2,892,068 quarts of Grade A milk from the area and in 1950, 1,115,366 quarts (to August 1). Such milk was processed from milk of the type (Grade A) proposed to be covered by the order and in plants of Seattle, Everett and Tacoma handlers. At least 90 percent of the volume of milk so purchased is frozen and exported in paper containers to Alaska for consumption there by the Army. Such purchases have been made by the Center regularly since July 1946.

A plant operated by a cooperative association of producers shipped by air and water 209,763 pounds of Grade A fresh and frozen fluid milk to commercial accounts in Alaska between January 1 and June 15, 1950. Occasional shipments of Grade A milk have been made also to the Portland, Oregon, market. Occasional shipments of Grade A milk to the Pullman and Spokane, Washington, markets have been combined with, and have entered into competition with, milk produced in Idaho. In addition, interstate rail and airlines, steamships and other ocean-going vessels are provisioned with locally produced Grade A milk.

When fluid milk plants located in the proposed marketing area have excesses of Grade A milk above their needs for fluid milk uses, which occur particularly during the months of seasonally high milk production, such excesses normally are disposed of to manufacturing milk plants in the form of milk where they are processed primarily into evaporated milk, nonfat dry milk solids, butter and cheese. Over 52 million pounds were so diverted to milk product uses by cooperatives in the area in 1949 while more than 92 million were diverted by such organizations up to June 15 in 1950. The products containing such milk are shipped in large part to other states and to foreign countries. Some additional Grade A milk is disposed of by proprietary handlers in similar channels. Such milk products (butter, cheese, evaporated milk and nonfat dry milk solids), produced in part from Grade A milk received by cooperatives and proprietary handlers in the Puget Sound area, compete for markets both locally and in other states with similar products produced in other states. Substantial amounts of both Grade A milk in fluid form and milk products are sold also to military authorities and commercial accounts on military reservations which have been ceded to the United States by the State of Washington.

Need for order. (2) The issuance of a marketing agreement or order will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

The problems encountered by producers supplying the Puget Sound market in maintaining a satisfactory price level to all producers or groups of producers and in providing an adequate supply of milk are not uncommon in fluid milk markets. These problems have reached an acute state. They arise from the presence of factors of instability as described below and generally inherent in the fluid milk industry. Voluntary attempts of producers to maintain an orderly market have been disappointing and ineffective.

Milk produced for the Puget Sound market for consumption in fluid form as Grade A milk must be produced under rigid sanitation requirements. Producers must incur heavy operating expenses not only for extra labor and equipment to attain the required cleanliness and quality of milk but also for purchased feed to keep production at the necessary levels through the fall and winter and for transportation to assure prompt, sanitary and reliable delivery to the market. For the market as a whole the demand for milk for consumption as fluid milk is relatively stable. There are other uses of milk, such as butter, cheese, evaporated milk, ice cream, etc., however, which may be made from "factory" or manufacturing milk which is not required to meet such high sanitation standards as Grade A milk. The production of factory milk is less costly to the farmer.

Although consumer demand for milk for consumption as fluid milk is quite constant throughout the year, there is a wide seasonal variation in the production of milk eligible for such purposes. The breeding characteristics of dairy cattle and the varying availability of fresh pasturage seasonally causes production in the milkshed to follow a pronounced seasonal cycle. Vastly more milk is produced in the spring and summer than in the fall and winter. To meet the winter requirements for Grade A milk in fluid form, including a necessary "reserve," producers produce in the summer about twice as much milk as is needed for fluid consumption, causing extreme market surpluses of supply of a seasonal nature. The need for a "reserve" or "cushion" of supply which on a market-wide basis must approximate 10 to 15 percent of the amount of milk sold in fluid form is created by the variation in fluid milk consumption from day to day depending upon such factors as the weather, 6-day milk delivery, and holidays, and by the existence of many distributors operating independently of each other, who attempt to carry the necessary daily reserves in their varying operations. Since there has been no practicable way of correlating supplies to fluid consumption more closely, there must be available to handlers at all times more milk than they expect to sell for fluid use.

The presence of market surplus above fluid milk and cream needs caused by these recurring conditions and from time to time by price maladjustment has produced difficult pricing and marketing problems. Significant also is the fact that milk is highly perishable and bulky. Because of the latter characteristics, farmers cannot retain milk on their farms to await favorable price conditions. The milk must be shipped every day irrespective of whether prices are favorable or unfavorable. Since the total supply of Grade A milk produced cannot find a ready market as fluid milk, particularly in flush periods, the surplus quantities, even though of Grade A standard, must find outlets in butter, cheese or other manufactured milk products in competition with similar products produced in other production areas or locally from factory grade milk, and, therefore, cannot command as high a price to producers as milk disposed of in fluid form. Because milk as a food beverage has a value higher than for most other uses, producers of Grade A milk for the Puget Sound area strive in competition for this outlet.

During and immediately following World War II there was a shortage of milk in this market. In such period the competition for milk supplies was keen. Handlers as a group competed among themselves and with the proponent cooperatives for the available supply of Grade A milk. Some handlers purchased milk from such cooperatives, some bought all or nearly all of their requirements from independent producers, and others purchased milk from both sources. The proponent cooperative associations, selling through a single marketing agency, offered milk for fluid use to handlers at a uniform price established by the agency. The proceeds of the sale of milk by such associations have been "pooled" and then apportioned among the individual associations in accordance with a "base and surplus" plan (additional discussion of base and surplus plans is set forth hereinafter). The final "settling price" with member producers by the individual association became the major factor in establishing the returns received by all producers of Grade A milk in the segment of the milkshed in which the association had membership whether the producer was a member or an independent shipping to a proprietary handler. The price paid for milk purchased by handlers from independent producers tended to follow the settling price of the association in the local area of the milkshed. Although variations in the associations' monthly settling prices occurred, such variations, except those caused by differences in cost of plant operation, were offset through the distribution to the members of (a) a thirteenth check, (b) an added increment in his share of ownership in the association or its assets, or (c) a certificate of debt payable at a later date. The tendency of handlers to follow the prices announced monthly by the associations in the different parts of the milkshed resulted in the payment to independent producers of various prices for milk. A substantial proportion of the supply was being utilized in fluid form even in the flush production season and little surplus remained to fall into lower-valued uses. Because the settling prices to producers were not widely different from the fluid milk price of the associations as the result of the short supply, the situation was not critical in this period.

However, there have been times since when the production of Grade A milk has exceeded greatly the area's requirements for fluid use. Volumewise this has been caused mainly by the wide seasonal increases in production during the spring and summer months. However, even in the short production seasons of 1948–1949 and 1949–1950 some surplus above the necessary daily reserve requirements existed. In this situation handlers buying from independent producers have tended to adjust supplies carried in their plants as close as practicable to actual short period needs while cooperatives, not restricting membership or refusing to accept Grade A milk offered by members, have been unable to avoid assuming an increasing proportion of the total surplus present. The larger handlers also have tended to favor buying from independent producers rather than from the proponent cooperatives wherever possible even to the extent of developing additional sources of supply instead of using the existing facilities of such cooperatives. Such developments in buying practices, as discussed more in detail hereafter, introduced and aggravated price variations and inequities between producers of the essential milk supply which, if not corrected, could lead ultimately in this market to the kind of extreme competitive conditions that cause the Congress to make available the type of regulatory program under consideration here.

In the fall of 1949 one of the largest companies stopped buying over 11,000 pounds of milk daily from one of the cooperatives and another dropped 2?,400 pounds daily from another association. The latter action alone reduced the associations' ability to pay members by 10 cents per hundredweight. This trend reached a peak in May of this year when several handlers, including the two handlers referred to, discontinued all receipts from producers who had been independent shippers but who just previously had joined a cooperative association. This reduced the surplus carried by such handlers in the flush season this year to very small proportions as compared with those of the proponent cooperatives. The milk transferred to cooperative plants as the result of this action is estimated at 150,000 pounds daily, and lower-valued manufactured milk products provided the only available outlet for this milk. Although the latter handler has resumed purchases through the cooperative marketing agency for a volume of milk to satisfy his needs in the short production season this fall and winter (under a contract to expire June 30, 1951, in the middle of the coming flush production season), the proponent cooperatives as a group are relieved only in part of the disproportionate share of the surplus burden which they must carry as the result of such buying methods of proprietary distributors.

It appears that the ability of the cooperatives to divert and utilize in the cooperatives' own plant facilities the member milk dropped by handlers was the major factor responsible for preventing a further decrease in the price charged for milk for fluid use in the spring and summer months of this year. On the other hand, the settling prices of the cooperatives were lowered by the increase in supply in the cooperative pool to be disposed of in manufacturing uses, and this resulted in widening the differentials between the settling prices and the price charged by the cooperatives for milk for fluid use. It is recognized that handlers should not be expected to carry physically in their plants more milk than can be handled reasonably in terms of the plants' requirements. It is equally true, however, that the lower returns from either the necessary reserve or the seasonal surplus of fluid quality milk must be reflected in the price of all such milk irrespective of the plant in which it is received, if a stable market is to exist. Whenever surpluses have occurred, severe pressure has been felt by the cooperatives to lower their price to handlers for milk for fluid use, or in the alternative, to lose their market for fluid milk, since those handlers making payment for milk for fluid use at or near the cooperative blended price have, under the circumstances, a definite and substantial advantage in the purchase of milk for sale competitively on wholesale and retail routes. Either path leads to disorderly marketing and results in an unreasonable price situation for producers as a whole. Extreme competition for fluid milk outlets has developed among producers and, except in times of a real shortage of milk, organized producers have no apparent means to bring about reasonable uniformity in prices among all handlers at a satisfactory level or to prevent one group of handlers from obtaining milk for the same purposes at substantially lower costs than are paid by others, and thus to prevent recurrences of disorder in this market.

The prevailing buying practices have resulted also in wide variations in producer returns both within the ranks of independent producers and between the independent producers and cooperative members. Milk statements of producers submitted for recent months indicate that in many instances independent producers have been paid higher returns per hundred weight than cooperative members in comparable circumstances as to location and the butterfat test of milk. A handler may well be in a position to pay a higher return to the independent producer and yet have a price advantage, in terms of his own utilization, over other handlers in the purchase of milk. Also, the large companies purchasing milk from independent producers in more than one county in the milkshed follow the practice of paying different returns to such producers depending on the county from which the milk is drawn, which variations are not related strictly to differences in transportation and handling costs. It appears that, even among handlers buying independent milk, the cost of acquiring milk varies with the location of the farms from which the particular handler draws his supply. The higher returns paid to independent producers as compared with payments made by the associations that are based on their smaller share of the fluid milk market have caused extreme dissatisfaction among the member producers who represent between 65 and 85 percent of the total number supplying the market.

Lack of uniformity among handlers in the cost of milk has made it impossible during the past 12 months for handlers buying all or most all of their milk for fluid use from the proponent cooperatives to bid on equal cost terms for the large volume business of supplying military and other public establishments in the area. Because of substantial variations in the quantities of milk required by these establishments, supplying handlers need to maintain substantial reserve supplies. Many handlers in the area rely on the cooperative plant facilities to handle the backlog supplies. After paying for their milk the fluid milk price of the cooperatives, such handlers cannot compete effectively with handlers who have a price advantage buying independently. A similar situation has existed also in the wholesale market generally.

In the face of increasing costs with respect to certain important items in the production of milk, such as feed and farm labor, a restriction of the labor supply, and improve alternative opportunities, all resulting in a curtailment of production in the milkshed during the past summer, the proponent cooperatives indicated their intention to raise their selling price of milk for fluid use from $4.75 to $5.56 per hundredweight.[1] It may be possible in view of currently existing short season supply and demand conditions for producers to maintain the increased price level for a temporary period. However, an increased price at this time constitutes no complete or lasting remedy for recurring unstable market conditions. The market has no framework for orderly price making at such times as surpluses are the dominating factor in price determination. Past experience indicates that the inclination of handlers to carry on bargaining negotiations with the cooperatives which will assure cooperative members a proportionate share of the higher-valued market for milk for fluid consumption depends to a large extent on their inability to obtain adequate supplies elsewhere and on the existence of a shortage of total supply for the market. Under the conditions described, the restoration of an orderly market for all producers, including members of cooperatives, appears unlikely by voluntary means. From the experience of this market, as well as that of large urban markets generally, it is concluded that a fair division of the returns from fluid milk sales among all producers supplying the market and an equitable sharing of the lower returns from the necessary reserve and seasonal excesses is essential for the maintenance of stable market conditions. The adoption of the classified price plan based on the audited utilization of handlers and a market-wide pool will effectively accomplish this purpose. The record discloses also that producers lack detailed market information which is important to the efficient marketing of milk and in arriving at reasonable price levels. Prices are being established at present with limited milk production and consumption data. Under an order, more complete information would become available to all interested parties and would provide the background for price-making under public procedures which afford opportunity to consider complete and reliable marketing information and which encourage a full expression of views by all concerned.

It is concluded, therefore, that the issuance of a marketing agreement and order for the Puget Sound marketing area will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, namely, to establish and maintain, by means of the regulatory provisions expressly provided for in the act for such purposes, such orderly marketing conditions in such area as will tend to establish prices to the producers of milk for the marketing area at a level as will reflect the factors set forth in section 8c (18) of the act, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk for the marketing area, protect the interests of the consumer, and be in the public interest.

Marketing area. (3) (a) The marketing area should be defined to include all territory lying (a) west of range 8E in Whatcom, Skagit, Snohomish, and King Counties; (b) west of range 8E and north of township 18W, in Pierce County, except the islands of Anderson, McNeil and Fox and the peninsulas on which Gig Harbor and Lake Bay are located northward to the Kitsap County line; (c) within Thurston County; (d) west of range 5E in Lewis County; (e) east of range 10W and north of township 12N in Pacific County; and (f) south of township 19W in Grays Harbor County, all in the State of Washington. As used in the definition, "territory" would include all municipal corporations; Federal military reservations, facilities and installations, and State institutions lying wholly or partly within the above-described area.

The major fluid milk markets in the Puget Sound marketing area, as defined in the attached order, are the cities of Seattle and Tacoma. The smaller markets proposed for coverage in addition to Seattle and Tacoma, and the plants from which a substantial portion of their supplies of milk are drawn, however, are an integral part of the business of milk handling and distribution in the latter cities. Most of the Grade A milk for local distribution in communities of the marketing area other than Seattle and Tacoma comes from plant sources which also supply handlers operating in the latter two cities. Milk is furnished from country plants in Whatcom County to distribution plants in communities in such county and also to plants in Seattle. Similarly country plants in Skagit and Snohomish Counties supply milk to both local distributing plants and to Seattle plants. As increased supplies above "direct-shipped" quantities are needed in Seattle and Tacoma seasonally, the added milk comes for the most part from plants located in Whatcom and Skagit Counties. A plant in King County sends bulk milk regularly to Seattle and distributes bottled milk locally in Enumclaw. Tacoma, Olympia, and Puyallup plants are supplied throughout the year with milk from a receiving, or country, plant in Lewis County. The latter plant is also the primary source of supply for certain handlers distributing in markets in Lewis and Pacific Counties. A plant at Satsop in Grays Harbor County furnishes milk to buyers in Hoquiam, Aberdeen, Montesano, Fort Lewis, Tacoma, and other communities in the proposed area. Milk assembled at a loading platform at Elma is sometimes received at the Aberdeen plant of a handler for use in serving Grays Harbor County outlets for bottled milk and at other times is shipped to a plant of such handler at Seattle for bottling purposes. Milk qualified for sale in fluid form in one part of the marketing area is equally qualified for sale in other segments of the area with the exception that milk for sale in fluid form in Grays Harbor County must meet health requirements slightly at variance with those in other communities covered. Such difference in requirements, however, is not a barrier to the disposition of milk from plants located in Grays Harbor County to plants serving other counties.

[1] Official notice is taken that the prevailing price of milk used for fluid milk in Seattle has been increased since the hearing to $5.56 per hundredweight.

The milk distribution routes, as well as the procurement areas, of handlers in the larger communities of the marketing area overlap to an appreciable extent. This is becoming increasingly so as population between the cities grows. Everett distributors sell in King County, even within the city limits of Seattle. Tacoma and Seattle handlers both serve a residential area between Seattle and Tacoma. A handler at Auburn distributes locally and in Seattle, and in other markets in the proposed area. One Seattle handler, selling through 83 store outlets in the marketing area, distributes in nearly all of the sizable communities, such as Tacoma, Seattle, Everett, Olympia, Burlington, and Bellingham, milk processed in a Seattle plant. Another large handler distributes out of its Bremerton and Tacoma plants milk which is processed at its Seattle plant. Handlers, both proprietary and cooperative, in Seattle, Tacoma and other parts of the marketing area compete for the bid business of the military reservations and other Federal procurement agencies in the Puget Sound area. In view of the above circumstances, it is concluded that the entire area described should be included in the defined marketing area.

The record contains proposals to include also in the marketing area the Counties of Kitsap, Mason, Clallam and Jefferson on the Olympic Peninsula and the eastern half of Whatcom County. The inclusion of Kitsap and Mason Counties is not required to deal with the problems at issue. The bulk of the milk sold in the latter counties is produced and distributed locally. Their inclusion at this time would do little to aid the producers who produce milk primarily for such counties or to assist in stabilizing conditions in Seattle, Tacoma, and other markets on the eastern side of Puget Sound. Clallam and Jefferson Counties are only sparsely populated except for a few small port communities. Much of such area is composed of wilderness and cut-over timberland. There is no serious competition for markets in such counties by handlers distributing from plants east of Puget Sound. Similarly the area east of range 8E in Whatcom County is largely an unpopulated area and lacks important outlets for fluid milk. Since it is appropriate to establish a boundary line for the marketing area at a logical point which will give due consideration to the problems as shown by the record, it is not considered feasible to include such counties on the Olympic Peninsula or the area east of range 8E in Whatcom County on the evidence presented.

Scope of regulation. (b) The minimum class prices established should apply only to milk (exclusive of milk of producer-handlers as hereinafter indicated) which is qualified under applicable health authority regulations for consumption as fluid milk, fluid milk products, and cream in the marketing area, and only to that portion of the milk so qualified which is either actually so utilized in the marketing area or is produced primarily for and constitutes a part of the necessary reserve supply for the marketing area. Only those farmers producing milk meeting such conditions should be considered to be producers of milk to which the minimum class prices apply, and to be producers eligible to share, under the market-wide pool, in the returns from the sale of milk for fluid purposes by being given assurance of payment for their base milk at not less than the uniform price for base milk.

The establishment of minimum prices for milk which are required to be paid by handlers, and the distribution to producers of the returns from the sale of milk by means of a market-wide pool as herein provided, make it necessary to identify rather precisely (a) the milk to which such minimum prices apply, and (b) the farmers or producers who are to share in the returns from the sale of milk for which minimum prices are established. Primarily for this purpose an order should include definitions of "dairy farmer," "producer," "fluid milk plant," "country plant," "nonpool plant," "producer milk" and "other source milk."

It is also necessary, of course, to define the term "handler" essentially for the purpose of identifying those persons on whom obligations and requirements are, or may be, imposed by the order, including the obligation to pay the minimum prices established. It is provided, however, that a "producer-handler" shall be exempt from all the regulatory provisions of the order except that requiring the filing of reports as requested by the market administrator. The producer-handler maintains control of his milk until ultimate disposition and in this respect his situation is entirely different from the regular producer whose milk is marketed through a handler. On the other hand, such persons frequently change their status and it is necessary for the market administrator to have authority to require reports from the producer-handler in order to verify his continued status as such as well as to supplement other market information. The proponent cooperatives proposed the pooling and pricing of milk of producer-handlers (who do not receive milk from other producers) in the same manner as producer milk received by other handlers. The testimony of several witnesses indicates, however, that this would add to the administrative burden without assisting in a substantial measure to a solution of the market difficulties of which proponents complain.

The Washington State Uniform Fluid Milk Act, together with county and municipal milk ordinances and codes, requires that milk for consumption in the marketing area in the form of milk and the milk products defined herein (§ 925.41 (a)) as Class I milk be derived exclusively from Grade A milk. Such laws and regulations prescribe the conditions under which such milk may be produced and distributed. In general, however, any Grade A milk is eligible for distribution within the marketing area, insofar as health authority regulations are concerned, regardless of whether or not it was produced primarily for, and as a part of the regular supply for, markets within the marketing area.

Virtually all milk utilized as Class I milk in the marketing area during recent years, however, has come from farms and plants located within and immediately adjacent to the marketing area, or on the Olympic peninsula. With or without an order regulating the handling of milk in the Puget Sound area, there appears to be no immediate necessity for or prospect of expanding the area from which current requirements of Grade A milk are obtained because of relatively large potential supplies within the area. While it is not the purpose of the order to prescribe the area from which milk may be obtained for distribution in the marketing area, it must be recognized that a market-wide pooling arrangement is subject to certain abuses against which reasonable safeguards must be provided.

The institution of a market-wide pool could create incentive for producers and handlers who had not previously supplied milk for the marketing area to become eligible to share in the Class I sales of the market without actually supplying the market with fluid milk or assuming any responsibility for maintenance of the necessary reserve supply. Such a development would not only fail to contribute to the orderly marketing of milk in the area or to any of the purposes sought to be accomplished by the order but would tend to conflict with such objectives. On the other hand, all sources from which milk is obtained as a necessary part of the supply for the area during the season of lowest production should be entitled to participation in the pool on a year-round basis. Otherwise, milk from producers in outlying areas most distant from the centers of population within the area and needed during the season of shortest production would have to continue to be distributed in the area at times when the necessary supply could be obtained more economically and efficiently from nearby sources. It seems apparent, however, that no significant abuse will result from permitting, without restriction, participation in the pool on a year-round basis of all Grade A milk received at plants within the present, and historical, supply area.

Accordingly, "producer milk" (intended to identify the milk for which minimum prices are required to be paid) is defined as Grade A milk received at (or caused to be diverted from) either a "fluid milk plant" or a "country plant." The terms "fluid milk plant" and "country plant" in turn are defined in a manner designed to include all of those plant sources, and only those sources, of Grade A milk which in the past have been, or in the future may become, an integral part of the year-round supply for the marketing area. As these terms are defined, all Grade A milk received directly from producers at a plant located in the marketing area, duly approved by health authorities, and from which milk in the form of fluid milk, fluid milk products or cream is distributed within the marketing area would be milk to which the minimum class prices apply, and such producers would be eligible to receive the minimum payments established. The definition of this type of plant (fluid milk plant) is designed, by being applicable only to plants located in the marketing area, to include only those plants customarily and regularly engaged in the distribution of milk and cream in the usual manner within the marketing area. All of such plants currently known to exist are located within the marketing area. Furthermore, an out-of-the-area plant which might later engage in direct distribution in the area would be eligible for pool participation as a country plant on the same basis as a plant similarly located from which bulk shipments were made to a fluid milk plant in the marketing area.

Distribution, in this connection, is intended to include but not to be limited to delivery on wholesale or retail routes, or delivery at the plant or plant store, in customary consumer packages to various types of consumers such as homes, stores, hotels, restaurants, or miscellaneous other establishments which themselves are not primarily engaged in the handling and processing of milk or milk products.

It is apparent that the total volume of Grade A milk produced and received at plants in the territory from which the marketing area is currently, and historically has been, supplied (the marketing area and the Olympic peninsula) is an integral part of the supply for the marketing area. That being the case, it is concluded that all such milk received at plants approved for the receiving of milk qualified for consumption within the marketing area should be included in the pool on a year-round basis. It seems inevitable that the imposition of restrictions designed to exclude any of such milk from the pool would merely result in modification of the manner in which it was marketed and handled so as to comply with the restrictions imposed. Such modifications made merely for that purpose would be unlikely to be in the direction of more orderly marketing and efficient handling.

The limitations on pool participation embodied in the proviso of the definition of "country plant" should apply only to plants located outside of the area from which Grade A milk is currently, or historically has been, supplied to the marketing area. Since such plants have no record of having supplied the marketing area with Grade A milk, they should be included in the market-wide pool under the order only in those months in which they either actually supply a substantial quantity of milk to the area or may reasonably be considered to constitute an integral part of the necessary reserve supply. Pursuant to the country plant definition, a plant not located in the current production area would be included in the pool in the months of October, November and December of any year (period of seasonally lowest production) if 50 percent or more of the milk received at the plant directly from producers was either distributed as Class I milk within the marketing area or shipped in the form of milk to a fluid milk plant. A plant supplying the marketing area with at least 50 percent of the milk received directly from dairy farmers for the entire period of October through December would be eligible for pool participation without additional requirements during the following months of January through September. A plant supplying the marketing area with less than 50 percent of its receipts in the season of shortest production is a source primarily for some other market. Such a plant could nevertheless participate in the pool during any of the following months of January through September if 20 percent or more of the milk received from producers at the plant was either distributed directly in the marketing area or shipped to a fluid milk plant in the area. Withdrawal from the market of the milk received at a particular plant during the relatively high production months of February through September would not be likely to seriously threaten the marketing area with an insufficient supply. There seems to be no justification, therefore, for not permitting voluntary withdrawal of any country plant from the pool during that period.

If milk other than producer milk as defined and to which minimum class prices apply is distributed within the marketing area, it is necessary to require payments to be made into the producer-settlement fund on such milk in order to maintain reasonable uniformity of cost of milk and equity among handlers, and to avoid undue displacement of producer milk in Class I by milk from other sources without offsetting compensation. Accordingly, there is included in § 925.70 of the order a provision for including in the value of milk computed for each handler a payment at the difference between the Class I price and the Class II price per hundredweight of Class I milk which is either distributed on such routes within the marketing area or, in the case of a handler receiving milk from producers, which is "other source milk" received by him in excess of his total volume of Class II milk.

Classification of milk. (c) Two classes of milk should be established.

Class I milk should include skim milk and butterfat disposed of in fluid form as milk or skim milk, flavored milk and milk drinks, cream, and cream products. It should include also all skim milk and butterfat not specifically accounted for as Class II milk, except for a reasonable allowance for shrinkage associated with Class II milk operations. Class II milk should include skim milk and butterfat used in manufactured milk products such as cottage cheese, ice cream, evaporated milk, cheddar cheese, nonfat dry milk solids, aerated cream products, etc., and a reasonable shrinkage allowance.

Milk disposed of in fluid form and certain products of milk, including cream and cream products for consumption in fluid form, are required under the health regulations in effect in the marketing area to be made from Grade A milk. The extra expense necessary to produce milk for these purposes warrants their inclusion in Class I milk to be priced above the price level for milk for Class II uses. The products included in Class II milk are those which are not required under the applicable health regulations to be processed from Grade A milk. Such products, although they may contain Grade A milk, must be disposed of in the same competitive field as products made from factory or manufacturing milk. It is considered necessary to permit the free movement of any excess milk into manufacturing channels without burdensome competitive disadvantage to handlers when producer receipts are in excess of the market needs for Grade A milk for fluid uses.

Two proposals for classifying milk "shrinkage" were offered. One would classify all unaccounted-for milk, including operating shrinkage, in Class I milk; the other would classify in Class II milk unaccounted-for milk in an amount up to 3 percent of the total volume of producer milk and other source milk received by the handler, and any remaining quantity in Class I milk.

In paying for factory grade milk, local manufacturing plants pay a stated price per hundredweight of milk received from dairy farmers and thus the same price for the shrinkage associated with such milk as for that portion disposed of in products made. The inevitable shrinkage which results from the manufacture of milk products is reflected in the level of prices paid to dairy farmers for the milk received by these manufacturing plants. The bulk of Grade A milk disposed of in the uses covered by Class II milk is diverted to manufacturing plants where it is commingled with factory milk in the production of milk products such as butter, cheese, evaporated milk, and nonfat dry milk solids. The price paid for such milk is equivalent to the prevailing price to dairy farmers for factory milk. It must be presumed that a given volume of Grade A milk so processed results in a yield of product no less than that produced from factory milk of similar solids content. It is reasonable to presume that the normal shrinkage resulting from the manufacture of Class II milk products will not exceed 3 percent of the skim milk and butterfat so utilized. Handlers who purchase Grade A milk for Class II products, such as ice cream and cottage cheese, to be made in fluid milk plants customarily pay a price for such milk, f. o. b. the seller's plant, at least as high as the going price paid to dairy farmers at representative manufacturing plants in the milkshed. Further, the Class II price formula set forth in the order is designed to produce a price level for Class II milk products substantially equivalent to representative manufacturing milk prices in the production area. It is concluded that equity among handlers with respect to customary shrinkage on Class II operations will result from the application of the Class II price to skim milk and butterfat actually utilized in milk products covered by Class II milk as defined under the order in conjunction with an allowance in such class for actual shrinkage up to 3 percent of such skim milk and butterfat.

Some shrinkage, percentagewise ordinarily a lesser amount than results from the manufacture of the products covered by Class II milk, will result also from Class I operations. The record indicates that in the past handlers purchasing milk from producers at the Class I price established by the proponent cooperative associations have paid such price without discount, or special allowance, of any kind for the portion of such milk lost in shrinkage. Also, both of the order proposals submitted contemplate that abnormal losses of milk from any operation would be priced as Class I milk. In order to achieve equity among handlers with respect to the price of milk lost in shrinkage resulting directly from Class I operations and to avoid an excessively generous allowance (above that discussed above) in Class II milk for shrinkage which normally results from Class II operations, it is concluded that the above pricing practice followed by the associations in selling milk to certain handlers for fluid purposes should be extended to all handlers. Thus, all unaccounted-for milk other than actual shrinkage in Class II operations within the specified limits should be classified as Class I milk. Shrinkage on other source milk will be deducted, however, from the lowest available use classification under the allocation provisions since other source milk is deducted on the basis of receipts rather than on product use.

In the case of transfers or diversions of milk, it is provided that the responsibility for correct classification be placed on the handler who first receives the milk from producers. In the event milk is transferred without adequate proof of utilization, such milk will be classified as Class I milk. Administratively a method of classifying milk transferred between plants of different types is necessary since such transactions are frequent. In this connection the necessity for providing price differentials between districts within the marketing area by means of "location adjustments" (later discussed) creates a need for specific methods of classifying milk transferred between plants in the districts where the location adjustment applies and plants in the district having no such adjustment in order that the producers' uniform price will not be reduced by excessive allowances for the transportation of milk. The method adopted offers the simplest and most feasible solution to the matter of accounting correctly for such milk.

It is necessary further to fix some reasonable distance beyond which the market administrator is not required to send auditors to verify the utilization of milk. The record does not disclose shipments of milk, skim milk, or cream from Grade A milk for manufacturing to locations outside the defined marketing area or the counties of Clallam, Jefferson, Grays Harbor, Kitsap Island, or Mason in the State of Washington although shipments for emergency fluid use to such markets as Pullman, Spokane, and Portland have been made. There are adequate facilities within the marketing area and the above-named counties to absorb all the surplus associated with supplies of Grade A milk produced for the marketing area. Accordingly, skim milk or butterfat derived from producer milk and moved in the form of any of the products covered by the definition of Class I milk to locations more distant should be classified as Class I milk. In the case of products moved to nonpool plants within the marketing area or the above counties, it is concluded that they should be included in Class II milk if the receiving plant does not distribute milk for consumption as fluid milk. In the case of milk transferred to nonpool plants outside the marketing area but within the above-named counties and from which plant milk is distributed for consumption as fluid milk, classification of the milk transferred would depend on the verified use of milk in the transferee plant with the transferred producer milk first allocated to Class I milk uses, or, if verification were not permitted, all of the transferred producer milk would be classified as Class I milk.

Provision is made also for the reclassification of milk originally classified in one class but ultimately used or reused in other class. The general plan for the classification of milk is designed particularly to assure producers of the proper return for milk utilized in the products of each class and to place handlers on an equitable cost basis. The handler, being the person who receives and disposes of the producers' milk, should carry the responsibility of properly accounting for the use of such milk. It follows that he should be required to prove the use made of such milk. This will be facilitated by requiring that he show an actual Class II use of milk or as an alternative have such milk placed in Class I. Other source milk should be allocated first to Class II uses in the handler's fluid milk plant or country plant. This is to prevent other source milk from displacing in Class I milk the milk of producers on which the market relies for a continuous milk supply.

Class prices. (d) (1) Class I price: The Class I price should be established as $5.56, subject to a future supply-demand adjustment, until such time as the price so determined is less than a basic formula price plus $1.45.

Producer proponents submitted a proposal to price Class I milk by adding $1.45 to the highest of the following prices per hundredweight (to be known as a "basic formula price"): (a) the paying price of 18 Wisconsin and Michigan condenseries, (b) a price based on the market values of butter and cheese, and (c) a price based on the market values of butter and nonfat dry milk solids. Such proposal was supplemented by one to establish an alternate Class I price of $5.56.

In accordance with the act, prices must be fixed at a level which will reflect the price of feeds, the available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, insure a sufficient supply of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest. Prices of several of the major feeds for dairy animals have increased in recent months. The outlook is for higher feed prices in 1951. Farm stocks of principal feeds in the State of Washington are lower than last year. The supply of farm labor in the Puget Sound milkshed is tightening rapidly as the result of the Korean conflict, the expansion of defense industry, and military requirements. Many farm laborers are shifting to airplane factories, lumber mills and logging operations. Farm wages have tended to rise in the past few months. Farm machinery prices are higher than in 1949. Official notice is taken that the index of prices paid by farmers for commodities bought (including interest, taxes, and wage rates) increased from 246 to 265 between December 1949 and December 1950 (1910–14=100). These developments have resulted in a more unfavorable cost position for the milk producer. Beef cattle and hog prices have been relatively high for some time and have attracted an unusually large number of dairy animals in the milkshed to slaughter. Large numbers of milk cows also are being shipped from farms in the supply area to other west coast areas. Milk prices have not kept pace with increased price levels for most other farm commodities offering competition for the milk producer's capital and labor. Grade A milk supplies declined following the flush production months of 1950 to a greater degree than might be expected from normal seasonal change.

The present volume of purchasing power among consumers is high. Population has expanded in and around the major communities of the marketing area and increased business activity has resulted from the Korean conflict. Employment is high as a result of defense activity. Expanded military operations in the marketing area require increased quantities of milk as compared with requirements in 1949. Fluid milk sales may reasonably be expected to remain at present or increased levels for an indefinite period.

In view of the above factors relating to the production and marketing of milk, it is concluded that a Class I price lower than $5.56 during the remainder of 1951 would not give reasonable assurance of the production of an adequate supply of Grade A milk in the coming fall and winter months when milk production again will be at its lowest ebb seasonally.

The record indicates that it is necessary for the market to carry in the season of lowest production a reserve or "cushion" of milk equivalent to 10 to 15 percent of the actual volume of Class I milk in order that daily fluctuations in sales may be met. When and if supplies materially in excess of Class I sales plus the necessary reserve develop, an adjustment should be made in the Class I price level to encourage a closer relationship between supplies and effective demand for Class I milk. In order to accomplish this objective, a "supply-demand adjustment" is provided in conjunction with the fixed price of $5.56 pursuant to which a gradual decrease in the Class I price will occur if the total volume of Class I milk in the October, November and December period of any year falls below 80 percent of the receipts of producer milk in such months.

It must be recognized further that historically prices paid for inspected milk for fluid purposes have been related in a high degree to prices paid for milk for manufacturing purposes. Such relationships are quite pronounced in areas where milk is produced in relatively large quantities and where manufacturing plants serve as alternative outlets for inspected milk produced. Such a relationship has existed in the Puget Sound milkshed. The production and marketing of milk for each type of outlet are subject to many of the same economic factors. Since the market for most manufactured products is nation-wide, the prices of such products reflect some of the changes in general economic conditions affecting the supply and demand for milk. For these reasons fluid milk markets have long used butter, nonfat dry milk solids, and cheese prices, and the prices paid by condensery plants, as the foundation for establishing prices for inspected milk for fluid use. Differentials over these basic, or manufacturing, prices frequently have been employed to arrive at the price of milk for fluid use. Such differentials have as their purpose to reflect, over the long run, the costs of meeting quality requirements in the production of inspected milk and to furnish the necessary incentive to get such milk produced. Such underlying factors and price relationships must be taken into account even though for temporary periods special price incentive may be necessary to bring about the required amounts of inspected milk to insure an adequate milk supply. Therefore, it is concluded that a differential over the price level for manufacturing milk should be included as an alternate method of pricing to maintain the price of inspected milk for fluid use in this market at all times reasonably above manufacturing milk prices. Based upon past price relationships a differential of $1.45 over the basic formula price, as proposed by the order proponents, should serve this purpose.

(2) Class II price: The Class II price formula should reflect the value of milk for manufacturing purposes in the supply area.

Producer milk in excess of the amount necessary to satisfy Class I milk needs is either moved from fluid milk plants to manufacturing plants for processing or competes for outlets with milk produced for manufacturing purposes (factory milk). In some instances, particularly during the fish production season, milk is diverted directly from producers' farms to manufacturing plants without being physically received in a country plant or fluid milk plant of a handler. As stated previously, large quantities of producer milk are commingled with factory milk to make butter, cheese, evaporated milk, and other milk products. Ice cream and cottage cheese for sale in any part of the marketing area may be made from factory milk. Thus, producer milk utilized in the products named competes directly with factory milk and since such products are the principal outlets for producer milk in excess of Class I milk requirements, it is concluded that Class II milk should be priced at a level equivalent to prices paid dairy farmers for factory milk by representative manufacturing plants in the area.

Proponents of the order proposed that Class II milk be computed on the basis of a formula employing central market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids with an allowance to reflect a reasonable operating margin for the manufacture of such products. These products constitute the major outlets for surplus milk in the milkshed, although some of the products of Class II milk customarily result in higher returns to the plant operator. It was proposed that an operating margin of 80 cents per hundredweight be increased in the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula. However, the historical price comparison shown in support of this margin did not allow for patronage dividend payments by the plants of the cooperatives involved in the comparison. Such payments were stated to approximate 10 cents per hundredweight. In view of this and considering the somewhat higher returns which may be expected to accrue from the processing and sale of other Class II products, an operating allowance of 70 cents per hundredweight appears reasonable. It is concluded that the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula adopted will reasonably reflect manufacturing milk values in the milkshed and will assure producers of a market for milk which is not utilized as Class I milk. Actual monthly paying prices by local manufacturing plants are not considered an appropriate yardstick for Class II milk prices because the principal manufacturing plants in the milkshed are operated by proprietary companies and cooperatives which also would be handlers under an order.

Because of variations in the butterfat content of (a) fluid milk and milk products sold by different handlers, and (b) milk delivered by individual producers, it is necessary to provide "butterfat differentials" to provide equitable payment with respect to such variations in butterfat. The class prices and uniform prices are established with reference to a butterfat content of 4.0 percent. Thus, a butterfat differential should be employed to reflect differences in values based on the variations in butterfat content of milk and its products from 4.0 percent. It is determined that the butterfat differential to be applied as an adjustment to the Class I price should be 1.4 times the average price of 92-score San Francisco butter in the preceding month and that the butterfat differential to be applied to the Class II price should be such butter price at San Francisco times 1.15. The use of butterfat differentials in this manner follows standard practice of fluid milk markets in adjusting for butterfat variations, and the particular percentages assigned in relation to the market price of butter will reflect reasonable values for butterfat utilized in the individual classes of milk. One proposal made would provide the same butterfat differential (1.15 times the price of butter) for both classes of milk. It is concluded, however, that a somewhat higher butterfat differential for Class I milk is necessary to provide an appropriate relationship between the values of skim milk and butterfat in such class.

Base milk is designed to provide the quantity of milk needed for Class I uses. It appears appropriate then to adjust for variations of butterfat in base milk at the Class I butterfat differential and to employ the Class II differential in adjusting for butterfat variations in excess milk delivered by the individual producer.

The hearing developed some discussion as to the "basic test" to be used in establishing the class prices and uniform price. Proponents of the order proposed 4.0 percent as the butterfat test on which prices should be announced while a handler proposal suggested 3.5 percent. The average test of milk received from producers on a year-round basis approximates 4.0 percent. The weighted average test of all products covered by Class I milk appears to vary between 4.1 and 4.6 percent. Grade A milk is produced primarily to meet the needs for products covered by Class I milk. The customary practice in the area has been to announce prices on the basis of 4.0 percent butterfat. In view of these facts, it is concluded that a test basis of 4.0 percent is preferable to a 3.5 percent basis for this market.

The parity price of all milk sold at wholesale in the United States, which is the applicable parity price under present legislation, was $4.58 per hundredweight as of December 15, 1950. Such price does not reflect what the record shows to be the price of feeds, the available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk or its products in the marketing area, nor would it insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk for the marketing area or be in the public interest.

(3) Location adjustments: Provision should be made in the order for location adjustment credits to handlers on Class I milk and for some variation in the amount of payment required to be made to producers for base milk, depending upon the location of the plant at which the milk is received from producers in relation to the principal consuming centers in the area. For the purpose of implementing this conclusion the marketing area is divided into three districts; district No. 1 including that part lying within the counties of King, Pierce, Snohomish and Thurston; district No. 2 including that part lying within the counties of Skagit and Whatcom; and district No. 3 including that part lying within the counties of Grays Harbor, Lewis and Pacific.

The cities of Seattle and Tacoma, located about midway between the northern and southern extremes of the production area, are the largest consuming centers of the marketing area. The quantity of Class I milk required at fluid milk plants in the principal consuming centers within the marketing area is in part received directly at such plants from farms and in part from other plants throughout the production area. The proportion from each source varies materially throughout the year depending upon the volume of direct-shipped milk in relation to total Class I requirements. Ordinarily, but with some exceptions, milk is brought in from country plants only when necessary to supplement the supply of direct-shipped milk.

Except for occasional brief periods, the total supply of milk produced in district No. 1 as a whole is insufficient to meet the entire requirements of the district for milk for fluid consumption. District No. 2 and, to some extent, district No. 3 and the Olympic peninsula produce, on the other hand, greater quantities than can be consumed in fluid form in local communities and constitute the principal reserve supply areas for markets in district No. 1.

Because of the necessity of drawing a portion of the district No. 1 supply from distant reserve supply areas the price of Class I milk at plants in the reserve supply areas should allow for the cost of transporting milk from such areas to fluid milk plants in the principal consuming centers when needed to supplement direct-shipped supplies. Much of the milk moved into fluid milk plants from country plants is hauled in tank trucks operated by cooperative and proprietary handlers. Substantial quantities of milk are moved, however, by contract haulers or common carriers at rates published by or on file with the State of Washington Public Service Commission. It appears on the basis of these contract rates that the prevailing charge for hauling milk by tank truck is 10 cents per hundredweight for hauls up to 20 miles and 25 cents for hauls of more than 20 miles, with an additional 10 cents applicable to milk moved by ferry into the marketing area from the Olympic peninsula. Since the distance to the principal consuming centers in district No. 1 from plants in areas from which the reserve supply is obtained is substantially more than 20 miles, it is concluded that 25 cents per hundredweight is the appropriate amount of the location adjustment credit to be allowed handlers per hundredweight of Class I milk in milk received at plants located outside of district No. 1 with an additional 10 cents at plants in Clallam and Jefferson counties. Sales in Kitsap and Mason counties of milk received at plants in those counties are not included in the pool, and therefore, no location adjustment is provided for Class I milk at plants located in those counties.

Consideration has been given to the request for an additional allowance to cover the costs incurred in the handling of milk in country plants. The costs of services performed at country plants, such as for receiving, weighing, testing, cooling, and can washing, are incurred also at fluid milk plants with respect to milk received directly from farms of producers, but are avoided at fluid milk plants when milk is received in tanks from country plants. Since the cost of such services is inherent in the receiving of milk from individual producers at any plant, no justification is found for a charge against the producers' price to cover the cost of such services when performed at a country plant.

If location adjustment credits were to be allowed on a greater volume of milk than is necessary to meet the Class I requirements of markets in district No. 1 the returns to producers (collectively) would be unnecessarily reduced. In order to avoid that result Class I milk at a district No. 1 fluid milk plant is assigned (pursuant to § 925.44) to sources outside of district No. 1 only to the extent to which the quantity of Class I milk at the transferee plant in district No. 1 exceeds the quantity of milk received at the plant from district No. 1 sources. A proposal was made to allow this credit on a quantity of milk greater than that indicated in view of relative fluctuations within a given month in the quantity of Class I milk sold and the amount of milk received directly from farms in the direct-ship area for district No. 1. A tolerance above the allowance on actual shipments for Class I uses, as computed, should not be included, however, in view of (a) the flexibility of operations available to the handler resulting from the inclusion of cream, a storable product, in Class I milk and (b) the apparent opportunities for the handler to adjust his requirements from country plant sources on a daily basis.

It is concluded that no location adjustment credit should be allowed on Class I milk at any plant located in district No. 1. Country plants in district No. 1 are located within the area from which milk is shipped directly from farms to fluid milk plants in the main consuming centers. Such plants exist primarily as alternative facilities for the procurement by handlers of milk originating in the district either for use in centrally located fluid milk plants or for distribution locally in the area surrounding the plants at which the milk is received from producers and do not appear essential to the maintenance of milk supplies in this area.

Associated with the fixing of location adjustments to handlers, by which process, together with the fixing of class prices, the amount of money to be paid by handlers to producers (collectively) is established, is the question of the manner in which that sum of money is to be distributed to producers. Elsewhere herein it is concluded that returns to producers should be distributed by means of a market-wide pool and "base and excess" plan. There is also the question of whether all producers should receive the same base price for milk of the same butterfat test without regard to the location of the plant at which the milk is first received. It is concluded that the base price payable to producers for milk delivered to plants located in district No. 1 should be 35 cents per hundredweight higher than for milk delivered to plants located in Clallam and Jefferson counties and 25 cents higher than for milk delivered to plants in districts Nos. 2 and 3 or outside of the marketing area in locations other than in the counties of Clallam, Jefferson, Kitsap, and Mason.

Such location adjustments reflect the approximate transportation disadvantage associated with the location of such plants and their farm supplies as sources of supply for the principal consuming centers in the marketing area. Transportation rates for milk moved in tank trucks to Seattle are 25 cents per hundredweight from plants located in districts Nos. 2 and 3 or outside of the marketing area, plus an extra 10 cents ferry cost from points on the Olympic peninsula. Prevailing rates for hauling milk in cans for direct delivery from farms or loading platforms to Seattle are established by zones and appear to range from 18 cents per hundredweight in the nearby territory just south of Seattle to about 27 cents in other parts of the direct-ship territory in district No. 1. Substantially the same rates apply generally to farm to plant hauls in other segments of the production area, leaving a net difference in transportation cost between plants in district No. 1 and country plants in other supply sources of about 25 cents.

It is concluded that no location adjustments should be provided in connection with payments to producers for milk received at country plants located in district No. 1. Such plants do not appear to be essential to district No. 1 producers as a means of making their milk available for the principal consuming centers in the marketing area. The alternative of direct delivery to city plants is entirely feasible and practical for all or nearly all producers delivering to such nearby country plants. If the marketing of the producers' milk by means of these plants is more expensive than by direct delivery to fluid milk plants such additional expense should not be charged to producers.

The assembly of milk at loading platforms is considered to be a part of the process of delivery from farms to a plant. Prices should apply at the plant of first receipt rather than at a loading platform. No location adjustment against the uniform price associated with loading platform assembly is necessary or appropriate since the delivery from his farm to the first plant, whether or not by way of a loading platform, is a responsibility of the producer.

Proposals were made at the hearing to relate the aggregate amount of producer location adjustments to the amount of the handler adjustments. Adoption of such proposals would result in producer location adjustments of variable amounts from month to month and would tend to narrow the rates of adjustment during seasons of relatively high production. Such variations appear to be without particular merit and to constitute unnecessary complications not contributing to a reasonable payment pattern.

Type of pool. (e) The "market-wide" type of pool should be established for the purpose of distributing among producers returns from the sale of their milk.

With only minor exception (milk entering Grays Harbor County), all Grade A milk produced for the marketing area as defined is eligible for sale in fluid form as milk and cream in all parts of such marketing area. However, much of the milk supply is concentrated in plants where it is held off the market and disposed of for manufacturing when not needed for fluid use. "Stand-by" plant facilities for receiving milk appear necessary as insurance against an inadequate market supply in view of inadequate supplies of "direct-shipped" milk during several months of the year and to provide an efficient method of handling seasonal surpluses. The use of the market-wide pool, under which the burden of surplus will be proportionately distributed among qualified producers, will permit such producers to receive a uniform price (with appropriate adjustments for location and differences in butterfat content of milk produced) and at the same time permit the efficient country handling of milk when it is not needed for shipment to city distribution plants for sale in fluid form as milk or cream. A market-wide pool also will permit all interested handlers to bid on large blocks of bid business, such as that offered by military installations and other public institutions, and to obtain the necessary supplies for such outlets without upsetting the market at such time as the business might shift from one handler to another. The use of "individual-handler" pools, under which producers delivering to each handler receive a uniform price based on such handler's individual utilization of milk, would not facilitate orderly marketing under circumstances now prevailing in the milkshed.

A "base and excess" plan of distributing among producers the market returns for milk should be employed in connection with the market-wide pool. The record reveals a wide seasonal variation in the production of milk and a need for the production of more milk in the fall and winter months relative to spring and summer levels. Deliveries of milk are more nearly equated to fluid milk and cream sales in the fall and winter months than in spring and summer. Some handlers in the market have difficulty in utilizing efficiently all milk delivered to them in the months of seasonally high production. By providing returns related directly to a producer's ability to deliver additional milk in the fall and winter as compared with deliveries in the spring and summer, a production pattern more nearly fitted to the sales pattern of fluid milk and cream will be encouraged. Base and excess plans in one form or another are operating widely within the market at the present time although individual producer bases are not established in a uniform manner. Such a means of distributing milk returns was proposed by the order proponents and has wide support among producers.

Study of the particular plan submitted by proponents disclosed some features which would tend to prevent full achievement of the objectives sought. Such plan would not guarantee the opportunity for full return at the base price in the fall months to those producers who increase deliveries at that time (this is the time of the year when the market supply is lowest, and also the period when the producer is to make his base for the coming year). In comparison the plan adopted will provide an "open period" each year from October through February, inclusive, in which all producers will receive a uniform, or blended, price for all milk delivered. All milk of a producer who delivered on at least 90 days during the months of October through January, inclusive, will become the foundation for computing his daily base to be applicable in the following March-September period. By providing an open period each year producers will receive a similar price for all milk delivered during the months they are competing to establish bases for future months. New producers enter the market from time to time, and, therefore, a method of computing bases for such producers is necessary. Accordingly, it is provided that such a producer will receive as a temporary base for the current month (in the March-September period) a percentage of his production in such month equivalent to the market-wide percentage between deliveries for the preceding base-making period and for the current month, less 10 percentage points. Such producer will establish a base in the regular manner as soon as he has delivered at least 90 days in the base-making period of October through January and thus has demonstrated his ability to deliver when the market most needs his milk.

At the beginning of the program, however, it would be unduly burdensome to establish bases for either category of producers. Proponents suggested that bases for 1951 be computed from information on producer milk deliveries covering certain months in 1950 and early 1951. However, it is not considered advisable to compute bases from information regarding deliveries in a prior period. It is more equitable to give all producers some advance notice of the period to be employed in the establishment of bases. Individual producer bases will be made effective in March 1952. Meanwhile, each producer's total monthly deliveries will be considered as base milk and a uniform price will be computed to apply to all such milk. This will not prevent, however, any cooperative association from making payment to producers in accordance with a base and excess plan of its own design.

It is necessary also to provide certain rules in connection with the establishment of bases to provide reasonable administrative workability of the plan. Contingencies such as the establishment of tenant-landlord operations and partnerships, the dissolution of such arrangements, changes in a producer's operations because of death or retirement, and the entry of new producers into the market create a need for covering provisions. Certain base rules, therefore, are included to meet these situations.

Administrative provisions. (f) Certain other provisions should be included in order to carry out administratively the purposes of the regulation.

Expense of administration. Each handler should be required to pay to the market administrator, as his prorata share in the costs of administration of the order, not more than 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not to exceed 4 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, on receipts of (a) producer milk and (b) other source milk classified as Class I milk.

The market administrator is required to verify the disposition of milk from all sources and therefore other source milk, as well as producer milk, should bear an appropriate share of the administrative cost. A charge on other source milk used as Class I milk will apportion appropriately the expenses among handlers.

Both handlers and producers recognize that the market administrator must have the necessary funds to enable him to administer properly the terms of the order. Proponents of the order suggested a rate of 4 cents per hundredweight. In view of the anticipated volume of milk on which the rate would apply, a maximum rate of 4 cents per hundredweight should be adopted to guarantee sufficient administrative income. In the event a lesser amount proves upon experience to be sufficient for proper administration, provision should be made to enable the Secretary to revise the assessment accordingly within the 4-cent maximum without the necessity of amending the order. The act provides that such assessments shall be the means of financing costs of administration.

Marketing services. Provision should be included for furnishing marketing services for producers who do not belong to a cooperative association performing such services, with appropriate deductions therefor. Orderly marketing will be promoted by assuring individual producers accurate payments based on the classification, price, and pooling provisions previously discussed. To accomplish this fully, it is necessary to determine that the butterfat tests and weights of their milk are accurate. In the case of producers who are members of cooperatives having plants, the matter of milk-testing and milk-weighing is under the complete control of such producers and is assessed against such producers either through an association check-off or as a plant operating cost. Bargaining associations in the area are performing check-weighing and check-testing services for their members under their association check-off. In order to place such services on a market-wide basis, the market administrator should provide them for producers not otherwise receiving services through a cooperative association. The additional service of providing market information to producers is carried on to some extent at present by the cooperatives although detailed information regarding market prices, supplies and the utilization of milk is not available to either the cooperative associations and their members or the independent producers. The record indicates that the furnishing to producers of additional data regarding prices, supplies, and utilization also would assist in orderly marketing.

Such a provision is specifically authorized by the act, and the proponents of the order proposed a rate of deduction of 5 cents per hundredweight with respect to the milk of producers who receive such services to cover expenses incurred. The cost of performing services will vary with the amount of milk involved at any given time and with the number and location of producers by plants. In view of the fact that independent producers are scattered among plants widely separated, it appears that the cost of such services will be relatively high and cannot be performed in the near future on less income than the proposed rate of deduction will afford. It is determined that the deductions for these services should be made from payments to producers and should be at the rate of 5 cents per hundredweight of milk until such time as it can be determined from experience that a lower rate will suffice. In the event any qualified cooperative association of producers is determined by the market administrator to be performing such services for its members, handlers would be required to pay to the cooperative association such deductions as are authorized by the members of the association.

Records and reports. Provisions should be included in the order for the purpose of requiring handlers to maintain adequate records and to make certain reports. Such records and reports are necessary for the purpose of determining proper classification, pricing and payment relative to the milk of producers. Producers proposed that such reports be filed with the market administrator on or before the 7th day after the end of the month. It is necessary to allow sufficient time following the month for the compiling and filing of reports by the handler but not to delay unduly the computation of the uniform price and payments to producers. It is concluded that the 6th day following the end of the month is the latest date on which such reports may be filed with the market administrator to permit a uniform price announcement by the 12th day after the end of the month.

The order should provide for the verification of each handler's reports to insure producers the proper returns for milk as provided for in the other sections of the order. It is necessary that the handler provide also whatever facilities are necessary to verify reports or to ascertain the correct information regarding the receipts and utilization of milk and payments to producers.

The proposal called for payment on or before the 15th day after the end of the month in the case of individual producers and on or before the 13th day after the end of the month when payment is made to a cooperative association authorized to collect for milk marketed through it. These dates, in view of the necessity of allowing adequate time for the filing of handler reports and for the necessary computation and announcement of producer prices, do not appear, however, to allow sufficient time for handlers to make the required payments to producers and cooperative associations. It is concluded, therefore, that handlers should be allowed until the 18th to make payment to individual producers and until the 16th to make payment to cooperative associations.

The prevailing practice in the market is for the major bargaining cooperatives to collect payment from operating handlers for milk delivered by their members to such handlers' plants and to distribute such payments to individual members through a pooling plan in which both bargaining and operating cooperatives participate. In order to preserve this appropriate function for cooperatives, it is concluded that the order should provide an opportunity for cooperatives to continue to distribute the returns from the sale of the milk of their members. Accordingly, the order requires a handler operating a fluid milk plant or a country plant to pay, upon request of a cooperative association, to the cooperative association the aggregate amount of the payments otherwise required to be made by the handler to individual producers who are members of the cooperative. A proposal made at the hearing to consider a bargaining cooperative to be a handler with respect to milk of its members received at fluid milk plants and country plants of proprietary operating handlers, thus requiring payment to the cooperative of the class utilization value of the milk and establishing the cooperative as the party primarily responsible for making a report of utilization to the market administrator and for payments to the producer-settlement and administrative assessment funds, should not be adopted. Its adoption would result in unnecessary administrative complications and duplication with respect to matters of reporting, classification, allocation, and payments by introducing a third party in transactions between the market administrator and those persons primarily to be regulated and who have first hand knowledge of the receipt and disposition of the milk to be priced. Moreover, it was not shown that the essential purposes of the order could not be effectuated without this complicating provision. The status of non-operating cooperatives and the opportunity for performance by them of appropriate bargaining functions is fully preserved without assignment to such cooperatives of certain unrealistic and cumbersome functions which would follow from their designation as handlers.

Retention of records. The order provides also for the retention of necessary records by handlers and for the ultimate termination of obligations. It is necessary for handlers to retain records in order to prove the utilization of milk and the payments made to producers. It is necessary that these records be kept for a substantial period of time since some transactions with respect to the handling of the producers' milk are not completed and audited until several months after producers have delivered the milk to the handler's plant. Detailed records of this kind soon assume tremendous physical proportions and become burdensome for this reason. It is necessary that a definite time period be provided within which handlers must maintain their records and after which they will be relieved of so doing. The order should provide that handlers shall retain records for three years after the end of the month to which such records related. In terms of the volume of records which would be retained and the types of transactions involved in disposing of milk, the retention of records for three years is concluded to be a reasonable requirement. If litigation is in progress, it may be necessary to require records to be retained for a longer period and provision should be made for this contingency.

Termination of obligations. The order should provide for the termination of obligations to handlers after a reasonable period of time has elapsed. Without such a provision handlers may file claims which, because the period involved might extend back over many years, could be in substantial amounts. This creates uncertaintlies which would endanger the stability of the market and lead to serious inequities. The order should provide that any obligation to pay a handler shall terminate two years after the month in which the milk was received if an underpayment is claimed, or within two years after payment was made if a refund is claimed, unless within such period of time the handler files a petition, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, claiming such money. Handlers also need the protection of provisions terminating their obligations to make payments. Since handlers cannot be forewarned always as to contingent liabilities, it is extremely difficult and burdensome for them to make adequate provisions therefor by setting up reserves or by taking other precautionary measures. The obligation of any handler to pay money should, except under certain extraordinary conditions, such as litigation, terminate two years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's report of utilization of the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. It is concluded that in general, a period of two years is a reasonable time within which a market administrator should complete his auditing and inspection work and render any billings for money due under the order. Provisions are necessary also, as contained in the order included herewith, to meet such contingencies as failure of the handler to submit required books and records and to deal with situations where fraud or willful concealment of information may be involved.

It was proposed that if a handler fails to make the required reports or payments, his name shall be publicly announced at the discretion of the market administrator. Such announcement is provided for by the act, and it is concluded that its adoption will facilitate the enforcement of the terms of the order.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on proposed findings, conclusions and motions. Briefs were filed on behalf of the United Dairymen's Association (proponent), the Kitsap Dairymen's Association, and a substantial number of the handlers. The briefs contained proposed findings of fact, conclusions and argument with respect to the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that such suggested findings and conclusions contained in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

Motions were filed after the hearing on behalf of a group of handlers to (a) reopen the hearing, (b) fix a date for the filing of reply briefs, and (c) provide an opportunity for oral argument prior to the issuance of a recommended decision. It was requested further that the present proposal of the proponents be rejected in toto and that no decision be reached on the issuance of an order until "the submittal of a new and definite proposal by the proponents upon which the handlers may then have an adequate opportunity to meet the issues." It was contended that this is necessary to a meaningful record under the statute.

The purposes of reopening the hearing, as stated in the motion of handlers, were to permit the production of evidence showing that (a) two increases, each in the amount of 40 cents per hundredweight, have been made since the hearing in the price paid by handlers for Grade A milk for fluid uses, and (b) any disproportionate sharing of surplus milk between cooperatives and other handlers which may have prevailed prior to July 1950 has completely disappeared.

Since official notice is taken herein of the price increases to which the motion refers, a reopening of the hearing to permit handlers to produce evidence to that effect is unnecessary and unwarranted. Production of evidence showing complete disappearance of disproportion in sharing of the surplus in the market during the last half of 1950 would not materially alter the basic findings and conclusions herein set forth. The motion to reopen the hearing is denied.

Full opportunity for all interested parties to be heard on all issues in this proceeding was provided at the hearing. Ample time was allowed following the hearing for the filing of briefs and proposed findings and conclusions. A reasonable period of time subsequent to the issuance of this recommended decision is allowed for the filing of exceptions to the findings and conclusions and to the recommended marketing agreement and order contained herein. Such procedure provides adequate opportunity for all interested parties to present their views and arguments and leaves no useful purpose to be served by oral argument or reply briefs. Accordingly, the motions to provide for such oral argument and reply briefs are denied.

It is concluded further that a decision on the issues, including the proposed provisions of an order, should not be made to await the submittal by the proponents of another proposal for hearing. In our view the issues are clear in the record. As previously stated, there has been ample opportunity for interested parties to meet such issues. Therefore, the request to await the submittal by the proponents of further proposals for hearing prior to a decision on the issues is denied.

Recommended marketing agreement and order. The following order is recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which these conclusions may be carried out. The proposed marketing agreement is not included because the regulatory provisions thereof would be the same as those contained in the order:

DEFINITIONS

§ 925.1 Act. "Act" means Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress, as amended, and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

§ 925.2 Secretary. "Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture, or other officer or employee of the United States authorized to exercise the powers or to perform the duties of the said Secretary of Agriculture.

§ 925.3 Department. "Department" means the United States Department of Agriculture or such other Federal agency authorized to perform the price reporting functions specified in this part.

§ 925.4 Person. "Person" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or any other business unit.

§ 925.5 Cooperative association. "Cooperative association" means any cooperative marketing association of producers, duly organized as such under the laws of any state, which includes members who are producers as defined in § 925.12 and which the Secretary determines, after application by the association:

(a) To be qualified under the standards set forth in the act of Congress of February 18, 1922, as amended, known as the "Capper-Volstead Act";

(b) To have its entire organization and all of its activities under the control of its members; and

(c) To be currently engaged in making collective sales of or marketing milk or its products for its members.

§ 925.6 Puget Sound, Washington, Marketing Area. "Puget Sound, Washington, Marketing Area" (hereinafter called the "marketing area") means all territory lying west of range 8E in Whatcom, Skagit, Snohomish, and King Counties; all territory lying west of range 8E and north of township 18N in Pierce County, except Fox, McNeil, and Anderson Islands and the peninsulas on which Lake Bay and Gig Harbor are located northward to the Kitsap County line; all territory lying within Thurston County; all territory lying west of range 5E in Lewis County; all territory lying east of range 10W and north of township 12N in Pacific County; and all territory lying south of township 19N in Grays Harbor County; all in the State of Washington. As used in this section, "territory" shall include all municipal corporations, Federal military reservations, facilities and installations, and state institutions lying wholly or partly within the above-described area. "District No. 1" of the marketing area shall include that part of the marketing area lying within the counties of King, Pierce, Snohomish, and Thurston. "District No. 2" of the marketing area shall include that part of the marketing area lying within the counties of Skagit and Whatcom, and "District No. 3" of the marketing area shall include that part of the marketing area lying within the counties of Grays Harbor, Lewis and Pacific.

§ 925.7 Plant. "Plant" means the land, buildings, surroundings, facilities and equipment, whether owned or operated by one or more persons, constituting a single operating unit or establishment which is maintained and operated primarily for the receiving, handling and processing of milk or milk products.

§ 925.8 Fluid milk plant. "Fluid milk plant" means any plant located in the marketing area which is approved by any health authority having jurisdiction in the marketing area as a plant from which milk may be distributed for consumption as fluid milk in the marketing area, and from which during the month Class I milk pursuant to § 925.41 (a) (1) is disposed of (including sales at such plant, plant store or eating place) within the marketing area.

§ 925.9 Country plant. "Country plant" means any plant, other than a fluid milk plant, which is approved by any health authority having jurisdiction within the marketing area for the receiving of milk qualified for consumption as fluid milk within the marketing area (but excluding that portion of any plant used to receive or process milk or milk products required by applicable health authority regulations to be kept physically separate from milk so qualified): Provided, That a plant located outside of the marketing area and outside of the counties of Clallam and Jefferson shall not be a country plant if the percentage of either butterfat or skim milk in milk so qualified which is received at the plant from dairy farmers and moved in fluid form as milk to a fluid milk plant, or disposed of within the marketing area as Class I milk pursuant to § 925.41 (a) (1), is less than:

(a) 50 percent in the current month during the period October through December;

(b) 20 percent in the current month during the period January through September: Provided, That if the percentage was more than 50 percent for the entire period of October through December immediately preceding no percentage shall be required for such months of January through September.

A plant which otherwise meets the requirements of this section shall not be classified as a country plant in any of the months of February through September in which the operator of the plant files with the market administrator, prior to the first day of any such month, a written request that the plant not be so classified.

§ 925.10 Nonpool plant. "Nonpool plant" means any plant other than a fluid milk plant or a country plant.

§ 925.11 Dairy farmer. "Dairy farmer" means any person who is engaged in the production of milk.

§ 925.12 Producer. "Producer" means any dairy farmer, other than a producer-handler, who produces milk qualified by any health authority having jurisdiction in the marketing area for consumption as fluid milk in the marketing area.

§ 925.13 Producer milk. "Producer milk" or "milk received from producers" means all milk produced in the manner described in § 925.12 and either received directly from a farm at a fluid milk plant or at a country plant, or caused to be diverted by a handler for his account from such a plant to a nonpool plant: Provided, That milk so diverted shall be deemed to have been received by the diverting handler at the location of the plant from which it was diverted.

§ 925.14 Other source milk. "Other source milk" means all skim milk and butterfat other than in (a) producer milk, and (b) milk and milk products received from fluid milk plants and country plants.

§ 925.15 Handler. "Handler" means:

(a) Any person engaged in the handling of milk in his capacity as the operator of a fluid milk plant, a country plant, or any other plant from which milk in any of the forms specified in § 925.41 (a) is disposed of to any place or establishment within the marketing area other than a plant, and

(b) Any cooperative association, which is not a handler pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, with respect to producer milk caused to be diverted for the account of such cooperative association from a fluid milk plant or a country plant to a nonpool plant.

§ 925.16 Producer-handler. "Producer-handler" means any person who is both a producer and a handler, but who receives no milk from other producers: Provided, That (a) the maintenance, care and management of the dairy animals and other resources necessary to produce milk is the personal enterprise of and at the personal risk of such person in his capacity as a producer, and (b) the processing, packaging, and distribution of the milk is the personal enterprise of and at the personal risk of such person in his capacity as a handler.

§ 925.17 Base. "Base" means a quantity of milk, expressed in pounds per day, computed pursuant to § 925.60.

§ 925.18 Base milk. "Base milk" means milk delivered by a producer each month, which is not in excess of his base multiplied by the number of days of delivery in such month.

§ 925.19 Excess milk. "Excess milk" means milk delivered by a producer in excess of base milk.

MARKET ADMINISTRATOR

§ 925.20 Designation. The agency for the administration of this part shall be a market administrator, selected by the Secretary, who shall be entitled to such compensation as may be designated by, and shall be subject to removal at the discretion of the Secretary.

§ 925.21 Powers. The market administrator shall have the following powers with respect to this part:

(a) To administer its terms and provisions;

(b) To receive, investigate, and report to the Secretary complaints of violations;

(c) To make rules and regulations to effectuate its terms and provisions; and

(d) To recommend amendments to the Secretary.

§ 925.22 Duties. The market administrator shall perform all duties necessary to administer the terms and provisions of this part, including but not limited to the following:

(a) Within 30 days following the date on which he enters upon his duties, or such lesser period as may be prescribed by the Secretary, execute and deliver to the Secretary a bond effective as of the date on which he enters upon such duties and conditioned upon the faithful performance of such duties, in an amount and with surety thereon satisfactory to the Secretary;

(b) Employ and fix the compensation of such persons as may be necessary to enable him to administer its terms and provisions;

(c) Obtain a bond in a reasonable amount and with reasonable surety thereon covering each employee who handles funds entrusted to the market administrator;

(d) Pay out of funds provided by § 925.88 the cost of his bond and of the bonds of his employees, his own compensation, and all other expenses (except those incurred under § 925.87) necessarily incurred by him in the maintenance and functioning of his office and in the performance of his duties;

(e) Keep such books and records as will clearly reflect the transactions provided for in this part, and upon request by the Secretary surrender the same to such other person as the Secretary may designate;

(f) Submit his books and records to examination by the Secretary and furnish such information and reports as may be requested by the Secretary;

(g) Audit all reports and payments by each handler by inspection of such handler's records and of the records of any other handler or person upon whose utilization the classification of skim milk or butterfat for such handler depends;

(h) Publicly announce, at his discretion, unless otherwise directed by the Secretary, by posting in a conspicuous place in his office and by such other means as he deems appropriate, the name of any person who, within 10 days after the day upon which he is required to perform such acts, has not:

(1) Made reports pursuant to §§ 925.30 to 925.32, inclusive; or

(2) Made one or more of the payments pursuant to §§ 925.80 to 925.88, inclusive.

(i) On or before the 12th day after the end of each month, report to each cooperative association (or its duly designated agent) which so requests the class utilization of milk caused to be delivered by such cooperative association directly from farms of producers who are members of such cooperative association to each handler to whom the cooperative association sells milk. For the purpose of this report, the milk caused to be so delivered by such a cooperative association shall be prorated to each class in the proportion that the total receipts of producer milk by such handler were used in each class;

(j) On or before the 12th day after the end of each month, notify:

(1) Each handler whose total value of milk is computed pursuant to § 925.70 (a) of:

(i) The amounts and values of his producer milk in each class and the totals of such amounts and values;

(ii) The amount of any charge made pursuant to § 925.70 (a) (5);

(iii) The uniform prices for base milk and excess milk;

(iv) The totals of the amounts computed in the manner provided by § 925.80 (a);

(v) The amount due such handler from the producer-settlement fund or the amount to be paid by such handler to the producer-settlement fund, as the case may be; and

(vi) The totals of the amounts required to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 925.87 and 925.88.

(2) Each handler whose total value of milk is computed pursuant to § 925.70 (b) of the pounds of other source milk on which payment is required to be made and the amount due the producer-settlement fund from such handler.

(k) Publicly announce by posting in a conspicuous place in his office and by such other means as he deems appropriate the prices determined for each month as follows:

(1) On or before the 5th day of each month the minimum price for Class I milk pursuant to § 925.51 (a) and the Class I butterfat differential pursuant to § 925.52 (a), both for the current month; and the minimum price for Class II milk pursuant to § 925.51 (b) and the Class II butterfat differential pursuant to § 925.52 (b), both for the preceding month; and

(2) On or before the 12th day of each month, the uniform price computed pursuant to § 925.71 and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 925.82, both applicable to producer milk received during the preceding month; and

(l) Prepare and disseminate to the public such statistics and information as he deems advisable and as do not reveal confidential information.

REPORTS, RECORDS AND FACILITIES

§ 925.30 Monthly reports of receipts and utilization. On or before the 6th day of each month and in the detail and on forms prescribed by the market administrator, each person who is a handler pursuant to § 925.15 (a), except a producer-handler, shall report for the preceding month to the market administrator with respect to milk and milk products received at each of such handler's fluid milk plants and country plants, and at each of his plants where milk or milk products subject to payments required under § 925.70 (b) were handled, and each cooperative association which is a handler pursuant to § 925.15 (b) shall report with respect to milk diverted on its account during the preceding month, as follows:

(a) The quantities of skim milk and butterfat contained in milk received from producers and dairy farmers;

(b) The quantities of skim milk and butterfat contained in milk and milk products received from other handlers;

(c) The quantities of skim milk and butterfat contained in other source milk received (except Class II milk products disposed of in the form in which received without further processing by the handler);

(d) The utilization of all skim milk and butterfat required to be reported pursuant to this section, including the pounds of skim milk and butterfat on hand at the beginning and end of each month as milk and milk products;

(e) The aggregate quantities of base milk and excess milk received; and

(f) Such other information with respect to such receipts and utilization as the market administrator may prescribe.

§ 925.31 Payroll reports. On or before the 20th day of each month, each handler shall submit to the market administrator his producer payroll for deliveries of the preceding month which shall show:

(a) The total pounds of base milk and the total pounds of excess milk received from each producer, the pounds of butterfat contained in such milk, and the number of days on which milk was delivered by such producer in such month.

(b) The amount of payment to each producer and cooperative association; and

(c) The nature and amount of any deductions or charges involved in such payments.

§ 925.32 Other reports. At such times and in such manner as the market administrator may prescribe:

(a) Each handler shall report to the market administrator such information in addition to that required under § 925.30 as may be requested by the market administrator with respect to milk and milk products handled by him;

(b) Each producer-handler shall report to the market administrator relative to his receipts and utilization of milk and milk products.

§ 925.33 Records and facilities. Each handler shall maintain and make available to the market administrator or to his representative during the usual hours of business such accounts and records of his operations and such facilities as are necessary for the market administrator to verify or to establish the correct data with respect to the information required to be reported pursuant to §§ 925.30, 925.31, and 925.32 and to payments required to be made pursuant to §§ 925.80 through 925.88.

§ 925.34 Retention of records. All books and records required under this part to be made available to the market administrator shall be retained by the handler for a period of three years to begin at the end of the month to which such books and records pertain: Provided, That, if, within such three-year period, the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that the retention of such books and records, or of specified books and records, is necessary in connection with a proceeding under section 8c (15) (A) of the act or a court action specified in such notice, the handler shall retain such books and records, or specified books and records, until further written notification from the market administrator. In either case the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 925.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat received within the month by a handler which is required to be reported pursuant to § 925.30 shall be classified by the market administrator pursuant to the provisions of §§ 925.41 to 925.45, inclusive.

§ 925.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 925.42, 925.43 and 925.44, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat (1) disposed of in the form of milk (including milk frozen), skim milk, buttermilk, yogurt, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cream (sweet or sour), any mixture (not including ice cream mix disposed of to a commercial processor or any mixture disposed of in containers or dispensers under pressure for the purpose of dispensing a whipped or aerated product) of cream and milk or skim milk in fluid form, and (2) not specifically accounted for under paragraph (b) of this section;

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) disposed of or on hand (or used to produce, in the case of ice cream, aerated cream products, and and frozen desserts) any product other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section, (2) disposed of for livestock feed, (3) disposed of in bulk to bakeries, soup companies, and candy manufacturing establishments in their capacity as such, (4) contained in monthly inventory variations, (5) in actual shrinkage of producer milk computed pursuant to § 925.42 but not in excess of 3 percent of the quantity of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, accounted for pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (except that accounted for pursuant to the parenthetical provision in such subparagraph), and (6) in actual shrinkage of other source milk computed pursuant to § 925.42.

§ 925.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall determine the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in producer milk and in other source milk in the following manner:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, between the pounds of producer milk and other source milk after deducting receipts from other handlers.

§ 925.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves that such skim milk and butterfat should be classified as Class II milk.

(b) The burden shall rest upon each handler to establish the sources of milk and milk products required to be reported by him pursuant to § 925.30.

(c) Except as provided in § 925.44 (a) (3) and (c) (1), any skim milk or butterfat classified in one class shall be reclassified if used or reused by any handler in another class.

§ 925.44 Transfers. Skim milk and butterfat moved in any of the forms specified in § 925.41 (a) (1) from one plant to another shall be assigned (separately) to each class in the following manner:

(a) From country plants to fluid milk plants and between fluid milk plants:

(1) As Class I milk to the extent Class I milk is available at the transferee plant if the transfer is (i) from a country plant or fluid milk plant located in district No. 1 to any fluid milk plant, (ii) from a country plant located outside district No. 1 to a fluid milk plant in district No. 2 or district No. 3, or (iii) between fluid milk plants not located in district No. 1.

(2) As Class I milk to the extent Class I milk is available at the transferee plant if the transfer is from a country plant or fluid milk plant located outside district No. 1 to a fluid milk plant in district No. 1: Provided, That the quantity of Class I milk at the transferee plant available for assignment to the transferor plant shall be limited to the amount remaining after Class I milk in the transferee plant has been assigned first receipts from country plants located in district No. 1, and then to receipts directly from producers at the transferee fluid milk plant: And pro- vided further, That if such transfers originate with more than one plant located outside district No. 1 the total quantity of Class I milk available for assignment to such plants shall be prorated among such plants in proportion to the respective quantities transferred.

(3) As Class I milk if the transfer is to the plant of a producer-handler.

(b) From a fluid milk plant or country plant to a country plant: As Class II milk: Provided, That (1) the skim milk is butterfat so assigned to Class II milk shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in Class II milk in the transferee plant after the subtraction, pursuant to § 925.45 (b) (2), of other source milk received at such plant, and (2) any additional amounts of such skim milk or butterfat shall be assigned to Class I milk.

(c) From a country plant or fluid milk plant to a nonpool plant:

(1) As Class I milk if the transfer is to a nonpool plant not located in the marketing area or in the counties of Clallam, Jefferson, Grays Harbor, Kitsap, Island, or Mason in the State of Washington.

(2) As Class I milk if the transfer is to a nonpool plant not located in the marketing area but within the counties named in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph which is engaged in the distribution of milk for consumption as fluid milk, unless the receipts and utilization of milk and milk products at the nonpool plant are reported to the market administrator and he is permitted to audit the records of such nonpool plant for the purpose of verification; and if such conditions are met, the milk transferred shall be classified as follows:

(i) The classification of all skim milk and butterfat at such nonpool plant shall be determined on the basis of the classes of utilization set forth in § 925.41; and

(ii) The skim milk and butterfat so transferred shall be allocated to Class I milk to the extent available at such plant and any remaining quantity to Class II milk.

(3) As Class II milk if the transfer is to a nonpool plant located in the marketing area or within any of the counties specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph which is not engaged in the distribution of milk for consumption as fluid milk: Provided, That if such plant disposes of skim milk or butterfat in any of the forms specified in § 925.41 (a) (1) to any other nonpool plant distributing milk in fluid form which is not located in the marketing area or in the counties specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, such disposition up to the quantity of producer milk transferred to the first nonpool plant shall be classified as Class I milk.

§ 925.45 Computation of the quantity of producer milk in each class. For each handler the market administrator shall:

(a) Correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the monthly report submitted by such handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class;

(b) Allocate skim milk in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk shrinkage allowed pursuant to § 925.41 (b) (5);

(2) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk in other source milk received: Provided, That if the receipts of skim milk in other source milk are greater than the pounds of skim milk in Class II milk, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class I milk;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk received from other fluid milk plants and country plants;

(4) Add to the remaining pounds of Class II milk, the amount subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(5) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in milk received from producers, subtract such excess (hereinafter referred to as "overage") from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class beginning with Class II milk.

(c) Allocate butterfat in accordance with the procedure prescribed for skim milk in paragraph (b) with this section.

(d) Add together for each class the quantities of skim milk and butterfat in such class computed pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section and compute the weighted average butterfat content of such class.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 925.50 Basic formula price to be used in determining Class I prices. The basic formula to be used in computing the price per hundredweight of Class I milk for the current month shall be the highest of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section for the preceding month.

(a) Divide by 3.5 and then multiply by 4.0 the average of the basic, or field, prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid, or to be paid, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from dairy farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department:

Present Operator and Location

Borden Co., Mount Pleasant, Mich.
Carnation Co., Sparta, Mich.
Pet Milk Co., Hudson, Mich.
Pet Milk Co., Wayland, Mich.
Pet Milk Co., Coopersville, Mich.
Borden Co., Greenville, Wis.

Borden Co., Orfordville, Wis.
Borden Co., New London, Wis.
Carnation Co., Chilton, Wis.
Carnation Co., Berlin, Wis.
Carnation Co., Richland Center, Wis.
Carnation Co., Oconomowoc, Wis.
Carnation Co., Jefferson, Wis.
Pet Milk Co., New Glarue, Wis.
Pet Milk Co., Belleville, Wis.
White House Milk Co., Manitowoc, Wis.
White House Milk Co., West Bend, Wis.

(b) The price per hundredweight computed by the market administrator from the following formula:

(1) Multiply the simple average of the daily average wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk cremery butter per pound at Chicago, as reported by the Department during the month, by 6;

(2) Add 2.4 times the simple average, as published by the Department, of the prices determined per pound of "Cheddars" on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin, for the trading days that fall within the month;

(3) Divide by 7;

(4) Add 50 percent thereof; and

(5) Multiply by 4.

(c) The price per hundredweight computed by the market administrator from the following formula:

(1) Multiply by 4.8 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade AA (93-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago, as reported by the Department during the month: Provided, That, if no price is reported for Grade AA (93-score) butter, the highest of the prices reported for Grade A (92-score) butter for that day shall be used in lieu of the price for Grade AA (93-score) butter;

(2) Multiply by 8.2 the simple average of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department; and

(3) From the sum of the results arrived at under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, subtract 67 cents.

§ 925.51 Class prices. Subject to the differential provided in § 925.52, the following are the minimum prices per hundredweight to handlers for Class I milk and Class II milk:

(a) Class I milk. The price for Class I milk shall be $5.56 per hundredweight reduced by steps of 23 cents per hundredweight in each three-month period after January of any year following 1951 if, during the period October-December immediately preceding, the pounds of Class I milk for all handlers (computed pursuant to § 925.45 (d)) is less than 80 percent of the total pounds of milk received by such handlers from producers: Provided, That at such time as the basic formula price plus $1.45 results in a price for the month higher than that computed prior to this proviso, the Class I price for such month and for each month thereafter shall be the basic formula price plus $1.45.

(b) Class II milk. The price for Class II milk shall be that computed by the market administrator from the following formula:

(1) Multiply by 4.8 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade AA (93-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at San Francisco, as reported by the Department during the month: Provided, That, if no price is reported for Grade AA (93-score) butter, the highest of the prices reported for Grade A (92-score) butter for that day shall be used in lieu of the price for Grade AA (93-score) butter;

(2) Multiply by 8.2 the simple average of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department; and

(3) From the sum of the results arrived at under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, subtract 70 cents.

§ 925.52 Butterfat differential to handlers. If the average butterfat content of the producer milk of any handler allocated to any class pursuant to § 925.45 is more or less than 4.0 percent, there shall be added to the respective class prices computed pursuant to § 925.51 for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 4.0 percent, or subtracted for each one-tenth of 1 percent that such average butterfat content is below 4.0 percent, a butterfat differential computed by multiplying the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at San Francisco as reported by the Department during the preceding month by the applicable factor listed below and dividing the result by 10:

(a) Class I milk: Multiply by 1.40;

(b) Class II milk: Multiply by 1.15.

§ 925.53 Location adjustment credit to handlers. In computing the value of each handler's milk there shall be credited with respect to skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in producer milk received at a plant located outside of district No. 1 and the counties of Kitsap and Mason and classified as Class I milk, 25 cents per hundredweight: Provided, That an additional 10 cents shall be credited with respect to skim milk and butterfat so received and classified at any plant located in Clallam or Jefferson counties.

DETERMINATION OF BASE

§ 925.60 Computation of daily base. Subject to the rules set forth in § 925.61, the market administrator shall determine daily bases for producers in the manner provided in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section:

(a) During the period from the effective date of this part through September 1951 and during the period from October of any year through February of the next year, inclusive, each producer's base shall be his total pounds of milk delivered to a handler(s) in the current month divided by the number of days of such producer's delivery in such month.

(b) During each of the months of March through September, inclusive, of each year after 1951, the daily base of each producer whose milk was received by a handler(s) on not less than 90 days during the immediately preceding months of October through January, inclusive, shall be a quantity computed by the market administrator by dividing such producer's total pounds of milk delivered in such four-month period by the number of days on which delivery was made.

(c) During the period from March through September, inclusive, of each year after 1951, the daily base for the current month of any producer who is not eligible to receive a base computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section shall be a quantity computed by the handler, subject to verification by the market administrator, by dividing such producer's total pounds of milk delivered to a handler(s) in the current month divided by the number of days of his delivery in such month and multiplied by the percentage applicable for such month computed by the market administrator as follows: divide the daily average deliveries of milk to handlers by all producers in the period from October of the preceding year through January of the current year, inclusive, by the daily average deliveries of all producers to handlers in the current month, and subtract 10 from the figure so obtained.

§ 925.61 Base rules. The following rules shall be observed in the determination of bases:

(a) A producer with a base, including a landlord or tenant, shall retain such base when moving his entire herd from one farm to another: Provided, That at the beginning of a tenant and landlord relationship the bases of both landlord and tenant shall be combined.

(b) A landlord who rents to a tenant on a share basis is entitled to the entire base if the landlord owns the entire herd. A tenant who rents on a share basis is entitled to the entire base if the tenant owns the entire herd. In the event both landlord and tenant have ownership in a herd, the base shall be combined base to be divided equally between the joint owners when such share basis is terminated: Provided, That if the market administrator is notified in writing by both parties on or before the last day of any month of an agreement to divide the base otherwise, such base shall be divided in acordance with such agreement beginning with such month.

(c) In the case of a landlord or tenant who owns a herd and has no base computed pursuant to § 925.60 (b), who combines herds with a landlord or tenant having a base so computed, such base may be relinquished by notifying the market administrator within 10 days after the herds are combined and a new base acquired with respect to the total deliveries from the combined herds in accordance with the method provided in § 925.60 (c) beginning with the month in which such notification is given.

(d) A producer who ceases deliveries to a fluid milk plant or country plant for more than 45 days shall lose his base if computed pursuant to § 925.60 (b) and if he resumes deliveries to such a plant he shall be paid on a base determined pursuant to § 925.60 (c) until he can establish a new base under § 925.60 (b) beginning the next March 1.

(e) A base may be transferred only in the event of the death or retirement of a person having a base where a member of his immediate family continues to supply producer milk to a handler from the same farm.

(f) By notifying the market administrator at least 30 days in advance, a producer having a base established pursuant to § 925.60 (b) may relinquish such base by cancellation once in any 12-month period ending with January, and acquire a base to be effective until the next March 1 in the manner provided by § 925.60 (e).

(g) In the event of a partnership, the base computed pursuant to § 925.60 (b) shall be a combined base and in the event of dissolution of the partnership, the base shall be divided equally between the partners when such partnership is terminated: Provided, That if the market administrator is notified in writing by both parties on or before the last day of any month of an agreement to divide the base otherwise, such base shall be divided in accordance with such agreement beginning with such month.

(h) As soon as bases computed by the market administrator are allotted, notice of the amount of each producer's base shall be given by the market administrator to the handler receiving the producer's milk and to the cooperative association of which the producer is a member.

(i) If a producer operates more than one farm, he shall establish a separate base with respect to producer milk delivered from each such farm.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 925.70 Computation of value of milk. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, the total value of milk received during any month by each handler, including a cooperative association, shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator as follows:

(1) Multiply the pounds of producer milk in each class for such month by the class price (§ 925.51) and add together the resulting amounts;

(2) Deduct the total amount of all location adjustment credits computed in accordance with § 925.53;

(3) Add or subtract, as the case may be, the amount necessary to correct errors as disclosed by the verification of reports of such handler of his receipts and utilization of skim milk and butterfat in previous months for which payment has not been made;

(4) Add, if such handler had overage, an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 925.45 by the applicable class price; and

(5) Add, with respect to other source milk received at such handler's fluid milk plant(s) and country plant(s) in excess of the total volume of his Class II milk (except allowable shrinkage) at such plant an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of such other source milk by the difference between the Class I milk and Class II milk prices (§ 925.51), and in the case of a fluid milk plant or country plant located outside of district No. 1 and the counties of Kitsap and Mason, reduced by 25 cents per hundredweight.

(b) The value of milk of each handler who during the month received only other source milk and disposed of any such milk within the marketing area as Class I milk pursuant to § 925.41 (a) (1) shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the hundredweight of such other source milk so disposed of by the difference between the Class I milk and Class II milk prices (§ 925.51) and, in the case of disposition within districts Nos. 2 and 3, reduced by 25 cents per hundredweight.

§ 925.71 Computation of uniform price. For each month the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and excess milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 925.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 925.30 and, after this order has been in effect for two months, who made the payments pursuant to § 925.84 for the preceding month;

(b) Add the aggregate of the values of the location adjustments on base milk allowable pursuant to § 925.81.

(c) Add an amount representing not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(d) Subtract, if the average butterfat content of the milk represented by the values included under paragraph (a) of this section is greater than 4.0 percent, or add, if such average butterfat content is less than 4.0 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 4.0 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 925.82 and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(e) Multiply the hundredweight of excess milk by the Class II price for 4.0 percent milk;

(f) Compute the total value of base milk by subtracting the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section from the net amount computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section: Provided, That if such result is greater than an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of base milk by the Class I milk price (for 4.0 percent milk), such amount in excess thereof shall be subtracted from the result obtained prior to this proviso;

(g) Divide the net amount obtained in paragraph (f) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk and subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents. This result shall be known as the uniform price per hundredweight of base milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content; and

(h) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (e) of this section plus any amount subtracted pursuant to the proviso of paragraph (f) of this section by the hundredweight of excess milk and subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents. This result shall be known as the uniform price per hundredweight of excess milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content.

PAYMENTS

§ 925.80 Time and method of payment to producers and to cooperative associations. (a) On or before the 18th day after the end of each month, each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall make payment to each producer, for milk received at his plant from such producer during such month, pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph: Provided, That such payment shall be made, upon request, to a cooperative association, or to its duly authorized agent, qualified under § 925.5 with respect to milk received from each producer who has given such association authorization by contract or by other written instrument to collect the proceeds from the sale of his milk, and any payment made pursuant to this proviso shall be made on or before the 16th day after the end of such month: And provided further, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 925.85, he shall not be deemed to be in violation of this paragraph if he reduces uniformly for all producers his payments per hundredweight pursuant to this paragraph by a total amount not in excess of the reduction in payment from the market administrator; however, the handler shall make such balance of payment uniformly to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator:

(1) At not less than the uniform price for base milk for the quantity of base milk received, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 925.82 and by the applicable location adjustment provided in § 925.81; and

(2) At not less than the uniform price for excess milk for the quantity of excess milk received, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 925.82.

(b) On or before the 16th day after the end of each month each handler shall pay to each cooperative association which operates a fluid milk plant or country plant, for milk received from such cooperative association during such month, an amount of money representing not less than the total value of such milk computed by multiplying the pounds of such milk in each class by the class price less the amount of the location adjustment credits pursuant to § 925.53.

(c) None of the provisions of this section shall be construed to restrict any cooperative association qualified under section 8c (5) (F) of the act from making payment for milk to its producers in accordance with such provision of the act.

§ 925.81 Location adjustment to producers. In making payments to producers pursuant to § 925.80 (a) (1), an amount not to exceed 25 cents may be deducted per hundredweight of base milk received from producers at a plant located outside of district No. 1 and the counties of Kitsap or Mason: Provided, That an additional 10 cents per hundredweight may be deducted for base milk received from producers at a plant located in Clallam or Jefferson counties.

(b) At the fluid milk plant of the Enumclaw Cooperative Creamery Company at Enumclaw, at country plants and fluid milk plants located within the marketing area in the counties of Grays Harbor, Lewis and Pacific, and at country plants located within the marketing area in the counties of King, Pierce, Snohomish and Thurston, 15 cents per hundredweight.

§ 925.82 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 925.80 (a) for base milk and for excess milk, there shall be added to, or subtracted from, the uniform prices thereof for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of the milk received from the producer is above or below 4.0 percent, a butterfat differential computed by the market administrator as follows: Multiply the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at San Francisco, as reported by the Department during the month in which the milk was received, by 1.4 in the case of base milk, and by 1.15 in the case of excess milk, and, in each case, divide the resulting amount by 10, and round to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

§ 925.83 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund," into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to § 925.84 and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to § 925.85.

§ 925.84 Payment to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator the amount, if any, by which the total value of such handler's milk as determined pursuant to § 925.70 is greater than the value of such handler's producer milk computed at the minimum uniform prices as specified in § 925.80 (a).

§ 925.85 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 16th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, the market administrator shall pay to each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, the amount, if any, by which the total value of such handler's milk as determined pursuant to § 925.70 is less than the value of such handler's producer milk computed at the minimum uniform prices as specified in § 925.80 (a), and less any unpaid obligations of such handler to the market administrator pursuant to §§ 925.84, 925.86, 925.87, and 925.88: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available.

§ 925.86 Adjustments of accounts. Whenever verification by the market administrator of reports or payments of any handler discloses errors resulting in moneys due (a) the market administrator from such handler, (b) such handler from the market administrator, or (c) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any amount so due and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payments set forth in the provisions under which such error occurred following the 5th day after such notice.

§ 925.87 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers (other than with respect to milk of such handler's own production) pursuant to § 925.80 (a), shall make a deduction of 5 cents per hundredweight of milk, or such amount not exceeding 5 cents per hundredweight as may be prescribed by the Secretary, with respect to the following:

(1) All milk received from producers at a plant not operated by a cooperative association; and

(2) All milk received at a plant operated by a cooperative association from producers who are not members of such association.

Such deductions shall be paid by the handler to the market administrator on or before the 14th day after the end of the month. Such moneys shall be expended by the market administrator for the verification of weights, sampling, and testing of milk received from producers and in providing for market information to producers; such services to be performed in whole or in part by the market administrator or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) In the case of each producer (1) who is a member of, or who has given written authorization for the rendering of marketing services and the taking of deduction therefor to, a cooperative association, (2) whose milk is received at a plant not operated by such association, and (3) for whom the market administrator determines that such association is performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall deduct, in lieu of the deduction specified under paragraph (a) of this section, from the payments made pursuant to § 925.80 (a) the amount per hundredweight on milk authorized by such producer and shall pay over, on or before the 13th day after the end of the month, such deduction to the association entitled to receive it under this paragraph.

§ 925.88 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this part, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 14th day after the end of each month 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within such month of (a) other source milk classified as Class I milk, and (b) milk received from producers, including such handler's own production.

§ 925.89 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this part to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this part shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 925.90 Effective time. The provisions of this part or any amendment to this part shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated pursuant to § 925.91.

§ 925.91 Suspension or termination. The Secretary may suspend or terminate this part or any provision of this part whenever he finds this part or any provision hereof obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. This part shall terminate in any event whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 925.92 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 925.96 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions on this part, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall if so directed by the Secretary liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 925.100 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 925.101 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this part, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the application of such provision and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

§ 925.102 Producer-handlers. Sections 925.40 to 925.45, inclusive, 925.50 to 925.53, inclusive, 925.70 to 925.71, inclusive, and 925.80 to 925.89, inclusive, shall not apply to a producer-handler.

Filed at Washington, D. C., this 29th day of January 1951.

COLORADO

NOTICE OF FILING OF PLAT OF SURVEY

JANUARY 24, 1951.

Notice is given that the plat of original survey of the following described lands, accepted July 21, 1949, will be officially filed in the Land Office, Denver, Colorado, effective at 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this notice:

SIXTH PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN

T. 3 S., R. 73 W.,
Sec. 30, lot 1.

The area described aggregates 5.17 acres.

Available information indicates that the land described is rough and mountainous with some level bottom land.

The above-described tract was withdrawn by Executive order of July 2, 1910, and placed in Power Site Reserve.

In view thereof, the land will not be subject to disposition under the general public land laws by reason of the official filing of the plat.

WILLIAM ZIMMERMAN, JR.,
Assistant Director.

Secs. 23, 24, all.

The areas described, exclusive of segregations, aggregate 100,028.83 acres.

Available data indicates that the lands described are level and rolling to rough and mountainous.

All of sec. 1, E½ sec. 12, E½ sec. 13, T. 5 N., R. 26 E., all of secs. 3 to 11, 14 to 23, 25 to 30, 32 to 36, all inclusive, T. 5 N., R. 28 E., all of secs. 31 to 34 incl., T. 6 N., R. 28 E., all of secs. 1, 2, 3, 4, all of secs. 9 to 15, T. 8 N., R. 28 E., all of secs. 1 to 18 incl., N½ sec. 19, N½, SE¼ sec. 20, all of secs. 21 to 28 incl., E½ sec. 29, E½ sec. 32, all of secs. 33 to 36 incl., T. 9 N., R. 28 E., are within the exterior boundaries of the Challis National Forest by proclamation of November 5, 1906, May 19, 1913, February 9, 1923, and Executive orders of July 1, 1908, and October 8, 1938. All of secs. 30, 21, W½ sec. 32, T. 8 N., R. 30 E., all of secs. 1, 2, 3, all secs. 10 to 15 incl., all sec. 24, T. 9 N., R. 31 E., Lots 3, 4, S½-NW¼, SW¼ sec. 1, all of secs. 2 to 11 incl., Lots 3, 4, W½, W½SE¼ sec. 12, all of secs. 13, 14, 23, 24, T. 11 N., R. 32 E., B. M., are within the exterior boundaries of the Salmon National Forest by proclamations of November 5, 1906, March 1, 1907, July 1, 1910, May 19 1913, September 7, 1916, and by Executive orders of July 1, 1908, and October 8, 1938. Therefore, these lands are not public lands subject to disposition under the general public land laws.

All those portions of Lot 4, SW¼ NW¼, W½SW¼ sec. 14, Lots 2, 3, W½NW¼, SE¼NW¼, NE¼SW¼, NW¼SE¼ sec. 23, T. 7 N., R. 28 E., B. M., lying within 50 feet of the center line of the transmission line right-of-way of the Utah Power and Light Company were reserved September 5, 1930, and included in Federal Power Project No. 765.

No applications for the remainder of the described lands may be allowed under the homestead, desert land, small tract, or any other non-mineral public land laws unless the land has already been classified as valuable or suitable for such application or shall be so classified upon consideration of an application.

According to the field notes and as shown by the plat, there is a spring in the SE¼SE¼ sec. 8 and 3 springs in the NE¼ sec. 23, T. 8 N., R. 28 E., B. M.

The legal subdivision containing springs and the lands within a quarter of a mile of such springs may be affected by the general withdrawal made by Executive order of April 17, 1926 (43 CFR 292.1), creating Public Water Reserve No. 107, but the question of whether the springs are of such size or value or so needed by the public as to bring the lands within the scope of the withdrawal is left for future determination.

At the hour and date specified above the said lands shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to application, petition, location, or selection as follows:

(a) Ninety-one day period for preference-right filings. For a period of 91 days, commencing at the hour and on the day specified above, the public lands affected by this notice shall be subject only to (1) application under the homestead or the desert-land laws or the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, 52 Stat. 609 (43 U. S. C. 682a), as amended, by qualified veterans of World War II and other qualified persons entitled to preference under the act of September 27, 1944, 58 Stat. 747 (43 U. S. C. 279–284), as amended, subject to the requirements of applicable law, and (2) application under any applicable public-land law, based on prior existing valid settlement rights and preference rights conferred by existing laws or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation. Applications under subdivision (1) of this paragraph shall be subject to applications and claims of the classes described in subdivision (2) of this paragraph. All applications filed under this paragraph either at or before 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this notice shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at that time. All applications filed under this paragraph after 10:00 a. m. on the said 35th day shall be considered in the order of filing.

(b) Date for non-preference-right filings. Commencing at 10:00 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this notice, any lands remaining unappropriated shall become subject to such application, petition, location, selection, or other appropriation by the public generally as may be authorized by the public-land laws. All such applications filed either at or before 10:00 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this notice, shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at the hour specified on such 126th day. All applications filed thereafter shall be considered in the order of filing.

A veteran shall accompany his application with a complete photostatic, or other copy (both sides), of his certificate of honorable discharge, or of an official document of his branch of the service which shows clearly his honorable discharge as defined in § 181.36 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations, or constitutes evidence of other facts upon which the claim for preference is based and which shows clearly the period of service. Other persons claiming credit for service of veterans must furnish like proof in support of their claims. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

Applications for these lands, which shall be filed in the Land and Survey Office, Boise, Idaho, shall be acted upon in accordance with the regulations contained in § 295.8 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations and Part 296 of that title, to the extent that such regulations are applicable. Applications under the homestead laws shall be governed by the regulations contained in Parts 166 to 170, inclusive, of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations, and applications under the desert-land laws and the said Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, shall be governed by the regulations contained in Parts 232 and 257, respectively, of that title.

Inquiries concerning these lands shall be addressed to the Manager, Land and Survey Office, Boise, Idaho.

WILLIAM ZIMMERMAN, JR.,
Assistant Director.

OIL AND GAS OPERATIONS IN SUBMERGED COASTAL LANDS OF THE GULF OF MEXICO

Part III of the notice issued by the Secretary of the Interior on December 11, 1950, concerning "Oil and Gas Operations in the Gulf of Mexico" (15 F. R. 8835) is amended, effective December 11, 1950, to read as follows:

III. Any sum which the provisions of any State oil and gas lease covering an area of the aforesaid submerged coastal lands require or permit a lessee who was not on December 11, 1950, conducting operations in such area to pay to the lessor may be tendered to the Secretary of the Interior in the form of a check payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States, accompanied by two copies of such lease. Such a payment will be accepted subject to the following conditions:

(a) The acceptance of such remittance will not amount to, or have the effect of being, an adoption, confirmation, ratification, or validation of the State lease by the United States and will be without prejudice to any rights of the United States.

(b) The Secretary of the Interior will not grant, in return for such payment, any right to inaugurate operations for the discovery and production of oil or gas within the area of submerged coastal land covered by the State lease, or any other right respecting such land.

(c) The remittance will be deposited in a special account within the Treasury of the United States under 31 U. S. C., 1946 ed., sec. 725r, subject to the control of the Secretary of the Interior, the proceeds to be expended in such manner as may hereafter be directed by an act of Congress or, in the absence of such direction, as the Secretary of the Interior may deem to be proper, which may include a refund of the money for reasons other than those hereinafter set forth.

(d) In the event that all or any part of the area covered by the State lease should later be determined to be above the ordinary low-water mark or within navigable inland waters, any sum tendered with respect to such area and held under paragraph (c) above will be refunded, either entirely or proportionately, as such determination may make appropriate, upon the request of the person who tendered such sum.

(e) If the United States should fail to provide within a period of two years from December 11, 1950, for the granting to the person making such a tender of the right to conduct oil and gas operations on the land covered by the State lease, under provisions substantially equivalent to those of the State lease, the sum so tendered and held under paragraph (c) above will be refunded upon the request of the person who tendered it, unless (1) such person shall have accepted a grant from the United States of the right to conduct oil and gas operations on the land under provisions different from those of the State lease, or (2) such person shall have failed to tender to the Secretary of the Interior, during the two-year period, a further payment required under the provisions of the State lease.

(f) If, at the time for the making of a refund to any person under the preceding paragraphs of this part, the United States should have a claim against such person, the right to offset the amount of such claim against the amount otherwise scheduled for refund may be asserted.

OSCAR L. CHAPMAN,
Secretary of the Interior.

Federal Maritime Board

[No. M-20]

AMERICAN PRESIDENT LINES, LTD.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON APPLICATION TO BAREBOAT CHARTER DRY-CARGO VESSELS

Pursuant to section 3, Public Law 591, 81st Congress, notice is hereby given that an informal public hearing will be held at Washington, D. C., on February 5, 1951, at 10 o'clock a. m., in Room 4823, Department of Commerce Building, before Examiner C. W. Robinson, upon the application of American President Lines, Ltd., to bareboat charter 2 AP-2 Victory-type cargo vessels for employment in its Atlantic/Straits service (C-2, Trade Route No. 17).

The purpose of the hearing is to receive evidence with respect to whether the service for which such vessels are proposed to be chartered is required in the public interest and is not adequately served, and with respect to the availability of privately-owned American-flag vessels for charter on reasonable conditions and at reasonable rates for use in such service.

All persons having an interest in such application will be given an opportunity to be heard if present.

The parties may have oral argument before the examiner immediately following the close of the hearing, in lieu of briefs, and the examiner will issue a recommended decision. Parties may have seven (7) days within which to file exceptions to or memoranda in support of the examiner's recommended decision, but the Board reserved the right to determine whether oral argument on exceptions will be granted or whether briefs in connection therewith will be received.

Dated: January 25, 1951.

By order of the Federal Maritime Board.

[Docket No. G-1414]

TRANSCONTINENTAL GAS PIPE LINE CORP.

NOTICE OF FINAL DECISION

JANUARY 26, 1951.

Notice is hereby given that the initial decision, issuing a certificate of public convenience and necessity in the above-designated matter, was issued and served upon all parties on December 26, 1950. No exceptions thereto having been filed or review initiated by the Commission, in conformity with the Commission's rules of practice and procedure said initial decision became effective on January 26, 1951, as the final decision and order of the Commission.

[Docket No. G-1585]

PANHANDLE EASTERN PIPE LINE CO. AND CENTRAL INDIANA GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JANUARY 26, 1951.

Take notice that on January 10, 1951, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Panhandle), a Delaware corporation with its principal office in Kansas City, Missouri, filed an application for (1) an order requiring Central Indiana Gas Company (Central Indiana) to cease and desist from violations of filed rate schedules and (2) an application pursuant to section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act for permission and approval to abandon all service of interruptible natural gas to Central Indiana (a) if that company does not within a reasonable time (to be fixed by the Commission) comply with the directions of the requested cease and desist order and (b) whenever Central Indiana, acting in derogation of the directions in the cease and desist order, is guilty of a substantial violation of any curtailment order hereafter announced by Panhandle.

The application recites that Panhandle is now serving gas to Central Indiana for resale under Panhandle's Rate Schedules Gd-1 and Rd-2; that Central Indiana has willfully taken on new customers in violation of applicable rate schedules, has refused to give Panhandle access to its books and records, and has violated and disregarded curtailment orders.

Panhandle states Central Indiana began to sell on July 24, 1950, and is now selling approximately 600,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily on an interruptible basis to the Banner-Rock Division of Johns-Manville Products Corporation (Banner-Rock) at Alexandria, Indiana, purportedly under Panhandle's applicable filed rate schedules but actually in violation thereof; that Central Indiana has just taken on another large interruptible industrial customer to whom it is supplying large quantities of Panhandle gas (and intends to supply increasingly larger amounts thereof up to at least 1,000,000 cubic feet per day) without complying with Panhandle's filed applicable rate schedules.

Panhandle further states that on or about August 17, 1950, Central Indiana refused its representatives the right to see Central Indiana's books and records as they have a right to do under the provisions of the "General Terms and Conditions" contained in Panhandle's FPC Schedule No. 112, sheet No. 14 under "Billing".

Panhandle further states Central Indiana has failed and refused to conform to the specified curtailment orders of the Commission's so-called "winter rules", and as recently as November 24, 25, and 26, 1950, when certain curtailments were in effect, has disregarded such orders and taken from 2,300,000 to 6,800,000 cubic feet more of interruptible gas (based on average take for the preceding month of October 1950) than it was entitled to take under such curtailments.

The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection. Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) before the 14th day of February 1951.

[Docket No. G-1593]

TEXAS GAS TRANSMISSION CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JANUARY 29, 1951.

Take notice that Texas Gas Transmission Corporation (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at 416 West Third Street, Owensboro, Kentucky, filed on January 22, 1951, an application for a certificate of convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the construction and operation of the following natural gas facilities:

(1) 12 miles of 10¾-inch diameter lateral pipeline from the south header of Applicant's river crossing of White River at a point 7 miles west of Petersburg, Indiana, and extending in a due easterly direction to the Alford, Indiana, Gas Storage Field.

(2) 4.5 miles of field lines having diameters of 6⅝ inches, 4.5 inches, 3.5 inches and 2⅜ inches.

(3) A measuring station to record the amounts of gas delivered into or withdrawn from the Alford, Indiana, Gas Storage Field.

(4) A 1200 hp. gas compressor station to pump gas into or out of the Alford, Indiana, Gas Storage Field.

Applicant states that it is the only major natural gas pipe-line company rendering service within Pike County, Indiana, where the Alford Storage Field is located. The proposed facilities which are estimated to cost $938,811.86, and which are to be financed through current funds or short term bank loans, would be integrated with Applicant's presently constructed transmission system to render a more adequate service to its present customers in this area, and would not be used to serve any new markets or areas. Applicant's present plans provide for an available capacity of 30,000 Mcf per day to supplement its peak day deliverability.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 16th day of February 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket No. 3693 et al.]

MID-CONTINENT AIRLINES, INC., ET AL.; MID-CONTINENT ROUTE 80 RENEWAL CASE

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the matter of the renewal of temporary certificate of public convenience and necessity for route No. 80 held by Mid-Continent Airlines, Inc., and amendment of certificate held by Mid-Continent Airlines, Inc.; Braniff Airways Inc.; and Chicago and Southern Air Lines, Inc., involving nonstop service between Kansas City and Houston.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, particularly sections 401 and 1001 of said act, that the above-indicated proceeding is assigned for hearing on February 12, 1951, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., in Room "A" Departmental Auditorium, Constitution Avenue between Twelfth and Fourteenth Streets NW., Washington, D. C., before examiner Walter W. Bryan.

Without limiting the scope of the issues to be considered, particular attention will be directed to the following matters:

1. Whether public convenience and necessity require the alteration, amendment, modification of the temporary certificate held by Mid-Continent, as well as the permanent certificates held by the above-mentioned carriers, as set forth in Order Serial Nos. E-4601 and E-4881, and

2. Whether the above carriers are fit, willing, and able to perform such services as may be found required by public convenience and necessity, and to conform to the provisions of the act and the rules, regulations and requirements of the Board thereunder.

Notice is further given that any person other than the parties of record desiring to be heard in this proceeding should file with the Board on or before February 12, 1951, a statement setting forth the issues of fact or law which he desires to controvert.

For further details with respect to this proceeding, interested parties are referred to the pertinent orders of the Civil Aeronautics Board on file in the official docket.

Dated at Washington, D. C., January 25, 1951.
